—Takes $30 and Patience in Tijuana—

DRIVER LICENSE RACKET EXPOSED

By BOB SANDERS
L-P-T Staff Writer

If you have $30, a lot of patience and an ability to ignore all the distractions, you can buy a counterfeit California driver's license in Tijuana.

It may not be quite as good as the one you get from the Department of Motor Vehicles—and it may not fool a traffic officer—but it's good enough to pass checks on unsuspecting businessmen.

Despite warnings from a liaison officer for the San Diego Police Department that "it can't be done unless you have connections across the border" it was done last week by a guy who didn't have connection one.

Here's the way it works.

You walk through the border gate and look like you're looking for a taxi. You don't really have to worry about this because within 40 feet of the gate at least a half dozen taxidrivers are already looking for you.

For practical purposes the taxidrivers — and their taxis—are all the same, so you fight your way into one. This means fighting your way through the others.

As you drive off you notice that there is a little man sitting in the passenger seat beside the driver. He's your man. He speaks English and the driver doesn't.

Now comes the invariable pitch.

"You wanna' girl?" he says with a slight leer. Before you can shake your head twice, he adds, "You wanna' see some French movies? Very sexy. Picture postcards?"

For about five minutes or a half a mile ride you keep saying, "No," until he pauses for breath. Now, it's your turn.

You say, "How about a driver's license?"

He looks at you like you said a dirty word but then, he nods. "I take you," he says. To the driver he says, "La Baron Hotel."

You pull into the driveway of La Baron hotel. It's a motel with a large courtyard which you are about to go in.

"What's this?" you say.

"This the place," he answers.

"For driver's licenses?"

"Sure. Also nice Mexican girl, French movies and postcards."

"Oh no," you say as the driver hits the driveway. "Let me out of here." The driver stops the car for this discussion.

"You don't wanna' go in here," your escort says. "You can wait here while we get the man for the license."

"No," you answer. "Take me downtown. I want

Motorcade Planned to South Gate

President Johnson is scheduled to land at Long Beach Airport at 11:45 a.m. today on a fast campaign visit that will include a motorcade to South Gate, a speech there and return to Long Beach.

Moving at an ever quickening pace, the President—

on a seven-day stumping tour of the country—will be at the midpoint of his first prolonged trip of the presidential campaign when he steps off Air Force I to face a predicted 25,000 to 30,000 persons.

No speech is scheduled at the airport. The timetable calls for the President to leave the airport at noon in a motorcade.

HIS willingness to plunge into crowds, however, to shake hands and occasionally say a few words conceivably could change the itinerary.

Hammering home his campaign theme of prosperity and peace — brought about by both parties—the President's schedule has tightened considerably.

Mrs. Johnson is expected to remain in Texas while the President is in California.

He is scheduled to get up early at the LBJ ranch near Austin, fly to Bergstrom Air Force Base by helicopter and leave at 7:30 a.m. for Phoenix, Ariz.

After an hour stop to attend the First Presbyterian Church of Phoenix, he is scheduled to fly into Long Beach at 11:45 a.m.

Respect for U.S. Raised, Filipino President Says

U.S. naval action against Communist PT boats in the Tonkin Gulf raised American stature throughout Southeast Asia, Philippine President Diosdado P. Macapagal said during his goodwill visit to San Pedro Saturday.

"The quick action you took in the Tonkin Gulf incident indicated an improvement of your efforts in South Viet Nam," Macapagal said.

"I BELIEVE you can win in South Viet Nam," he added. "You must win the support of the people to do it. Without the support of the people it is difficult to win any fight."

The Asian leader, accompanied by his wife and 16-year-old daughter, arrived at Los Angeles International Airport at noon. They went immediately to Ports O' Call Restaurant, San Pedro, where they were guests of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission and Mayor and Mrs. Samuel W. Yorty.

MACAPAGAL was given a new title—Admiral of the Port of Los Angeles.

Macapagal has been on a 12-day tour of the United States. He said he received a very warm welcome from President Johnson. They arrived aboard one of President Johnson's jet transports, Air Force II.

His trip, said Macapagal,

EDDIE CANTOR
Laugh-Maker Silenced

Eddie Cantor, 72, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Eddie Cantor, banjo-eyed vaudevillian whose dancing feet and double takes brought him stardom in movies, radio and television, died at home Saturday at the age of 72.

"Eddie had not been himself since Ida's (his wife's) passing (August 1962)," a family spokesman said.

"He had a sudden coronary occlusion and died instantly shortly after 7 p.m. Two of his daughters were at home at the time."

Cantor rarely was seen in public in recent years.

THE COMEDIAN, as famed for his charitable works as he was for his fried-egg eyes, continued to be a show-business figure a decade after giving up greasepaint and public appearances.

Semiretired since suffering a heart seizure in 1953, Cantor wrote books and took pride in his discovery of new talent. His energy and drive made him one of the best-loved performers of his generation.

During both world wars, he was a supersalesman at bond drives. He worked ceaselessly for causes in which he believed with a dedication in direct contrast to his carefree comedy roles.

A COMEDIAN for most of his career, Cantor turned dramatic actor in several television shows in the 1950s. But he was best known for his broad comedy sketches, zany renditions of such songs as "If You Knew Suzy," and fast patter with "The Mad Russian" and

Stringent Security for LBJ Visit

Secret Service, Police in Thorough Check of Route

By ANDY PARK

Security preparations described as "fantastic" by veteran law enforcement officers were under way Saturday and early Sunday to guard President Johnson for the three hours he is expected to be in the Southland today.

President by virtue of the assassination of John F. Kennedy less than 11 months ago, Johnson is in the midst of a seven-day campaign tour that has seen him plunge into crowds and expose himself to personal danger at every stop.

THE LONG BEACH Police Department, charged with the security of the presidential party while in the city, held a top-level meeting at the Long Beach Airport Saturday afternoon with supervisory personnel personally checking every detail of the arrangements for the 11:45 a.m. landing of Air Force I, the President's jet.

Secret Service men and Long Beach, Compton and South Gate police, along with sheriff's deputies, continued Saturday making a house-to-house check of the 22-mile route the motorcade will follow from Long Beach Airport to South Gate Park.

Weary officers pointed up the staggering task by citing the presence of "thousands of transient motel rooms" along the route facing the streets.

SECRET SERVICE agents, perturbed by Johnson's refusal to move via helicopter or freeway from the airport to the park, faced another setback when the White House detail of the Service ordered the 10,000-pound "bubble top" armor-plated limousine flown to San Francisco Saturday for Johnson's use in a Columbus Day Parade later today. This made it necessary to obtain a conventional automobile for the President's motorcade to South Gate.

Because the car lacks a

Quebec Riots Continue Outside Queen's Hotel

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Helmeted police riot squads swinging nightsticks Saturday night waded into several hundred anti-royalist demonstrators outside the famed Chateau Frontenac Hotel. Inside, visiting British monarch Queen Elizabeth was dining on wild duck at a state dinner.

The clash was the latest in a series Saturday attendant upon the queen's visit to Quebec City, center of agitation by French Canadians for separation from the rest of Canada.

The riot police, wearing orange coats, charged into the demonstrators, mostly students, who were chanting separatist slogans.

Some of the demonstrators were battered, their arms were pinned behind their backs and they were tossed into patrol wagons for trips to the police station. More than 10 demonstrators who participated in earlier disorders were in jail.

Several young women were clubbed or trampled in the near-stampede that developed when the police attacked the demonstrators.

THE CLASH developed shortly after the queen, glittering in diamonds and evening wear, entered the hotel for the dinner—the social highlight of the year in Quebec.

Demonstrators had lined the route from the royal yacht to the hotel, shouting slogans "Quebec for Quebecers" and "Quebec, yes; Ottawa, no."

There was no violence when the queen drove past the demonstrators Saturday night but many shouted separatist slogans at the queen, who rode in a bulletproof limousine with Prince Philip.

Earlier, the police also beat demonstrators and newsmen while the queen rode through the city to the sound of catcalls and boos. Some of the demonstrators shouted, "Kill the Queen!"

An American broadcaster was struck, injured and arrested in one of the melees. He was identified as Mark Schlieffer of New York, representing the Pacifica Foundation.

Library Booster Drive On

A "people-to-people" program for the new main library in downtown Long Beach gets under way this week.

William T. J. Harris, head of the area chairmen's committee, announced that volunteers for service on behalf of Proposition M, to appear on the November ballot, are being organized.

Harris said the following have been named area leaders in the drive for votes for the $5,950,000 bond issue:

Mrs. John Marriner, 4019 Pine Ave.; Mrs. James Spencer, 4312 Blackthorne Ave.; Clyde L. Bronn, 6840 Mantova St.; Marjory Daugherty and Helen Eastman, 710 Los Altos Ave.; Mrs. George Salzer, 3561 Van Verde Ave.; Mrs. Carol Anderson, 3369 Ladoga Ave.; Richard G. Lent, 233 Grand Ave.;

SUPERSCIENTIFIC HARD SUIT FOR EXTREME DEPTHS

L.B. Divers Get Metal 'Man' for Sunken-Treasure Hunting

By LOU JOBST

Four Long Beach divers are planning a superscientific hunt for sunken treasure complete with a metal undersea "man."

The metal creature, known as ADA for Articulated Diving Armor, cost $50,000 to construct and is the only one of its type in the Western Hemisphere.

ADA is as fearsome and strange a creation as you'd expect to find anywhere in Outer or Inner Space.

He stands eight feet tall, weighs more than 800 pounds, has six blue eyes in front and one big polarized peeper in the rear. His body is constructed of ¼-inch-thick, hand-forged steel, contains its own life-support system, communications network, power supply and has a wide array of precision tools which can be coupled into its two bulbous arms.

ADA, invented by the Italian diving master, Rohert Galleazzi, is designed to carry a man to depths of 800 feet and then whisk him back to the surface without any delay or fear of the dreaded bends.

"The real big advantage is that a diver can stay on the bottom in deep water much longer," says 44-year-old Art Broman, operator of Commercial Divers Inc., 2260 Senasac Ave., Long Beach, and one of the four men who hope to use ADA to retrieve treasures from the Pacific and the Caribbean.

The other three are Clifton L. Clemons, 43, former Coast Guardsman and father of three children; Joseph Beatty, 38, married and a commercial diver for 18 years, and Scotty Chisholm, 65, a diver with nearly a half century of underwater experience.

This quartet, along with ocean explorer Mordecai Crebow, 59, of Hollywood, last month founded Sea Salvage Specialties, Inc. for the purpose of locating and retrieving sunken treasure.

Crebow hopes to make the first foray to sea "within 60 days." The first target is the Yankee Blade, a sailing ship which went down in 1854 off Point Arguello in Santa Barbara County, with $32 million in gold dust, nuggets and gold coin.

The SSS team has pinpointed the general locations of more than a dozen other treasure ships, including the Brother Jonathan, which sank in July, 1865 off Crescent City with $300,000 in gold in its vaults, the SS City of Rio De Janeiro which rests on the bottom of San Francisco Bay with $3 million in gold, the SS Islander, which sank with $5 million in precious metal in 310 feet of water in 1901 while stateside-bound from the Yukon gold fields. They

L.A.C. Says:

Salinger and Murphy

It is understandable that many voters are undecided as to whom to vote for as United States Senator. The TV debates and many quotations on issues have not helped many. Those who are certain of their preference do not have the problem. But the many who are still uncertain should give careful consideration to the kind of man they would support. This writer is biased in that he supports Murphy—and for the following reasons:

I am opposed to Salinger because he, in my opinion, is lacking in integrity and he is demagogic in presenting his case for election. He reminds me of a quotation from Emerson that: "What you are stands over you the while and thunders so that I cannot hear what you say to the contrary."

In his TV debate with Murphy, Salinger brushed aside the Bobby Baker case. He said he had not been aware of what Baker had done. This is hard to believe since Salinger was the press secretary to the President dealing with all departments of government, including the powerful Democratic Senate groups for which Baker was the secretary. Salinger would indeed be naive to have been ignorant of Baker's activities during the almost four years of Salinger's dominant position.

Then we have the case of the recent primary election when Salinger and Cranston were candidates for the Democratic nomination. Salinger charged Cranston with shaking down inheritance estate appraisers for campaign funds. Cranston sued him for libel. But three days before the election, the two agreed that the winner would pay the loser up to $150,000 to take care of any campaign deficits. So now we find Cranston an ardent supporter of Salinger. Gov. Brown and Cranston criticized Salinger for becoming a candidate when he could not even vote in the state. He apparently approves of the President of the U. S. continuing to run a monopoly TV station in his home area —which has been possible only by ruling of the agency over which he has control.

The choice is between men more than issues. The honorable man will make decisions based on conditions and information at time of Senate voting. But the demagogue or opportunist can be expected to act in accordance with party pressure and expediency. The record of Salinger, in my opinion, places him in that category.

As for George Murphy, for 30 years he has been a permanent resident of California. First as a popular entertainer, later, and at present, a successful businessman as an officer in Technicolor and other radio and television enterprises. He was a labor leader as president of the Screen Actors Guild—which drove the Communists out of control of the industry. For 20 years he has been a leader in the Republican party —a past state president. During these years he has been called to Washington for many conferences. He believes in orderly and honest government and an end to irresponsible deficit spending.

The voters of both parties will choose between these two men. They will have a choice between Murphy with his long experience in California business and politics, where he has an honorable record, and Pierre Salinger, whose silence on the Bobby Baker case and his unsavory deal with Cranston exemplify his character. What he is and stands for speaks much louder than what he says.—L.A.C.

HHH Labels Ike Mission a 'Gimmick'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said Saturday night that the Republican proposal to send former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to Viet Nam was one of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater's "tricks and gimmicks."

Humphrey said Goldwater "reached into the grab bag to pull that one out . . . he should have asked Eisenhower about it before he announced it."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate made the statement in a news conference shortly after landing at the South Bend airport. A crowd of about 300 persons was on hand.

IN A SPEECH prepared for delivery on the University of Notre Dame campus, Humphrey said the Kennedy-Johnson administrations have furthered peace but that Goldwater "apparently believes war is inevitable."

Humphrey told the news conference a Democratic victory in November would leave the Republican Party in a bitter struggle for control between the Goldwater followers and moderates.

"Nixon and Scranton (former vice president Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton) are campaigning hard for the Republicans and are probably keeping in touch with party organization," he said.

HUMPHREY'S comment about Goldwater's proposal to send Eisenhower to assess the situation in Viet Nam came in answer to a newsman's question.

"It is one of the tricks and gimmicks used by Goldwater that doesn't indicate a great deal of thought," Humphrey said.

Humphrey also touched on Democratic proposals for plans for a farm program. He said they would be re-examined in terms of commercial exports, "to try to get as much free market as possible."

Humphrey told a Democratic rally later that "the deliberate initiation in the nuclear age of full-scale war as an instrument of national policy has become an absurdity."

Barry Asks Amendment on Prayer in Classrooms

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Sen. Barry Goldwater said Saturday night "The moral fiber of the American people is beset by rot and decay" and this is no time to ban God from the schoolrooms.

He called on Congress to put the question of prayer in public places to the test of a constitutional amendment and criticized what he termed "pie-in-the-sky" promises by President Johnson.

The Republican presidential candidate characterized his Democratic opponent as offering the people "a shopping list" to choose from the programs they like best. He said the President "promises everything."

IN HIS speech prepared for delivery in the Mormon Tabernacle, Goldwater said, "The doctrine of the fast buck now vies with doctrines of faith," and called it appalling that the Democratic Party wrote a platform "with no concern or even mention of God."

Describing Johnson as a "power-hungry, prideful man," Goldwater in speeches at Spokane, Wash., and Portland, Ore., thumped on the theme that people won't be fooled by extravagent promises and that this nation is troubled "deep in its heart."

Where usually he has skipped mingling very much with crowds at airports, he lingered long at all stops Saturday. Where his campaign schedule generally has avoided downtown motorcade tours, in Salt Lake City he made a long swing through the business district.

It was a pleasant, sunny late afternoon in Salt Lake. Even those who held up Johnson for President signs smiled in friendly welcome to a visitor come to the city.

AND THE Arizona senator warmed to it, waving greetings to teen-agers and children who held the opposition's banners.

Before speaking Saturday night, he visited with President David O. McKay, the ailing, 91-year-old leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) in a hotel across from the Tabernacle. McKay wished him success, but gave him no political endorsement.

The Republican candidate called anew for individual responsibility, not big government.

"My opponent does not want to be elected nearly so much as he wants to be crowned," Goldwater said at an airport speech at Spokane, Wash., before flying here.

HE CALLED the things his opponent talks about "political pie-in-the-sky."

Goldwater said the President once reportedly said the American people "have a baby-like faith in him."

"I ask you to let this power-hungry prideful man know that the American people are not babies and they do not need to be babied."

"I say that when you elect a president you want a man to manage the legitimate business of your government. The government that is big enough to give you everything you want, is big enough to take it all away."

GOLDWATER said there were matters that troubled the American people and that "in no election of our history have we faced such a stark proposition: to have to consider the question of simple honesty in the administration of our national government."

At Portland, Ore., Goldwater opened the Pacific International Livestock Show, repeating the things he had said in the earlier stop at Spokane.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's California campaign was an estimated $250,000 richer Saturday and within $300,000 of its $1.8-million goal.

Sources made this disclosure after the GOP presidential standard-bearer attended and spoke briefly at a closed-door meeting in the St. Francise Hotel.

Snow Closes Passes

AOSTA, Italy (AP) — The Great and Little St. Bernard Passes were closed Saturday by snow ranging from 20 to 30 inches deep. But an all-weather automobile tunnel opened earlier this year will keep traffic rolling.

Miller Catches Cold, Halts Ohio Campaign

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI) —Rep. William E. Miller cut short a campaign trip through northeastern Ohio Saturday because of a severe cold. He returned to his home in Washington.

The Republican vice presidential candidate was hoarse as he spoke in a freezing rain to 500 persons in Ashtabula and about 700 in Painesville.

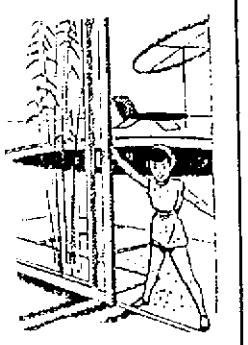

Miller, in his speeches, accused the Democrats of a "cruel hoax" in "distorting" Sen. Barry Goldwater's views on the control of nuclear weapons by NATO commanders.

The policy the Republican presidential candidate favors, Miller said, in the use of nuclear weapons was in effect under former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and the late John F. Kennedy and "is now in effect under Lyndon Johnson.

Miller decided after two of his four scheduled speeches to return to Erie, Pa., about 70 miles away, by automobile to board his plane, left at the airport there, and fly to his home in Washington.

Molotov-Cocktail Bombers of Teen-age Pair Hunted

Sheriff's deputies today are hunting six teen-agers believed responsible for the fiery Molotov-cocktail bombing of a parked car and its two occupants in the Carson area.

Although the bomb, hurled from a passing car, landed all around them, neither David Lopez nor Nancy Pacheco, both 18, was injured.

ACCORDING to Sheriff's Sgt. Frank Waldron, the couple gave this account of the apparently unprovoked attack.

Lopez, of 13140 S. Willowbrook Ave., and Miss Pacheco, of 20614 S. New Hampshire Ave., Carson, were sitting in Lopez' car near the Pacheco girl's home about 2:30 a.m. Saturday when the carload of teenagers pulled alongside. Two of the youths stepped from their car and began throwing the flaming gasoline-filled bombs at the auto.

ONE BOMB exploded in a fiery flash only inches from the front bumper, and a second burst into flames beside the driver's door. A third bomb landed behind the car.

When the flames subsided, two more youths shattered the car's rear window with a rock. Terrified, the couple fled with their attackers in pursuit. Lopez said he finally was able to lose the car by turning off his headlights.

Food Talk Snagged on Wages

Federal mediators reported more progress Saturday in top-level negotiations on the 28-day strike by wholesale food company employes in Southern California, but said the day's talks ended in an impasse on wages.

Mediators indicated that money issues — the heart of the strike-lockout — remain unsolved. Work rules and other non-cost items have been pretty well resolved as a result of recent compromises by both sides.

The Teamsters union, which represents the strikers, has threatened to expand the stoppage to points in the east.

IT WAS reported that if the dispute were not settled soon, food warehouses around Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C., would quickly become involved.

Teamster head Jimmy Hoffa said he had authorized local unions in 16 Midwestern and Eastern states to join the strike if the current mediation breaks down. Hoffa personally led the Teamsters' negotiators Saturday.

The talks, which ended at 2 p.m., are expected to be resumed Monday at 9 a.m.

Meanwhile, 10,000 workers remain idle in Southern California. Some markets are beginning to run low on commodities; others remain relatively untouched.

Planes Delivered

PARIS (AP)—All 12 Boeing C135 tanker planes ordered by France for its nuclear force have been delivered, the government announced Saturday. The tankers will be used to refuel in flight the Mirage IV supersonic planes built to carry France's atomic bombs.

port to approach it from the north on Lakewood Boulevard.

About 4,500 parking spaces will be available in the Douglas Aircraft Co. parking lots at the east and west sides of Lakewood Boulevard. Police urged motorists to use car pools and to fill the west parking lot first.

Should the Douglas lots be filled, an additional 12,000 cars can be accomodated at Veterans Stadium, officials said.

The Long Beach Public Transportation Company will run buses starting at 10 a.m. and every 15 minutes afterward leaving from Broadway and Pacific Avenue going along route 11 to the airport.

THE ROUTE will be out Broadway to Ximeno, up Ximeno to the traffic circle and up Lakewood Boulevard to the airport. The buses will wait and return passengers to Long Beach as they fill up, bus company officials said.

From the airport, the President's 12-car motorcaed, escorted by 23 California Highway Patrol motorcycles, will move to South Gate. He will follow the same route on his return trip to Long Beach Airport.

Michael Cullen, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Long Beach area 32nd District has received White House clearance to board the President's plane here, to deplane with the chief executive and to ride in the motorcade to South Gate.

Johnson is most confident presidential candidate since Thomas E. Dewey went down to defeat in 1948.

JOHNSON sees no real threat of an upset in 1964.

The President had a let-up day at the LBJ ranch Saturday. He combed over details of campaigning to come. He received the customary daily briefings on affairs at home and abroad from his staff, and got out some statements.

One of them saluted the first anniversary Saturday, of a treaty, now signed by more than 100 nations, banning nuclear-weapons tests in the atmosphere, outer space and the seas.

"The world embraced the President said "as the first step to remove the threat of destruction that for two decades has stalked the earth. The air is cleaner, the world is safer, and the hopes for peace are a little brighter because of this act of common sense."

Johnson has taped for television a report to the nation Thursday night on progress under the treaty.

WHETHER Johnson was enjoying his let-up day was something of a question, because he has been displaying a bouncy, buoyant zest for hard campaigning and rousing people.

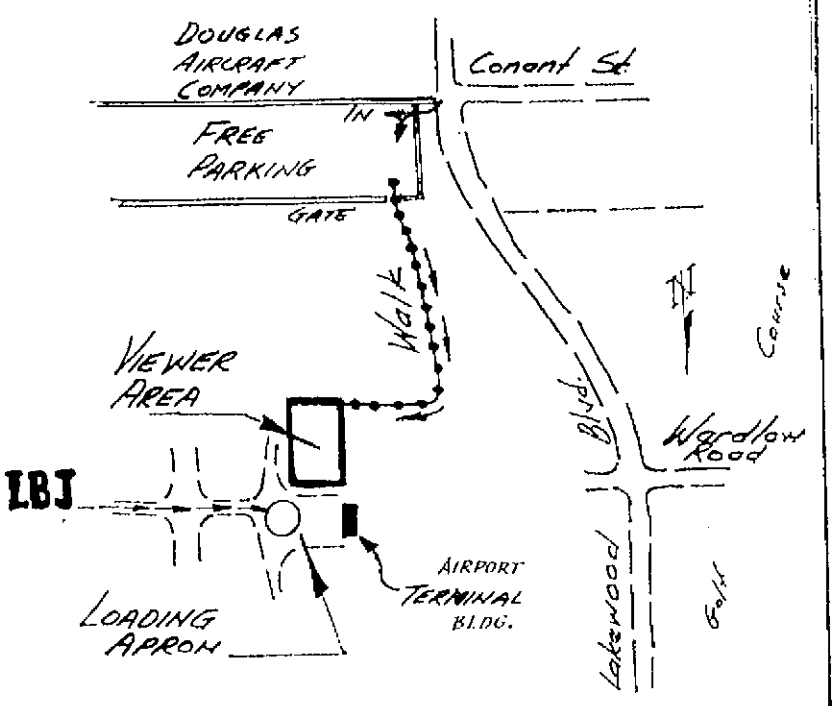

Johnson began talking this past week in terms of "how big" rather than of "whether" he will win Nov. 3. He says he is going to rack up the biggest presidential victory in all history.

Polls give Johnson comfort—as they did Dewey before scrappy, underrated Harry S. Truman took the measure of New York's Republican governor 16 years ago. The gap has narrowed a bit, as the pollsters see it, but it still has been staying around 2-1.

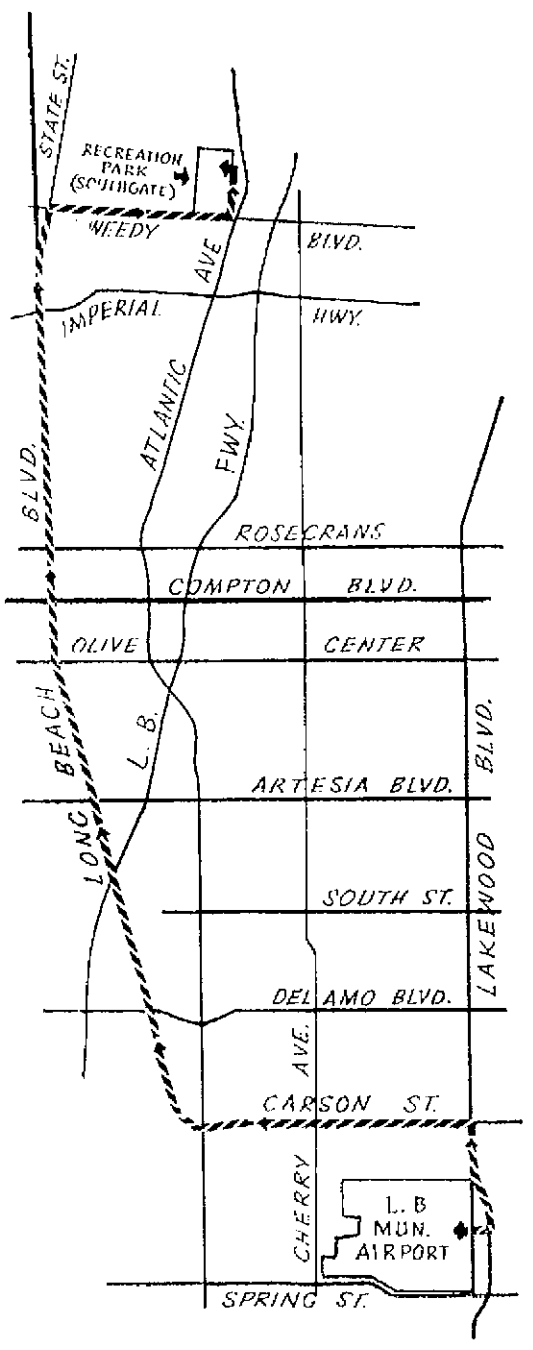

JOHNSON says that is an unrealistic assessment of what the edge will be when the votes are in—that he will be happy indeed with a 55-45 margin.

But he isn't going to ease off on campaigning. More than any candidate in years the President is exhorting his supporters to get out and vote—and take their friends, and aunts and uncles and cousins with them.

His newly fortified White House car is being flown around the country to major stops. Along with bullet-resistant glass and armor, it has a built-in speaker system. He uses it at impromptu stops to urge people to "come on up, come on up. I want to say hello to you." He tells police to let them come. And he winds up most of the time telling his curbside audiences: "You all vote Democratic Nov. 3."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S plane will arrive at Long Beach Municipal Airport at 11:45 a.m. today. Map shows where the President will be and locates parking and viewing area for those wishing to welcome the President. The Police Department asks that motorists approach the free parking area by driving south on Lakewood Boulevard to allow easy entrance to the parking space.

MAP SHOWS route the President's motorcade will take after leaving Long Beach Municipal Airport at noon for South Gate's Recreation Park where he is scheduled to speak at 12:55 p.m. The motorcade will leave the airport going north on Lakewood Boulevard to Carson Street; west on Carson to Long Beach Boulevard; north on Long Beach Boulevard to State Street which continues north to Tweedy Boulevard; east on Tweedy Boulevard to the city of South Gate's Recreation Park.

transparent top, the President is expected to stop the motorcade along the route and plunge into crowds waiting to greet him.

Paying particular heed to a recommendation of the Warren Commission, the Long Beach Police detective division and Secret Service agents have worked closely during the past week with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in comparing lists of known subversives and potential crackpots.

POLICE CHIEF William J. Mooney said Saturday the department will be "at peak strength" for today's task of safeguarding the President. But privately, all police officials graced: The United States is always in danger, especially when he insists upon exposing himself of the President of the self to crowds.

Long Beach Police received a call from a General Telephone Company operator at 12:50 p.m. Saturday advising that she had just received the following call:

"President Johnson will never leave through this trip through Long Beach."

Police traced the call to a service station in Los Alamitos, but when investigators arrived at a phone booth outside the station, no one was there.

Unions Donate Time on Y Jobs

Twenty volunteers turned up Saturday morning to speed construction of new handball courts at the North Community YMCA, 6095 California Ave.

They were members of Bricklayers Union Local 13 and of Laborers and Plaster Tenders Local 507. The "Y" hopes that the courts will be finished by Dec. 1.

Fire at Armory

Fire engines responded Saturday to a minor oil fire at the National Guard Armory, 2200 Redondo Ave., crowded with weekend guardsmen. Minor damage was reported in the 4:25 p.m. blaze.

SUNKEN-TREASURE HUNTERS

ADA (Articulated Diving Armor)—a metal undersea "man" who will search for sunken treasure—is surrounded by four Long Beach divers who are planning the undersea hunt—(from left) Gus Clemons, Joe Beatty, Art Broman and Scotty Chisholm.

L.B. Divers to Use Hollywood Explorer's Treasure-Hunt Suit

also have mapped the positions in the Caribbean of hulks of Portuguese and Spanish bullion-carrying vessels.

Crehow's divers will use a spectacular array of scientific gadgets in addition to ADA. This gear includes a $35,000 metal-detector capable of penetrating 1,000 feet of water and 50 feet of mud and sand in locating metal masses, underwater television cameras and video recorders, and sonar to probe rock and coral deposits.

The expedition, which will comprise 15 persons, also will have underwater motion-picture cameras and the latest subsurface cutting and construction equipment.

Besides the four divers and Crehow, the treasure team will include a marine geophysicist, G. C. Henderson of Texas A&M, and an underwater archeologist, James Moriarity of the Scripps Institute at La Jolla.

Long Beach's Broman and Clemons have both made dives, to 150 feet, in ADA during a special 60-day training period in Italy.

"Most of the training was in the maintenance and operation of the equipment, processes which are very complex," said Broman.

Broman says there are six other ADA units, four behind the Iron Curtain. All the others are being used by the military for salvage and rescue work, missile recovery and other related tasks.

"Ours is the only one in the world owned privately and being used commercially," he asserted.

Broman admits there are hazards in the suit, but he maintains it's "much safer" than the traditional hard-hat and weighted rubberized-fabric suit.

With tradtional gear, a diver at 400 feet, could stay on the bottom only about 20 minutes and then had to spend two to three hours coming up to avoid getting the bends; nitrogen bubbles in the blood which can kill or cripple.

Broman says that in ADA, which has huge stainless steel bearings for arm and legs joints, a diver can stay on the bottom, in deep water, for from two to 12 hours.

ADA, by ejecting ballast of water contained in a back tank, can shoot to the surface, in an emergency, eliminating the necessity of being pulled up by a cable.

The diver climbs in to ADA, which is composed of seven sections screwed together through the top hatch. It is roomy enough inside to move the body far enough around to look out a larger rear window and the temperature is cool, never above ordinary room temperature.

Crehow, who has spent more than $50,000 of his own money and 11 years in building an underwater research foundation and other below-the-waves schemes including, once, a Sea Farming League, is wildly enthusiastic about the venture.

His divers share his enthusiasm.

"I guess it is the dream of every diver in the world to search for sunken treasure," explained Broman, "and we're getting a chance to fulfill that dream."

others of his radio and video entourage.

One of his trademarks was his bouncing, skipping footwork as he sang, a throwback, he said, to the days when a singer had to dodge barrages of ripe fruit from rowdy audiences in vaudeville.

For years, Cantor joked about the fact that he had five daughters and no sons. But he leaves only four of those daughters: Mrs. Natalie Metzger of Los Angeles; Mrs. Edna McHugh of Malibu, Marilyn Cantor of New York City, and Mrs. Janet Gari of New York.

His fourth daughter, Marjorie, who was also his secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959, at age 44.

Ida Cantor, his beloved wife, died Aug. 8, 1962 at the age of 70. She became known to millions of Americans because of her husband's theme song, "Ida," and the jokes he used to tell about his family. Mrs. Cantor died of a series of heart seizures.

She was his constant companion on scores of personal appearances, but never performed herself. Cantor collapsed at her death and never fully recovered from the shock.

CANTOR always was alert to new talent. Among his discoveries were Dinah Shore, Eddie Fisher, Deanna Durbin and Bobby Breen.

In 1953, Warner Bros. filmed his biography, "The Eddie Cantor Story," starring Ke[illegible] Brasselle. But it was [illegible]'s own brassy voice supplied the songs [illegible] brought him fame and millions of dollars.

The ebullient comedian suffered his first heart seizure in 1953 and collapsed several times thereafter. In 1956, he underwent an operation for removal of kidney stones. He joked about his ailments, saying, "Nobody lives forever."

Cantor was born Izzy Iskiwich Jan. 31, 1892, in New York City's East Side. His parents died before he was 2. He was reared by his grandmother.

CITY PLANS PROGRAM

Judge DeVries Heads UN Week

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Judge Martin DeVries of Municipal Court has been named chairman of Long Beach's observance of United Nations Week, Oct. 18 through Saturday.

The appointment was made by Mayor Edwin Wade, who at the same time gave official city support to the world-wide observance by signing a U.N. Week proclamation, approved earlier by the City Council.

Long a champion of world peace, DeVries has been a judge of Municipal Court since 1933. In six elections held for that office, voters have supported him with substantial majorities on each ballot.

* * * *

A NATIVE of Montana, he is one of 10 children born of immigrant parents who settled in the Dakotas and Montana before the turn of the century. He holds degrees from three universities.

In 1959, the Rotary Club of Taegu, Korea, invited the judge to speak to the amputees of Korea (there are 60,000 of them in that country as a result of the war.) He delivered an inspirational message on what can be done if will and spirit are exercised.

Both he and Mrs. DeVries have traveled extensively in the cause of world understanding and have supplied many students from other lands with scholarship assistance. Guests from other countries are frequent visitors in their Long Beach home and foreign students constantly seek their friendly counsel and fellowship.

MANY SPECIAL events have been planned for the weeklong U.N. observance.

The first event, announced by Mrs. Walter Oliver, president of the Long Beach Chapter of the United Nations Association, will be an open house at the chapter's Global Gift Shop, 1244 E. 4th St. next Sunday.

Gifts sold year 'round to help finance work of the local chapter will be on display.

"We plan to feature distinctive items under $5 which are most representative of the countries from which they come," Mrs. Oliver said. Also on display will be UNICEF greeting cards and date books, designed by world-renowned artists from 15 different countries. Proceeds are donated to the UN Children's Fund for help to needy children around the world.

BESIDES holding U.N. story hours each day of the week, the City Library and its branches will provide up-to-date packets of literature on United Nations for use of clubs and organizations.

The Council of Churches is providing reproductions of the United Nations prayer for all member churches.

Mrs. Alexis Jacoubowski, one of 10 U.S. women recently invited to visit the Federal Republic of Germany and who, on her own, visited seven other countries of Western Europe and 10 U.N. agencies, has a full schedule of speaking engagements during the week.

Climaxing the observance will be a United Nations Association dinner on Oct. 21 at Long Beach Yacht Club. Open to the public, the general meeting will feature Paul Edwards, public information director of UNICEF, as principal speaker.

VOLUNTEER district chiefs can be contacted at their homes. Persons who wish to enroll in the campaign may do so by obtaining information at their branch libraries or the main libary.

"The success of Prop. M," said Harris, "depends on people talking to people about this community need and every single individual in Long Beach who is interested is needed in this campaign and at the polls on election day.

"If all knew the need, I'm sure they would vote for the new main library. This is why we are stressing the personal contacts."

House-to-house contacts with residents in all areas of the city are planned by the committee working under general chairmanship of the New Main Library Committee headed by Don Gill and Len Vander Lans. Campaign headquarters for Yes on M are in Room 811 Edison Bldg., 100 Long Beach Blvd. Persons wishing to contribute funds or other aid to the program may do so through the campaign office.

PROP. M calls for a vote on the proposal to build a 150,000 — square foot library — based on present and anticipated population growth- to replace the present structure in Lincoln Park. The new library would be built on the west side of Cedar Avenue between Broadway and Ocean Boulevard — across from Lincoln Park. Parking space would be provided.

In the main, the proposal calls for increased space for present activities carried on in the library and addition of some space for facilities the library feels necessary to fulfill its function. Specific plans for library layout have not been drawn (fees for this service are included in the bond issue), but a tentative program calls for the following:

Public Service Areas—Boys' and Girls' area, office, workrooms, storage, story-hour room; reading areas and workrooms for literature and history, science and industry, periodicals, philosophy and religion, music and art; phonograph-record section inspection and selection space, six listening rooms, workroom; film section, selection and study areas, work, office, machine and preview rooms; reading areas for map section, government documents; exhibit and assembly room; municipal reference reading area and workroom; special collections room or rooms; areas for coordinators of adult and young adult services; four discussion rooms; closed-circuit television and areas for typing; reading rooms for microfilm, microcard, facsimile newspaper and public typing rooms.

Space would be increased for the adult circulation section, conference and workrooms and other activities necessary to carrying on library work — cataloguing, PBX, information desk, etc.

Processing Division provisions call for catalog room, catalog office and machine room, order section and office, bindery and photo-reproducer, book meeting and inspection room.

Extension service would have office space for the branch office, workroom and receiving areas and a garage for the library's Bookmobile and station wagon.

Administrative areas provide space for a reception room and clerical pool, mimeograph room, city librarian's office, assistant city librarian's office, administrative assistant's office; personnel director's office; public relations office, exhibit and storage area; conference room, and areas for supplies, inventory, storage, delivery, handyman and custodian; staff room.

Viet Execution Delayed to Help Yank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government of South Viet Nam was reported Saturday night to have assured the United States that it does not plan to make any immediate decision on the execution of a young terrorist, who is linked to the Venezuelan kidnap case of Lt. Col. Michael Smolen.

This word from Saigon Saturday appeared to remove any prospect that the South Vietnamese government would make a final decision in the case of Nguyen Van Troi pending the outcome of widespread efforts under way in Venezuela to find the American officer who was seized by pro-Castro terrorists Friday.

* * * *

ANONYMOUS phone callers in Caracas told news media officers Friday night that if Troi was executed Col. Smolen would be shot.

In Caracas, police raided suspected hideouts of Castro-Communist terrorists Saturday in search of Col. Smolen. They searched at least 30 homes and apartments without success.

Road patrols checked all cars leaving Caracas. Venezuelan National Guard units and military intelligence officers joined in the search.

By evening, more than 15,000 persons had been checked in a dragnet by 5,000 National Guardsmen and police around the capital. But the search failed to produce any trace of the abducted officer.

DEPUTY chief of the U.S. mission to Venezuelan forces, Smolen was abducted in a car as he stepped from his home to ride to work with Col. Henry Lee Choate, the mission chief. Two young gunmen seized him. Three others chased Choate, but he eluded them. He jumped over a fence and took refuge in a house.

Three persons were arrested later for questioning.

One was the owner of the car used by the kidnapers, which was found abandoned a mile from the scene. He said the car had been stolen Thursday night from a parking space in front of his home. Police said they were suspicious because the theft was not reported promptly.

Two newspapers received calls Saturday saying Smolen was unharmed.

NEW YORK (AP)—The 69-year-old mother of Lt. Col. Michael Smolen pleaded Saturday night with her son's kidnapers in Caracas to spare his life.

She gave her message to the New York Journal-American to be relayed by the Associated Press in Venezuela, with the hope it will dissuade her son's captors from killing him. They have threatened to do so unless a condemned Communist terrorist in South Vietnam is spared.

HERE IS the message by Mrs. Smolens, who lives in Brooklyn:

"I am an old woman. I know little about politics. I know little about the world. My world is my family. My love is for my children.

"You say you will kill my son, Lt. Col. Michael Smolen. I can do nothing but weep.

"I weep and I hope that you will be merciful to me. I hope that you will spare the life of my boy, and send him back to his father and me.

"As your mothers would plead for you, I plead for my son.

"Let him live. I beg this of you.

"Mrs. Katrim Smolen."

MACAPAGAL VISITS SAN PEDRO

Tonkin Gulf Action Hailed by Macapagal

"has strengthened the fast, unbreakable ties of friendship between the American and Philippine people."

* * * *

THE GREAT need of his country, he said, is to improve the standard of living. "I hope to attract foreign capital — particularly American capital."

Earlier, in a Washington radio interview, Macapagal hinted that his country might join the fight against communism in South Viet Nam.

He pointed out that the Philippines are committed under treaty to assume such responsibilities. "So far no request for military assistance has been made of us," he said.

The fall of Viet Nam to the Communists would "increase the danger to Philippine security," he said.

Following the luncheon, the Macapagals went to the Palladium in Los Angeles for a reception by the Filipino-American community. In the evening they were guests at a dinner hosted by the City of Los Angeles and the World Affairs Council.

The Macapagals will fly to San Francisco this morning. From there they will return to the Philippines.

BOSUN'S CALL HEARD AFAR

300 Attend Reunion of Old 'Sara's' Crew

By MARK CLUTTER

The ship lies in smithereens at the bottom of the Pacific off Bikini Atoll—but the men who served aboard do not forget her.

On Saturday afternoon they got together again—the 13th time in 13 years. The men of the fifth USS Saratoga heard a ghostly boatswain's pipe and came from as far away as Washington, D.C. Some 300, counting wives, gathered at the Edgewater Inn Hotel to drink and dine and dance. And above all, for talk, talk, talk.

THE FIFTH Saratoga—there is now a sixth and the United States seems always to have a Saratoga—was one of the first of the aircraft carriers. She was built in 1925.

In World War II, her history was practically the history of the war in the Pacific. She fought at Guadacanal, the Gilberts, the Marshalls, Iwo Jima.

In February, 1945, she took seven bombs. Dead casualties numbered 122, wounded 192. She caught fire, but the sailors beat the flames in a heroic battle. She staggered to Eniwetok Atoll, and then to Puget Sound. The gallant ship was repaired quickly and returned to battle.

In July 1946 she had her last trial by fire. She was one of the obsolete ships destroyed by an underwater atomic blast.

"THE MEN who come to our reunions are mostly those who served aboard a long time," said Harold McGrath, convention chairman, of 3424 W. Washington Ave., Santa Ana. "Some of them were in ship's company for 11 or 12 years."

Each year the men go to a different city to drink a toast to their fierce steel mistress. Their wives gather in little groups, not sure that they understand the love of men for "her" who rewarded their love with danger, hardship and terror.

Russ to Perform 'My Fair Lady,' Perhaps 'Story'

MOSCOW (AP) — Liza Doolittle, Prof. Henry Higgins and the rain in Spain are coming to the Soviet Union in a Russion version of "My Fair Lady" this season.

A Russian company may also stage "West Side Story."

Boris Rodionov, head of the Moscow City Council's cultural section, said the Russians would draw on the British version of "My Fair Lady" seen here several years ago, and add their own interpretations. Theatrical students are working on "West Side Story," he said, and it will be staged if it is good enough.

Liz, Debbie, Latest Spouses Get Together

LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Express reported Saturday that onetime rivals Elizabeth Taylor and Debbie Reynolds and their latest husbands got together Friday aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Express reporter Peter Evans, who is on the ship, said Miss Reynolds invited Miss Taylor and her fifth husband, Richard Burton, to her suite for drinks with her and her husband, Harry Karl.

Singer Eddie Fisher divorced Miss Reynolds so he could marry Miss Taylor. She divorced him so she could marry Burton.

Castro Ushers In His 'Brave New World'

MIAMI (AP)—Havana Radio said Saturday the Castro regime is completing plans to handle the care and education of Cuban children after they are 45 days old.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the Ministry of Education has created "the Institute of Pre-school Education" which will choose and train persons "who will have charge of the education and the care of children" from age 45 days to school age.

The announcement did not say whether the children would remain in their parents' homes.

REDUCE NOW FOR FALL AND THE HOLIDAYS

Pat Walker Tells How to Reduce

I will be leaving this month for Australia to open salons in Sidney and Brisbane. "Down-under," the women are every bit as figure conscious as they are here in this country. Therefore, our salons should be a tremendous success there, too.

Now that fall is here and the holidays rapidly approaching, it suddenly makes a woman realize that her figure is so important when she shops for new clothes.

All too often, a woman will tell us how frustrated she was because she tried on figure revealing fashions and found the added inches and weight made it impossible for her to wear them. She became demoralized and disheartened because nothing looked the way it should. This resulted in a minimum wardrobe "just to get by."

It is a shame that all too many women experience this because in truth it need not happen. Today, it is best to invest money in a new figure than try to buy clothes to disguise it. You can buy your figure back just as you would purchase purchase clothes, furniture, automobiles, or anything else. You have nothing to lose but inches with our "Figure Perfection" program.

I visit with so many, many women of every age, walk of life and nationality, and each woman thinks her figure problems are so very different from another woman's that it will work for that other woman but not for her.

After a figure analysis, she realizes her figure problem is really not so different and that thousands of others have experienced the same problems that she is and suddenly, she regains hope and faith that something can be done for her and her own figure problems. When she has had her figure analysis, she knows where she needs to lose, what it will cost her, and how long it will take. It is a very proud, secure, happy woman who has the figure to wear young figure-flattering clothes. As a result she receives compliments and attention of those closest to her because she becomes a new person both in appearance and personality. This has not been luck on her part, she made her own luck when she recognized she had figure problems and gained the many rewards of our "Figure Perfection" program.

—Pat Walker

Miss Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority, talks to many women of every age, walk of life, and nationality, and each woman thinks her figure problems are so very different from another woman's that it will work for that other woman but not for her. She invites any woman to call for an appointment for a personal consultation.

Reducing The Pat Walker Way Is A Lasting Way, Proven by Long Beach Woman

The following letter was published over two years ago. At that time Mrs. Frances Robertson had just completed her reducing program. We re-print her letter telling of her reducing experience. Also note that one photograph was taken over two years ago when she completed her reduction. The second photo, taken recently, over two years later, Mrs. Robertson is more beautiful than ever and still a perfect size 10, demonstrating that reducing the Pat Walker Way is the lasting way.

as told by
Mrs. Frances Robertson
Long Beach, Calif.

I'm 53 years old and proud of it! I have the greatest husband but he is away on a foreign assignment. I have three children, ages 20, 22, and 24. I also have five wonderful grandchildren — and another on the way. My name is Frances Robertson. I live in Long Beach on East Ocean Blvd. I used to be in Real Estate but have not worked for quite a while.

The day I went to the Pat Walker Salon in Long Beach I went with a good friend who also was my neighbor. I was feeling miserable because I had a 40-inch hip, my thighs were over 25½ inches each, I had "over-the-bra" roll, not to mention other figure faults.

Miss Walker, the National Figure Authority, talked to both of us and told me what my problems were and what they could do about them. You see it hasn't made me haggard and drawn looking. I have an 89-year-old father who thinks that I look so wonderful that I should consider going back to my former profession which was Real Estate.

I have to admit that I am proud of myself and grateful to Pat Walker and her personnel. I've loved every minute I've spent in the Salon with Miss Walker's staff. They were thoughtful and helpful and made reducing a joy, not a chore. —Frances Robertson

Over two years ago, the above photograph was taken of Mrs. Frances Robertson when she had just completed her Pat Walker Figure Perfection program. She had reduced from a bulging size 18 to a trim size 10. We re-publish this photo so that you can see for yourself how reducing the Pat Walker way is the lasting way. Compare it with the recent photo at the right.

Here you see a very recent photo of Mrs. Robertson with Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority. Mrs. Robertson, now two years later, has retained her size 10 figure and her youth. She is full of zest for life with endless energy, and enjoys the many compliments she receives from her husband and friends.

San Francisco Legal Secretary Reduces A Size 22 to Size 16 and Still Going Down

Here you see a snapshot of Mrs. Josephine Conway. She weighed 190 pounds and wore a size 22 dress. She plodded around unhappily with aching back and feet. She was ashamed of her appearance due to her figure faults. Her husband urged her to seek Pat Walker's help. In the photo at the right, you'll see her as a size 16 but still going down.

Here you see Mrs. Conway with Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority. Mrs. Conway has reduced 8½ inches from her waist, 9 inches from her abdomen, 6½ inches from her hips, 6 inches from each thigh, 3½ inches from each upper arm, but she is still going down.

as told by
Mrs. Josephine Conway
San Francisco, Calif.

I am a legal secretary, Notary Public, a club woman, and a long-time resident of San Francisco, and I have now been married 35 years.

What the Pat Walker Salon has done for me it can do for you. Just look at my snapshot photo when I weighed 196 pounds and wore a size 22 dress. At that time I plodded unhappily down the street with an aching back and feet. Now my posture is greatly improved — my sway back has vanished along with my backaches and I can walk lightly again and look slert in a size 16 dress. Statistics can be boring, but you will find them not so boring when they are your very own. I have lost over 78½ inches.

I feel having an attractive figure is a real asset in my capacity as a secretary in a law office. I feel business women should be trim and attractive and improve on their appearance. This is what made me do something about my weight. My husband also urged me to do something about it as I just didn't want to go out of the house unless I had to.

I realize now I was unhappy and saw the Pat Walker ad and read what other women had accomplished. I thought I too should do something about myself.

The very first treatment was wonderful and for the first time in so very long, I did not suffer from insomnia. The added pep and well being I now have is unbelievable.

Every woman who has a weight problem and is tense and tired I know will be greatly benefited by the Pat Walker program. I can honestly say I never felt better. My husband and friends marvel at my appearance. I tell you I enjoyed every one of the treatments I have had and they have done me worlds of good.

Just a word of appreciation for the kindness and encouragement I received from Pat Walker and staff. I sincerely thank each of you. You have helped make a new, happy person of me.

—Josephine Wells Conway

Pat Walker,
nationally recognized figure authority

When I spoke with Mrs. Conway, she said that words could not convey her thanks for the wonderful way she feels as a result of her inch and weight loss she has had as a result of reducing with us.

Mrs. Conway and her problems are typical of many women who are overweight. The fatigue, difficulty in climbing stairs, of walking, the frustration from not looking or feeling their best, all the many problems that come from having figure faults and being overweight. Like so many others, she has found that the problems she had were not so great that nothing could be done. She was sensible and chose to help herself by seeking help from our program and it proved to be the right decision for her. In a few short weeks, you will again see Mrs. Conway but sizes smaller.

START REDUCING NOW TO WEAR THE NEW FALL AND HOLIDAY FASHIONS

Miss Walker says start reducing now before buying your new fall clothes that allow no room for bulges or bumps. Get yourself into shape to wear fashionable sheaths, party dresses, slim pants and all the new holiday fashions. Start reducing now and let your figure flatter your clothes and your clothes will flatter your figure.

by
Pat Walker,
nationally recognized figure authority

When Frances Robertson first came to us she had struggled for many years, in her own way, with her figure problems. Like most women, she thought reducing would work for someone else but not for her. I spoke to her the day she came in for her complimentary treatment and explained our "Figure Perfection" program to her. She was told where she needed to lose, how long it would take and what it would cost. She had a special goal in mind. Her husband was on foreign duty at the time and she wanted a new figure for him when he returned home. I told Mrs. Robertson we would do just as she wished, and she was most happy to start. When we talked that day, she told me about her family, her 85-year-old mother, and her 89-year-old father; also about her married children and how she loved her five grandchildren.

She had such a warm personality, was young at heart, and an all-around charming woman. I knew she would be very proud of herself once she had her figure back. She also told me that she had once been a model of size 10 clothes. What I knew and what was hard for her to believe was that she still had her size 10 bone structure but had just padded it with excess inches and weight and was now a bulging size 18. Well, to get on to the happy success of Mrs. Robertson's case history, we did what we promised. We reduced her back to a perfect size 10 and when I was recently photographed with her for a second time, two wonderful years have gone by and she's still a perfect size 10.

She told me that many happy things have happened since I last saw her. She had been in the East where friends of long standing couldn't believe she could still look so young and wonderful. She told of the wonderful compliments her devoted husband gives her. She is still considering the possibility of actually doing some real estate work more for fun than anything else because she had so much energy and enjoyed meeting people. The past two years have brought two more wonderful grandchildren in her life contributing further to her zest for life and the future.

The climax to Mrs. Robertson's story is that here is a woman who can with great pride look in the mirror and say to herself that she had a real problem that bothered her in so many ways and she solved it by seeking expert, personalized help and today she is the woman she deserves to be; attractive, full of pride, happy and content with herself. That is as it should be for all women.

Dallas Security Termed Shocking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney-author Louis Nizer declared security was so poor in Dallas the day President Kennedy was assassinated that "we are fortunate Oswald did not have a machine gun."

Nizer, in a lengthy introduction to Doubleday and Company's hardcover edition of "The Warren Commission Report," said there was "no excuse" for not guarding empty buildings or warehouses along Kennedy's motorcade route. He said security revelations in the report were "shocking."

"Whatever may be said for the failure to guard all buildings, there can be no excuse for ignoring empty buildings or warehouses," Nizer said. "How many can there be on the motorcade route? There is rarely even one and certainly there are no more than a few."

* * * *

NIZER SAID the Warren Report did not provide sufficient emphasis on the failure of the Secret Service or the FBI to inspect buildings, a basic routine in protecting the heads of state in most other countries. He noted that empty buildings and warehouses are always suspect because they permit an assassin or a group of assassins, to get ready without danger of interference.

"So dangerous is an unoccupied floor or warehouse that we are fortunate Oswald did not have a machine gun and mow down not only the president, but vice president Johnson and other officials, as well as Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Connally, thus decimating the executive branch of our country," Nizer wrote.

"Indeed, if Oswald had not been a 'loner', a small squad of killers could have occupied the sixth floor with him and wrought a wholesale destruction of our officials as the Japanese did on our ships at Pearl Harbor."

Nizer said the report proved that the assassination was the outcome of "a series of coincidences not likely to occur again for a thousand years" and should put the doubts of "all reasonable men" at rest.

* * * *

HE SAID he was hopeful the report would result in the strengthening of security around the president and a correction in the balance of rights of the press and the rights of a defendant.

Taking a critical view of the role news media played in the events following the assassination, Nizer suggested taking "a leaf from our English cousins" by limiting what the press can report about suspects and alleged evidence before trial. He said the balance between the right of fair trial and right of free press has definitely tipped in favor of news media.

"The commission properly raises the question of whether an unprejudiced jury could have been found to try Oswald had he lived," Nizer wrote.

Norse Ship Captains Will Get Bicycles

OSLO (AP) — Danish bikes have been ordered for captains of all the big tankers of a Norwegian shipping company. Capt. Trygve Christensen of the 96,000-ton tanker Borgsten started it when he got tired of making his deck inspections afoot and bought a bike to use aboard at sea and in harbor.

Prop. 8 Takes Uncontested Races Off Ballot

7th of a Series
By JIM McCAULEY
I. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Orange County and other counties exceeding 700,000 population would be authorized by Proposition No. 8 to remove from the ballot uncontested races for superior court judge.

In 1962, Los Angeles County was granted similar permission, pegging the population cut-off line at 5 million.

Proponents say the constitutional amendment will focus attention on contested offices, speed election talulations, save $30,000 each in Orange, San Diego, Alameda and San Diego Counties and provide adequate machinery for write-in campaigns.

To avoid cluttering the ballot with uncontested races, Los Angeles County uses this method in filling elective po-

SEN. JOHN W. Holmdahl, D-Alameda, one of the proponents, revealed that study shows that in the past 10 years Orange County hasn't had a single contested race.

Yet still taxpayers foot the bill for including judges' names on the ballot. The percentage of uncontested races ran 88% in San Francisco, and 95% each in San Diego and Alameda Counties.

The amendment provides that an incumbent judge can be challenged if 100 petitioners serve notice of a write-in campaign at least 45 days before the election. Or, a rival always can file nomination papers.

Opponents say the amendment makes write-ins more difficult and that election by voters is a fundamental concept more important than speed and economy.

Commented Sens. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, and Robert Lagomarsino, R-Ventura:

"As a practical matter, most judges are never really passed on by the people. Most judges are first appointed by the governor. Thereafter they are reelected time after time without opposition because it is common knowledge that it is extremely difficult to unseat an incumbent.

"This proposed change will further impair the right of the people to select their judges . . ."

Retorted Sen. Frank Petersen, R-Ukiah: "Write-in campaigns would be enhanced by sitions in muncipal courts, water districts and park-recreation districts.

Communications Symposium Set

Registration forms are now available for Long Beach City College's two-day symposium in technical communications, scheduled for Oct. 23-24 at the Business and Technology campus, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Highway.

Speakers will include George Gardner of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Prof. W. E. Davenport, chairman of the humanities department at Harvey Mudd College.

The conference is expected to attract more than 350 technical writing and publications personnel from business and industrial firms and military units throughout Los Angeles and Orange Counties. Panels will be presented on commercial aircraft manuals, medical information, consumer information and other topics.

Arrangements for the symposium are under the direction of Mrs. Mabel C. Weaks, City College technical writing instructor, and Dr. Keith James, general coordinator. Printed programs will be available this week at LBCC offices and Long Beach Public Library branches.

I, P-T Reporter Exposes Driver License Racket South of Border

a drink."

"BUT YOU can get a drink here," he says, pointing. "See the nice bar. They got girls, movies, postcards, everything."

The distractions again.

"No," you say, "Take me downtown. To a bar."

Both men shrug their shoulders, indicating they think you are making a terrible mistake. But the driver pulls out of the driveway and starts on.

Now, because he hasn't mentioned it, you ask, "How much?" "What?" he says. "How much for the driver's license?" "Oh," he says, as though you had just brought the subject up. "Fifty dollars."

"Too much," you say. "I understand you can get them for $10 to $15." He shrugs.

* * * *

IN DOWNTOWN Tijuana (if that's what they call it) the driver parks the cab in the 1000 block of Avenida Revolucion. You pay the driver $1 and you and your new friend walk. A half a block down the street he turns into a doorway. The number is 1026. On the glass above the door "Cuardos Paredes" is hand-painted in orange. You can't miss the place.

You walk through the door. You're in a long, dirty hallway. The walls are painted in red and white triangular sections. Fifty feet down this hall you turn right and you're in another hallway. Twenty feet down this hall and you turn left. Now you know where you are. You can't miss it. On each side of the hallway are doors, about eight of them. In six of them girls (?) are standing. They beckon.

With your trusty guide you pass the gauntlet of fingers clutching at your coat sleeve. At the end of the hall are three men. One of them obviously is a man of some importance. You can tell because in his right hand he has a roll of what appears to be bills. The outside one is $5. The inside ones you can't of course see.

* * * *

THIS IS the man and you're all ready to ask him about driver's licenses, but no. You have to go through the standard girls, French movies and postcards routine first. When this is over, you say "Driver's license."

"Yes," he says.

"How much?" you say.

"Fifty dollars," he says.

"Oh no," you say.

"How much you wanna pay?" he says.

"Fifteen dollars," you say.

It is his turn. "Oh no," he says. Then he relents. "Forty dollars," he says.

You shake your head — firmly you hope and say again, as though he didn't hear, "Fifteen dollars."

* * * *

HE SHAKES his head just as firmly and repeats, "Forty dollars. That's all."

This is your first try, so you turn on your heel and stalk out. On the way, the man with the bills says, "How about a nice girl? Here, try my wife."

You don't like his "wife" so you keep going. And they let you go. All except your guide. He follows you out to the street where you stop and say, with appropriate shrug, "Well, that's that."

"Wait," he says. "We try another man."

You follow him a half a block down Avenuda Revolucion to a cab stand. Here is another man. You talk to him but reach the same point when negotiations break down. He stays at "forty dollars," and you stay at "fifteen dollars." This is it. You walk away. Your guide this time does not follow but writes you off as a cheapskate and goes looking for someone else.

HALF AN hour later, after a beer in one of the bars, a cab driver on the corner of the Avenida Revolucion and Calle Cuarta gives you the big pitch again. After the girls, French movies and postcards are done with, you ask about the license. He says okay and drives you around the block a couple of times and then up a very dirty alley and parks beside some very dirty apartments.

He leads you around a corner and into the back door of a building. Inside comes a surprise.

You are in the same crib house you were in before. The same fat guy with the black mustache and the roll of bills is there. He smiles. You smile. Even now you have to go through the girls, French movies and postcards routine but finally he'll talk about licenses. Okay.

Since you left him at $15 you feel now maybe you should go up since he didn't hunt you up, so you go to $20. He's accomodating, so he comes down to $35. Now you are getting some place. You go to $30 and "that's that." He doesn't believe you but, this time, he doesn't let you walk. He finally says okay to $30.

* * * *

NOW YOU talk to the cab driver. He shows you a license of a guy from West Covina and tells you to write down the information you want on your license. You write the name, age, address, physical description and other essential data, including the office you want it issued from. He takes the paper and you go.

"Now we see the man who does the work," he tells you as you are standing on the corner of Avenida Revolucion and Calle Septima. Now we're getting close, you think. But no.

After a 40-minute wait for "the man" you find that he expects you to give him $20 now and the other $10 when you get the license. When do you get the license? Why, three hours later, of course.

"It takes time to do good work," the unshaven, disreputable-looking artisan says with a shrug. This is the Moment of Truth — and you fail it.

* * * *

YOU SAY, "Look, I'm not about to give you $20 on the promise that you'll meet me in three hours with the license. You get me the license and I'll pay you $30 for it—when you give it to me."

Both men shake their heads. "This is impossible," they say, almost in unison. But you are firm. So firm the "artisan" gets out of the cab and walks away. "Well, that's that," you tell the driver and you get into a long discussion about how you "don't trust anyone" and that's why you can't get the license.

"Okay" you finally say. "I take. Get the guy back and I'll give him the $20."

This takes another wait of 40 minutes on the corner. But you give the guy the money and the cab driver says, "Now we have to get the picture." You discuss price, of course, and your guy says, "Oh, a dollar, or a dollar and a half."

* * * *

YOU SAY okay and after he leads up a dirty stairway, down a filthy hall and into an even dirtier studio at 622 Avenida Ninos Heros to the Altos Fotorama. Now, a man with the inevitable mustache poses you with great care in front of an ancient Graflex view camera and takes your picture — on a 4 by 5 inch negative yet.

The price, of course, is $2 instead of the $1.50 but you are too tired to protest. What's fifty cents now.

In fact the driver apparently gets this idea too because as you drive away he says, "Why don't you get a draft card to go with this? Only $10. Forty dollars for both." He's talking about a Selective Service card, with which an under-21-yearold service man can many times get a drink in a bar. But you're over 21, so you say "No, thanks."

YOUR GUY lets you out on "his corner" and you drink beer or something until the long three hours have passed. Now it's 5:30 p.m. and you're ready. But no. It seems your cab driver, whose name he finally tells you is Ruben, informs you that there has been a "delay" and the license won't be ready until 6:30 p.m.

But, lo and behold, when you return at 7 p.m. your man is smiling. He doesn't have the license but he knows where to go. You get in the cab and after the inevitable ride around several blocks the cab stops and your "artisan" climbs in the back. He has the license. You look at it. It looks all right, so you give them the other $10.

* * * *

AS YOU step out of the cab at "the corner" your friend, Ruben, plants the final sword.

"My fare?" he says, so you throw him the usual dollar. But Ruben isn't finished. "Two dollars," he says blandly. "Look at all the trouble I've had."

"Trouble you've had," you say and, dropping the dollar on the car seat, you walk off.

You've done it. You have a California driver's license.

And now you recall what the San Diego policeman said.

* * * *

"TWO YEARS ago," he told you, "you could buy these things (driver's licenses and Selective Service cards) on any street corner. But we (the Mexican police and his department) got the guy that used to print them over by the Jai Alai Palace. He's out of business now. You're out of luck."

Now it occurs to you the place you made the arrangements at 1026 Avenida Revolucion is less than a half block from the Jai Alai Palace.

It's a small world.

7 Ways to Spot Phony Licenses

Fake driver licenses—easy to come by in Tijuana, Mexico—are beginning to show up in the United States and are used as "identification" by bad-check passers.

Leavitt Tudor, assistant office manager of the Long Beach Department of Motor Vehicles, said the fake license can be distinguished from the real thing from the following.

(1) The California licenses are printed on a dexagraph machine in Sacramento and are very distinct. No gray, all black and white. The fake is gray.

(2) Each office of the DMV has a set of key letters to designate where each license is issued. Long Beach is Lg Bch and is always followed by a number, which is the number of the typist that typed it.

(3) On the back of legitimate licenses there is always the stamp of the state of California and the issue date stamped in red. The seal also is in red.

(4) Since Sept. 20, 1963 all licenses have a class number, like 1, 2, 3. Prior to that they had letters like a, b, c.. That space is blank on the fake.

(5) Pictures on good license always have absolutely white background. The fake has a grey. Also you can see where the picture is pasted on the license before the picture is taken on the fake. On the legitimate license you can't see this line.

(6) On the fake, the signature must be small enough, since it is pasted on the license before the photostat is made, to fit inside the lines surrounding it. On the real license you can, and most people do, go over the lines, particularly on letters below the line.

(7) One thing to watch: if the person has glasses on in the picture, the box marked "must wear glasses" is almost always checked. On Mexican licenses it is not unless the buyer so specifies.

Girl Lives 22 Hours in Sea; 4 Feared Lost

JERSEY, Channel Islands (AP)—A 20-year-old girl staggered exhausted out of the storm-swept English Channel Saturday, the sole known survivor of a shipwreck feared to have claimed four lives.

She came ashore clinging to a piece of wreckage after battling huge waves for 22 hours.

Alison Mitchell of Jersey told rescuers how the pleasure cruise off Brittany of the 50-foot motor yacht Maricelia came to grief Friday night as the little vessel nosed in toward its Jersey anchorage.

* * * *

WHEN THE storm broke and the yacht started to founder, she was caught below decks. With water rushing into the cabin, she broke a porthole and scrambled through. "When I surfaced, the entire superstructure of the boat had gone and nobody was left on board," she said.

Miss Mitchell said she grabbed a piece of wreckage and started swimming. "The sea was whipping itself into a frenzy with waves 40 feet high and it soon got very dark. I don't know how I hung on."

* * * *

SHE SIGHTED land Saturday and paddled toward it —"I didn't know whether it was France or Jersey." Reaching the shore, she scrambled up a cliff and found help at a farmhouse. Saturday night, she was in a hospital recovering from the ordeal.

Queuing Begins for Met Opener Monday Night

NEW YORK (AP) — People have already started lining up to buy standing-room tickets for Monday night's opening of the 1964-65 Metropolitan Opera season, and the box office doesn't open until Monday morning.

First in the 20-person line Saturday was a 19-year-old Bayonne, N.J., girl, Linda Wolf, who said she had only 11 cents in her pocket, far from enough to buy a ticket.

She said she was expecting a friend to bring money before Monday. "otherwise I'll have been waiting for nothing."

Triplets Make It 22 —Dad Unemployed

LEWES, Del. (AP) — The 36-year-old wife of an unemployed fish-plant worker, who previously had given birth to 19 children including two sets of twins, now has a set of triplets.

The mother, Mrs. Emily Sneed, and the triplets, born Friday, were reported "doing fine" Saturday in Beebe Hospital. Seventeen of Mrs. Sneed's 22 children are living.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Top Issue: Who Pulls Nuclear Trigger?

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

The question, who should pull the nuclear weapons trigger—the President or a field commander? — looked last week as the major election campaign issue.

Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater built new fires under it by restating his proposal that, if elected, he would share triggering authority with the NATO alliance commander in Europe.

President Johnson and other Democratic orators warned voters throughout the land that this could lead to a nuclear holocast by miscalculation.

* * * *

GOLDWATER shot back that there was sound evidence that Johnson himself had already delegated such authority and was not being truthful with the people.

The dispute caused a schism of sorts in the GOP hierarchy. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, though supporting Goldwater, deplored the fact that nuclear weapons startegy had become an election issue.

"I don't think it's in the best interests of the country to make public details of how we will defend the United States," he told a press conference.

His statement referred to a Goldwater task force report on "The Defense Role of Nuclear Weapons." The task force was headed by Eisenhower's one time defense secretary, Neil H. McElroy.

THE REPORT among other things called on Johnson to tell the people that the NATO commander could use such weapons under predetermined circumstances and that he name persons who could issue such orders in case of presidential disability.

Eisenhower praised the task for "getting at the facts." But he refused to endorse any of its conclusions on grounds no President should be told "what he should do or say."

McElroy also backed away from the conclusions, as published by the Republican National Committee.

Johnson commended Eisenhower for his "right and patriotic" stand.

* * * *

GOLDWATER urged a convention of UPI editors and publishers in Washington to look closely at the question of nuclear controls. "This administration," he said, "has attempted to create a fear complex out of it . . . delegation of authority is needed to assure that NATO is not stranded because of putting control solely in the very mortal hands of one man. . ."

Diplomatic sources in Washington said meantime that Red China had hinted to neutral government in Asia and Africa that it plans to set off its first nuclear blast in a few weeks. This had been predicted previously by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The presidential candidates, their running mates, and wives, sons and daughters stepped up the tempo of the campaign with swings into almost every region of the country.

Goldwater continued drumming on alleged administration corruption and military policy in Communist-embattled South Viet Nam. He said that if elected he would ask Gen. Eisenhower to head a mission to Saigon to study and report to him on the crisis. Eisenhower had no immediate comment.

* * * *

JOHNSON told a Chicago audience that Goldwater represents "a radical departure from the historic and basic current of American thought and action."

The President made his first invasion of the South and joined Mrs. Johnson's Southern whistle-stop campaign tour at New Orleans.

Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara emerged as two of the biggest guns in Johnson's campaign arsenal. He authorized both to fire back when foreign or defense policy is attacked.

McNamara, for example, charged that Goldwater's claim that U.S. nuclear power is declining "is so completely misleading and so damaging to our national security that it cannot be allowed to stand on the record."

Rusk declared that the Democrats inherited the Cuban problem from Eisenhower. He said it was "more difficult to cure than it would have been to prevent it." He also denied Goldwater's assertions that Johnson is concealing the true state of affairs in Viet Nam.

In other news spheres, the Supreme Court heard arguments in two cases testing the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act. Involved are an Atlanta motel and a Birmingham restaurant. The bench indicated there may be an early bellwether decision.

* * * *

THE FBI announced the arrest of 10 white men in connection with the recent bombing of Negro homes near McComb, Miss. State officals cooperated. FBI agents seized hand grenades, 15 bombs, carbines, blackjacks and powder. One of the accused, son of a wealthy Mississippian, also was charged with bank robbery.

In Caracas, Venezuela, pro-Castra terrorists kidnaped U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Smolen, 45, Chandler, Ariz. Smolen is deputy chief of the Air Force mission in Venezuela. Last Nov. 27 a U.S. Army colonel also was kidnaped, but was released after nine days in captivity.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said the United States will demand that Russia forfeit its vote in the United Nations General Assembly next month unless it pays its overdue U.N. bills. Moscow said the challenge would be accepted.

* * * *

RUSSIAN secret police burst into the hotel rooms of three U.S. Embassy attaches and a British official in Vladivostok, Siberia, searched their luggage and seized cameras, film and a radio. The men were en route from Moscow to Japan. The State Department protested sharply, charging violation of diplomatic immunity. Moscow rejected the protest and charged the men were spies. The officials returned to Moscow, not knowing whether they would be expelled.

The Internal Revenue Bureau unveiled a new and "simpler" income tax form. It said it will be easier to fill out than past forms, but cautioned all citizens to read accompanying instructions carefully for guidance.

Fears Voiced for Queen's Safety

By United Press International

Queen Elizabeth's visit to Canada, the American presidential campaign and an abortive spy trial in New York drew comment last week from European newspapers.

While the queen's visit to Canada continued to make front page news in Britain, there still were fears voiced about her safety. But no paper suggested she should not have made the trip.

"For (Canadian Prime Minister) Lester Pearson to have canceled the visit would have been to bow to terrorism," the London Daily Mail said.

The London Daily Sketch suggested Elizabeth's advisors had blundered in having her land at Wolfe's Cove, Quebec, thus rubbing in the defeat of the French many years ago.

In West Berlin, the newspaper Telegraf suggested Rep. William Miller and Sen. Barry Goldwater were responsible for the vehemence of the American presidential election.

FORECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Evaluate various trends, conditions. Don't commit yourself to definite course of action. Remain alert, open-minded. If you are receptive . . . you can receive the "answer." Be aware.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You now have much on your side. Those who attempt to undermine you make light of your assets. Have faith in your convictions. Be patient, confident. Attend church of choice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be prepared for pressures, questions, doubts. Rely upon past experience. Try to remember similar situation. You can come out on top—if you are perceptive, reflective.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Finish projects. Hold off on new enterprises. Be moderate. Strive to erase antagonisms. Make your meanings clear. Applies especially to dealing with fellow workers.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Be independent in thought, action. State needs, desires, beliefs. Be definite. No day for beating around the bush. You could make valuable discovery. Seek—and you will find!

VIRGO (August 23-Sept. 22): Be wary, cautious. You can avoid move which would create added costs, delay. Look behind the scenes. Remember key events. Apply past experiences to current questions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be curious, versatile. Don't settle for only one opinion. Check various sources, but make your own judgment! You could make valuable discovery. Key is persistence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be definite where details, money matters are concerned. Necessary to review investments, hopes, plans for future. Your security may be at stake. Key is thoroughness.

SAGITARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle remains high. But you must decide on definite course of action. Make constructive changes. Pay heed to unusual suggestion by member of opposite sex.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Associate presses for decision. Find out "why the rush." Need inner feelings. Family member has key to dilemma. What you seek is close at hand . . . best to act accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Make new social contacts. Be open to ideas, suggestions. You can apply unique methods to greater advantage. Refuse to follow "the mob." Remember—individuality pays off!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): One in authority due to request your opinion. Maintain dignity. Give thoughtful reply. Cycle features opportunity to succeed. Forget red tape. Perceive overall situation.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you have keen sense of justice, are intuitive—and you respond extremely well during emergency situations.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Sagitarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Libra: Combine practicality with sense of humor. You can impress higher-ups.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be selective. Includes the company you keep, the plans you make. Important people watch with interest. Prove your ability! Exercise sense of discrimination. Judge carefully.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be confident where far-reaching plans are concerned. State your needs. Then outline desires. Time when you can feel what you go after. But be ready to present all the facts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Key is compromise. Finish what you start. Overcome temptation to procrastinate. Now, time truly adds up to money. Be specific. Avoid extravagance. Utilize creative abilities to their fullest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Absorb knowledge. Be wary regarding associate who urges short-cut methods. Realize thoroughness pays off. One close to you may express concern over finances. Be sympathetic.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Express beliefs in calm, amiable manner. Careless remarks will create embarrassing situations. Many around you are irritable. Strive for maturity. Be considerate, understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Aim for creative pursuits. Stress change, variety. Be open to new ideas. Member of opposite sex due to be impressed, will express admiration. Be gracious. Avoid pompous stance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't become engulfed in maze of details. Concentrate on "end product." Keen mind set on overall project. May not be easy . . . but this kind of "fusion" pays extraordinary dividends!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Key to successful day is mental activity. Express ideas . . . follow through on hunches. Consult newspaper, authorities, library. You are "on the trail" of discovery. Follow through!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Concentrate on financial questions. You are due a chance to enhance income possibilities. Key is obtaining harmony at home. Then you can "go forth" with clear mind—and conscience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Cycle high. You can now succeed in . . . contacts. Express yourself. Dress up and be seen! No time for pessimism. Be aggressive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Realize you require some privacy—and that some matters are confidential. Be discreet—others will be intrigued. Maintain aura of glamor. Don't tell all! This will work in your favor.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Maintain sense of balance. Emotional "hitlinks" are to be avoided. Don't feel the grass is always greener far away. Appreciate loved ones. Close friend imparts valuable information.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are intrigued with humor, ways of pleasing people. Domestic adjustment made this year works to your advantage.

Candidates Set for Hard Drive Toward Finish

With just over three weeks until election day, and with adjournment of Congress, the heretofore invisible grass-roots campaign of Long Beach-area candidates are at last moving into the public arena.

Incumbent Republican Congressman Craig Hosmer has a jam-packed speaking schedule. And Democratic challenger Michael Cullen gains two consecutive days of exposure—today with President Johnson and Monday when U.S. Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii visits Long Beach.

Hosmer's schedule includes these stops: "A Washington Report" at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Long Beach Shrine Club in Pacific Coast Club; a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter, California Society of Professional Engineers, Tuesday in Lakewood Country Club; a talk before the Long Beach Postal Union at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the third-floor Star Room at Morgan Hall, 835 Locust Ave., open to the public.

• • • •

HOSMER will address North Long Beach Republican Women Federated at their 13th anniversary meeting at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 19 in Houghton Park Clubhouse. Long Beach Young Republicans have hooked Hosmer for 8 p.m. Oct. 21 for a public meeting in the Lafayette Hotel.

Cullen, an old friend of Inouye, will appear with the senator at a $50 fund-raising reception 5 to 7 p.m. Monday in the Cafe Lafayette at the Lafayette Hotel, according to attorneys Joseph E. Madden, area cochairman for the Johnson-Humphrey campaign, and James A. Ackerman, event coordinator. Cullen also will appear with Inouye at a Monday luncheon in Los Angeles of 150 members of the Japanese-Americans for Johnson Committee.

Cullen, at 11 a.m. Wednesday, will address a public forum in Long Beach City College Auditorium, sponsored by the college Young Democrats Club.

• • • •

HASTINGS-CULLEN FETE

Willard Hastings, Democratic nominee for Assembly in the East Long Beach-Signal Hill 39th District, will be honored with Cullen at a reception today, 3 to 5 p.m. at the Virginia Waters residence, 1485 La Perla Ave., Park Estates, also honoring 200 volunteer precinct workers of the district.

YOUTH FOR BARRY

A group of high school and college students have opened a Youth for Goldwater-Miller Headquarters at 350 E. First St., under management of Jim Vail, Ray Sterling and Larry Veeder, Cal State Long Beach students. It will be open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday with campaign materials from bumper strips to the soft-drink "Gold Water." Students wishing to take part may call at headquarters.

Nixon Visiting L.A. This Week, 5 Other States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will make political appearances this week in California, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Florida.

The Republican National Committee announced the schedule for the third week of Nixon's 25,000-mile campaign trip in behalf of the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

Monday, he will visit San Francisco, Claremont, Pomona, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Workshop Books Talk by Consumer Counsel

Mrs. Helen E. Nelson, California Consumer Counsel, will head a consumer-evaluation panel at the morning session of Long Beach City College's third annual technical writing workshop on the business and technology campus Oct. 24.

Panelists will evaluate literature that accompanies consumer hard and soft goods. Mrs. Nelson's particular subtopic is labeling.

HELEN E. NELSON
To Address Writers

On the panel are L. G. Merritt, general supervisor of the division of purchasing at Space and Information Systems Division, North American Aviation; Mrs. Kay Marquardt, homemaker and home economics graduate, and James Phelan, contributing writer for the Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Eva Lampson, work-education coordinator for the Long Beach Unified School District, will be the moderator.

The third annual symposium in technical communication opens Oct. 23, with registration from noon until 1 p.m. and the opening session at 1:15 p.m. in the gymnasium.

THE LADIES ARE PRUDENT

They Use Their Credit but They Also Use Their Heads

By CHARLES SUTTON

Brace yourselves, men! This may come as something of a shock:

But the little lady in your life—the gal who darns your socks and raises your kids—is not quite the spendthrift you may have thought she was.

As a matter of fact considering all the credit cards and charge-a-plates at her disposal, she's really a pretty prudent spender.

AND THE fact that four females say so doesn't detract from the statement, either—because all four are credit managers in their respective businesses.

The four are Mrs. Barbara Boland of Modesto, Mrs. Edythe Falconer of San Diego, and Mrs. Esselyne Driscoll and Mrs. Marie Anderson of Long Beach. They met in the Lafayette Hotel to map plans for an education seminar which their organization, District 11 of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club, will sponsor at the hotel next month. The club, they explained, is dedicated to the betterment of credit collection work.

Mrs. Boland is president of District 11, which includes California, Nevada, Australia and Hawaii; Mrs. Falconer is seminar chairman, and Mrs. Driscoll and Mrs. Anderson are local chairmen of the forthcoming event.

ALL FOUR agreed that, by and large, the American housewife uses her credit cards wisely. There are exceptions, of course, but the exceptions comprise only a small fraction of the overall number, they added.

If the exceptions were to be catalogued, though, chances are they'd include a lot of young brides.

"Couples in their late teens and early twenties tend to forget themselves," explained Mrs. Falconer. "You find this true among many young Navy couples. They have no conception of what credit means."

A lot of young people, moreover, have a tendency to think they merit the same good things in life that their seniors have. They don't realize they have to work up to them, she said.

HOW DO you tell a prudent couple?

Well, for one thing, the women said, a wise couple always makes certain its income for the month well exceeds its accumulated obligations for the period.

It's always important, too, they said, for a husband and wife to make allowances for unseen contingencies—such as illness.

The smart couple also avoids lots of little bills. Little bills have a curious tendency to mushroom beyond control, they agreed.

But if they were to wrap up their advice in three little words, they admitted, they'd simply say: Use your head.

CREDIT MANAGERS Marie Anderson and Barbara Boland testify that wives are not the spendthrifts husbands may think they are.

MacArthur Estate Over $2 Million

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The personal estate of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has been appraised at more than $2 million.

The amount does not include joint ownership stocks, bonds and securities or insurance payable to beneficiaries.

The inventory and appraisal filed in the clerk's office of Norfolk Corporation Court this week shows MacArthur's personal estate to be worth $2,131,941.89.

MacArthur died April 6 and was buried in the MacArthur Memorial in Norfolk April 11.

His will was probated June 1 and a four-man commission was appointed by the court to inventory and appraise the personal estate.

The bulk of the estate was in bonds and securities. The largest single bond holding was $176,295 in the Los Angeles Metropolitan Trust Authority, with an accrued interest of $874. The general also held a sizable amount in bonds on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. These amounted to $114,712.50, with an accrued interest of $1,576.40.

MacArthur's largest single stockholding was in General Motors Corp. He had 2,205 shares of common stock at a value of $180,258.75.

He also had 1,903 shares of common stock in Sperry Rand Corp. at a value of $34,254.

MacArthur and his wife had $36,216.64 in joint accounts in the First National City Bank of New York and State National Bank of Stamford, Conn.

Mrs. MacArthur was named sole heir in the general's will, with provisions made for his son, Arthur.

The inventory showed that MacArthur had Congressional Medal of Honor stipends dated March 3, 1964 and April 5, 1964, payable to himself and his wife in the amounts of $100 each.

The tangible personal property of MacArthur, which consisted of furniture and mementoes, was given a value of $5,601.

Trains Collide

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Two passenger trains collided at an exit of Belgrade station Saturday, killing one person and injuring 17.

6 New Unified School Districts OKd by State

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State Board of Education Saturday approved the formation of six unified school districts, rejected one proposal and deferred action on two others.

Approved were the following unified school districts in:

—Modoc County, comprising the Modoc Union High School District and a portion of Madeline School area of Lassen County.

—Monterey County, comprising the King City Joint Union High School District.

—Monterey County, comprising the Gonzales Union High School District.

—San Luis Obispo County, comprising the San Luis Obispo Union High School District.

—Ventura County, comprising the Ventura High School District.

—Yolo County, comprising the Woodland Joint Union High School District.

The board rejected, by a vote of 8-0, the proposal of forming two unified school districts from the Monterey Union High School area.

IN REJECTING this proposal, the board requested the Monterey committee to reconsider its plans with an eye towards a unified district that would be larger than the existing Monterey Union High School District.

Since the area covered in a Salinas proposal of forming a unified district comprising the Salinas Union High School area lies near the rejected Monterey area, the board voted to continue without prejudice until December the Salinas proposal.

The proposal of a unified district comprising Vacaville Union High School District was deferred until November on legal grounds. No details were immediately available.

A SPOKESMAN for the state board said that the chief reason for the rejection of the Monterey High School District proposal was that its division of an existing high school district was contrary to the Unruh School Act of 1964.

The spokesman said that board members Dorman Commons, of Fullerton, and William Norris, of Pasadena, termed the split proposal one of the weakest to reach the State Board of Education.

Lecture Slated by Phelan

James R. Phelan, free-lance writer for national magazines and former Independent-Press-Telegram columnist, will discuss his recent research on certain California organizations at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Boyd High School auditorium, 8th Street and Locust Avenue.

Second speaker in the current Long Beach City College series "Behind the Headlines with a Reporter," Phelan will outline some of the findings soon to be fully presented in a Saturday Evening Post article.

Also scheduled Monday evening is a new illustrated lecture series on "The Golden State," starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Jordan High School choral room, 6500 Atlantic Avenue. Speaker is Margaret Forsythe, Compton school psychologist. Her topic is "Down the Byways."

Other admission-free programs:

WEDNESDAY

Health for Senior Citizens—George W. Amlay, M.D., "A New Look at the Four Degenerative Syndromes," 2 p.m., Boyd High School auditorium.

Investments—Jess Grundy, "How to Pick a Stock," 7:30 p.m., Boyd High School auditorium.

THURSDAY

A Practical Approach to Parliamentary Procedure—Ina M. Potter, "Helps for Specific Situations," room 210, Boyd High School.

WITHHOLDING TAX CON GAME STILL WITH US—DUPUY

"There are indications that the governor will ask for State Withholding Tax again in 1965," charged Reg Dupuy, 44th District Candidate for the State Assembly. "Incumbent Joe Kennick and ten other legislators kept the Withholding Tax Bill alive and rushed it to the Senate, where it was defeated," reminded Dupuy.

"In his budget message," Candidate Dupuy explains, "the governor says personal income tax amounts to only 13.2% of State Revenue, and only about half of that is derived from wage earners."

According to Dupuy, the administration alleges that each year thousands of new California citizens require immediate services, and that the State should withhold personal income tax immediately to catch up on the services cost. Dupuy states that each new citizen begins to pay his own way as soon as he enters the State with gasoline taxes (19.6% of State Revenue), cigarette taxes (2.5% of State Revenue) and sales taxes on general merchandise (2.4% of State Revenue). So says Dupuy, our new citizen pays his share of more than [illegible] of State revenue [illegible] here."

Reg Dupuy [illegible] will oppose [illegible] tax as another confidence [illegible] gimmick that is neither needed nor wanted.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Surgeon General Inspects Ft. Ord

FT. ORD (UPI)—The Army's surgeon general inspected conditions at meningitis-wracked Ft. Ord Saturday preparatory to meeting today with Gov. Brown in Los Angeles.

Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton arrived at the sprawling Monterey County training base in midafternoon from Washington after first stopping in San Francisco to pick up Col. John Harris, 6th Army surgeon.

Heaton's decision to personally inspect conditions at the base came in the midst of mounting criticism by state political leaders of the Army's refusal to either close or quarantine Ft. Ord.

Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., said he will go over the Secretary of the Army's head direct to the White House if the Army has not quarantined Ft. Ord by Monday.

Sisk said he has had numerous letters, telephone calls and personal contact from parents whose sons are scheduled to be inducted into the Army and sent to Ft. Ord for basic training on Thursday. He said there was "almost panic among the people" because of the outbreak of meningitis at the huge training base.

Cairo Meet Hits U.S. on Cuba

CAIRO (UPI)—Heads of state at the second Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Nations Saturday night signed a strongly anti-Western final declaration which included a demand that the United States withdraw from the Guantanamo Bay base in Cuba.

The contents of the declaration were to be formally announced at noon today, but most of its points already were known. They previously had been approved by the foreign ministers of the non-aligned nations.

Forty-seven nations signed the declaration.

Optimism Grows for GM Peace

DETROIT (UPI)—An acceleration in the number of local agreements Saturday cast a rosy glow on current contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and strike-bound General Motors.

General Motors has been idled by a strike for 16 days. The UAW, which has already negotiated three-year contracts with Ford and Chrysler, has settled terms with GM on a master contract covering economic issues. But the strike remains in force until the 130 local bargaining units spread throughout the nation agree on non-economic local issues.

LBJ Names Job Corps Director

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson appointed a Southern educator Saturday to direct the Job Corps, the major youth program in the "War on Poverty."

Named to the post was Dr. Otis A. Singletary, 44-year-old chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The Job Corps will provide basic education, work and training for young men and women. About 40,000 will be enrolled the first year and 100,000 in the second.

Exports Planes Despite Ban

DALLAS (UPI)—A Dallas exporter says he sold 15 military planes to the embattled Haitian government, but the U.S. State Department refused to license the deal, the Dallas Times Herald reported Saturday.

The worldwide exporter, who the newspaper said asked not to be identified, was quoted as saying he has sold 37 planes to Mexico within the past 90 days.

Johnson Romping in Poll

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—President Johnson is favored by 71% of the persons surveyed in the Minnesota Poll's latest survey of presidential support.

The poll, conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune, asked 1,000 Minnesotans last weekend their preferences of presidential candidates.

Berserk, Nude, Cuts 5, Is Slain

ATLANTA (UPI)—A 26-year-old man shed his clothes on his front porch and ran naked through the neighborhood with a butcher knife Saturday, stabbing five persons before police shot him to death.

Authorities said Patrolman J. R. Spence shot Arlin Eugene Pinnell three times when Pinnell lunged at him with a butcher knife.

Police said, Pinnell, who lived with his parents, grabbed up a butcher knife, slapped his father and tried to stab him.

Then he ran from the house, stripped off all his clothes on the front porch and dashed haphazardly through the neighborhood brandishing the knife.

HE STABBED Mrs. Lelia Spencer, 32, her two children, Morde, 8, and Deborah, 7, and Elalia Haney, 74. All were hospitalized in fair condition.

WHAT HAPPENED? It's no secret that the immediate traffic buildup on the newly opened segment of the San Diego Freeway through Long Beach far exceeded official expectations.

In many other cases of freeway section openings, it has taken the drivers some time to find the thing.

In fact, the San Diego Freeway section immediately west of that recently opened two or three years ago looked almost deserted for the first couple of weeks after the barricades came down.

But things went wild on the Atlantic Ave.-Bolsa Chica segment right off the bat. The first horrendous jam may have resulted in part from curiosity driving on the route, but traffic has since held up remarkably and there are peak-hour jams every working day on the east (south) end.

HIGHWAY officials and traffic experts I've talked to aren't quite sure why motorists "found" the new section so quickly.

The opening had about the normal amount of advance publicity. There's nothing especially different about the physical layout of this section as compared with other new freeway sections. It's true it runs through a heavily developed area where people have watched with interest as it grew up, but that's normal for Southern California.

About the only conclusion one can reach is that this freeway answers a tremendous need. Thousands of drivers who could beneficially use it have just been waiting for its availability, and were ready at the moment.

THE LAST-END jam-ups are primarily caused by the fact four fast lanes of traffic are compressed into two out there where freeway traffic merges with that coming in from Garden Grove Blvd. (E. Seventh St.)

Unhappily, there's no immediate prospect for relief out there. It will come when contracts on the overpass and other features of that complex are completed some time hence. But even then, the problem area will just move south and east to the next uncompleted contract.

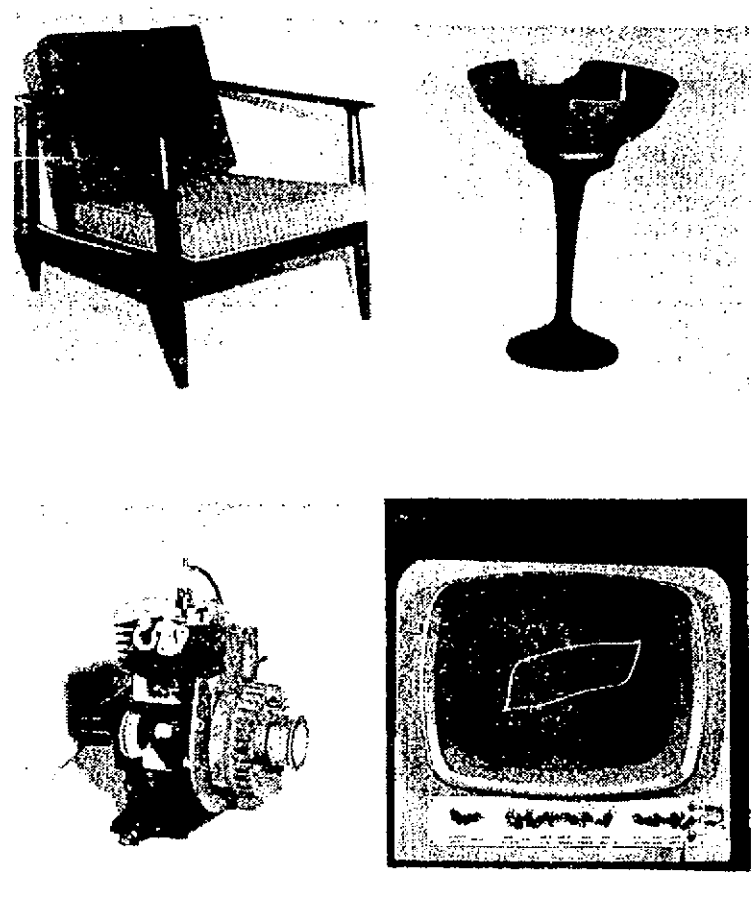

There's always congestion at the point where one completed freeway segment ends. But this one, I suspect, is worse than usual because the end is at a point where there's a complex of connecting roads, some big traffic carriers. You can't build a whole freeway at once, but in this case, perhaps, it would have been wise to have timed all parts of the job clear through Bolsa Chica Rd. for simultaneous completions.

Too late, now. For motorists who find it insufferable, there are alternate routes, the old ones they were using anyhow just two weeks ago.

DRIFTWOOD — A while back Hank Dunn, local insurance man, quipped at a service club meeting that someone ought to put out a bumper sticker reading PIERRE GO HOME as a jibe at Senate candidate Pierre Salinger. Republican Gladys O'Connell heard him, had a bunch of them printed up. They're showing up around town. . . . There are girl teamster union members. Office workers in this category have been out on the picket line in the food strike. Couple of local housewives who saw several there remonstrated with them for helping to cut off food from babes, etc. The girls explained they were union members and were on duty. Leaving, the housewives stopped a passerby and asked him if those gentle-looking girls really were truck drivers. . . . Look for the roll-out of the first DC-9, Douglas' new medium jet that a lot of our folk are working on, sometime in early 1965.

State's IA Students

They Master Machines

By GEORGE ERES

The college man — or woman—who knows which end of a wrench to use can just about pick his teaching spot as soon as he's qualified to pick up his diploma and teaching credential.

Industrial arts — along with physics and mathematics—today is the most critical area of teaching shortage in the nation.

And it will become more critical because of changes in our economy continue to emphasize the needs for mechanical skills as well as brain power.

The State College Board of Trustees, recognizing the need in this area, has designated California State College at Long Beach as one of the 15 state colleges to emphasize this phase of teaching preparation.

* * * *

DR. C. THOMAS DEAN, chairman of the Cal-State's division of Applied Arts and Sciences, has lived with the program since its beginnings in 1950. At that time, there were two instructors and 12 students headquartered in a single classroom in a temporary building on the lower campus. Shop facilities were "borrowed" from Long Beach Unified School District schools.

Today the Industrial Arts department, in the division headed by Dr. Dean, has 18 instructors, headed by Chairman Floyd Grainge, and has an enrollment of about 300 students —135 of them working for their masters degree in industrial arts. The plant, one of the most modern in the nation, covers 65,000 square feet and has facilities and up-to-date equipment for woodwork, metal work, electronics, drafting, graphic arts, automotive and industrial crafts, and photography.

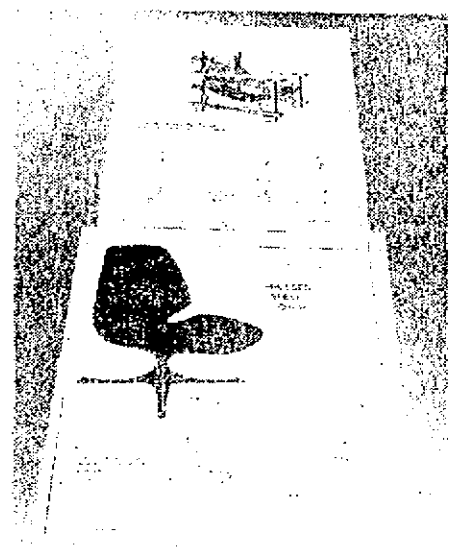

The department is recognized by the U. S. Office of Education as one of the top five schools in the nation in the number of students majoring in the field and is among the top three in the country on the basis of numbers working for masters degrees, said Grainge.

* * * *

According to Dr. Dean, the state supplies only 50 per cent of the required number of teachers for California schools in the industrial arts.

"The others come from other states or return to teaching from industry," he said. "We don't have the number of qualified persons to fill all the jobs that are open. I could have placed 50 to 75 teachers in these jobs in September. There are between 250 and 300 jobs for industrial arts teachers in California alone each year."

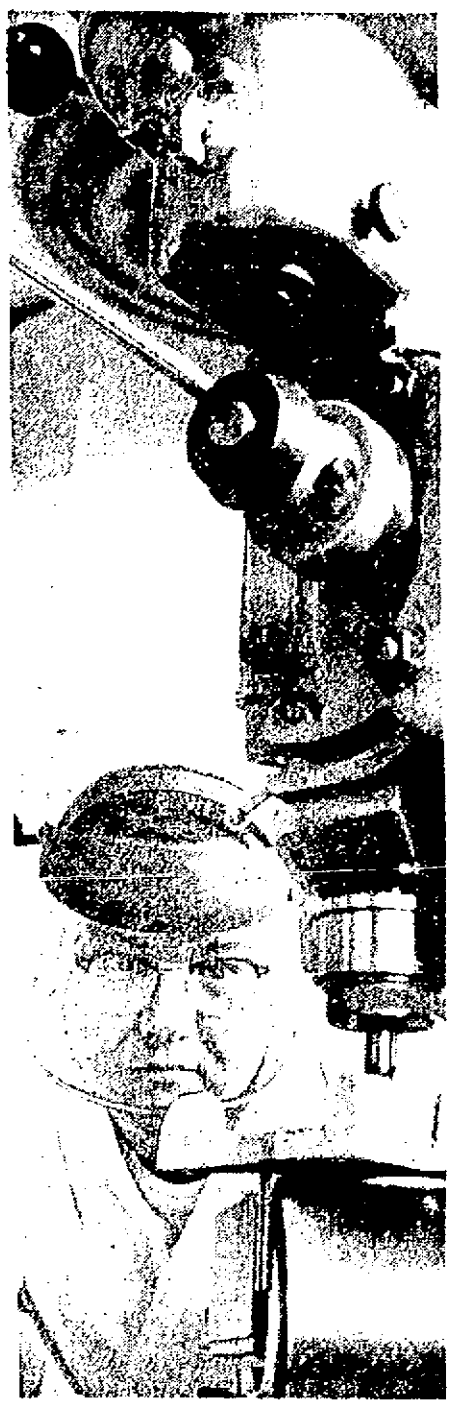

Filling these jobs has a direct bearing on the "dropout" problem, said Grainge. Qualified teachers can keep pupils interested in acquiring these skills and in addition students who drop out realize they can't find jobs without skills and return to schools to acquire the necessary "tools."

SOMEONE so liked a chair like the one shown (top left) that he just "walked off" with it when it was exhibited with other work done by students at Cal-State's Industrial Arts department. Other items made by students are a metal goblets; cut-away gasoline engine to be used as a teaching aid; oscillator —converted from old TV set—which flashes wave pictures on screen as electronic circuit test; and designs for lawn chair and pressed shell chair.

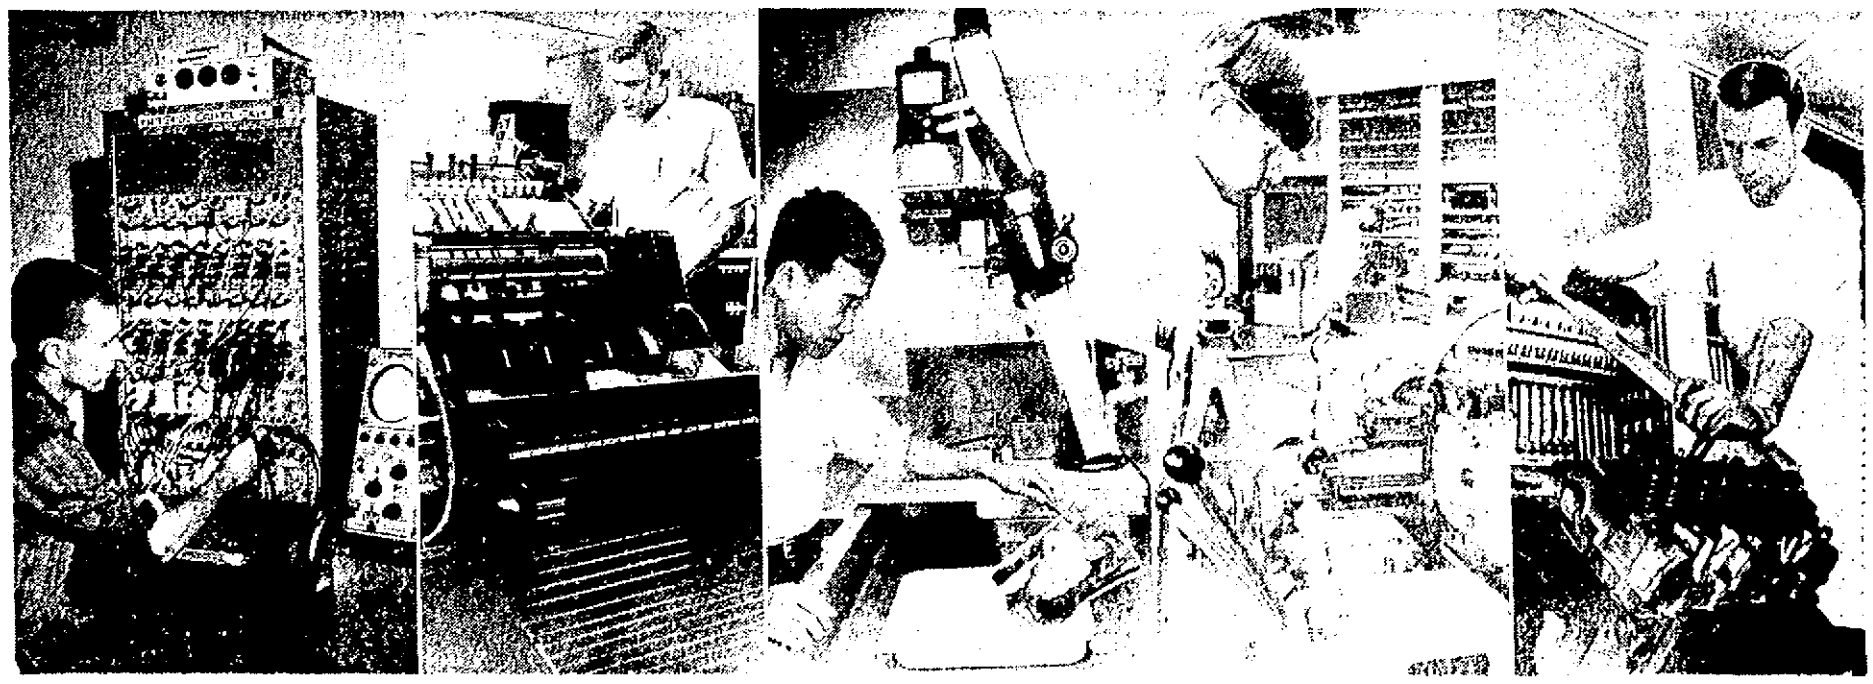

GIRLS ARE few—there are only two in the Industrial Arts department. Rosemary Schiesl, elementary education major, takes woodwork class.

NOLAN WIXUM, behind safety face shield, watches progress of work.

Showdown With the Deadbeats

AT LAST THE UNITED STATES is headed for a showdown with the deadbeats and free-riders—principally the Russians—who enjoy the honors and privileges of United Nations membership without paying their share of the cost.

When the U.N. General Assembly comes to order on Nov. 10, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will demand that the Soviet Union and other delinquents pay their back dues or lose their voting privileges.

THE SOVIETS, ALONE, owe $55 million in assessments for U.N. operations in the Middle East and the Congo. Thirteen other nations also would lose their voting privileges if Article 19 of the U.N. Charter were invoked.

Article 19 reads:

"A member which is in arrears in the payments of its financial contributions shall have no vote if the amount of its arrears equals or exceeds the amount of the contributions due from it for the preceding two full years. The General Assembly may, nevertheless, permit such a member to vote if it is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the member."

Russia is able to pay but refuses to do so because she doesn't like the way the money is spent. This might be compared with the refusal of a citizen to pay his income tax because he disagrees with government policy.

While Russia has played the deadbeat, the United States has held the financial structure of the U.N. together by making special voluntary contributions in addition to the regular assessments. Ironically, non-paying Russia has three votes in the Assembly, counting the seats allocated to Byelorrussia and the Ukraine, and the United States has but one.

THE FREE RIDE MUST come to an end. Ambassador Stevenson has behind him the full strength of the House of Representatives, which passed a resolution last August by unanimous vote, urging President Johnson to take steps to deprive the Soviet Union and others of their votes if they do not pay their U.N. debts.

This showdown is necessary not only as a matter of principle, but also as a practical matter of U.N. survival. U.N. Secretary General U. Thant observes that the policy of financial drift and improvisation "and reliance on the generosity of the few rather than the collective responsibility of all, cannot much longer endure."

Russia has hinted she might walk out of the U.N. if the United States continues to make its "unfriendly" demand. This is the chance that must be taken. If members don't pay their dues, there won't be any United Nations for them to walk out of.

Newspaper Week

THIS IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK. It is your week as well as ours.

Some persons look upon freedom of the press as a concept for which the press, alone, is responsible. This is not true; it is not possible. Freedom of the press cannot be isolated from other freedoms of American citizenship.

Article I of the Constitution covers freedom of religion, right of assembly, free speech and a free press. All these are bound together in a single sentence. If part of the total concept of that sentence is assaulted and destroyed, the remainder is subject to assault and destruction.

National Newspaper Week, the celebration of the free press, is everybody's event, and will be as long as the Constitution is everybody's Constitution.

Sen. Soaper Says

By BILL VAUGHAN

THESE ARE the days when politics and football overlap in a montage of images and scrimmages.

* * * *

IN THIS campaign, if a candidate pulls himself up to a higher level he's liable to have his fingers stepped on.

* * * *

CONGRESSMAN Sludgepump courageously issues an order to his speechwriters: "Meet anything the opposition promises and double it."

* * * *

THESE MAY be most fiercely contested Olympic games in history. As the world gets smaller, apparently the people get bigger.

* * * *

HUBERT Humphrey, whose net worth is $171,396, is the poorest of the major candidates, and it remains to be seen how many votes he will get from those who like to back a man who needs the job.

THE REBELLIOUS teenage boy down the block insists on using a different after-shave lotion than his father. "I may have to look like him," he explains, "but I don't have to smell like him."

THE TROUBLE with best-seller lists is that they reflect only the books that are bought, not those that are read.

ALMOST any politician these days is guaranteed a good crowd at his speeches, even if nobody turns up but the security guard.

THE OFFICE grouch says he is going to vote against the candidate that ends up with the most folk-singers among his supporters.

California Politicos Think Ahead

I, P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—There's a strategy cult that holds that a winning team plays 'em one at a time.

But somebody forgot to tip off California politicians.

They're already squaring off for the 1966 gubernatorial campaign—even before the final gun has sounded on the 1964 ballot returns. In California's capital, it's the day after tomorrow that really counts.

And though no one knows yet whether Gov. Brown will run for a third term, a federal cabinet post or a Supreme Court appointment, such uncertainties haven't dampened other gubernatorial ambitions.

McCAULEY

On the Republican side, Assemblyman Alan Pattee, champion of a private lottery plan to solve the state's fiscal problems, already has indicated he is a likely candidate for governor.

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, has pointedly refused to allow himself to be put in a position where he would have to declare his intentions. In other words, he is leaving the door open and is polishing up a new image as a political moderate.

A bloc of Northern California moderate lawmakers are hoping to induce Sen. Thomas Kuchel of Anaheim to seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination. They were closeted with Kuchel repeatedly during the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

If presidential nominee Barry Goldwater is dumped by a large margin Nov. 3, they figure that Kuchel will lead a campaign to restore GOP control in California to moderates.

"A chance, not a choice," will be the slogan, according to one GOP assemblyman. That is a turnabout of the "Choice, Not an Echo" slogan now making the Republican rounds.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC side, Gov. Brown isn't likely to face any serious primary opposition if he decides to seek re-election. There is no limit on a third, fourth or fifth term for a California governor.

The key question: Will Brown stay in the governor's mansion?

Brown, now in his second term, might ultimately be receptive to the right federal appointment. Attorney general and a number of other posts are up for grabs. And as the ballot-box victor over both Richard Nixon and William Knowland, Brown has few political worlds left to conquer. Nor could he head an administration that would be likely to make a bigger splash in the state history pages than did the Brown administration for its California Water Plan program.

Among the strong Democratic contenders if Brown bows out: Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson, State Finance Director Hale Champion, Senate President Pro Tempore Hugh Burns, State Controller Alan Cranston and Rep. James Roosevelt.

There have been ripples of speculation periodically that Gov. Brown might even accept a federal appointment before his second term runs out.

That would put Lt. Gov. Anderson in the governor's mansion, and possibly give him an advantage in jockeying for the 1966 nomination. Another possibility: a double Brown and Anderson appointment to different federal offices, clearing the way for Sen. Burns to become acting governor.

MEANWHILE, both Republicans and Democrats try to put up the posture of presenting a united front in California politics. Behind the scene, they're busy slashing throats within their own party.

Family rows often are more bitter than squabbles outside the family between mere acquaintances. In the same vein, the inner-party jealousies also cut deeper.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Demagogy Rides Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON—Each of the two presidential candidates evidently thinks that his opponent is running under false colors. It is hard enough for the public to understand the confusing slogans and characterizations which are emerging on the stump these days, but it appears even more difficult for the candidates to understand each other.

LAWRENCE

President Johnson, for example, said in Indiana he is not sure that "there is a real Republican candidate" running against him. Sen. Goldwater, on the same day in Texas, said he wishes the Democrats would re-name themselves the "Socialist Party" as he argues that the Johnson administration favors big-government controls that breed "socialism."

The truth of the matter is that both the candidates are concentrating on a form of campaigning which is based on a fallacy—namely, that the general public doesn't understand issues and that these can be misrepresented and votes gained just the same.

An old campaign trick is to give the impression that the opposing candidate is lacking in integrity. Another "gimmick" is to use innuendoes and inferences which imply that the opposing candidate lacks brains or the capacity to hold the office for which he is running.

But what makes the whole thing so puzzling is that this is the assumption of well-educated men, high up in political organizations, who are familiar with the trends of American thought but who have come to the conclusion that the bulk of the voters can be swayed by passions and prejudices as well as by epithets and sweeping denunciations.

All four nominees—for the presidency and the vice presidency on both tickets—are making the same kind of campaign. They rely on charges and countercharges. The speeches have a strange sameness about them, irrespective of the side from which they come.

Evidently the whole strategy on both sides rests on the belief that the people can be influenced in their votes primarily by emotional appeals and that they do not care to delve into the pros and cons and the basic facts of controversial questions.

Perhaps one of the most surprising tactics is the introduction of campaign trips by the wives of the candidates. Presumably this is done to draw crowds and to appeal to women voters. But it is not a realistic approach. Women often resent the idea that their votes can be won by the utterances of the female members of the family of a presidential or vice presidential nominee. Many women voters, in campaign after campaign, have used their own intuition about candidates without being swayed by the speeches.

Another phase of the campaign that is disquieting is the emphasis being placed on fear of war. The argument has been made that one of the candidates is "irresponsible" or "reckless," and that the choice of a President should be on the basis of whose finger would be "on the trigger"—as if the problem of war or peace can be simplified in that way. The Johnson campaign, of course, is supposed to have won a good many converts because of the charge that the Republican nominee would get the country into a nuclear war. This report has been spread so widely that the Republicans are well aware of the inroads it has made.

What isn't realized perhaps is the danger resulting from the image given to the Soviet Union and to the world in general that the United States is willing to accept "peace at any price." This in itself could cause a misunderstanding on the part of the Communists and lead them to take bold steps in Berlin or Western Europe in the belief that the United States would not resist. Thus, in the end, a war could be forced because of a miscalculation growing out of the issues emphasized in the 1964 presidential campaign in this country.

Perhaps no campaign in the last half-century has been full of such demagoguery as is manifest today. The mystery is why the top men in the higher echelons in the camps of both Sen. Goldwater and President Johnson have allowed the candidates to become involved in this type of political battle. It can only be inferred that these strategists think, as the late Vice President Curtis once said in a campaign speech, "The people are too damn dumb to understand."

Both Parties to Stand Poll Watch for Voting Frauds

I, P-T Political Editor

IF YOU'RE DEAD, it's quite illegal for you to vote. And just as ghoulish and illegal is borrowing the good name of the deceased to cast a ballot.

On Nov. 3 when the precincts are filled with fresh, clean ballots and dirty suspicion, somebody's bound to say, "Aha!" Then there's going to be a nasty scene with name-calling and oath-taking. It's a game called "Challenge."

HOUSER

Goldwater Republicans have formalized their version of the game into an "Operation Eagle Eye." Democrats say they'll have counterparts and both parties will have attorneys to help protect against hanky-panky.

The 1963 State Legislature changed challenge procedure because of some overzealous poll watching in recent elections. Certain challengers were challenging every voter who entered polling places in an area of Mexican-Americans. It amounted to harrassment and the practice apparently kept the more timid voters from voting.

New law prohibits direct challenges. The challenging party must submit his challenge to a member of the election board at the polling place and the board member makes the challenge. Poll watchers have the right to observe, but they can't harrass.

VOTING THE DEAD is virtually impossible, according to County Registrar Ben Hite and Assistant Registrar James Allison. In the first place, the Registrar is regularly provided with city and county obituary lists and removes names of the deceased from registration rolls. In the second place, signatures of the voter are compared with the original signature on his affidavit of registration.

This latter practice also should prevent voting by a person posing as someone else.

Main grounds for challenge are that the voter: is not the person whose name appears on the register; has not lived in the state one year; is not a naturalized citizen for 90 days before the election; has not lived in the county for 90 days or the precinct for 54 days; has already voted once; has been convicted of an infamous crime or of embezzlement or misappropriation of public money.

Most of these matters may be disposed of by a simple oath administered by a precinct board member to the challenged voter.

IF BOARD MEMBERS decide that there is a concerted effort being made by poll watchers to harrass voters of the opposite party they may simply refuse to make the challenge asked for.

What about going back to your old precinct polling place if you have recently moved? If you moved out of your precinct before last Sep. 10, you may not go back to your old voting place. You should have re-registered in your new precinct before the Sept. 10 deadline.

However, if you moved from your precinct after Sept. 10, you may go back to the old precinct to cast your ballot.

At the Nov. 3 election you are entitled to vote—if otherwise qualified—without regard to the name of your political party and even if you omitted or declined to state your party preference on your registration.

Penal provisions are on the law books for forging returns, tampering with ballots, altering returns, fraudulent voting or attempted fraudulent voting (one to two years), and intimidating or influencing voters, among other offenses.

For and Against Proposition 15

EDITOR:

It is too bad that it is California which will face the shame of being the first state to have an anti-American-way proposition on its ballot. If Californians would take the time to investigate Proposition 15 more closely they would find out several items of interest. First of all, if passed it would legally ban a form of our precious free enterprise system. Secondly, the initiative is not sponsored by regular television, but by the large theatre interests. Pay-TV would not replace regular-TV but supplement it with shows of special interest. Every true American in California must vote NO on 15. They must protect their rights of free choice.

G. FRANKLIN NELSON
6868 White Ave.

AFTER reading your editorial on Pay TV, I was led to surmise that you might have "a piece of the action," as the saying goes. Subscription television, if for no other reason, than it is not to be controlled by the FCC, should be voted against. You say there will be more people working as a result of pay TV, yet not more than two weeks ago in your newspaper I read an article where 173 people were out of jobs due to subscription television. Those with money keep making money with their schemes to take over those privileges we now enjoy for free.

MARJORIE NYHAGEN
3452 Snowden Ave.

MANY voters appear to be confused about the merits of Proposition 15, the television measure. They have been subjected to a great blast of misleading and completely false propaganda urging them to vote for it. Who are the people sponsoring Proposition 15? Who are those so afraid of pay TV that they have spent a fortune trying to brainwash and panic the public into believing that pay TV will drive out "free" TV? The brainwashers are the theatre owners and the big TV networks. They are desperately fearful of pay TV because pay TV will be so good that people will not buy high-priced theatre tickets when for a smaller charge they can stay home and watch a really fine TV program. The networks are afraid that their advertising profits will suffer if people prefer to watch an excellent non-commercial TV program, instead of a mediocre one sponsored by some advertiser.

Pay TV will not abolish "free" TV; anyone who wishes may continue to watch the "free" programs. No one will have to subscribe to pay TV, unless he wishes to avail himself of the opportunity. But Proposition 15 would certainly take away everyone's freedom to choose between a "free" program or a pay program.

Pine Ave. Called Panhandle Alley

EDITOR:

Question: Should we change the name of Pine Avenue to Panhandlers Alley? You can't come downtown shopping anymore without some crackpots shoving either religious or political pamphlets in your face. You stop for a moment to window shop and either a pickpocket, panhandler or what have you, will approach and insult you.

No wonder nobody wants to work when you can make a better living on Pine Avenue; whether it's for charity or booze dough.

That New Model?

DREW PEARSON

Girls, Booze in Background of Hoffa Trial

WASHINGTON—Some new angles have developed in the Justice Department's trial of Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa.

This column has recently reported the attempts of certain congressmen, notably Mike Feighan, the Cleveland Democrat who received substantial renomination support from the Teamsters, to get a resolution passed by the House Judiciary Committee to investigate Bobby Kennedy for his conduct of the Hoffa trial.

PEARSON

A substantial number of congressmen were opposed to the resolution on the grounds that matters still before the courts should not be investigated by Congress. They argued that if a labor union or business group or any powerful individual could get Congress to pressure the courts and the Justice Department while a matter was still in litigation, it upset the even-handed balance of justice.

Those who have read this column know that I agree with this. However, evidence has now turned up indicating that the hands of justice were weighted by the Justice Department. I have been a strong critic of Jimmy Hoffa's in the past, but it's only fair to give the facts regarding the Justice Department's operation.

The evidence shows that Bobby Kennedy, when attorney general, deliberately planted a story with Life Magazine regarding Hoffa timed to break before his trial in Nashville.

It also shows that at the subsequent trial in Chattanooga for jury tampering, the Justice Department surrounded the jurors with a group of rowdy U. S. Marshals who indulged in heavy drinking and made the floor of the hotel where they were locked up a virtual night-club. Various bell-hops and elevator operators at the house, where the jury stayed, testify to this.

* * * *

JOHNNIE BROWN, an elevator operator at the hotel, states under oath: "During the time that the Hoffa jury stayed at the hotel I was on duty between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. operating the elevator. During this time I carried the jury up many times. I remember one particular night the bellboy sent a large tray of glasses, set-ups and ice which I delivered to the tenth floor. On several occasions I could hear the jury having a gay time and they were out in the halls where I could hear and see them."

Ezell Ervone, a porter at the hotel, also states under oath: "On one occasion I received a call from a marshal and he wanted me to get a girl for him. I finally called a girl and got him a room on the third floor. This was Room 352 and was a sample room. I let the marshal and the girl use the room.

"On another occasion I recall that one of the marshals ordered a pint of Old Hickory whiskey which I delivered to the tenth floor. Almost every night I would take up chasers, ice, glasses and things for mixing drinks."

Another bellman at the hotel, Virgil Culpepper, has made this statement: "On several occasions I had the pleasure of carrying the jury up to the tenth floor which was reserved for the jury and the marshals.

"On about three or four occasions I remember the name of Mr. Hoffa being mentioned . . .

"On several occasions when I was on duty I know there was considerable whiskey taken up by the service elevator."

THE MOST interesting affidavit comes from Treyce Dean, a girl who met some of the U. S. Marshals at a dance at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club. She formed a friendship which continued over a period of time and went out frequently with the marshals.

"Following the VFW party several marshals and another girl and I were taken to the tenth floor of the hotel. There was plenty of intoxicating beverages for everyone to drink, and the hall was full of 7-Up and other chaser bottles. When we got off the elevator we turned left and walked into a room where there was a lot of radio equipment and a man sitting there with earphones on, and he was introduced as 'The Bug.'"

It was reported that the phones of Hoffa's attorney were tapped at Chattanooga.

Practical Political Scientist Reviews How System Works

CAPT. R. F. RIFE
Ex-Hosmer Aide

AS THE GREAT American political show of 1964 has unfolded people around the globe have watched with amazement and puzzlement the workings of a most complicated system.

Sometimes the amazed and the puzzled are Americans, themselves.

Perhaps a brief review of the salient features of this system are in order.

Let's talk about political parties.

The U. S. Constitution does not provide for political parties. President Washington opposed the idea because he believed they would lead to corruption and oppression. But during his term of office, the realities of life led to the development of the party system. The system has survived a number of parties.

During our history numerous parties have sprung up, for various reasons. A handful of minor parties exist today. Most parties have dissolved or merged into other parties.

Since our Civil War the Democratic and Republican parties have dominated the scene. Neither party always controls both executive and legislative branches at the same time. In its curious wisdom, the electorate will on occasions instill one party in the executive position and at the same time give the other party a majority in the legislative branch.

* * * *

EACH PARTY holds a quadrennial national convention, during which the party's presidential and vice presidential candidates are selected. Each party says its presidential ticket will win the election, but the voters of the nation are the final judges by electing the presidential ticket of one or the other of the tickets — not both. Even the losing side can be thankful for the settlement to last four years while they lick their wounds and regain strength.

The parties at their national conventions adopt platforms upon which their candidates are supposed to run. The presidential candidate, in his acceptance of nomination speech at the convention usually says in essence, "I accept your nomination and your platform."

Then he goes to the campaign trail and says what he thinks will get him elected.

The platform committee thinks all candidates for all seats in the Congress ought to support the platform and national ticket. But for a number of good reasons, many give lip service only.

THERE ARE three reasons why a President in office might not be a candidate: (1) The Constitution as amended rules out three terms. (2) A President in office might choose not to run. (3) His national convention might reject a first term President and nominate some one else.

A Vice President in office might not be a candidate for reelection for the same reasons.

In 1964 there is no Vice President in office due to Pres. Johnson's succession to the Presidency when President Kennedy was assassinated.

When the current President is a candidate to succeed himself, he must run on his "record," no matter what the platform says. His opponent is bound to see to that by blasting its weaker points and ignoring its better parts. The incumbent has the advantage of forces and influence over the opponent on the outside looking in, but the opponent has an advantage, too, of attacking the record of the administration in power.

The presidential candidate out of office, on balance, has the uphill task of "deposing the champ." The mistakes of the "Ins" are matters of history and record. Since, as everyone knows, "hindsight is better than foresight," the under dog can attack the "record" and, if enough mistakes were made, this attack has an excellent chance to succeed.

But it is an uphill climb because he does not have the myriad number of office-holding appointees available to the incumbent in the presidency who will be pointing to the "efficiency and progress" of the present President.

* * * *

CANDIDATES for Congress (legislative branch) are not chosen by the national conventions. They do not, moreover, "accept the platform" formally at the convention. They are not actually an integral part of the "national ticket."

This is true because each state selects and elects its own candidates for the Senate. Each congressional district within each state selects and elects its own members to the House of Representatives in Congress. Thus they are local candidates answering to their own local constituents.

The platform of a senatorial candidate must be tailored to the complexion of his own state first and with due regard to the national platform.

The platform of a candidate for the House of Representatives must be tailored to the complexion of his own local district primarily, and secondarily to the national platform of his party and its national ticket, because his success depends upon the favor of his own district only, while the national administration's success depends upon the favor of the entire population of the country.

A new candidate can attack the incumbent's record. The new man has no record to be attacked.

He can make "way out promises" with the sincerity of inexperience.

Good looks help with the ladies.

He can try riding the coattails of his national ticket.

He can try to get attention by challenging the incumbent to debates.

He is at a disadvantage in raising funds.

An incumbent Representative running for re-election must of course, run on his own record in office.

In planning his campaign he must consider: His opponent's strong and weak points; the voter registration ratio between the parties; the overall character of his district; the employment and business conditions, local and national; which party holds the Presidency; state of affairs local and national and foreign; impact of Presidential and other campaigns on public; financial support required in campaign.

* * * *

IS OUR government worth all this fuss?

It is a great deal of fuss and expense. But the great strength of our government lies in the confidence of the people that, if the winners get arrogant and corrupt, they can throw the "bad guys" out and put the "good guys" in.

LOOK-ALIKES ARE KEPT APART

Twain School Has 24 Twins, Three Triplets

By EARL GRISWOLD

Twins aren't a problem at Twain school in Lakewood Village.

For never the twins shall meet at Twain—at least not in classrooms at the elementary school.

And that's a boon for teachers. For there are 24 twins at Twain. There's also a set of triplets.

"Twins are never put together in the same classroom," explains Principal Joseph Butler.

"It's school district policy, and it's good sense. At home, twins have each other for playmates and form strong bonds. At school they're separated, reducing feelings of academic competition. It allows each child to develop his own individual abilities. In the same class, one twin can easily become dependent on the other."

* * * *

THE TRIPLETS at Twain, 10-year-old Brad, Dean and Stephen Upton, come home with three different stories of their daily classroom experiences to tell their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Upton of 4915 Hersholt Ave., Lakewood.

Some of the twins, like first graders Patricia and Victoria James, are identical twins and could fool any teacher who had them in the same classroom.

Another set of first graders, however, never could fool any teacher on their identities. They're Michael and Michele Patton, twin brother and sister.

There's only one set of twin kindergarteners at Twain: Shawna and Shelly Skeen, who aren't identical but look alike as peas in a pod when you see them the first time with the same hair styles and in identical dresses.

TRIPLETS, (top to bottom) are Dean, Brad, and Stephen Upton, the only such set of three in the Lakewood Mark Twain School. The triplets are in separate classes during the week, but play football together on weekends.

Of the 12 sets of twins at Twain, four are brother-sister twins, four are sisters and four are brothers.

The second and sixth grades are the only ones without a set of twins.

In grades 3 through 5 there are nine sets of twins who respond in separate classrooms when the roll is called each day:

Barry and Brain Alboltin, David and Michael Bissell, Mike and Pat Gomez, Mark and Robert Schindler, Donna and Doris Lawson, Maureen and Kathleen Oliver, Gail and Dale Finks, Chris and Nancy Lewis, and Jan and Jon Sunofsky.

* * * *

MOTHERS and fathers of the twins seem to go along wholeheartedly with the school's separation policy.

Mrs. William S. Skeen of 4450 Greenbrier Road, mother of kindergarteners Shawna and Sheely, says she is in complete agreement.

"Both Shawna and Shelly are extroverted and friendly, and don't rely on each other," she said. "But they could become dependent on each other if they were in the classroom."

One mother says her twin daughters are quite different. One girl wants to be a singer, one a dancer. One likes peas, the other likes carrots.

But they share one identical ambition: each has picked out the same boy she wants to grow up and marry.

BUILDING-CODE CHANGES

11 Earthquake Safeguards Urged

By GEORGE WEEKS

Eleven amendments to safeguard Southern California buildings against earthquakes are proposed in a report just issued by a committee of five structural experts who inspected the Alaskan damage shortly after the quake there last March 27.

Committee members recommend that the changes be made a part of the Uniform Building Code, now in effect in most cities of this area.

Because the amendments will not be considered until next year by the International Conference of Building Officials, sponsor of the uniform code, Long Beach building officials will submit them to the City Council earlier for incorporation in the Municipal Code.

* * * *

THE LONG BEACH ordinance generally follows the uniform code but is not identical with it.

Most of the amendments are technical and detailed. These relate to structural materials and construction methods, correcting deficiencies found in the Alaskan ruins. Some would strengthen prefabricated and lift-slab construction standards.

Item 1, however, would require in future apartment, commercial and public buildings a standby approved emergency lighting system that would function when other power sources are interrupted.

Another on the nontechnical side would require the placing of three recording accelerographs in future buildings over six stories high with an aggregate area of more than 60,000 square feet and in all buildings of more than 10 stories.

* * * *

THE ACCELEROGRAPH is an instrument that records the movements of buildings during earthquake and thus serves as a guide to future corrective structural regulations.

Still another change would limit to two feet the maximum spacing of wall steel in certain masonry construction. The Uniform Building Code now allows a four-foot spacing, although the Long Beach ordinance provides for the two-foot maximum.

One of the committee members signing the report is Edward M. O'Connor, Long Beach city superintendent of building. Others are Vincent Bush of Vernon, Max Strauss of Beverly Hills, William Trude of Santa Monica and Walter Brugger of Los Angeles. All are also municipal building officials.

Big Cities' School Chiefs Will Confer

School superintendents of the largest cities in the United States and Canada will wrestle with educational problems in a four-day Long Beach meeting which starts Wednesday.

Francis Keppel, U.S. commissioner of education, will be a guest at the semi-annual session of the Superintendents of Large Cities of the United States and Canada.

The organization is composed of school superintendents of cities over 300,000 population.

Among superintendents here for the Lafayette Hotel conference will be those of the three largest cities in the nation.

* * * *

THEY ARE Calvin E. Gross of New York, Benjamin Willis of Chicago and Jack Crowther of Los Angeles.

The conference, consisting of round-table discussions, will be closed to the public. The superintendents will arrive Wednesday afternoon and leave Saturday noon.

The school officials will discuss de facto segregation in school districts and the educational provisions of the federal poverty bill, plus school finance, administration, district organization, instruction and personnel.

* * * *

W. ODIE WRIGHT, superintendent of the Long Beach Unified School District, will welcome the superintendents at a Thursday luncheon. They will tour Long Beach school facilities in the afternoon.

Among officials present will be Dr. Kenneth Oberholtzer, former Long Beach superintendent who now holds the same post in Denver.

ALAMITOS BAY YACHT CLUB

C. R. Conn Installed New Commodore

C. Roy Conn was installed commodore of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club Saturday night at the club's 38th annual dinner and trophy presentation at its new clubhouse, 7201 E. Ocean Blvd.

Other officers inducted were Llewellyn Bixby IV, vice commodore; Edgar H. Kimball Jr., rear commodore; Gerald Desmond, junior rear commodore; Ralph E. Lautmann, secretary; Raymond W. Klein, treasurer; Bernard W. Fowle, port captain; and Dr. Arthur Beland, fleet surgeon.

C. ROY CONN
ABYC Commodore

The new commodore and Mrs. Conn, who live at 5464 Oleta St., Park Estates, are parents of three sons, all active in sailboat racing: Eric, 19, Tracy, 17, and Bruce, 11.

Eric is a former commodore of Leeway Sailing Club and Tracy was first commodore of Junior Leeway club.

Outgoing commodore John M. Davis presided, and Richard L. Russell, a past commodore, served as master of ceremonies. Perpetual trophies were awarded by Stephen B. Mulhollen.

Special service awards were made to Thomas F. Knight Jr., chairman of arrangements for the Olympic sailing trials, hosted by ABYC in July and August, and to his chairmen, Albert Vignolo Jr., for the Dragon class, and Richard Russell for the Finn class.

Serving on the board of directors this year in addition to Conn, Bixby, Jensen and Davis will be Theodore C. Matson, Sidney T. Exley Jr. and George Lounsberry.

Advanced Diving to Be Taught

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Advanced diving instruction for scuba divers will be offered in a county-sponsored course starting Friday, Oct. 16, at John Anson Ford Regional Park, 7840 Scout Ave., Bell Gardens.

The course will consist of 12 monthly seminars, six ocean dives and two pool sessions. Registration is $15.

Divers wishing to enroll must be certified by the County Department of Parks and Recreation, the National Association of Underwater Instructors or the YMCA.

Further information may be obtained at the Department of Parks and Recreation, 155 W. Washington Blvd., Los Angeles.

Speech by Rep. Hosmer

Rep. Craig Hosmer of the 32nd District will address the Long Beach Community Forum Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Community Forum is conducted each week in the Crown Cafeteria, 1st Street and Alamitos Avenue, beginning at 7:15 a.m.

Recreation Schedule

Twenty-three pre-school Rhythms classes are being offered free at park playgrounds this fall. Three, four and five-year-olds attending can enjoy rhythm band, flannel-board stories, finger-play and moving to music. Classes last approximately one hour. Phone the nearest park for this schedule.

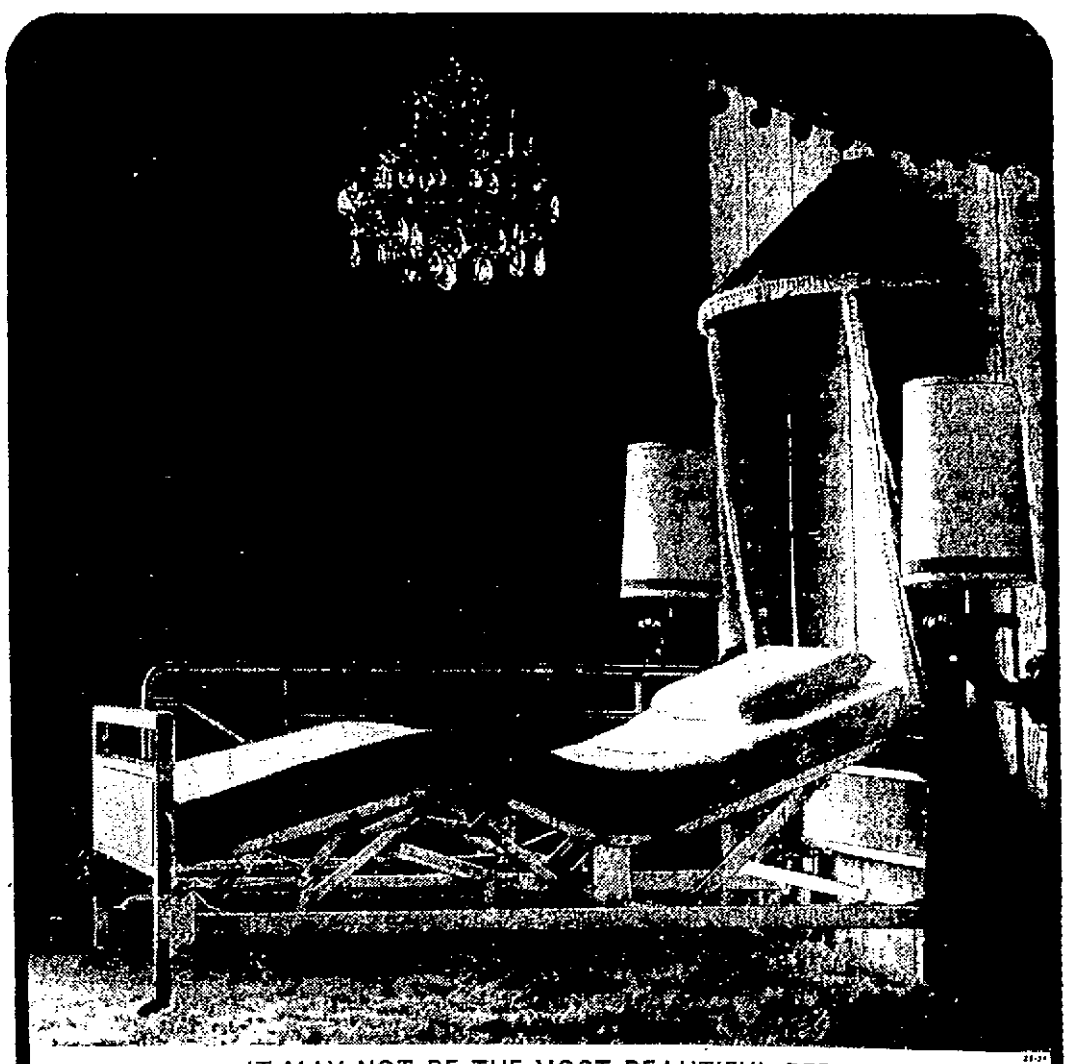

Civic Chorus needs more high voices. Sopranos interested in helping to balance the basses are asked to try out at 7 p.m. Monday at the Jefferson Junior High Auditorium. Frank Ahrold is director.

Free tennis lessons are offered: Saturdays, 10 a.m. Millikan courts, and 1 p.m., Wilson Courts (Park Ave.); Wednesdays, 7 p.m., Recreation Park Courts. Bring racquets and tennis shoes.

For women interested in keeping in trim, volleyball and slim and trim classes are scheduled. Phone your neighborhood park.

Deadlines for Yule Mailing

The Long Beach post office has issued a timetable of deadlines for mailing Christmas parcels to foreign countries.

To insure arrival of packages by Christmas, officials said, persons sending packages to civilians by surface mail should observe the following deadlines for mailing to foreign areas:

Far East, Oct. 15; Near East and Africa, Nov. 1; Europe, Nov. 10, and South and Central America, Nov. 10.

* * * *

AIR-MAIL deadlines are Dec. 10 for all areas except Europe, where the deadline is Dec. 15. Items to all areas sent through military mail should be sent by Nov. 10 for surface delivery and Dec. 10 for air mail.

Salinger, Hosmer Due at Air Show

Displays of aerospace equipment and historic and modern aircraft will highlight the 25th annual "Wings Over the World" air show to be presented Oct. 24-25 by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Displays will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. There will be programs at 1:30 p.m.

Rep. Craig Hosmer will speak Oct. 24. Sen. Pierre Salinger will be the speaker Oct. 25.

George Murphy, Republican senatorial candidate, will address the Mayor's Banquet Oct. 24 at the Edgewater Inn Hotel.

DUANE ROWENHORST
Died After Run

Rowenhorst Rites Slated for Monday

Funeral service for Duane Rowenhorst, 17, who died Friday after collapsing Tuesday as he finished a cross-country run, will be Monday at 10 a.m. in Parkview Reformed Church.

The Santa Ana High School athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rowenhorst of 1001 E. Santa Clara Ave., Santa Ana, was president of the church's Christian Endeavor Union.

The Rev. Jay R. Weener, pastor of the church, will officiate at the rite. Burial will be in Fairhaven Cemetery.

* * * *

ROWENHORST and other cross-country runners were on a conditioning exercise when he collapsed, regained his feet and ran ahead, only to collapse again.

An autopsy was conducted late Friday by Dr. Walter Fischer, but findings were put under study. Reportedly, the postmortem showed that Duane's overexertion brought on a collapse. After he was taken to a hospital, he responded to treatment, but complained of a severe headache and lapsed into a coma Thursday night.

Hard of Hearing!

It is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, we have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else. Many who have tried this new and proven method are overjoyed. Just like magic in certain cases, they are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple and painless, and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition, a special treatment is given. If the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given.

If you have a hearing loss no matter how slight or how bad, it may be helped. Why not find out?

We are one of the busiest offices in Southern California, so if we cannot help you, be assured that we will not take your case.

The total charge is $5.00 for the first treatment and the examination. And if you see no improvement from the first treatment, you are under no obligation to return. Assure your appointment by calling 591-1505, 2067 Atlantic Ave. T. B. Dr. H. L. Hutchings, D.C., director.

TV SHOWS MAKE MOVIES

Movie of 'Burke's Law'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A few years ago, a television star couldn't get himself arrested around a movie studio, says Gene Burke's Law Barry. "It's different now," says Barry.

He cites the current success of the movie version of "McHale's Navy," a movie made with the same cast and format as the weekly television series.

"Everybody predicted it would fall flat on its face. It's one of the big money-makers at Universal. It proves that people will pay to see someone they see free weekly. Just give them entertainment.

"We're going to make a movie out of 'Burke's Law.' We've had thousands of letters from men, saying they want to see all these beautiful girls on our show in color and wide screen."

Rossmoor Sets Spain Travel Film

"Fabulous Spain," newest of the Burton Holmes travel films, will play at the Rossmoor Theater Oct. 20 and 21.

Academy Award winning photographer Andre de la Varre filmed the color picture last summer. Robert Mallett narrates film, based on a more than 15,000 mile trip to obtain footage.

TEAMED AS HUSBAND and wife in Universal's "Send Me No Flowers" are Doris Day and Rock Hudson. Co-starring are Tony Randall, Clint Walker.

FILM PREVIEWS

Trio of New Films Due

Fred MacMurray and Polly Bergen in "Kisses for My President;" Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall in "Send Me No Flowers," and Glenn Ford, Nancy Kwan and Rod Taylor in "Fate is the Hunter" are new films opening Wednesday in Long Beach theaters.

"Kisses for My President" is the story of what might happen, according to Warner Bros., if a woman (Polly Bergen) were to be elected President of the United States.

Her husband is played by MacMurray, a bit unhappy at being "The First Man." Others in the cast are Arlene Dahl, Edward Andrews and Eli Wallach.

Everything turns out fine for MacMurray, because Madame President resigns when she finds she is going to become a mother.

ROCK HUDSON and Doris Day team with Tony Randall in the comedy "Send Me No Flowers"—the story of a hypochondriac who overhears a doctor discussing a terminal case and believes the victim is himself.

Hudson plays the hypochondriac and Doris Day his wife. Hudson goes about setting his house in order so that everything will go smoothly for Doris after he is gone—even to picking out his successor.

Randall is Hudson's pal and advisor and Clint Walker is the man picked as the husband to succeed Hudson. It's based on the Broadway play by Norman Barasch and Carroll Moore.

AS A HELPFUL MATE, Fred MacMurray passes telephones to Polly Bergen who plays the first lady President of the U. S. in "Kisses for My President."

"FATE IS The Hunter," is a mystery drama built around baffling circumstances surrounding a tragic airplane crash.

Glenn Ford plays the man ordered to investigate the causes of the jet airliner disaster, of which the only survivor is the plane's stewardess, Suzanne Pleshette. Rod Taylor is the pilot and Nancy Kwan his wife.

In the cast are Wally Cox, Nehemia Persoff and Mark Stevens. Jan Russell appears in a cameo role as an actress who entertains the troops in World War II.

The script is based on Ernest K. Gann's book of the same name.

Claire Bloom--- Seldom Home

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Get out the atlas . . . we're visiting Claire Bloom.

From her pink house in pleasant, leafy Brooklyn Heights, the British beauty will soon be leaving for Dublin—and Munich and Amsterdam—to star with Richard Burton in "The Spy Who Came Out of the Cold."

"But before I go," she says, "I hope to have a little time in the pink house with Rod" . . . her husband Rod Steiger who's been off in Hollywood filming "The Loved Ones," about the burial business.

"We try to get together whenever we can, but . . .

* * * *

"WE MAKE a point of not seeing each other when we're actually acting," Claire told me the other day at the Americana La Ronde Room when she had come "into town."

"It's too personal. Rod could tell by my mannerisms if I'm nervous and probably make me more nervous. You can hide things from some people but not from your husband."

But there's no reason for not visiting each other without watching some filming . . . and so Rod drove to New Mexico to see her during the filming of "The Outrage."

* * * *

"ROD had lunch with me and then drove off. There was a terrific fog and he heard a terrible explosion. Suddenly a lot of police swarmed around him demanding to know what he was doing there.

"He said, 'I'm Rod Steiger and I'm looking for Pacific Highway 101.' They had just shot off a rocket there and they thought he might have been some kind of spy."

Rod took their daughter, Anna, with him to visit Claire last Christmas while she was on location in the Arizona desert, and it didn't seem to be right to be in the desert at Christmas time.

"So we went up on a mountain—up to Mt. Lemmon—and had our own family Christmas party."

Claire'll probably take Anna with her to Europe to do "The Spy" . . . Rod'll be Heaven knows where. But some time . . . some of these days . . . they'll all be home together . . . in Brooklyn Heights, U.S.A.

It's Character Roles for Ann

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

ANN SOTHERN
Plays Anything

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ann Sothern has returned to movies as a character actress whose roles as a shattered woman contrast starkly with the glamorous characters she once played.

For years, on television and in movies, Miss Sothern played beautiful leading women or a semi-dizzy blonde. She had an important movie career until she decided to make a television series.

Miss Sothern made one hit series and followed that up with another show. Both efforts kept her off the movie screens for almost 10 years.

Ann came back to movies last year, playing a dramatic part in "Lady in the Cage." It was a role which was to determine what her possibilities might be for another movie career.

* * * *

"I WAS so frightened that the critics wouldn't accept me," said Miss Sothern, explaining the concern held by most professionals.

"But it's been unbelievable. I've had outstanding notices."

Since her work in "Cage," Miss Sothern has been offered other roles. She accepted the part of a downbeat, social castaway in "Sylvia" with George Maharis and Carroll Baker.

"It was only on television that I stayed with comedy," said Ann.

* * * *

"I GOT TIRED of the comedy," she said. "An actress needs stimulation if she's going to be an interesting actress.

"When I finished the series in 1961 I went to live in New York with my daughter who was going to college. I studied acting with Stella Adler and it really stimulated me."

The renaissance in Miss Sothern's career is similar to that of Bette Davis, Olivia DeHavilland and Joan Crawford. All of them are film-land veterans who have watched the emergence of other actresses who took leading lady roles.

Now they're all coming back.

* * * *

"WHEN I WENT to acting school my friends said 'What are you doing, you've been acting for years.' An actress should remain versatile. You can't buy experience."

Despite her past career as a glamorous actress who wouldn't dare show a wrinkle or grey hair on screen, Ann is happy to accept character parts.

"I don't care," she said. "I think it's wonderful. I'll play anything that interests me. Old ladies, drunks. If it's a good part I don't care if I'm so."

Instead of whistles, Ann would prefer professional compliments.

"The greatest compliment somebody can give me is not that 'she's pretty,' Miss Sothern said. "The greatest compliment is, 'She's a great actress.'"

'Heavenly Weekend' Is Way Out There--Minus Fuel

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

If heavenly weekends are any hit as dreary, predictable or "sticky" as John Pimpley's original play which opened at Torrance's Chapel Theater Friday night, then my advice, earth people, is "stay just where you are, live it up and never call the one you love 'a stick.'"

Ray beam scientist Professor Chippin (Dick Miller) — a Galileo with sex-glandular problems—blunders into calling his secretary, Victoria Holley (Jacqueline Smalley) just that—"a stick." This compels playwright Pimpley to "rub them together" (his term, not mine) in some preposterous scientific test. However, before a platonic pregnancy or a countdown could be notched up, a bonfire of a romance was lit.

Don't you know, just like the Boy Scouts accomplish by rubbing two compatible sticks together?

* * * *

UNFORTUNATELY, it takes more than the rubbing of sticks compatible or otherwise, together, to make or light a full-length play. "Heavenly Weekend" lacks sufficient fuel potential to last for more than one act of a sex comedy jamboree.

That act is the third in which Pimpley shows some signs—not overwhelming to be true—of comedy writing talent and know-how.

Scientist Chippin is commissioned by the government too invent a ray beam rendering astronauts temporarily desexed. We have no earthly idea why — except that astronauts seem to go for heavenly weekends.

Anyhow, since his experiments work with rabbits, Tippin decides to test it on humans. A suddenly turned lecherous friend, Maury List (Austin Rheingold) aids him.

Since sex, like charity, begins at home, Chippin starts with his secretary who works in his office-home combo. The secretary symbolically asks for an extra teaspoon of sugar for her coffee—and away they go.

* * * *

PREPARE yourself for a riotous ride to Project Love Doves, barks the play's program synopsis. Well we were prepared — even for Judgment Day — but things never got off the ground. Except the two sequestered lovers who flew the coop — surprised?—by jumping through their bedroom "prison" window and getting married. That was okay, but why come back to bore us with the predictable details — and in front of children?

The teen-agers in this production are so arch — except student-voiced Judy Matte (Beverly Chippin) and Tom Sangil (Bob Hops) — with "my passion-wracked body" that they should all be sentenced to adulthood on weekends — heavenly or earthly — with hard labor.

Truth is, that the middle-aged men in the play are also rather sticky — especially that ray beam nut, Chippin (Dick Miller). They speak of sex as if it was the mustard of life!

NOW . . . ANNUAL YEAR END

BIG SAVINGS!

NO EASIER CREDIT TERMS

NO MONEY DOWN—PAY NOTHING FOR 12 WEEKS

I'll accept any reasonable terms! On approval of your credit, have your dental plates made NOW and you are not expected to pay money until after January 1, 1965. MAKE YOUR OWN REASONABLE TERMS, there can be NO EASIER TERMS THAN THE TERMS YOU YOURSELF MAKE. No interest, no carrying charge, no delay. Come in this week, and learn for yourself how little you pay. I mean every word of it — just tell us how much you wish to pay each week or each month on my long-term credit plan, 24 months to pay.

QUICK SERVICE
On your first visit to my office there is no need to make an appointment. Dr. Raymond's modern office is staffed with a large number of nurses, laboratory technicians and dentists, making it possible to give quick, friendly service.
COME IN NOW!

'IMMEDIATE RESTORATIONS'
AVOID EMBARRASSING TOOTHLESS DAYS
DENTAL SCIENCE makes it possible for you to have your teeth extracted and new dental plates put in immediately. SALESLADIES, SALESMEN, BUSINESSMEN and others before the public who do not wish anyone to know, appreciate this service rendered by many dentists. The COST IS SMALL compared to the satisfaction derived.

TRANSPARENT PLASTIC MATERIAL

Now used in making dental plates, is the finest and best material available to dentists. Very light in weight, regardless of price and the low cost now charged for dentures, Dr. Raymond features this splendid material in his only office. Come in and see the samples set with translucent teeth.

SAVE ON PLATES

MODERN DENTAL PLATES
Aided by "modern" dental plate material and "improved techniques," used in the construction of dental plates. Dental Science has followed a "progressive" path that has resulted in dental plates more natural in "appearance," better fitting and more "comfortable" to wear than thought possible a few short years ago. GOOD dental plates need not be expensive. THE COST IS SMALL. Ask to see samples of modern dental plates, uppers, lowers and partials.

METRO UPSET!

LBCC 27-6 Winner Over Bakersfield

By GARY RAUSCH
L. P-T Staff Writer

BAKERSFIELD — Long Beach City College enjoyed its finest hour here in many years Saturday night by grinding out a hard-fought 27-6 victory over what was the nation's No. 1 ranked football team, Bakersfield. A crowd of 18,151 watched the contest.

It was only the Vikings third win in their last seven appearances in this Kern County metropolis of football fanaticism. It also gave them a share of the Metropolitan Conference lead.

In the end, it was Greg Barton's passing, the pass catching of split end Ron Drake, the explosive running of Marv Motley and a staunch defense that made the difference.

Barton, the classy field general from Millikan High, connected on 13 of 23 passes for 90 yards and two touchdowns, both to Drake.

Motley kept the fans on their feet most of the night with his fantastic breakaway running. In 12 carries the former all-CIF flash, and the Vikings top rusher by a wide margin, gobbled up 156 yards, including a spectacular 96-yard sprint for the game's final touchdown.

Leading 14-6, Long Beach's defense came to the fore to halt the surging Gades early in the third quarter, taking the last bit of energy from the once-proud Renegades.

With a first-and-10 on the Vikings 48, Leon Stevens, the 'Gades top running back, cracked over right tackle and was met head on by Don Sam. Stevens coughed up the ball and Jack Harris recovered at the LBCC 49.

ELWOOD Stewart and Motley picked up consecutive first downs with scampers of 11 and 15 yards and Earl McCullouch added five to the Gades' 20. Barton followed with a pass intended for Motley, but Tim Ginn tackled Marv before the ball arrived and Bakersfield was socked for interference on its two.

Three dives gained only one yard, but Pat Cashman leaped over the wedge blocks of center Bill Zingg and guards Jack Frost and Fred Conver-tini to score, making it 21-6, with 3:25 left in the third stanza.

Bakersfield roared back on the passing of Jerry Frith and Milt Jackson and was resting on the Vikings seven early in the fourth period from where the LBCC defense turned in its finest four-down series of the season.

Chuck Merino, Steve Swanson and Tom Ammirato all came in to make crucial tackles and Gary Smith averted a TD by knocking down Frith's fourth-down pass to 6-6 end Dave Wetzell.

On the very next play, from the four, Motley spun off right tackle, shook loose from three Renegades at the 10 and was home free on his 96-yard romp.

AN AZTEC WHO WON'T BE STOPPED

Aztecs Deal L.B. 1st Loss

By AL LARSON

The scouts weren't kidding when they said San Diego State would try to ram Jim Allison down your throat until you cry uncle.

The nation's No. 2 ranked so-called small college power threw Allison, quarterback Rod Dowhower, and everyone else wearing cleats at the 49ers and sent Long Beach spinning out of the unbeaten ranks, 45-8, Saturday night.

With 11,761 looking on at fog-shrouded Veterans Stadium, San Diego moved to the front of the CCAA race with its second conference victory and fourth overall.

BRANDISHING a fearsome ground game to go with Dowhower's passing attack, San Diego scored twice in the first period and once in the third. Coach Don Reed's troops never knew what hit them the final 15 minutes as the Aztecs tallied four touchdowns.

Long Beach's ERA suffered something fierce and fumbles set up four scores. Only the first and fifth TDs were bona-fide drives.

But the mark of a good team is one that capitalizes on mistakes and the Aztecs are that and more.

Probably the best summation of the night was offered by Reed:

"CORYELL substituted all night and never sacrificed a thing. They were just too big, too strong and we made too many errors." The dishearened 49er coach said afterward.

Allison was the roughest customer to handle, ripping off 105 yards on 18 carries, but he had plenty of help.

Running behind a fierce-charging line, Dowhower fired two touchdown passes and scored one. Reserve fullback John Butler hit paydirt twice while nine different backs carried the ball.

OVERALL, the Aztecs gained 307 rushing and 117 passing for a total offense of 424. They entered the game with the best total in the country—540 per game.

L.B.'s leading ground gainer was Willie Martin who peeled off 75 yards in 13 carries.

Jerry Otterson, who had had only one pass intercepted in three games, saw two thefted by SD's alert defense. One was a crucial steal on the Aztec goal line in the second period.

Les Shy, who scored Long Beach's only TD, gained 40 yards in seven cracks. Dick Degen punched for 37 yards on nine carries while Bob Boozell netted 17 yards on four tries.

FIRST PERIOD

San Diego took the opening kickoff and behind Allison's brute strength, moved 67 yards in 12 plays. Allison bulled over from the 5-0 to give the Aztecs a 6-0 lead with 6:35 elapsed. A fumble ruined the PAT try.

Late in the period, quarterback Rod Dowhower spotted end Leon Standridge streaking down the middle of the field and lofted a 27-yard TD pass. Standridge made a finger-tip catch with Rudy Duarte and Rudy Perez trying to defend. Allison's slant over tackle for the two-point conversion was stopped short with 14:40 showing on the clock.

SECOND PERIOD

After Les Shy rambled 28 yards and Bob Boozell added 11, Larry Hilliard took a pass away from Pat Brosnan in the end zone to ruin the

Yanks Lead Series on Mantle's HR

By ROSS NEWHAN
L. P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle has broken Babe Ruth's World Series home run record, and even though it came at the conclusion of a 162-game season Ford Frick will put no asterisk behind this mark.

Mantle drove Barney Schultz's first pitch of the ninth inning off the facade of the third deck at Yankee Stadium Saturday to give gutty Jim Bouton a 2-1 victory and the Yankees a 2-1 lead in this best-of-seven fall festival.

For Mantle, playing in his 12th series, it was his 16th home run or one more than achieved by Ruth in his 10 classic appearances.

"Several years from now," said Maintle, " the World Series record will mean a great deal to me. But as I was running around the bases I was only thrilled that we had won the game."

Some 67,101 fans crowded into the storied stadium to watch the 25-year-old Bouton and the 35-year-old former whiz kid, Curt Simmons, match serves on a cold, gray afternoon which was warmed by the radiant pitching duel.

Bouton, mixing a rising fast ball with a tantalizing change-up, allowed only six hits while Simmons, the crafty southpaw who counts 14 years of major league experience, allowed just four before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the ninth when manager Johnny Keane bid for the jackpot.

Bouton, however, let the Cards fall where they may and courageously stifled the third St. Louis threat of the day. Keane was then forced to his bullpen and the 38-year-old Schultz, the Cinderella of the Redbirds' pennant drive, was asked to pitch the ninth.

Simmons threw 141 pitches for no decision. Schultz threw one for the defeat.

"I told Mickey when he went to the bat rack that he was going to hit a home run, and then I stood by the runway ready to race to the clubhouse," said Yogi Berra, the manager.

"I was expecting a knuckle ball and I got it," said Mantle. "I guess it wasn't a very good one. I knew the ball was out but I was afraid it might blow foul."

The foul wind which blows off Broadway into the eyes of Keane and his Cardinals favors the Yankees at 18-5 to win the series and 7-5 to win today's fourth game which matches Al Downing and Ray Sadecki, winner of the opener.

Downing replaces Whitey Ford, who may be out for the series. The Yankee ace reinjured a late-season heel injury at St. Louis and told Berra to go with Downing. Ford is not even a probable for Monday.

"You've got to feel good after a win like this," said Berra, despite the apparent loss of Ford. "It's the type of win that can do a great deal to establish momentum."

"It doesn't matter how many games you win with homers during the season," said Mantle. "They just can't compare with a World Series homer.

"I had to hit this one," continued Mantle. "If I hadn't, I'd have been wearing the goat horns, for Jimmy (Bouton) should have been in the clubhouse with a 1-0 victory."

It was Mantle's fifth-inning error which provided the Cards with their lone run and set the stage for his final frame dramatics.

By the time Bouton reached the clubhouse he'd long forgotten Mick's miscue.

"This has to be one of my greatest thrills," said Bouton, who has allowed just one earned run in 18 innings of World Series competition.

"When Mantle hit that ball I was delirious," smiled Bouton. "He's the greatest player in either league. Every time he comes to the plate I'm on the edge of my seat. Every time I looked up during the second half of the season he was on base."

Besides the ninth-inning

Trojans Rip Texas A&M, 31-7

By DAVE LEWIS

Rocked back on their heels in the opening seconds of play when an interception led to an Aggie touchdown, the Southern California Trojans came storming back to register a convincing 31-7 victory over Texas A&M Saturday night in the Coliseum before 42,295 fans.

The Trojans recovered quickly from this unexpected "uppercut" and completely dominated the rest of the game in posting their third win in four starts and serving notice they are ready to regain a ranking among the nation's top 10 teams.

Troy quickly discovered the Aggies had a "soft underbelly" and poured a bevy of hard-running backs through gaping holes in the Texans' line to turn the game into a rout.

The brilliant running of Mike Garrett in particular broke the game open for USC. He personally set up Troy's first touchdown as well as Dick Brownell's field goal in the second quarter for a 10-7 halftime lead. Garrett then scored the next two TD's himself in moving for 121 yards on 24 carries.

Other offensive heroes were Craig Fertig, who scored the Trojans' initial touchdown and then hurled some effective passes to John Thomas and Dave Moton as the game progressed; Rod Sherman, who came through with some key runs, and Fred Hill, who drew two pass interference calls . . . the second setting up USC's final touchdown, which was scored with only 1:57 left to play by Ron Heller on a four-yard plunge.

Meanwhile, the Trojans' great defensive unit headed by Long Beach's Mike Giers and Jeff Smith completely stymied the Aggies after their early score following Mike Pitman's 33-yard run to the USC seven after his interception on the second play of the game.

The Texans recorded only one first down the rest of the half and were unable to get out past their own 31 as USC assumed command.

The Aggies made only two more first downs in the third quarter as the Trojans picked up momentum.

In fact, their only "serious threat" came late in the period after getting the ball on USC's 49 after Fertig's punt only carried 14 yards. They were only able to pick up 10 yards to the 39 before being forced to kick.

And with only 39 seconds left, the Aggies got the ball on a fumble at the Trojan 26 . . . but Giers quickly got the ball back on an interception.

The Aggies netted only 37 yards on the ground and 99 more yards with desperate passing in the final minutes against the rugged USC defense.

Next stop for the Trojan express is Columbus next Saturday against the undefeated Buckeyes of Ohio State in the week's national TV game.

Olympic Mark for U.S.

Ilman Swims 100m. in 54.0

TOKYO (UPI)—Gary Ilman, 21-year-old San Jose, Calif., student, bettered the Olympic record for the 100-meter freestyle swim today when he was clocked in 54 seconds flat in winning the first preliminary heat.

John Devitt of Australia set the previous mark of 55.2 during the Rome Olympics in 1960.

A total of 12 events were scheduled on the opening program, but only one gold medal was to be decided — in bantamweight weightlifting, where a Japanese was expetced to give the host nation a victory that undoubtedly would cause national rejoicing in the host nation.

The powerful United States basketball team, favored to uphold the tradition that no American team ever has lost even a single Olympic basketball game, was scheduled to meet Australia in the last of eight court games today.

The tournament opened with Finland defeating shorter but scrappy South Korea, 80-72.

Patsy Willard of Mesa, Ariz., took the lead after the first round of Olympic women's springboard diving competition.

The 23-year-old Arizona State University student compiled 39.54 points after three required dives.

In the first heat of the first rowing event, the fours with coxswain, a U.S. team finished second behind a German team. Winners only advanced to the final, but the U.S. team would get another chance to qualify for the finals in a "repechage" heat.

Series Heroes New Breed

Most significant thing about this World Series (other than the terrible condition of St. Louis' playing field) has been the prominence of minor league graduates through the first two contests.

Three men, all of whom weren't even in the majors last July, stood out in those initial two games.

In the Cardinals' winning first game, their stars were Mike Shannon and Barney Schultz. At the July All-Star break Shannon and Schultz would have meant nothing more to the fan than a vaudeville team. An Irish-German song-and-dance routine probably would have created less enthusiasm than Barry Goldwater in Johnson City, Texas.

MEL STOTTLEMYRE
A New Breed

However, this was good. It did something for Joe Fan's heart to have such as Shannon and Schultz as World Series heroes. Mantle, Maris, Ford, Flood, the Boyers and most of the others had received their plaudits all season long.

Shannon and Schultz indeed were refreshing. They were the "little guys" who came into their own.

Then, next day, on the heels of Shannon and Schultz came along another "little guy" who was down on the farm last July himself. The name was Mel Stottlemyre and you could have been excused for not recognizing the handle. He was known only in Richmond and Yakima, his current residence.

Mel put on the famed Yankee pin stripes Aug. 11 and notched nine important victories before the regular season concluded.

Subtract those nine victories and you know where the Yankees would be right now — directly in front of their TV sets, watching the White Sox frolic.

THE YANKEES remain the best team in baseball—in my humble estimation—for their uncanny ability to pluck someone like Stottlemyre from their farm basket nearly every season.

Oh, I respect the National League as being superior to the Yankees' circuit, but I still consider the Yanks the best of all when the real racing starts . . . as they say at the horse tracks.

Anyway, back to 22-year-old Stottlemyre, whose complete game victory Thursday was a World Series masterpiece for a rookie.

YANKEE COACH Jim Hegan likens Stottlemyre to Bob Lemon, the Long Beach taxpayer who concocted 20-game triumphs in seven different seasons during his fabled career.

"I caught Lemon at Cleveland . . . but I don't want anyone to say I'm actually comparing Lemon with Stottlemyre," declared Hegan during the regular season. "Mel has a way to go yet to reach Lemon's heights."

Hegan explained:

"I'm saying simply that the sinker Stottlemyre hurls is the same as the one that Lemon had. Stottlemyre throws his sinker ball overhand, just like Lem.

"Now, that IS unusual.

"Most sinker ball pitchers throw the ball sidearm or three-quarters. The ones who throw overhand are rare. Strangely, Mel and Lem throw the same way."

Not so strangely, both are experts at their craft.

MY WORLD SERIES prediction—the Yankees in six—took one reader by surprise. Ted Plonas, 4222 Pixie Ave., Lakewood, had this reaction:

"Shame on you! You double-crossed me by tabbing the Yanks for the flag that they meekly surrendered to the Dodgers last year.

"Since you share my opinion that the National League is the stronger loop, surely you must have realized that any of four teams could have brought glory to the senior circuit.

"You seem to be ignoring the fact that the Cardinals' batting average was nearly 20 points higher than the mighty Yanks. And who was in the tougher league?"

The Cardinals, sir, as mentioned above . . . but I won't change my selection. (It's still the Yankees and this is being composed BEFORE Saturday's game because of deadline situations.)

IN CONCLUSION, it is a highly refreshing change to have the "S-S-S" men as the early heroic storm-troopers of this World Series.

Baseball needs a new breed . . . and it couldn't arrive at a better time than the World Series!

From Greece to Tokyo...Wow!

Modern Olympics Far Cry From Ancient Spectacle

By JOHN DIXON
I.P-T Staff Writer

TOKYO — By plane, train, boat, bus, automobile, bicycle and foot the great amateur athletes of the world are descending on Tokyo for the Olympic Games.

They will add a new chapter to the record book that had its first entry from the ancient Greeks, was closed by decree of a Roman emperor, and after a lapse of 15 centuries was revived as the inspiration of a Frenchman.

It's a great international spectacle—it ranks right at the top with girl watching, the Japanese say — and the unbelievable Tokyo pedestrian traffic is international in character.

If you're a true track nut, one of those fellows who thinks a tenth of a second is a millennium and a quarter of an inch is as big as Recreation Park, why you never had it so good.

The NBC network (channel 4) has scheduled 19 taped telecasts. They'll be presented each evening, rushed to your screen as fresh as Japanese hostesses in a Ginza bottle parlor.

Class, come to order:

Since the Olympics originated almost 3,000 years ago, there have been a few changes.

The shotput has replaced rock throwing, the runners wear scanties instead of goose bumps, and the 1,600-meter relay is held in place of chariot racing.

Races shorter than 800 meters (twice around the track) are run in lanes. In longer events it is every man for himself, and sometimes there are more elbows flying on a curve than at the roller games.

Weights and measures follow the metric system; meters are a bit longer than yards.

—100 meters is 109.36 yards.

—1,500 meters is 1,640.42 yards—add 17 seconds to determine a comparable time for a mile run.

—5,000 meters is 3 miles, 188 yards.

—110 meter hurdles is 120.30 yards.

—3,000 meter steeplechase is 1 mile, 1,520 yards.

The finish is not the tape, but a white line on the ground. The tape is stretched four feet above the line to assist the board of judges, who will sit in the stands parallel to the finish.

The order of finish is determined by the order in which competitors bodies (torso, not head, arms or feet) reach the line.

The hammer throw, a favorite European event, dates back centuries before the Christian era. When Cuhulian became the first great champion in 5,099 B.C., he threw a rock with wooden handles.

Hal Connolly, the current great thrower, uses a lead head with piano wire handle and a loop at the end for the hands.

At one time there was a craze for a smaller hammer head which would have less resistance. Gold was considered best —a 16-pounder costs $8,960.00, plus price of the piano wire — but there were no buyers.

Stone putting was the favorite sport in early Olympiads. First mention of the sport was at the Tailtin Games in Ireland, 3,370 B.C. Scotland was a prolific nursery of noted stone putters.

In 1860 the shot was ruled spheriscal, 16 pounds in weight and composed of any hard metal. Watch carefully when Dallas Long steps onto the concrete throwing circle. He's so strong that when he squeezes the iron ball it leaves his hand box shaped.

The pole ridden in the vault may be of any material, but all the best navigators use implements composed of fibre glass and rubber bands. A heavy man will weight down a pole so that one end almost touches the other.

In the high hurdles, there are 10 obstacles placed at 10-yard intervals. They are 42 inches high and so designed that a force of eight pounds of foot thrust is required to send one topsy-turvy. A formful hurdler such as Hayes Jones skims so closely he can trim his toenails on the hurdle.

The barriers are 36 inches high in the 400 meter hurdles, and there are 10 to conquer. The strenuous steeplechase presents four 36-inch dilemmas in addition to an ankle straining water jump.

In viewing the Games, television buffs, keep in mind the Olympic creed:

"The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning but taking part. The essential thing in life is not conquering but fighting well."

RANCHO GOLF PRO SHOT

A 62-year-old golf pro was being held Saturday on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder following a shooting of another pro at Rancho Golf Course.

James Grant was accused of shooting Jimmy E. Thompson, 45, after Thompson allegedly fired him during an argument concerning salaries.

Thompson was reported in good condition at Temple Hospital with a .25 caliber bullet wound in the chest.

San Diego Mauls L.B. State, 45-8

49ers' march early in the quarter.

LBSC came back again, moving from its own 37 to SD's 33 before running out of downs. Jerry Otterson's fourth-down pass to Mike Anderson fell two yards short of the necessary yardage and the visitors took over on their own 33. San Diego failed to threaten during this period.

THIRD PERIOD

San Diego forged ahead 18-0 when Gary Garrison pulled in a 40-yard touchdown pass from Dowhower early in the period. The former Millikan High ace who had caught 22 passes coming into the game pulled this one in on L.B.'s 20 and by cutting back, he simply outran Bob Maynard for his fifth TD of the season. Tony Clark caught Dowhower's PAT pass to make it 20-0.

Long Beach then rose up and smashed 60 yards in 10 plays to become the first team to score on the Aztecs in a second half this year.

Les Shy rammed over left guard from the 6 inch line. Otterson, from the spread formation, passed to fullback Dick Degen for the conversion and L.B. trailed 20-8.

FOURTH PERIOD

Dowhower started the final period avalanche by sneaking three yards to cap a 23-yard drive. Allison swept to the 3 to set up Dowhower's TD.

John Butler scored twice on identical 4-yard plunges to run the count to 38-8 with 13:10 gone. Clifton Kinney completed the rout by scoring from the 6 with 25 seconds remaining.

Blades Shade Leafs Again for 2nd Win

6-3 Triumph Sets Up L.A. Skaters for Road Swing

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

The Los Angeles Blades registered a convincing 6-3 victory over Victoria before 6,081 fans at the L.A. Sports Arena Saturday night.

It was the second weekend win over last season's Western Hockey League champions, and from the looks of it the Blades will be tough to handle this year.

Although they started slowly Saturday, the Blades picked up momentum, and by the end they were as smooth as they had been Friday night.

FIRST PERIOD

The Blades started as if they were getting credit for their surplus Friday goals. Neither team threatened seriously in the opening 12 minutes, but the main reason the Blades didn't score was because of their poor shooting rather than Victoria defense.

The first score came shortly after the Blades' unruly defenseman Howie Young was sent to the penalty box for elbowing. A minute and 14 seconds later (at 15:15) the Maple Leafs lit the red light as Milan Marcetta scored from in front of the net.

Evidentally, this jostled the Blades just enough because they stormed back quickly. Leo LeBine bounced the puck off Leaf goalie Al Millar. Norm Johnson took a rapid swing and the count was even 1-1.

SECOND PERIOD

Now this was more like it. Los Angeles rammed home three goals to take a commanding 4-1 edge.

At 4:52 of the stanza LaBine, standing alone about 10 feet from the net, pounced on the loose puck and sailed it past Millar to put the Blades in front.

It stayed that way until midway in the period when penalties cost Victoria two men. That was all the Blades needed. In a span of 41 seconds they added two more goals to just about put the game on ice.

LaBine scored from a scramble in front of the net for the third point, and Young smashed home a sensational 20-footer for the next goal.

THIRD PERIOD

Victoria tried, but the Blades met the challenge.

Marcetta slipped a slapshot past Jack Norris at 3:03 into the period, but the Blades' Lloyd Habbon got back the point 3:18 later on a 15-footer after some tricky maneuvering.

The teams traded points a little later as Larry Keenan scored on a 12-footer from a fast break, and L. A.'s Harold White collected on an eight-footer. The Blades held their own the rest of the way.

FIRST PERIOD — 1, Victoria, Marcetta (Jankowski, Flett), 15:15. 2, Los Angeles, Johnson (LaBine, Young), 12:22. Penalties — O'Ree (LA) 5:08; S. Hucul (Vi) 9:31; Warfield (Vi) 11:25; Young (LA) 14:01; Lawson (Vi) 16:57; Boileau (LA) 19:18.

SECOND PERIOD—3, Los Angeles, LaBine (Smith, Johnson), 4:52. Los Angeles, LaBine (Johnson, Smith), 10:03. 5, Los Angeles, Young (Johnson, Smith), 10:59. Penalties—Young (LA) 7:44; S. Hucul (Vi) 8:35; Winfield (Vi) misconduct 9:44; Millar (Vi) 10:28.

THIRD PERIOD 6, Victoria, Marcetta (Keenan, Lamoureaux), 3:03.7. Los Angeles, Habbon (Johnson, LaBine), 6:22.9. Victoria, Keenan (Marcetta, Lamoureaux), 8:57.0. Los Angeles, White (Young, Habbon), 12:04. Penalties—Redahl (Vi) 9:31. Seves:

ton clicked on the first of two TD passes to Drake. This one covered one 61 yards. Bill Reich's kick made it 7-0 with 13:30 left before intermission.

Bakersfield came back to cut the margin to 7-6 on 42-yard drive set up on a short (8 yards) punt by Long Beach. Seven plays later, Stevens stormed over from the four. He had carried the final 37 yards. The kick failed.

With 3:23 left in the half, the Vikings boosted the count to 14-6 when Barton and Drake again teamed on a payoff pitch. This one of eight yards climaxed a 73-yard march highlighted by Stewart's run of 27 yards and a 20-yard Barton to Bob Stiles aerial. Reich again converted.

Stanford Rally Rips Rice

STANFORD (UPI) — Underdog Stanford, making a shambles out of Rice's passing game in the last half, came up with five interceptions to rout the Owls, 34-7, in an intersectional clash Saturday.

Linebacker Jack Chapple provided the tie-breaking touchdown late in the third period when he blocked a pass by Owl quarterback Walt McReynolds, grabbed the ball in the air and thundered 39 yards for the score.

In addition to providing the go-ahead touchdown, the 220-pound Chapple also spent a busy day smashing Rice plays.

The Indians then added two more touchdowns plus a pair of field goals during the wild fourth quarter with intercepted passes setting up every tally.

	Stanford	Rice
First downs	19	16
Rushing yardage	227	152
Passing yardage	126	49
Passes	22-15	8-3
Passes intercepted by	5	1
Punts	2-55.0	5-47.0
Fumbles lost	4	3
Yards penalized	45	65

The snake-bit McReynolds had another pass boomerang on him when Guy Rounsaville picked off one of his tosses from 22 yards out and ran it back for Stanford's fourth touchdown.

Ronnie Waldo, McReynolds' understudy, threw two interceptions himself which paved the way for a 20-yard field goal by Braden Beck and a 10-yard touchdown pass from Terry DeSylvia to John Wilbur.

Beck closed out the Stanford scoring with a 31-yard field goal after Roger Clay had intercepted a pass by McReynolds.

Rice was a two touchdown favorite and entered the contest without having allowed a touchdown in its first two games.

Beavers Shock Huskies

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Specialist Steve Clark booted a 22-yard field goal with five seconds left in the first half and underdog Oregon State made it stand up for a 9-7 Pacific Athletic Conference football victory over Washington's mistake-plagued Huskies Saturday.

Oregon State, playing its first Conference game in six seasons, ran its season record to 3-1 and dealt a crushing blow to Washington's hopes of returning to the Rose Bowl for a second straight year.

Linebacker Dick Ruhl wrecked Washington's last hope with 1:20 to play by intercepting a Washington pass and returning it 23 yards to the Husky 32.

Oregon State tailback Charlie Shaw, who outshone Washington's touted Junior Coffey, scored the Beaver touchdown in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge.

Washington got back into the ball game in the same period on a 38-yard touchdown sprint by halfback Charlie Browning. Ron Medved's conversion put the Huskies ahead 7-6.

The Oregon State touchdown came on a 39-yard drive after halfback Danny Espalin intercepted a Bill Douglas pass.

WYNN

Man to Man

COVELLI

By JERRY WYNN

Opt to spear a medal in the Olympics at Tokyo this week is Frank Covelli of Long Beach.

The 27-year-old engineering draftsman at Douglas Aircraft is America's top hope in the javelin, the spear-throwing event which dates back to the caveman and which still can be practiced occasionally on the late, late show.

Covelli attended Wilson High and Arizona State College, but it wasn't until he completed a service hitch that the sturdy bachelor began a romance with the javelin. He has captured the NCAA and AAU championships and first places in the U.S.-Russian meet and Olympic Trials.

Is this your first trip to the Far East, Frank?

"Yes, and I'm really looking forward to it. The Olympics are not only sport, but an education. I know I will enjoy the trip whatever I do in the Games."

You have traveled throughout Europe competing for the U.S. Which is your favorite city?

"Oslo, Norway. It's a great place to compete. The conditions are real good and the people up there are avid track fans. The javelin is one of the most popular events."

Why isn't the javelin more popular in the United States?

"We don't have the facilities and most of our javelin throwers don't get started until college. You need a long, dirt runway to throw properly and very few of our stadiums have them. School officials are afraid of ruining their football fields."

Some school officials have claimed the javelin is too dangerous. Do you agree?

"It can be very dangerous if not policed properly. But it's no different than driving a car. If you don't act intelligently, anything is dangerous."

Why did you choose the javelin over other events?

"I used to high jump and pole vault at Wilson High. But when I tried the javelin, I enjoyed the violent motion of throwing for distance. It's the same kind of feeling you get in bowling when you let loose the ball and watch it strike the pins and see them go flying out of the alley. It is a great feeling."

Were you satisfied with the training program of the U.S. team at Pomona?

"I thought it was real good. You can't ask for a better field event coach than Payton Jordan. He's the best."

How far do you think you will have to throw to win a medal at Tokyo?

"My goal is to hit 275 feet. If I can do it, it will get me in there real well."

Who are the men you will have to beat?

"Sidlo of Poland figures to win with Iusis of Russia very close. Pederson of Finland just set the world record of 300-10¼, but he's not consistent."

What has been your greatest thrill?

"Winning in Germany last year was very satisfying. They were favored and I won with my longest throw, 264-9½. To win a medal in the Olympic would be the greatest thrill."

Long Beach will be rooting for Frank Covelli, its space-age spear-thrower.

Ohio State Surprises Illinois, 26-0

Strategy Switch Spoils Illini's No. 2 Rated Spot

By JERRY WYNN
I.-P-T Staff Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Powerful Ohio State crumbled Illinois' Rose Bowl champions, 26-0, before 71-227 disenchanted homecoming fans at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

As improbable as the Beatles switching to butch haircuts, Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes ditched his famed "four yards and a cloud of dust" offense for a razzle-dazzle attack which included 19 passes, spreads, and tackle-eligible pattern.

The smash victory was the third without defeat for Ohio State, which will play host to USC next Saturday. And

	Ill	Ohio	State
First downs	10	12
Rushing yardage	61	136
Passing yardage	72	120

Punts	8-31.2	4-31.5
Fumbles lost	2	2

John McKay, take note: these Buckeyes are tough and talented.

Ram scouts, who were here to watch four Illinois linemen — Dick Butkus, Archie Sutton, Bill Minor and Gregg Schumacher — left the premises mightily impressed with such Buckeye battlers as Dwight Kelley, Bill Ridder and Jim Davidson.

The Ohio State game plan was to keep the play away from Butkus, the All-America middle linebacker, and Buckeye quarterback Don Unverferth executed it masterfully with passes and rollouts.

In what was supposed to be a collision of Big 10 giants, Ohio State reduced Illinois to pint size. The Buckeyes scored with four minutes gone and controlled the game thereafter. Quick and alert, they intercepted three passes and recovered two fumbles.

OHIO STATE scored on its first play from scrimmage after a pass interception on the Illinois 24. Unverferth, a straight-A pre-medical student, rolled out around end for the touchdown.

The Buckeyes stormed 34 yards in 10 plays to make the score 13-0 in the second quarter. The big play was a 49-yard pass from Unverferth to Bock Stock. Fullback Willard Sander scored on a smash from the 1.

Syracuse Snow Job Buries Bruins, 39-0!

By JEROME HALL
I.-P-T Staff Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — In weather better suited for the Winter Olympics, the UCLA Bruins tried to play football here Saturday but were never quite successful.

Snow, sleet, rain, wind and a bulky bunch of fellows in Orange helmets from Syracuse University combined to smack the Bruins with their first loss of the season and tumble them from the ranks of the ranked.

The score was 39-0, which was a lot higher than the temperature.

The frigid elements are not offered as an excuse, merely as an explanation for the total collapse of the team that carried a No. 9 national rating.

But the collapse was complete. The Bruins, who never really threatened to score, rolled up a total of minus four yards on the ground and amassed 45 yards through the air.

UCLA quarterback Terry Zeno, who entered the afternoon as the nation's total offense champion with an average of better than 200 yards per game, made a total of nine yards and threw as many interceptions (two) as completions.

A crowd of about 35,000 that nearly filled ancient Archbold Stadium was fortified with anti-freeze and seemed unbothered by the snow or the temperature which stayed in the 30s all day.

The victory pushed Syracuse into the No. 1 spot on the Eastern snowboard. The Orangemen have a 3-1 record, the loss to Boston College. UCLA, which travels to Notre Dame next weekend, also has a 3-1 record.

"Our defense played a pretty good game," said Bruin coach Bill Barnes, "but our offense was horrible. Syracuse is a fine team. The cold did not affect the game—only our mistakes did. We've got a lot of work to do and not much time to do it in before we go to South Bend."

Syracuse fullback Jim Nance was the day's star. He gained 148 yards in 22 carries. Syracuse sophomore halfback Floyd Little, the new Jim Brown for the Orange, turned in the day's best play, a 90-yard punt runback. QB Walley Mahle ran the team with authority.

UCLA got off to a horrendous start, almost presenting the Orange with a six-point gift on the Bruins' first scrimmage play. The Bruins had a net offense of eight yards for the first quarter, which as it turned out was their best quarter.

That near gift touchdown on the Bruins' first play was on a pass into the flat by Zeno, intended for fullback Paul Horgan but directly into the arms of defensive end Herb Stecker who trotted the dozen yards to the end zone, but Stecker himself was guilty of offsides on the play.

Near the end of the first period the Orangemen drove 35 yards in six plays after getting field position when the Bruins were forced to punt from deep ground. Nance got the major gain, a 20-yarder on which he'd have gone all the way for 34 yards if he hadn't slipped in the clear.

The touchdown was scored on a one-foot sneak by Mahle. The conversion snapback was fumbled.

UCLA got a wealth of good breaks through the first half but couldn't make any points out of them. Syracuse, for instance, lost the ball on fumbles four of the first six times it got it, then gave it up on an interception the seventh time.

Syracuse took a 14-0 lead into the warming rooms at intermission when Little came through with his 90-yard punt return.

The Orangemen scored again in the opening seconds of the second half when Zeno, standing on his 25, threw a pass toward the flank that was five yards short of intended receiver Melvin Farr. Unfortunately, linebacker Murray Johnson was standing five yards closer to Zeno than was Farr.

The Syracuse linebacker intercepted the ball on the UCLA 35 and was not touched to the end zone.

The Orange next drove 57 yards in seven plays midway through the third period to make it 26-0. The score came on an 18-yard burst up the middle by Nance.

Fourth-period touchdowns were scored in a snowstorm that made identification a bit uncertain. It was probably Nance who tallied from the two at the end of a 50-yard slush with six minutes remaining.

Then it probably was a defensive halfback named Charley Brown from Massillon, Ohio, who tallied on a 54-yard run with a Steve Sindell pass that floated far off course in the wind.

That made it 39-0 and a long tobogganride home.

CHICAGO SELLOUT TODAY

Wounded Bears Loom Dangerous for Rams

By JERRY WYNN
I.-P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO—By George, it looks like an ambush.

In this city of Robin and the 7 hoods and Kennedy and the 12 coaches, the Rams today are braced for Halas and the 22 henchmen.

For just as a wounded grizzly, Papa Bear George Halas and the Chicago Bears are expected to attack the Rams before a sellout crowd of 48,000 at Wrigley iFeld.

Uneasy is the head that wears the crown, and it didn't take long for Chicago's 1964 world champions to find this out. In four games, the Bears have been wounded by the Packers, 23-12; butchered by the Colts, 52-0, and salted by the 49ers, 31-21, in between a 34-24 snack over the Vikings.

Instead of champions of the world, they are being lambasted as cheeseburgers of the North Side.

Thus it should be an angry, aroused band of Bears, who will make their home debut today. Ominously (for the Rams) they are 3½-point favorites.

"I feel sorry for the Rams," says Johnny Morris. "They're meeting us on a bad day for them. We have to win this game."

Chicago has virtually the same cast which lost one of 15 games last season, but it had its morale jolted by the deaths of Willie Galimore and John Farrington and its physical stock depleted by a rash of injuries. All the casualties, except for Larry Morris, are healthy today.

Quarterback Bill Wade has the league's two top receivers in Morris (27 catches) and all-pro Mike Ditka (24). Assigned to guard Morris today will be rookie Jerry Richardson, and the last time the Bears' Long Beach flash met up with a rookie (George Rose of Minnesota) he caught 10 passes.

The Rams also feel this is a "must" game. Confident they have the personnel and desire to win, their unspoken concern is for the "funny bounces" which have become traditional against them at Wrigley Field where they have won only once (1959) in 11 years.

Dick Bass returns to the lineup to give the offense a big lift. He will start at fullback with Ben Wilson at halfback and rookie sensation Bill Munson at quarterback.

The Rams will keep a wary eye on an old friend, Jon Arnett, who will be an enemy for the first time. Lineups:

Browns Surprised by Steelers, 23-7

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Fullback John Henry Johnson blazed over for three touchdowns to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 23-7 upset victory over the Cleveland Browns Saturday night in a National Football League game.

Johnson, 10-year veteran of the NFL, scored on runs of 33, 45 and 5 yards as he slipped out of the grasp of would-be tacklers time after time. He carried the ball 30 times and finished with a total of 200 yards as he set a club rushing record and turned in the best performance by any NFL runner this season.

Gophers' QB Runs, Passes 'Cats Dizzy

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota, displaying its most versatile offense in years under the direction of quarterback John Hankinson, dumped Northwestern 21-18 Saturday in the Gophers' Big Ten football opener.

Hankinson scored twice on runs of six and one yards and set up all the Gopher scores with his passing.

Purdue Bolts by Badgers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue mixed sharp passing, hard running and a sticky pass defense Saturday for an unexpectedly easy 28-7 football victory over Wisconsin in the Big Ten opener for both teams.

Gordon Teter, 180-pound junior halfback, rammed over two touchdowns on short runs, young quarterback Bob Griese passed seven yards to Bob Hadrick for another and guard Bill Howard wrapped it up on a 23-yard dash with an intercepted pass.

Purdue grabbed three Wisconsin passes in the last quarter as the Badgers realized they had no chance on the ground against the massive Boilermaker defensive platoon.

Wisconsin made only 48 yards net by rushing and had many long losses by end Harold Bell and other Purdue defenders in harassed the Badgers backfield. Wisconsin sophomore halfback Tom Jankowski's personal statistics were better than his team's, with 54 yards gained in 16 carries.

Purdue ran for 193 yards, with Teter and Randy Minniear doing most of the damage. Teter gained 99 yards in 20 carries, Minniear 81 in 13.

Unbeaten Wolverines Rally to Tumble MSU

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore Rick Sygar caught one touchdown pass and threw another Saturday to lead unbeaten Michigan to a 17-10, come - from - behind victory over inter-state rival Michigan State.

The victory, Michigan's first over State under the guidance of coach Bump Elliott, left the fourth-ranked Wolverines with a perfect 3-0 record, while 12th-ranked Michigan State lost its second game in three starts. It was the first Big Ten game for both teams.

State held a 7-3 halftime advantage and early in the final period, Larry Lukasik kicked a 26-yard field goal to give the Spartans a seven-point lead, 10-3. Then, Michigan came to life and pulled the game out to preserve its record and rating.

After the field goal the Wolverines marched 80 yards to score and pull within one point, quarterback Bob Timberlake hit Sygar with a five-yard toss for the six points. Then halfback Mel Anthony tried for the two-point conversion, but was tackled one inch short of the end zone.

After stopping State, Michigan took over on the Spartans' 41, following a punt with 4.13 to play. The Wolverines drove to the 31, then Sygar took a pitchout, raced to his right and heaved a high toss to end John Henderson.

Henderson leaped and caught the ball at the five and carried a defender into the end zone for the game-winning touchdown. Timberlake hit Steve Smith with a two-point conversion pass to give the Wolverines their seven-point victory margin.

The game was played before 78,234 fans a new Spartans Stadium record and marked Elliott's first victory over Duffy Daugherty in six tries.

State trailed in everything on the halftime statistical sheet except the score. A recovered fumble early in the game led to the Spartans' only touchdown.

Aided by Fumbles, Iowa Nips Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—Indiana threw a fourth-period scare at Iowa, but fumbles cost the Hoosiers a victory opportunity and the Hawkeyes held on for a 21-20 Big Ten win Saturday.

Indiana was dealt its third straight Conference defeat in frustrating fashion, all too common to Hoosier football fortunes.

The gallant Hoosiers were on the Iowa 10-yard line when the game ended. Fortunately, the victory was its first in Big Ten play after opening the season with wins over Idaho and Washington.

The game was an aerial duel between Iowa's Gary Snook and Indiana's Rich Badar. Snook threw 40 passes, completing 18 for 263 yards.

Two Indiana fumbles nullified Tom Nowatzke's fine running in the first half. Iowa scored twice on Hoosier mistakes.

NBC's Bid for Jets Turned Down

Those who wondered why NBC officials didn't scream "foul" when CBS purchased the New York Yankees recently, it was because the National Broadcasting Company earlier had made an unsuccessful attempt to buy a professional sports team itself—the New York Jets of the American Football League.

NBC's attempts to buy the Jets reportedly came several months ago prior to the fantastic session during which the three TV networks bid for the rights to the National Football League games this season and next.

NBC ran a poor last in the bidding as CBS edged out ABC with a bid of $28.2 million for two years, netting each of the 14 clubs a fraction over $1 million a season.

A few days later, NBC surprised the sports world by announcing it had given the American Football League $36 million for its TV rights for five years beginning in 1965.

This amounts to $7.2 million per year to the league . . . or $900,000 to each team. The AFL's present contract with ABC produces only around $225,000 annually for the various clubs.

It gave the AFL new life. The league was staggering under $10 million in losses over its first four years.

It also was obvious that it was no spur-of-the-moment move by NBC, but a well-thought-out plan to create its own first-class product as competition among the networks over football air rights became increasingly intense.

And NBC lost no time in revealing plans to enter the player development field by subsidizing AFL clubs.

EVEN THOUGH THE DEAL with the AFL does not start until next September, Carl Lindemann, NBC vice president, reveals "we will make advance payments available to all eight clubs who need it to sign players after the December draft."

Although the sum will be deducted from the first year's payments, it nevertheless gives the AFL needed money in which to bid against the NFL for talent.

Lindemann frankly disclosed that NBC could have acquired the rights to AFL games for "considerably less money, but we wanted to give each team enough money so they could compete dollar for dollar with the NFL."

The bidding is expected to become so fierce between the two leagues that the Canadian League, which in past years has offered some fabulous contracts to U.S. stars, decided in the future to forget about trying to get players from the major schools and concentrate on the small college ranks for their main American imports.

So far, the AFL has been a "nuisance" rather than a dangerous threat to the National League in the talent war. It has "hurt" the older league in only a dozen or so cases. Just a handful of players in the American League could make important contributions to NFL teams.

WITH NBC THROWING its money into the talent war, the December drafts by the two leagues take on added significance.

Dick Butkus, Illinois' great linebacker, generally has been regarded as the most likely man to be the No. 1 pick in the NFL draft. Some sources insist it will be Joe Namath, Alabama quarterback, while a top professional source says it will be Tommy Myers, Northwestern's passing wizard.

They rate among the top five at this stage along with Larry Elkins, Baylor's outstanding pass receiver, and Gale Sayers, Kansas' bruising runner.

No less than 70 of the 280 drafted last December by NFL clubs were "futures" set for delivery in 1965.

Some of the cream of the '64 crop was skimmed off early in this manner . . . like Oregon's brilliant quarterback, Bob Berry, who has led the Webfoots to three straight victories so far this season. He was drafted as a "future" by Philadelphia and his rights given to Minnesota in a trade.

The Giants picked up Penn State tackle John Deibert in advance. Dallas tabbed Bob Hayes, the great sprint champion in track as well as a fine football player at Florida A&M. The Chicago Bears got Pat Crain, Clemson's top-rated back, and UCLA tackle Kent Francisco.

Texas Flexes Muscles Late for 28-7 Win

DALLAS (UPI)—Fleet Phil Harris and bulldozing Harold Philipp shook national champion Texas out of its fumble-ridden lethargy Saturday to propel the Longhorns to a 28-7 victory over Oklahoma with a patented second-half comeback.

The Longhorns, fought off their feet by a raging Oklahoma defense for almost three quarters, shocked the Sooners with three touchdowns in a 13-minute span late in the third and fourth periods and rang up their 15th consecutive victory and seventh in a row over Oklahoma in the 59-game rivalry that dates back to 1900.

Harris broke open a 7-7 deadlock with a 15-yard broken field scamper after a pass interception. Then Philipp bulled his way 30 yards to set up his own one-yard scoring burst a few minutes later to make it 21-7.

The Texas defense, which featured linebackers Tommy Nobis and Timmy Doerr and tackles Diron Talbert and Clayton Lacy, set the stage for an added touchdown a few minutes later and end Pete Lammons got that one on a 14-yard toss from quarterback Marvin Kristynik.

Okla. State Gambles to Beat Buffs

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) Oklahoma State made a daring gamble pay off and then stopped a last-ditch surge by Colorado to take a hard-fought 14-10 Big Eight Conference victory Saturday.

Sophomore quarterback Hale Irwin had put Colorado ahead for the first time, 10-7, when he burst over from the one-yard line in the third quarter to cap a 57-yard drive. It was at this point that Oklahoma State, its offense sputtering at times, came alive and charged to the winning touchdown.

NAMATH HURT, 21-0

Sub Sparks Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) —Second-string quarterback Steve Sloan, passing and running like a thoroughbred, directed Alabama to a 21-0 victory over North Carolina State Saturday in a battle of unbeatens.

Sloan, called on to replace Joe Namath when the Crimson Tide star twisted his knee in the second quarter, answered the challenge by scoring one touchdown and passing for another.

It was the fourth straight victory for third-ranked Alabama and its third straight over North Carolina State.

Namath did not play in the second half, but the Alabama offense didn't need him. Sloan sent a host of hard-running backs through the State line and when resistance stiffened there, he went into the air.

His favorite target, end Tommy Tolleson, caught eight passes, a record for Alabama. The old record of seven was held jointly by Al Lary, Dixie Walker and Butch Wilson.

North Carolina State, stifled by the Alabama defense most of the afternoon, threatened twice. The first thrust ended in a missed field goal and the second was thwarted by a series of penalties.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) Sophomore quarterback Steve Spurrier staged a great triple-threat performance Saturday and led the Florida Gators to a 30-14 upset over the Mississippi Rebels.

Spurrier's passing, running and kicking blended with a hard-charging Gator defense to keep the harassed Rebels off balance throughout the afternoon.

Defensive halfback Allen Trammell shared the spotlight with Spurrier as he ran a punt back 62 yards for a touchdown, intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble.

Trammell's run put Florida ahead 17-7 in the third period and then Spurrier iced the cake with two touchdown passes in the final period.

Penn State Thwarts Late Army Drive, 6-2

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Penn State marched 62 yards for its only touchdown Saturday, then came up with a tremendous goal line stand in the dying minutes to upset Army, 6-2.

The fired-up Nittany Lions, fater losing their first three games, stopped the Black Knights dead on the Penn State two-yard line with less than two minutes to play.

Four plays later, Penn State punter Frank Hershey allowed himself to be tackled in the end zone, giving the Cadets their only two points, a safety.

The strategy paid off. Hershey kicked off after the safety and guard John Runnells intercepted an army pass on the Penn State 24 as the final gun sounded.

Kentucky No Match for Fla. St., 48-6

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida State University took complete command of fifth-ranked Kentucky Saturday, scored in every quarter and waltzed to a 48-6 victory.

Kentucky averted a shutout in the final 30 seconds when Frank Antonini bulled over from the five and got the first touchdown off Florida State this season.

Steven Teni, Florida State's 6-foot-5 quarterback, passed for two touchdowns to his favorite target, Fred Biletnikoff, and halfback Phil Spooner broke through for two more as FSU made a strong bid for national rankings.

The Wildcats were watching the Tensi-to-Biletnikoff combination, so Tensi frequently threw to Spooner and fullback Lee Narramore.

Kentucky's highly rated halfback, Rodger Bird, rolled up considerable yardage.

Duke Trips Terps, 24-17

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Duke converted a fumble and a pass interception into touchdowns Saturday for a 24-17 victory that just about knocked Maryland out of contention for the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship.

Duke, fought to a standstill in the first half by the surprising Terrapins, had to come from behind, and it was a recovery of a Maryland fumble by third team end Sonny Morris and a pass interception by senior fullback Mike Curtis that set the stage.

Falcons Fall to Irish

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Fifth-ranked Notre Dame outclassed Air Force, 34-7, Saturday in the first meeting of the two schools before a record crowd of 44,384 in Falcon Stadium.

The Irish, who had already crushed two Big Ten teams, outplayed the Falcons at their specialty—defense.

Notre Dame intercepted three passes and turned them into touchdowns. The Irish's big line, which outweighed the Air Force by 10 pounds a man, also throttled the Falcons' running backs, limiting them to 38 yards on the ground.

	Air Force	Notre Dame
First downs	13	18
Rushing yardage	38	218
Passing yardage	123	92
Passes	13-31	8-14
Passes intercepted by	1	3
Punts	7-41	3-41
Fumbles lost	0	1
Yards penalized	4	20

The Air Force started as if it were going to pull another of its patented upsets. A Ken Jaggers punt put the Irish into a hole on their 6. Three plays later, Jeff Jarvis picked off a John Huarte pass on the 25 and scored untouched with just under five minutes gone in the first period.

Notre Dame's go-ahead score came with three minutes left when the Irish took the ball on their own 38 after a punt. After 13 plays and an offside penalty which moved the ball to the 1, Huarte faked neatly and sneaked over.

In the third period, Notre Dame scored on a 19-yard Huarte-to-Bill Wolski pass.

For the final touchdown, another errant Murphy pass was intercepted by Nick Rassas. He returned the theft 23 yards to the 8. After a yard loss, Huarte hit Jack Snow from nine yards out.

Huarte ended the game hitting seven out of 15 passes for 93 yards.

Missouri Struggles to Win Over K-St.

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) —The Missouri Tigers, unable to mount a sustained offense against stubborn Kansas State, relied on their defense Saturday to post a 7-0 Big Eight Conference victory over the Wildcats.

Kansas State dominated play in the first half but failed to get a first down and could penetrate no further than its own 39 in the second half.

Missouri took advantage of a muffed punt midway through the first quarter to score its only touchdown.

Halfback Doug Dusenbery, the nation's leading punter with a 47.9-yard average going into the game, hobbled the snap from center on his own 33 and was swarmed under by Tiger linemen.

Johnny Roland sliced off tackle from the one on a fourth down play with 5:03 left in the quarter to give Missouri the touchdown.

Sidle Hurt in Auburn Win

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy Sidle, trying to pull Auburn from behind despite the pain of a pulled shoulder muscle, tore the other shoulder loose Saturday but the Tigers went on without him to defeat Chattanooga, 33-12.

It was a costly victory for the fumbling Tigers, whose 20-0 loss to Kentucky last week dropped them from the nation's top 10.

Sidle went out with a dislocated left shoulder and trainer Kenny Howard said he will be laid up for perhaps three weeks.

Sophomore quarterback Joe Campbell and veteran tailback Tucker Frederickson touched off a second-half scoring explosion to lead Auburn to its win.

The Tigers, trailing 6-0 at intermission, tallied three times within six minutes in the third period and added two touchdowns in the final period.

Tennessee's Late Surge Nips Boston College, 16-14

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Art Galiffa rallied Tennessee for a 16-14 come-from-behind victory over Boston College Saturday in an intersectional football game.

Midway in the last stanza, Tennessee linebacker Tom Fisher intercepted quarterback Ed Foley's pass on the Bc 22 and dashed in for what proved to be the game-winning TD.

The game was in doubt until the final whistle as Foley riddled Tennessee's secondary with passes. The junior field general from Woburn, Mass., completed 16 of 33 passes for 222 yards.

QUOTABLE QUOTES AT THE SERIES

Bouton Regrets Musial's Absence

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK — They asked Saturday's hero, Jim Bouton, if he was sorry Stan Musial wasn't still with the Cardinals.

"I sure am," Bouton said. "Someday my kid is gonna ask me, 'Dad, did you ever pitch against Stan Musial?' and I'll say, 'No, son, I never did.' And he'll say, 'Aaah, ya bum.'"

Bouton revealed that as a youth he was a Giants fan.

"Sal Maglie was my favorite," Bouton said. "I finally got to meet him at a banquet last winter and he looked just like I pictured him. He needed a shave."

* * * *

CARDINALS catcher Tim McCarver finally realized what the series is all about.

"They play this thing for prestige only," moaned McCarver. "You certainly can't come out ahead. I've already spent my share on meals and motel rooms for my relatives."

* * * *

"THE THING I don't like about the World Series," said Yogi Berra, "is that you have to get up too early. During the season I sleep all day."

CARDINALS owner August Busch flew the players' wives to New York and pitcher Bob Gibson warned his teammates:

"Don't get excited, boys, you have to keep your old roomies. the wives are rooming together."

* * * *

LINDA BIRD Johnson viewed Saturday's game from near the Yankee dugout. Linda Bird is no relation to the Redbirds.

* * * *

JOHNNY Pesky and Bob Turley are among the lobby dwellers looking for jobs. Pesky may be ticketed for the Milwaukee organization while Turley has asked Angel general manager Fred Haney for a position. If he can't land a baseball job, Turley will move his family to Los Angeles this winter and continue working for Continental Bakery Co. Another coaching switch (the I, P-T tabbed the Minnesotta turnover to a T last Sunday) will find Charlie Metro replacing Johnny Cooney on the White Sox' staff.

* * * *

MEL ALLEN, until this year an integral part of the World Series, may not return to the Yankees' mike. They say Joe Garagiola or George Kell are the probable replacements.

* * * *

MICKEY Mantle's teammates will tell you there was only one reason for the Mick's error which led to St. Louis' run Saturday.

"Those crippled legs just wouldn't allow him to bend over in time," confided one Yankee.

* * * *

JIM BOUTON once had an explosive temper and his mates called him: "Bouton, Bouton, the water fountain."

jam, Bouton dispensed the Cards with the bases loaded in the sixth and retired Simmons, Curt Flood and Lou Brock in order after Dal Maxvill doubled to open the seventh. He fanned only two but his brilliant change-up prevented sluggers Bill White and Ken Boyer from taking a toehold.

"It's really a palm ball," said Bouton. "Pete Mikkleson taught it to me about five years ago."

Bouton hasn't pitched in nearly a week and he revealed it took a lot of "mental gymnastics" to prepare himself for this effort.

"We have a one-year-old boy and he'd been sleeping all night up until, you guessed it, last night. He woke up about two and cried so long that I finally put him out in the back yard. It really wasn't that cold out."

Bouton was asked the name of his boy.

"It's Michael George, but I'm thinking of changing it to Mickey George," he laughed.

Mickey Mantle was holding his own baby, the homer ball had bounced off the facade into the Yankee bullpen where it was retrieved by Ford.

"It's a lot nicer holding the ball than the horns," laughed Mantle.

* * * *

TIM MCCARVER ripped a single to right to open the tainted fifth and Mantle allowed the ball to bounce between his legs as the Cards' catcher wheeled into second. Two outs late McCarver had moved to third and Simmons brought him home with a vicious shot which the diving Clete Boyer knocked down but was unable to play.

"I've got no excuse for missing it," said Mantle. "Normally I would have trapped that ball, but with the track team they've got by the time you get on one knee they're on second base."

That tally tied the game, for the Yankees had scored in the second on a single by Elston Howard, a two-out walk to Joe Pepitone and Boyer's double down the leftfield line.

Simmons did not allow another hit until Bobby Richardson singled with one out in the sixth. With two outs, Mantle doubled and Simmons was forced to walk Howard intentionally, filling the bases.

Tom Tresh popped to first baseman Bill White and Simmons retired six more in order before Keane reached his fateful ninth-inning decision.

McCarver again ignited this rally and again a Yankee error was involved. Shortstop Phil Linz allowed McCarver's grounder to bounce through his legs. Mike Shannon's sacrifice moved McCarver to second and after a walk to Carl Warwick, batting for Maxvill, Keane called Simmons back and went for broke with Bob Skinner.

The ex-Pirate flied deep to center as McCarver took third and Bouton then got Flood on a "hold-your-breath" liner to right which Mantle gloved.

"We had a shot at winning it and John (Keane) took it," said Simmons. "That's the way to play this game. Schultz has done a great job for us and Mantle has hit homers off a lot of other guys. Who knows, it might have been me out there serving it up."

"In that situation you have to play to win," said Keane. "I had decided before the inning started that if we got a man in scoring position I'd lift Curt. Bouton pitched a fine game. Simmons pitched a superb one."

It was Schultz who didn't 'knuckle' down.

Schaus Expects Four-Team Race

By DOUG IVES

Can the Lakers rebound from their dreadful third-place finish to a place of eminence in the NBA's Western Division this season?

The answer is a definite yes, according to Fred Schaus, but just like any freeway at five o'clock in the afternoon, there's going to be a traffic jam at the head of the stretch. Only Detroit will lag.

"Baltimore is a young team on the move. St. Louis has been tough for as long is I've been in this league, and, of course, San Francisco is the defending champion," says Schaus. "I know we can challenge, so I guess that makes it pretty tight at the top."

Many others don't share Fred's views that Baltimore can keep pace with the Hawks, Warriors, or Lakers, but the Bullets, bolstered by acquisitions Bailey Howell and Don Ohl from Detroit, can't be overlooked either.

San Francisco's chances of repeating are diminished daily as its big center, Wilt Chamberlain, reclines in a hospital bed with an unknown stomach ailment. He definitely won't be ready for the season opener this week.

* * * *

IF THE Warriors fall behind early, it could leave the Lakers and Hawks in the best position. St. Louis' big problem is that Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan aren't getting any younger.

The "if" for the Lakers is Elgin Baylor. He won't play as much this year, and it will be up to LeRoy Ellis and rookie Cotton Nash to take up the slack. Newcomer Walt Hazzard's ability as a playmaking guard could be vital, too.

The Eastern Division is more predictable where Boston and Cincinnati should battle for top honors. The Celtics retired four veterans, but they're still favored to win their ninth division title and seventh NBA title in a row.

Can the Lakers beat the Celtics? "We'll worry about that bridge if and when we get there," concluded Schaus.

West, Baylor Duo Nets 58, Lakers Romp

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Guard Jerry West scored 31 points and forward Elgin Baylor had 27 to lead the Lakers to a 111-98 victory over the San Francisco Warriors in a National Basketball Association exhibition game Saturday night.

The Lakers led most of the first half and had a narrow, 55-54 advantage during intermission. Their big lead came in the third quarter when they outscored the Warriors by 11 points.

Top scorer for San Francisco was center Nate Thurmond, who got 21 points. He led the game in rebounds with 23.

The Lakers hit 43.6% of their tries and the Warriors 36.6. The two teams play another exhibition tonight in Portland.

Junior Football League to Open Season Today

With all four teams having a shot at the championship, the Long Beach Junior Football League begins play today.

Belmont's Bears travel to Lakewood to tangle with the Lakewood Cougars at Lakewood High while the Los Altos Rebels, figured to be much improved, travel to Jordan High for a tussle with the always tough North Long Beach Bulldogs.

Each game will start at 12:30 with the B squad game preceding the A contest.

The season will continue for six more weeks with games each Sunday afternoon.

McEwen Pilots Racer 200 MPH at Lions

Tom McEwen of Long Beach drove a super-charged Chrysler, sponsored by Yeakel Plymouth, to 200 miles per hour in the feature attraction at Lions Drag Strip before 5,428 fans Saturday night.

Top fuel eliminator — Zane Schubert (Anaheim), 189.46 mph and 8.05 elapsed time.
Top gas eliminator — George Bolthoff (Reseda), 124.90 mph and 8.43 elapsed time.
Top sled—Yeakel Plymouth Special, 200 mph.
Low elapsed time — Frank Cannon (Compton), 8.01.

POLY BACK'S 293 YARDS CITY RECORD

Poly High halfback Al Nichols set a city single-game rushing record Friday night when he galloped through Santa Barbara's defenses for 293 net yards. He carried the ball 21 times, gaining 295 yards, losing 2. He scored three times.

The sensational effort by the 5-11, 170-pound senior eclipsed the old mark of 240 yards by Poly's Joe Pearson against Lakewood in 1961. Willie Brown and Dee Andrews, former Poly stars, had identical best games of 222 yards.

"He was simply fantastic," said Poly coach Al Matz. "They (Santa Barbara) set their defense to stop our outside running game and Al just stayed inside the tackles. I've never seen a boy run any harder."

MANTLE THE DIFFERENCE
Yankees' Mickey Mantle and third base coach Frank Crosetti joyously jog past Cardinal third baseman Ken Boyer after Mantle's ninth-inning home run gave New York 2-1 win Saturday. Mantle's 16th Series homer was record.

Palmer at Peak in World Match Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer bludgeoned old Burma Road — Wentworth's demanding 6,936-yard west course—into abject submission Saturday and marched over it into the final of the first World Match Play golf tournament.

PALMER

The 35-year-old U.S. Masters champion from Latrobe, Pa., smashed down little Gary Player of South Africa, an old rival, 8 and 6 in their 36-hole semi-final match.

England's match play champion, Neil Coles, defeated Bruce Devlin of Australia 2 and 1 in the other semifinal and will meet Palmer today in the 36-hole final for the $14,000 first prize money.

Palmer, playing his first match play tournament since he won the U.S. Amateur championship 10 years ago, was simply unbeatable. He started slowly and was one down after nine holes. Then he fairly exploded and treated the tree-lined par-74 course like a Tom Thumb layout.

He shot the first six holes—2,103 yards of a tree-lined hazardous course, in 19 strokes, five under par.

* * * *

IN BEATING Peter Butler Friday and Player Saturday, Palmer shot 66 holes on the tough Burma Road course 12 under par. Against Player he racked up 10 3s and a 2.

Rookie Pace Retains Lead by One Shot

ROCKLIN, Calif. (UPI) — Roy Pace, the rookie surprise from Longview, Tex., maintained his one-stroke lead in the $25,000 Sunset-Camellia Open Saturday by firing an even-par 71.

That gave the 23-year-old studious-looking mechanical engineer a 209 for 54 holes—four under par.

But he had to scramble to weather a challenge from adopted hometown favorite Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., who also carded an even par 35-36—71 for a three-round total of 210.

* * * *

PACE, who never finished higher than 35th in a PGA tournament and has won only $484.92, was all over the Sunset Oaks Country Club course, parlaying three birdies, a bogey and a double bogey into nines of 34-37.

He hit balls into two traps, a lake and up to one of the Sierra foothills. But he tapped in birdie putts of 20 and 10 feet for his par round.

"My chipping and my putting saved me today," he said.

Third-round leaders:

Roy Pace	69-69-71—209
Al Geiberger	71-68-71—210
Bob McCallister	69-71-71—211

Fishing Facts

San Diego — 187 passengers on 9 boats caught 89 yellowtail, 101 albacore, 7 barracuda, 247 bonito.

Seal Beach—101 passengers on 4 boats caught 4 barracuda, 92 bonito, 19 calico bass, 15 halibut, 16 sculpin; 131 passengers on 11 barge caught 360 bonito, 50 calico bass, 21 halibut, 110 mackarel, 500 miscellaneous.

Oceanside — 153 passengers on 6 boats caught 159 barracuda, 243 calico bass, 2 yellowtail, 39 white sea bass, 472 bonito, 25 halibut, 40 miscellaneous.

Pacific Landing—140 passengers on 4 boats caught 5 yellowtail, 55 barracuda, 25 halibut, 511 calico bass, 357 bonito, 25 sculpin, 63 sheepshead.

Point Fermin Landing—260 passengers on 8 boats caught 23 barracuda, 1266 bonito, 355 calico bass, 13 yellowtail, 25 rockcod, 5 halibut, 509 miscellaneous.

Belmont Pier—84 passengers on 3 boats caught 358 bonito, 18 calico bass, 21 halibut, 6 sculpin; 101 passengers on 1 barge caught 850 bonito, 35 barracuda, 3 halibut, 25 calico bass.

Season Outlook—The Knicks never seem to get much better despite always having first choice in draft, and same goes for this year. They still need strong center both in scoring and rebounding, more rebounding and speed from forwards, more scoring from backcourt and tighter defense. . . Johnny Egan has speed, Goln is a defensive want and Bouzer and Chappell shoot well outside. Reed (6-10) and Barnes (6-8) could give center work.

How NBA Quintets Look

WESTERN DIVISION

LAKERS

Veterans—Center Gene Wiley (4.3); forwards Elgin Baylor (25.4), Rudy LaRusso (12.4), LeRoy Ellis (4.6), Dan Nelson (5.2); guards Jerry West (25.7), Dick Barnett (18.3), Jim King (3.9); newcomer—Center Darrall Imhoff (4.8 in 58 games for Detroit).

Rookies—Cotton Nash (Kentucky), John Savage (No. Texas St.), Jerry Grote (Loyola), Walt Hazzard (UCLA).

1963-64 record—42-38, 3rd. Lost 3-2 to St. Louis in playoffs.

Coach—Fred Schaus, 5th year.

Season Outlook—With Baylor given proper rest and assuming injuries don't hit as last year, Lakers should be back on top . . . Wiley has added weight, Ellis has improved at forward and 1m-half can rebound . . . Improvement of King and Hazzard's speed and playmaking complement West's style of play . . . Nash, Hazzard best prospects.

ST. LOUIS HAWKS

Veterans—Center Zelmo Beaty (13.1); forwards Bob Pettit (27.4), Cliff Hagan (18.4), Bill Bridges (8.5), Mike Farmer (5.6); guards Len Wilkens (12.5), John Barnhill (6.6), Charley Vaughn (8.6), Richie Guerin (13.1).

Rookies—Jeff Mullins (Duke), Paul Silas (Creighton) John Trapuzzi (Seattle).

1963-64 record—44-36, 2nd. Beat Lakers 3-2, lost to San Francisco 4-3 in playoffs.

Coach—Harry Gallatin, 3rd year.

Season Outlook—Pettit and Hagan aren't getting any younger but Beaty, Bridges and Wilkens are better. Outside are Guerin can do all in backcourt . . . Hawks figure to be better, but won't beat out a healthy Lakers . . . Rookies Silas and Mullins best prospects.

SAN FRANCISCO WARRIORS

Veterans—Center Wilt Chamberlain (36.9), Ken Sears (3.3); forwards Wayne Hightower (13.2), George Lee (3.2), Tom Meschery (13.5), Nate Thurmond (7.0); guards Al Attles (10.9), Gary Hill (5.2), Gary Phillips (10.0), Guy Rodgers (11.5).

Rookies—Barry Kramer (NYU), Bud Koper (Oklahoma City), McCoy McLemore (Drake).

1963-64 record—48-32, 1st. Beat St. Louis 4-3, lost to Boston 4-1 in playoffs.

Coach—Alex Hannum, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—With Chamberlain ill and off to slow start, it could dearly cost the Warriors . . . Team has best rebounding in league with Wilt, Thurmond and Hightower, but no scoring punch from outside . . . Rodgers great playmaker but aging . . . Rookies Kramer and Koper outside scoring threats but need year or two to acclimate to NBA.

BALTIMORE BULLETS

Veterans—Center Walt Bellamy (27.0); forwards Gus Johnson (17.3), Barney Cable (3.7), Charlie Hardnett (4.4); guards Kevin Loughery (9.1), Sid Green (10.3), Newcomer—Don Ohl (17.3) Bailey Howell (21.6), Bob Ferry (10.6), all acquired from Detroit.

Coach—Buddy Jeannette, 1st year.

Season Outlook—The Bullets will battle the leaders for half the season, then probably fade . . . Talented up front with Bellamy, Johnson and rookies Hunter and Bradds, but hurting in backcourt. Ohl good shooter, not quick enough. Acquisition of Howell should shore up front line . . . Definitely most improved club in either division.

DETROIT PISTONS

Veterans—Center Reggie Harding (11.0); forwards Jackie Moreland (9.1), Ray Scott (17.6), Dave DeBusschere (8.6); guards Dennis Butcher (7.2), Bob Duffy (4.8), Eddie Miles (5.4). Newcomers—Terry Dischinger (20.8), Don Kojis (6.3), Rod Thorn (14.5), all acquired from Baltimore; Hub Reed (1.4), acquired from Lakers.

Rookies—Joe Caldwell (Arizona St.), Jim Davis (Colorado), Ray Wolford (Toledo), Larry Phillips (Rice), Jerry Jackson (Ohio), Ralph Telken (Rockhurst, Kan.).

1963-64 record—23-57, 5th.

Coach—Charley Wolf, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Acquisition of Dischinger for Howell is even up swap, so Pistons only gained youth advantage; same with Thorn-for-Ohl trade . . . Still no consistent scorer and rebounder except Ray Scott . . . Added experience of Harding and talent of rookie Caldwell could win Pistons a few more games, but not many more.

EASTERN DIVISION

BOSTON CELTICS

Veterans—Centers Bill Russell (15.0), Bob Heidman (acquired from New York); forwards Willie Naulls (9.8), Tom Heinsohn (15.5), Tom Sanders (11.4); guards Sam Jones (19.4), K. C. Jones (8.7), John Havlicek (19.9), Larry Siegfried (3.3).

Rookies—Mel Counts (Oregon St.), Ron Bonham (Cincinnati), John Thompson (Providence), Leaven Tart (Bradley), Jeff Blue (Butler), Rich Falk (Northwestern).

1963-64 records—59-21, won division. Beat Cincinnati 4-1 and San Francisco 4-1 for NBA title.

Coach—Red Auerbach, 19th year (15th with Celtics).

Season Outlook—Will be as strong as last year, depending on Havlicek, who had knee operation this summer . . . Lost four veterans, Clyde Lovellette, Frank Ramsey, Jim Loscutoff and John McCarthy, no experience is major problem . . . good speed, great rebounding with Russell and, as usual, great offensive firepower. . . Counts best-looking prospect.

CINCINNATI ROYALS

Veterans—Center Wayne Embry (17.3); forwards Jack Twyman (19.9), Jerry Lucas (17.7), Jay Arnette (2.8), Tom Hawkins (8.6), Larry Staverman (4.4); guards Arlen Beckhorn (8.3), Oscar Robertson (31.4), Bud Olsen (4.1), Adrian Smith (19.2), Tom Thacker (2.8).

Rookies—George Wilson (Cincinnati), Harold Hairston (NYU), George Kirk (Memphis St.), Bill Chmielewski (Dayton).

1963-64 record—55-25, 2nd. Beat Philadelphia, 3-2, lost in Boston 4-1 in playoffs.

Coach—Jack McMahon, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Royals think they'll be better, but with entire league strengthened, it'll be hard to improve on last year's 55 wins . . . Robertson and Lucas still getting better. If that's possible. Ace can team up with Twyman . . . Royals need back-up help for Embry and guards who can both handle ball and shoot to join Robertson. Best prospect is forward George Wilson.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

Veterans—Centers John Kerr (16.8), Connie Dierking (6.5); forwards Lee Shaffer (13.1), Chet Walker (17.3), Ben Warley (8.2), Dave Gambee (11.0); guards Larry Costello (7.8), Al Bianchi (8.0), Hal Greer (23.3), Paul Neumann (11.6).

Rookies—Lucious Jackson (Pan-American), Ira Harge (New Mexico).

1963-64 record—34-46, 3rd place. Lost to Cincinnati 3-2 in playoffs.

Coach—Dolph Schayes, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Despite rash of injuries last year, team played well and almost upset Celtics in playoffs . . . Club wins 25 games out of first, 21 out of second, but will be much closer this time . . . Rookies Jackson and Harge can spell aging Kerr . . . Walker coming into own as top scorer . . . Greer one of top three guards in league, and entire backcourt is talented . . . Front line spotty but has potential.

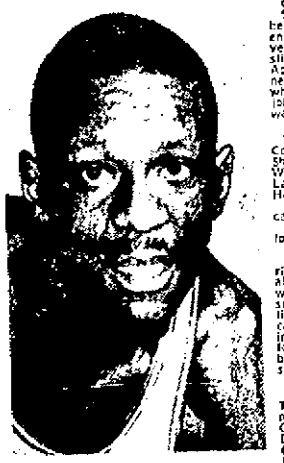

NEW YORK KNICKS

Veterans—Centers Bill McGill (15.1), Tom Hoover (4.8); forwards Len Chappell (17.1), Bob Boozer (14.9), John Green (14.5), John Rudometkin (7.6), Dave Budd (4.7); guards Johnny Egan (13.0), Art Heyman (15.4), Tom Gola (9.1), Al Butler (8.7).

Rookies—Jim Barnes (Texas Western), Willis Reed (Grambling), Howard Komives (Bowling Green).

1963-64 record—21-55, 4th.

Coach—Eddie Donovan, 4th year.

Active Campaign Against Litter

One club in the Southland is trying to do something to stop the littering of our highways and streets. The Isaac Walton League of San Pedro may not get far with its campaign, but its efforts are worth mentioning. The club is cleaning large grease cans, painting each one green and lettering these words in white: "Litter Can, Every Litter Bit Hurts, San Pedro Izaak Walton League."

The cans are placed in easy-to-see places in gasoline service stations, and the operators of such establishments seem happy to cooperate with the league.

Kenneth Malloy, president of the SPIWL, said that the psychological effect is to make the motorist more conscious about littering and perhaps cause him to put a litter bag in his vehicle.

A recent estimate by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads said that 20 million cubic yards of litter will be dumped on the nation's highways this year. Keep America Beautiful, Inc., translated that into meaningful words, as follows:

"That amount of rubbish, if concentrated, would bury Route 66 from San Francisco to New York (3,000 miles) a foot deep in paper, metal, and plastic wastes. The annual cleanup bill costs the American taxpayers more than $100 million, or about 69 cents per bushel, the same price as oats."

THAT KLAMATH RIVER SALMON run is still the hottest item in the fishing news, with plenty of fish being taken daily from Iron Gate Dam all the way down the river. Bill Bucknam writes that it isn't necessary to battle that crazy line of anglers at the mouth, nor to stand shoulder to shoulder with other fishermen at the mouths of such rivers as Shasta, Scott and Beaver Creek.

"Every hole on the river seems to be a resting place for salmon," he writes. My boys and the Bigfoot Ranch Lodge guide, Bud Clyburn, have been taking plenty of fish from the hole right in front of the lodge."

Steelhead fishing, meanwhile, is picking up along the Upper Klamath. Gil Pipkin, owner of the store at the mouth of the Scott River, reported that he weighed in a 20-pound steelhead last week. That, by far, is the largest reported this season.

Siskiyou County, continuing its program of airport development, has started building a 2,000-foot strip within one mile of Bigfoot Ranch Lodge. It should be in use sometime in November and will handle five-place planes.

That county is trying to build air strips at all available sites where there is sufficient recreation. Airplanes are being used more and more to get sportsmen into the prime fishing and hunting country.

EATON BAILEY, FISHERIES SUPERVISOR for the Department of Fish and Game in the northern part of the state, sends word that salmon are running in the Trinity River all the way to Lewiston. He adds that fish arriving at the Trinity Hatchery are in far better condition than ever before—nice fish with firm flesh. And there are twice as many as there were in 1963.

The Klamath and Trinity king salmon run starts in the summer, with a peak in September or October. The steelhead usually move in behind the salmon, but a DFG authority says, "there are always some salmon and steelhead in the rivers, especially the Klamath."

The Sacramento River also is producing numbers of salmon, particularly around the mouths of the tributaries, such as the American River. Associated Press writer Jerry Harrell says that he went fishing with a friend off the American River mouth last week and his host landed a 20-pounder. Jerry's luck wasn't that good."

Harrell says that old adage of "fish are where you find them" certainly held true for two of his friends fishing the Trinity above Junction City. One went after a steelhead in a riffle with a bucktail fly. The other tried for salmon in a pool below the riffle, using a wobbling lure.

The steelhead angler caught a salmon in the riffle; the salmon fisherman got a steelhead in the pool. Both were nice fish in the four-pound class.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS — The Long Beach Power Squadron is hosting a fall conference at the Edgewater Inn next Saturday, starting at 8 a.m. Sixteen other Southern California U.S. Power Squadrons will take part, and the LBPS has issued a blanket invitation to all California squadrons to attend.

There will be educational seminars throughout the day. Those will provide information on piloting, seamanship, advanced piloting, navigation, marine electronics, engine maintenance, sailing and weather. Appropriate activities have been planned for the wives, says Frank C. Irvine, public relations officer for LBPS.

Those two Fresno hunters who tried to bring 394 doves into California from Arizona Sept. 2 finally forfeited $400 bail each rather than appear in Winterhaven Justice Court. It's too bad that the judge didn't have the opportunity of barring them from any hunting for about 10 years.

Incidentally, 679 persons paid $15,506.80 in fines for fish and game violations in September, with angling without a license (349 cases) leading the list of offenses.

HER HEART'S ELSEWHERE

U.S. Olympic diver Linda Cooper, 20, Long Beach State student who lives in San Bernardino, admits her heart isn't entirely in Tokyo as she talks to fiance, Air Force Lt. Bill Tiger, who is stationed back in San Bernardino. Miss Cooper won 10-meter tower trials, will marry in spring.

McLaren Wins Pole in Riverside Prix

By JIM McCORMACK

RIVERSIDE — New Zealand's Bruce McLaren combined his knowledge as a driver and automotive engineer Saturday to win the pole position in today's Grand Prix for sports cars at International Raceway.

In his own McLaren Special, the racing veteran ran away with the 20-lap qualifying race, finishing more than half a turn ahead of Walt Hansgen of Bedminster, N.J.

McLaren traveled the 52-mile distance in 30 minutes, 55 seconds for an average speed of 100.196 miles per hour, for better than last year's record-setting 96.192 mph by the late Dave MacDonald.

Results of the race were delayed several hours when the event had to be postponed and rescheduled after Bob Bondurant's Cooper-Ford spun out and dumped oil over the track.

To add to the excitement, a helicopter was brought in to help blow the cement dust, used to soak up the oil, and the Copter crashed.

The pilot, Bill Scott of Montebello, was not injured.

Third position in the big-car race went to Scotland's Jimmy Clark. The defending world champion, Clark rates the favorite's edge in today's 200-mile dash.

In the under-two-liter class, Hugh P. K. Didbley of London came home first in a Brabham BT8. He was timed in 33:27.5 for an average speed of 93.2.

Another of the favorites, Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, failed to qualify after leading the first seven laps. His engine went out and he left the track. He will have an opportunity to qualify today in a consolation dash.

The two top Americans, Houston's A. J. Foyt and Torrance's Parnelli Jones, both finished well and will be near the front for today's race.

Most of the top-name drivers who have traveled from far and wide to race here escaped the jinx which each year has caught at least one or two of them.

The field, which now has 30 of the 40 cars to be raced, stands as the best in the seven-year history of the event. Ten more cars will be added this morning in the 20-lap consolation race.

Narrow Win by 'Skipper in Fast Time

By ERNIE MASON

Clearview Stable's Meadow Skipper flashed his vaunted speed in the featured $7,500 Pasadena Pace at Hollywood Park Saturday and swept home a narrow half-length winner over Pole Adios in the mile and one-sixteenth fixture witnessed by a crowd of 18,611 fans.

A virtual wire-to-wire winner, under the able handling of Earle Avery, Meadow Skipper stopped the electric timer in 2:04⅕, second fastest mile and one-sixteenth in harness racing history and only four-fifths off Adios Butler's 2:03⅘ mark set at Hollywood Park in 1961.

Meadow Skipper, owned by Norman Woolworth, also owns the second fastest one-mile race record in history, a 1:55⅕ effort set last year at Lexington. It is bettered only by Adios Harry's 1:55 mark.

CHASING Meadow Skipper and Pole Adios across the finish line in the Pasadena Pace were Star Gem, Mr. Budlong and Andy Adios in that order. Only five horses started.

Going off as a 2-5 favorite, the son of Dale Frost and younger half brother to Countess Adios paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board.

RACING ROUNDUP

Big Wins for Longden, Shoe

Compiled from Wire Reports

Johnny Longden pushed Maker's Mark into command on the far turn Saturday, lost his lead briefly in the stretch but regained the advantage to win the $15,000 San Francisco Handicap of the Tanforan-at-Bay-Meadows meeting.

Poona Khan finished second in the field of 10 for the mile and one sixteenth outing and Bell Anick came in third.

Lngden, who claimed his 5,892nd win, also survived a foul claim lodged by Alex Maese, aboard Poona Khan, but the stewards disallowed it after viewing films of the race.

Maker's Mark paid $5.80 with a time 1:43-4/5 in taking the fourth triumph in his last five starts.

Wheatley Stable's Queen Empress stretched her speed over a mile for the first time Saturday and won the $124,375 Frizette Stakes by a length at Aqueduct in New York.

There was a disqualification in the race, but Queen Empress, who seldom charts a straight course in a race, stayed out of trouble. Marshua finished second but was disqualified and placed third, giving the second spot to Money To Burn.

In her last start, Queen Empress, the leading 2-year-old of the year, finished first in the Astarita Stakes but was disqualified.

Willie Shoemaker rode the daughter of Bold Ruler and reserved her off the pace until the field neared the start of the stretch. The jockey then gunned the bay filly to the front and she took command in the straightaway.

The crowd of 40,450 made Queen Empress a strong favorite. She paid $3.80, $2.40 and $2.20.

Money To Burn, an invader from Chicago where she won two stakes, paid $8.30 and $3.70 while Marshua returned $3.10.

Turbo Jet 2nd, an outstanding grass performer in his own right, saved the day for the form players at Atlantic City when he won the $29,450 Boardwalk Handicap by a length and one-half.

Mongo once again failed to display the form which made him the grass champion of 1963 and finished fourth. Mongo now may be withdrawn from racing and sent to stud. He has failed in his last four races.

Howard Grant rode Turbo Jet 2nd and booted him home in 1:44-4/5 to take the winner's purse of $19,142. He paid $3.40, $2.20 and $2.20. Cool Prince returned $3.60 and $2.20 and Indoctrinate paid $2.20.

It was the final day of racing at Atlantic City. The sport resumes in New Jersey on Monday at Garden State Park.

Penance for Pennants...Mets

The limousine to Kennedy Airport passed Shea Stadium and at least one passenger fancied he could hear peals of boyish laughter through an open window. Nobody had to identify the merrymakers. They could be George Weiss and Casey Stengel, fired by the Yankees, Bing Devine and Eddie Stanky, heaved out by the Cardinals.

They are all Mets today, and as a rule life isn't comical to the Mets. But these guys have to be laughing during the World Series.

Weiss and Stengel have been doubled up since Saturday when their Yankee team won its fifth straight pennant. Devine and Stanky have been in stitches since the team they got canned for putting together brought St. Louis its first championship in 18 years.

They are laughing at Dan Topping and Del Webb and, worst of all, at Gussie Busch.

It's going to get funnier still. It will be downright hilarious this winter when Bing Devine is elected by acclamation as the Major League Executive of the Year. As he must be. The Cardinals, cutting and slashing from 11 games back to win in that frantic dead-horse finish, are his handiwork and his alone.

* * * *

WEISS and Stengel were dodged out by the Yankees four years ago because they were too old. For years Weiss had funnelled into Yankee Stadium the finest baseball talent in the world, first as farm director and then as general manager.

Every man on the club was his man, dug up by his scouts and brought along through the minor league system like Mickey Mantle or wheedled away from another big league club as Roger Maris was.

Every man was also Casey Stengel's man, praised or bullied, criticized and counselled, until he learned to "execute" according to the maestro's dictates.

Most of those men are still there — Mantle and Maris and Ford and Howard and Richardson and Kubek and Boyer and the others. They hardly ever lost under Weiss and Stengel. They haven't lost at all since Weiss and Stengel departed.

There have been, to be sure, a few changes since Roy Hamey succeeded Weiss and was succeeded by Ralph Houk, since Houk inherited Stengel's job and handed it on to Yogi Berra. Someday, no doubt, it will be the team of Dr. Frank Stanton and William Paley. But not the one that goes into its regular autumn exercises today.

It wasn't age that forced Devine out of St. Louis, unless it was Branch Rickey's age. (The story going around is that Bing was bounced by the ancient mariner who is "special consultant" to Busch.) When Devine announced his "resignation" as vice president and general manager, he said it was on account of Gussie's disappointment with the team.

Devine's stamp is even clearer on the Cardinals than the Weiss-Stengel brand on the Yankees. He was responsible for every soul on the club except Butch Yatkeman, maitre de clubhouse.

Just before the May trading deadline, when the Cardinals were in a slump after a good start, Bing moved with what looked like reckless boldness. With Stan Musial retired, the outfield was in sorry straits, so he let Ernie Broglio, an 18-game winner last year, go to the Cubs for Lou Brock.

It was suspected at the time that Devine was dealing from panic, for Broglio was an established star who had pitched 21 victories in 1960 and Brock had shown only traces of his real potential.

The deal decided the pennant race. Brock batted around .340 after coming to St. Louis and finished second in the league in stolen bases.

This is the deal they're talking about now, but it isn't the only one to Bing's credit. A year earlier he sweet-talked the Pirates out of Dick Groat, the shortstop, who batted .319, led the league in doubles, was second in total hits, ran just behind Sandy Koufax for most-valuable-player distinction and completed a four-man infield that started the All-Star game as a unit.

Evidently Gussie didn't remember, or else he couldn't wait. Now Bing's team has won a pennant for him, but Bing doesn't live here anymore. Gussie's years of disappointment are over, and everybody's laughing.

THE SCORE IS LOVE!

Falcons Take on Undefeated Rhinos

By TOM QUINTANA

First place in the Western Football League race is on the line today when the Long Beach Falcons host undefeated Orange County in a 1:30 encounter at Millikan High.

Winners of their last three games, the Falcons are the hottest team in the league and stand a good chance of upending the Rhinos, who are unscored upon in three league contests.

In league play Orange County has defeated San Diego, 30-0; Costa Mesa, 61-0, and San Pedro, 40-0. The Rhinos defeated Long Beach during the exhibition season, 37-0; Chino, 34-0, and fell to Santa Clara, 21-0.

Last time out the Falcons routed San Pedro, 27-0, having two of their TDs called back and three other scoring opportunities fall short.

The defense squad, headed by linebacker Chuck Hammond, held San Pedro to 59 yards rushing while allowing 58 via the airlanes.

* * * *

FALCON defensive tackle Eugene Avery also stood out as he recovered a blocked Marauder punt in the end zone for a TD.

Halfback Wesley Wade was the leading ground gainer for Long Beach, making 97 yards in eight carries. Wade is also averaging 38 yards per punt return to lead the squad.

Heading the list of stars on the Rhino squad are halfbacks Pat Collier, end Phil Hoover and tackle Rod Humenuik.

Collier was an all-America at Citrus J.C. and played ball at the University of Texas.

Hoover, a two-year all-America at Pasadena JC, performed as a starter for USC's 1962 national championship squad.

Humenuik, after gaining A-A in high school, went to Pierce JC where he duplicated the feat by being named to the national team. Humenuik is now a coach at Long Beach Poly High. The lineups:

Braves Face Suit

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Chairman Eugene Grobschmidt of the Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors said Saturday the county will sue the Malwaukee Braves for breach of contract if they attempt to shift their National League franchise.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Slight Volume Increase Aids Modest Mart Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored a modest gain last week and although volume increased slightly, trading continued to be featureless.

The week opened with a gain of 4.50 in the Dow-Jones Industrials, but this was nearly wiped out in the next two sessions. Prices showed only minor improvement Thursday, but managed to do a bit better in the final sessions.

With General Motors and the United Auto Workers reaching an agreement on a nationwide contract and turning the rest of the negotiations over to the local bargaining agents, Wall Street began to turn its attention to other factors influencing the trend.

* * * *

THROUGHOUT the week, the main stream of thought revolved around the problems of inflation and speculation over the possibility of a tight money policy in the near future.

Federal Reserve Board chairman, William McChesney Martin, already has said the problem of whether to pull in the reins on credit will have to be decided within the next six weeks and Wall Streeters second-guess the board.

Until the decision comes there undoubtedly will be a good deal of statistics checking and analyzing of statements made by board members and top economists, creating an atmosphere of caution on the part of traders and investors.

Despite worries over the credit purse strings, most brokers believe the market will continue to rise at least through the first half of 1965.

* * * *

THEY SEE little on the economic front to prevent further advance or to curtail the bull market. Projections on early sales of 1965 auto models lead the experts to believe that an eight million unit-sales year is entirely possible and view the downturns in some sectors of the economy as either inconsequential or temporary.

As for the market's present condition, most observers feel that it is merely consolidating its gains and that the slowdown in the rise of the popular averages is caused more by a spreading out of interest than a lack of enthusiasm.

The technicians, those who look for clues to future market performance in its internal action, now expect a stronger market in view of the breakthrough to a new record high in the Dow-Jones Rail Average. The long awaited move is considered a bullish indicator since it confirms the action of the industrials.

Dow-Jones Industrial average moved up 5.43 on the week to a new peak of 878.08 and rails advanced 4.02 to a new high of 222.12, topping the previous high of 220.98 set July 17. Utilities lacked on 083 at 154.20. Standard & Poor's more inclusive 500 stock index gained 0.86 at 85.22.

* * * *

VOLUME rose to 25,107,870 shares from 23,449,745 shares a week before and 23,699,060 shares in the same week last year. Gains outnumbered losses by nearly 2-to-1 as 865 issues advanced while only 486 declined. Of the 1,526 issues traded, 202 touched new 1964 highs while only 34 hit new lows.

Ford topped the most active list with a gain of 3⅛ at 61¼ on 571,700 shares after touching a new all-time high of 62¼ during the week.

Chrysler was second with a loss of ⅝ at 61⅜ on 547,200 shares. General Motors was further down in the active roster with a gain of 2⅝ at 101⅞.

Texas Gulf Sulphur was third with a gain of 1⅜ at 63⅛ on 438,200 shares. RCA was fourth, rising 1¾ to 33⅜ on 364,700 shares on earnings news.

Sunshine Mining was also among the most active. It dropped 1 to 31⅜ on 310,200 shares. Towards the end of the week it was announced there was a proxy fight shaping up in the company.

* * * *

STEELS were generally fractions higher, but Copperweld and Lukens were exceptions with gains of 3½ and 1 respectively. Eastman Kodak lost 1⅛ despite a favorable third quarter earnings statement. Du Pont rose 1, but Union Carbide lost the same amount.

IBM shed 2, but Control Data rose 1⅛. Litton 1 and Texas Instruments ⅞. Honeywell rose 2¾ after directors proposed a 2-for-1 stock split. Foxboro rose 3½. Magnavox and Zenith gained 2⅝.

A number of strong spots appeared in the oils including Amerada up 3⅛, Cities Service ¼, Mission Corp. 5¼, Royal Dutch 2⅞ and Sinclair 2½.

Coppers gained some support from speculation over a possible domestic price increase for the metal in the wake of Chile's 2½ cents a pound boost on exports. Cerro soared 5⅞, Inspiration Consolidated rose 2½ and Anaconda picked up 1½.

* * * *

PENNSYLVANIA Railroad advanced 3⅝ in fairly active trading. Friday, the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the road's plan to divest itself of its holdings in Norfolk & Western. New York Central, which is planning to merge with the Pennsy, gained 4½.

Financial Federation and First Charter Financial eased after the Federal Home Loan Bank sent a bill asking for tighter regulation of savings and loan holding companies to Congress.

Douglas Aircraft rose 3, Piper 3⅝ and Cessna 2. Consat rose 3¼ apparently in response to a successful television broadcast from Japan via the Syncom satellite. Polaroid rose 3¼. Hoover Ball Bearing gained 4¾. Sherwin Williams jumped 4¼.

FPC Pushes Hard for Gas Rate Refunds

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Power Commission is quietly but firmly cracking the whip in its new natural gas rate refund policy even though it has no force in law.

Its objective is to compel producers, interstate pipeline companies and within-state distributors to rebate all overcharges to household and commercial consumers. This requires the cooperation of all those in the distribution chain. But in the absence of any law making it compulsory, all can buck legally if they desire.

The commission thinks, however, that it has found a way to win their cooperation, willing or unwilling.

* * * *

IN A POLICY declaration last July 8 it began a test case involving Humble Oil & Refining Co., Houston, and 20 of its interstate pipeline customers which serve almost every state in the union.

First, it settled a rate case in which Humble agreed to refund $8.9 million to the pipelines and cut its rates by $3.5 million a year.

Second—and this is where its new policy came into being—it ordered Humble to impound all the refund money until the pipelines each report whether they intend to keep the refund money—and why—or whether they would flow it through to their own within-state customers. The latter would, in turn, be expected to rebate to their consumers.

The commission kept an ace in the hole. It said flatly that it would not direct Humble to release the money until the FPC was satisfied that it would flow through to the within-state distributors and—hopefully—their customers. If the pipelines insist without a reasonable explanation on keeping the money, the commission itself will determine "relative rights" to the funds.

* * * *

THE COMMISSION said it was not deciding as of July 8 that the pipelines or their customers were not entitled to keep all or part of the money. But on the same premise it said that even though there is no law making refunds compulsory there also is no law allowing them to keep the money.

The FPC demonstrated it means business by imposing the same conditions in a Sun Oil Co. case Oct. 2. Sun agreed to refund $4,250,000 and cut its rates by $1.4 million a year. But Sun will put the refund money in escrow until its customers have reported on what they plan to do with it.

The commission first turned the spotlight on the refund problem last year with the first of a series of checks on whether interstate pipelines and their intrastate customers were keeping refunds or flowing them through to consumers.

The survey aroused a storm of protest on grounds it did not accurately reflect the rebate situation. But the commission refused to be dissuaded. It currently is getting ready to take a second plunge which can be calculated to stir up as much fuss as the first one.

* * * *

THE HUMBLE test case is still in the mill. Humble was given 45 days to submit to the commission and each of its affected customers a detailed report on who purchased its gas and how much, the period covered and the amount of refund to which each is entitled. The commission said that within 10 days after it gets Humble's report, it would require he pipelines to submit their own reports. These are to state whether they intend to keep the money or pass it on, plus the names of their customers and how much a rebate each is supposed to get.

The combined reports will give the commission a double check against any refund shenanigans. In cases where all sides have been honest, the commission will order Humble to release the rebate money unless, in some instances, a state regulatory authority requests a delay.

Realtor of the Week

Marguerite Waters

Operating under the fictitious firm name of Dominguez Realty, Marguerite Waters has been a member of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors since 1950. As the business name indicates, her office is in Dominguez where she has lived for the past 30 years. During the years, she has been a member of a number of Board committees including Multiple Listing, Special Activities, a past chairman of Publications and is presently on the Finance Committee and Speakers Bureau. For five years, she was recording secretary for the Society of Residential Appraisers.

A past president of the Dominguez Chamber of Commerce, Realette Toastmistress Club and the Dominguez Women's Club, she is currently on the Board of Directors of the Dominguez Chamber of Commerce and Women's Club. Prior to real estate, she was editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper in the Dominguez area. Mixing business and pleasure, she alternates between classes for a "Certificate of Real Estate" or Art. Her hobbies are painting, swimming and bowling. The mother of three married sons, she adores her four grandsons and Ann Marguerite, her granddaughter. A four-year-old grandson was overheard recently telling a playmate, "My grandmother will give me anything"—and he just about hit the nail on the head!

Heaven on Earth

Anyone can find Heaven in heaven. But we found HEAVEN ON EARTH. Very elaborately fenced within this professionally landscaped, tree studded, park like yard. 3 LARGE BEDROOMS & 2 BATHS luxuriously unfolds as we gaze through cloud 9 to see a spacious, rambling California provincial home designed for the ultimate in living, with no desirable features forgotten. This fine home boasts a step saving angel's kitchen complete with stylish cabinets, sparkling counter tops and a modern RANGE, OVEN, dishwasher and refrigerator. Best house contractor in area built this high quality construction home with lath and plaster walls and solid oak hardwood floors throughout. Elaborate and massive patio surrounds a most inviting custom designed SPARKLING POOL of blue. For the last touch for our Earthly PARADISE add in this thick, plush Wall-to-wall carpets & custom designed drapes and you have a home which should sell for much, much, much more than the ridiculous price of only $17,950. Can you imagine? ? ?

The Safety Signs for Vacation Motoring Pleasure
• Be sure your car is safe: fix or trade it.
• Courtesy — It takes but a moment, and makes you feel so good.
• Traffic Rules — Heed them: they're made for you.
• Break — Pull off the road, relax, refresh.
• Be Tolerant — Don't lose your temper: have fun.
• Alert — Driving is a full-time job: make sure you're ready for any emergency.
• Unknown — Sudden weather changes: adjust quickly to any hazard.
• Home Safe — You followed the guides for a safe trip.

EL CERRITO

The Happy Hospital

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

For 10 long years Mrs. J. G. (those are not her real initials) had been bedfast, victim of a stroke.

And speechless. Her affliction had also left her unable to talk.

Then she was transferred to Long Beach El Cerrito Hospital, the city's new county-operated rehabilitation facility.

She quickly discovered that El Cerrito, the old Seaside Hospital at 1401 Chestnut Ave., was not just another hospital.

* * * *

MANY OF the patients there call it the "happy hospital."

Why? Because El Cerrito has a rule that emphasizes the personal factor.

"We accept people as individuals here," explains Dr. Dirk M. teGroen, medical director. "Our patients are not numbers or case reports. They're people."

* * * *

THANKS to this concept, Mrs. J. G. is now El Cerrito's pride and joy.

She has demonstrated how personal attention pays off.

Attendants there quickly got her out of bed for outdoor trips in a wheelchair.

On one of these trips someone's pet cat scurried across the sidewalk in front of Mrs. J. G. and a nursing aide.

Said the aide: "Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?"

Suddenly for the first time in 10 years, speech came for Mrs. J. G.

Said she: "I've been to London to visit the queen."

* * * *

YOU COULD almost call it a swinging hospital.

Reports one nurse: "On the way to the dining hall the other evening, I saw a lady patient waltzing down the corridor. No kidding. She was dancing."

Is this any way to run a hospital?

You bet it is, El Cerrito officials say.

* * * *

SINCE EL CERRITO opened its doors for the first time last January, 156 of 435 patients assigned there have been discharged.

Time was when many of these patients would have remained in a county hospital until they died.

Forty-two of the 156 went home or went to a relative's home or to a hotel, discloses Neil McLaughlin, El Cerrito's administrator.

Forty-nine went to a nursing home or to a board-and-care home.

Still others went to other county facilities or were able to go to a private institution under the Medical Aid to the Aged program.

* * * *

MRS. EVELYN SPEES, R.N., director of nursing, says, "We have been amazed at the progress many of these patients have made. The patients have been surpised that we're surprised.

"We of the nursing service try to motivate the patients, to give them a spark. Many are depressed when they arrive here. Our job is to show them that we care."

The key to the program, she adds, is treatment of each individual as a person.

* * * *

OCCASIONALLY the motivation concept works too well.

A 97-year-old male patient not yet ready for discharge slipped out of the hospital one day with the intention of riding a bus to downtown Los Angeles.

Dr. teGroen caught up with him at the bus-stop bench on Pacific Avenue.

The elderly man insisted he was going to make the trip.

"In that case," Dr. teGroen said, "I'll have to fire the security officer. (The medical director knew the two were close friends.)

Hearing that the patient quickly returned to the hospital.

* * * *

ADMINISTRATOR McLaughlin likes to point out to visitors that nursing stations usually are unmanned.

"That means the head nurse is with the patients," he explains.

Highly popular with the patients is what McLaughlin calls the Swedish meal plan.

Patients get five meals a day.

A 7 a.m., coffee and toast are served in bed—even before faces are washed.

At 10 a.m. there's breakfast—pancakes, bacon and eggs, cereals.

At 1 p.m. a snack-pudding and cookies, for example—is served.

Dinner, the big meal of the big meal of the day, comes at 4 p.m.

At 8 p.m. there's another snack, usually sandwiches or milk or hot chocolate.

* * * *

McLAUGHLIN says the plan breaks up the day for the patients and reduces food waste as well. And the nursing director reports that the evening snack cuts down requests for sleeping pills.

Dr. teGroen says that El Cerrito is not just an old people's hospital.

"We have patients over 100 but our youngest is 18," he says. "Only one-third of our patients are over 65."

NEIL McLAUGHLIN
Administrator

BETWEEN MEAL snacks, fruit and drink, are wheeled to patients by Helen Staley.

* * * *

EL CERRITO, now operating at 252 beds with an annual budget of $2,443,360, has three type of patients:

1. A small number of terminal patients who are given supportive care.

2. Young accident victims—amputees or persons with broken limbs. These are rehabilitated for return to the community.

3. The major group consists of disabled persons whom the hospital attempts to teach self-help procedures. Many of these are returned to the community.

"We attempt to restore human dignity," Dr. teGroen says.

* * * *

PREDOMINATING are ailments such as arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries, diabetes with complications, multiple sclerosis and related ailments, arthritis, strokes, and parkinsonism (shaking palsy). Many patients are what the hospital calls "freeway casualties."

The staff includes five full-time physicians and 100 nurses and attendants. An othopedic surgeon and a foot specialist (podiatrist) visit the hospital weekly. A dental clinic is now being set up, and equipment for eye care now is being installed.

The hospital has no operating suite or emergency room, but it does have a pharmacy, diagnostic X-ray department, clinical laboratory and physical therapy and occupational therapy departments.

A vocational counseling program now is being arranged with Community Rehabilitation Industries and Goodwill Industries.

The occupational therapy department is equipped with all sorts of self-help devices and a training kitchen to help patients to prepare for return to their homes.

* * * *

THE HOSPITAL'S volunteer program is booming.

A woman volunteer appears often to play the piano.

A man in retirement visits the hospital regularly to play cribbage with patients.

A string quartet and an accordionist representing the musicians' union entertain frequently, strolling through the wards.

School choral groups stage performances.

Hairdressers volunteer their services to operate the hospital's beauty shop.

Church groups and sororities are "adopting" wards for upcoming holiday parties.

Two chaplains serve the hospital—the Rev. Fred C. Crumb for the Protestants and the Rev. Terrence Halloran for the Catholics.

* * * *

NEXT AUGUST, El Cerrito hopes to open an additional 31 beds on its fourth floor. A budgetary cutback prevented expansion of patient population this year, McLaughlin says.

No one is admitted directly to El Cerritos, the administrator says. Patients are assigned from other county-operated hospitals, particularly Los Angeles General Hospital and Harbor General Hospital.

El Cerrito's original patient load was transferred from from Rancho Los Amigos Hospital.

"We like to call ourseves 'the hospital with a heart,'" McLaughlin says. "We're proud of that but it does have a disadvantage. We don't want people beating down the doors trying to get in, because we just can't have direct admissions to our hospital."

PATIENT VIRGINIA WELSH works at hand loom in the hospital's physical therapy section.

HUNT JAPANESE ON GUAM

Two Don't Know the War's Over

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—For six weeks Americans and Japanese have been searching in the matted jungles of northern Guam for two Japanese soldiers of World War II who apparently don't know the war has ended.

The search started when a Guamanian truck driver reported seeing the stragglers at the end of August. Since then, searchers have moved back and forth around the area near a Navy garbage dump where the sighting was reported to have occurred.

Authorities have called out the Marines, brought in police reserves and used helicopters, a tug boat and airplanes in the hunt.

About 25 Japanese reporters, photographers, cameramen and commentators have flown here from Japan to cover the story, which has become international in scope and involves the Japanese and American governments.

* * * *

BUNZO Minagawa and Musashi Ito—two Japanese stragglers who lived in the Guamanian jungles for 16 years before being found two years ago—were imported to help in the search.

The Japanese Ministry of Health and Welfare sent a three-man team to assist, too.

On Sept. 29, Minagawa found two field packs hidden in a cave. The packs contained shirts, pants, leggings, caps with gold anchor insignia, medicine packets, Japanese newspapers, a diary, home-made calendars and religious charms from the Tsurnoka Hachiman shrine in Kamakura.

The diary mentioned the foods its authors had eaten including breadfruit and iguanas, large tropical lizards.

* * * *

ONE OF THE PACKS bore the name Shunui Suzuki. The other had the name Hiroshi Kawashima, a civil worker for the now defunct Japanese imperial navy. His papers said he was born in 1906 and worked at the naval factory in Yokosuka Harbor.

The last date marked in the home-made calendar was December 1944.

It was difficult to tell whether this equipment belonged to the two reported stragglers or had been abanboned by other wartime occupants of the island.

Other than that, there have been no signs of the men. Helicopters with loudspeakers have hovered over the area at treetop level with a Japanese spokesman pleading for the men to come out.

* * * *

PLANES HAVE dropped about 5,000 leaflets showing a picture of Prime Minister Ikeda on one side and a copy of the Aug. 17, 1945, surrender proclamation of the emperor on the other.

The Navy's tug boat has cruised below the perpendicular cliffs with other loudspeakers manned by pleading Japanese who beg the stragglers to give up. The Marines combed the ground and the police kept up a constant patrol in the areas, but in the international game of hide and seek the seekers still haven't a clue as to the whereabouts or existence of the stragglers.

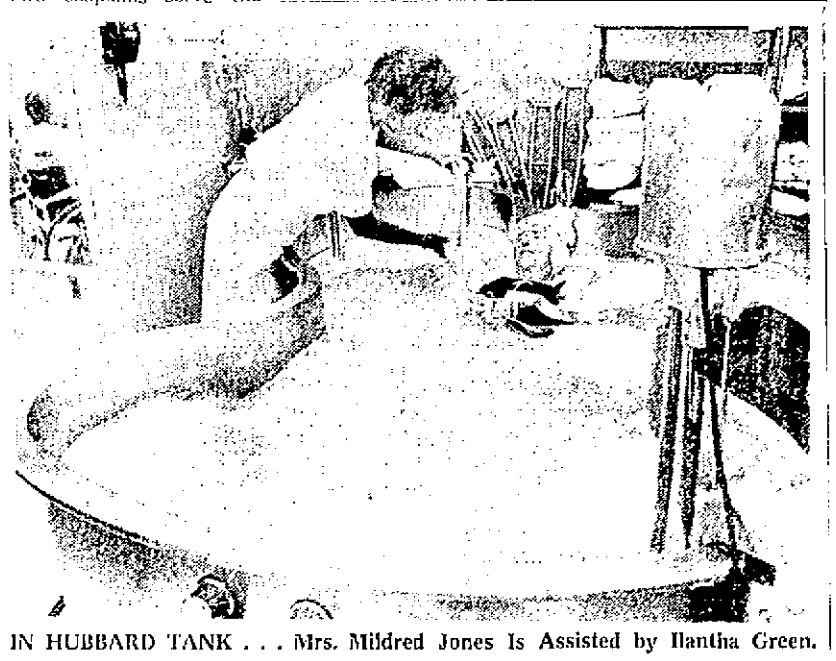

Whereas the Japanese press has set up headquarters at a swank air-conditioned airtel (airport hotel), the Ministry of Health and Welfare team has its command post in tents on the edge of the jungles where its members make daily patrols spreading leaflets, setting out plastic bags filled with food and doggedly searching for evidence of the World War II veterans.

* * * *

NAVY CIVILIAN employe Edward Tsutsui of Honolulu has been guiding the American teams, writing pamphlets and making broadcasts and acting as interpreter and general liaison man in the search.

The big question on Guam now is how to stop the search. The Budget Department is pointing with alarm at the $200 a day being spent by the Department of Public Safety for its unbudgeted part in the search.

The Navy is fretting over the security violations of having scores of unauthorized people tramping over forbidden territory and the American State Department is concerned on how to politely tell the Japanese that maybe they should call it quits without appearing as calloused, brutal-souled bureaucrats.

La Mirada Plant Precasts Fireplaces in Single Units

Ready-Made Fireplaces Go Up Fast at Home Site

By VERN ANTHONY
Editor of Progress Section

Rome, 'tis said, was not built in a day; but in these days of high-gear construction it's possible to have a ready-made fireplace installed in a matter of minutes.

Making this their business are Sidney Hendricks and James Harkey, owners of PreKast Fireplace Mfg. Co. in La Mirada.

PreKast has been fully approved by Uniformed Building Code (UBC), FHA, VA, and area city and county building departments.

No on-the-spot inspections are required. This saves possible delays. Such installations also eliminate much of the 'mess' and cleanup costs involved in building of fireplaces at the house site, Hendricks and Harkey say.

* * * *

THEIR PRODUCTION plant is located at 14372 Firestone Blvd. They build one-piece precast concrete fireplaces, with simulated brick, stucco and stone exteriors. They also provide plain concrete fireplaces which the owner can finish as he desires.

Installation of these fireplaces at a 200 home tract could be completed in about four days; and they can be installed at any phase of construction suitable to the builder.

The plant employs a crew of about 20 men and produces around 20 fireplaces daily. Plans are to increase production soon.

* * * *

HENDRICKS AND HARkey were partners in concrete construction work at Las Vegas prior to opening the La Mirada plant.

Their plant superintendent is Don Rez, who helped build the Disneyland monorail system.

It took five years to develop equipment and methods used in precasting the fireplaces, which are made of steel and fire-resistant aggretate tested to stand pressure up to 2,000 pounds per square inch, twice the pressure resistance of the standard brick. They also are designed to be earthquake proof.

Mounting State Compensation System Costs Become Alarming

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The sharp rise in the cost of the Workmen's Compensation System in California is causing grave concern among businessmen and many state legislators. Ray Duncan of the editorial staff of the Pasadena Independent-Star-News explored the reasons for the increase and sought answers as to what might be done to solve this critical problem. Here is the first of a series of three articles he prepared.)

By RAY DUNCAN

The Workmen's Compensation Insurance system in California is like a marriage that threatens to break up while the partners are celebrating their Golden Wedding day.

The compensation program has been undergoing the worst crisis in its history during the past year. This is exactly 50 years since the passage of the state's first mandatory law to provide medical care and los pay compensation for workers injured on the job.

This is California's oldest piece of social legislation, and it has long been considered the most effective. But many people fear it may now be in danger of being wrecked, or of being taken over by federal agencies.

* * * *

THE RISING COST of supporting the program has caused deep concern in many high places, and in several lower places, too. Most of the complaints are coming, naturally, from the state's employers who are now paying upwards of $300,000,000 a year to support the program through an insurance premium based on their payrolls.

They are especially critical of the sudden steep increases of the last few years, particularly since 1959. Taking 1959 as an index year, an employer who paid $1 per $100 of payroll then, as his cost for supporting the WC program, is paying $1.63 per $100 today.

Many employers feel there is a connection between this sharp rise and the fact that the administration of Gov. Edmund G. Brown took over in 1959. Many feel that Brown's regime has exercised a "recklessly liberal and expensive influence" on the administration of the law.

The compensation crisis has inspired a large-scale investigation by the State Legislature. This inquiry will be conducted by a so-called "blue-ribbon commission."

This seven-member Workmen's Compensation Study Commission is being assembled to find out whether the system is working as intended—or whether, in the language of the Senate, the system may not have become "so uncertain, discriminatory, expensive and full of delay" that it no longer serves its purpose.

The Study Commission may take a year or two to complete its work. Its findings could result in drastic changes in the law.

* * * *

THE COMPENSATION CRISIS, meanwhile, has increased the circulation of several astonishing case histories, by employers to illustrate the effect of what they call liberalizing influences on the law. One of these stories is about a traveling salesman, but it is not a joke. It is a true story, and a tragic one.

The salesman, while on a trip representing his firm, occupied a hotel room with a woman companion who was falsely registered as his wife. They had been drinking. Careless smoking by one or the other caused a fire which resulted in the salesman's death. The question that came up later was this: was the salesman covered by Workmen's compensation insurance in this activity, and was his widow at home entitled to compensation benefits amounting to several thousand dollars, as a result of his death on the job?

The answer turned out to be yes. The money was paid.

A referee decided this at a hearing before the California Industrial Accident Commission—the supervising agency which controls workmen's compensation matters under the Department of Industrial Relations. The referee cited the well-established rule that a commercial traveler is regarded as acting within the course of his employment during the period he is away, including all his activities in traveling and in procuring food and seeking shelter.

The occupancy of the room was part of his employment, regardless of whether or not he had a companion. The reason was immaterial, said the referee. Her presence did not alter the basic purpose for his being in his room, which was to seek shelter.

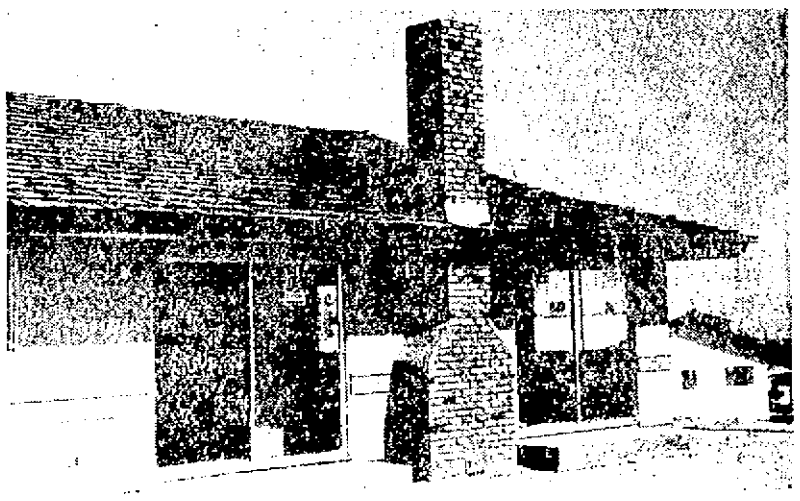

If the accident had occurred in her room, it might have been another matter.

This kind of decision, though an unusual instance,

READY TO DEDICATE FIRST PHASE OF COMPLEX
Grand opening and dedication ceremonies will be held Wednesday, 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., for the first phase of $2¼ million multi-building office complex at 1477 S. Manchester Ave., Anaheim. Building is shown at left above in architect's rendering. High rise at center will be built later. Casualty Insurance Co. of California is the builder, and its offices will occupy second floor of 'Phase 1' building. Freeway frontage complex will include restaurant.

L.B. Apartment House Association to Expand

Leaders of the Long Beach Apartment House Association have kicked off an intensive "Fall '64 Campaign" for hundreds of new members.

Announcement that the drive is under way by the local association, already one of the largest and most vigorous apartment owner-operator organizations in California and the nation, came Saturday from President Arnold Berg.

* * * *

"WE ARE engaged in an all-out campaign to have every apartment owner in this area become a member in order that the association will be even stronger and the most effective such group anywhere," Berg said.

Forrest O. Wilson, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Lyman B. Smitter, committee vice chairman, together with the other directors, officers and many members, are busy pushing the drive.

"Our association here already represents some 4,000 members who are owners or operators of apartments in the Long Beach area and we are endeavoring to enlist 1,000 additional members in this "Fall '64 Campaign," Wilson said.

* * * *

BERG emphasized the apartment business is one of the major industries here, in the state and in the nation, in regard to the millions of dollars invested and taxes paid.

"Every apartment owner or operator in our area should become a member of the association to make it ever more effective in providing every one engaged in the industry better representation and service to meet the steadily increasing problems and challenges to our industry," Berg added.

Vet Home Loan Totals Revealed

A total of 65,107 qualified California war veterans in Los Angeles County have borrowed $630,316,000 for homes and farms under the distinctive Cal-Vet Farm and Home Purchase Program since it was started in 1922. Most of the loans—all but 25—were made for homes.

Of this total, according to H. J. Johnson, manager of the Division of Farm and Home Purchases, California Department of Veterans Affairs, there are 35,611 active home contracts representing an investment of $401,781,900 and with a loan balance of $346,674,141.

Robinson Next Head of CREA

David N. Robinson of Berkeley was elected president of the 45,000-member California Real Estate Association for 1965 at a recent meeting of the association's board of directors, at the close of its 60th annual convention in San Francisco. He will succeed Art S. Leitch of San Diego, and will be installed in office at a meeting of the association in San Francisco early in January.

The election of officers for the association climaxed a five-day convention attended by the 5,000 members, who represent 173 real estate boards throughout the state.

Robinson began his real estate career in 1946, and is the president of the David N. Robinson Realty Co., with two offices in Berkeley, and one in Walnut Creek.

• • • •

CARL W. NEWPORT of Sherman Oaks was re-elected treasurer of the CREA, and H. Jackson Pontius of Arcadia was relected executive vice president and state secretary for the 10th consecutive year.

Elected honorary CREA directors-for-life were: Joseph B. Carnahan, Northridge; Mitchell E. Cutler, San Francisco; William S. Reid, Santa Monica; Reed Robbins, Stockton; L. Van Stelle, San Diego; R. D. Van Vleck, San Jose.

Regional vice presidents for 1965 include:

Robert C. Allen, Palos Verdes Estates; Melvin Mould, Long Beach; John C. Hart, La Habra; David R. Snyder, San Diego.

New Bank Post Filled

James F. Naughton of Whittier, Bank of America vice president, has been selected as the senior representative of the bank's headquarters for its branches in the southern Los Angeles County area, according to Chairman of the Board Jesse W. Tapp.

J. F. NAUGHTON

"This is a new position in our bank," Tapp said, "created to shorten lines of communication, thus assuring that day to day operating decisions may be made more promptly in the field."

He stated that Naughton, with offices in Long Beach, will carry out certain of the responsibilities formerly performed by officers at the bank's Los Angeles Headquarters.

Naughton, whose area of responsibility extends from Playa del Rey to Whittier and includes the harbor area, has been with Bank of America for more than 25 years.

Until his present appointment he was vice president in charge of Business Development in downtown Los Angeles, the Central Manufacturing District, and Pasadena-Arcadia.

Stanton Firm Gets Another Oregon Job

STANTON — Paul Hardeman Inc. of Stanton, already building the Green Peter Dam on Oregon's Middle Santiam River, was low bidder last week on another dam project.

The firm bid $9,948,978 for construction of Foster Dam seven miles downstream from Green Peter. Government estimate for the work was $12,020,588.

State Compensation System Faces Crises

seems to many employers to illustrate a general tendency to abandon common sense in compensation cases.

• • • •

A SIMILAR CASE, involving a California game warden and a woman companion, is equally celebrated. Both were asphyxiated by exhaust fumes from his official car, while they reclined scantily clad on the back seat late at night on a lonely mountain road. That case, too, was decided in favor of the worker. The warden's wife had been widowed, the referee ruled, by an on-the-job accident.

"We used to collect scare-cases like that," says Mort L. Clopton, a Los Angeles attorney who represents employers in compensation cases. "But they're becoming too common, too routine. And what worries us most is not those exotic cases, but the general everyday shift in basic policy which affects thousands of ordinary cases each month."

Almost all employers say they favor a reasonable and generous workmen's compensation law, as it was originally intended—but not as it is now being abused. Many say that the program is being increasingly twisted into a tool for creating "a hidden system of socialized medicine for everyone who has a job."

Employers claim there is an increasing tendency for referees to blame the job for injuries which are not clearly shown to be connected with the job. Controversy has especially increased over claims covering back strains, hearing loss, heart difficulties, and other symptoms which employers say are not necessarily job-caused, but may be the result of the normal process of aging and of the wear-and-tear of daily living.

But criticism is not coming exclusively from the employers. Labor groups are attacking certain other points in the law and its costs and its administration, but of course from a different standpoint.

• • • •

FROM NEUTRAL GROUND the professors of economics and of business administration have also found much to question in the California law. Earl F. Cheit of the University of California, an authority of national renown in the field, once asked "whether or not workmen's compensation, by its own performance, is bringing on its own ignominious end." He feels the California law may now need overhauling.

Several contradictions have been discovered in the recent workings of the law. For example:

1—The law was originally intended to minimize controversy between employers and workers in injury cases.

But today the WC program is more bitterly and widely debated than ever before, with employer groups and unions squared off for a showdown fight over proposed amendments at each session of the Legislature. And endless debate has also developed over questions like this: Is a worker entitled to compensation benefits if he injures himself in a foot-race at the annual employe's picnic held at a place away from the work premises? (Answer, in at least one contested case: He is).

2—The law was originally intended to simplify relations between employer and worker in injury matters.

But the much-amended law, and its multitude of fine-point interpretations and precedents, now constitute one of the largest and most complicated legislative tangles in the land. Its intricacies were described recently by an expert in the field as "a web of perplexities leading into a quagmire of guesswork."

3—The law was originally intended to eliminate or minimize the need for legal action in injury cases.

• • • •

BUT THE FIELD is now known as "a lawyer's paradise." Several Los Angeles law firms, for example, are thriving today on compensation cases as their almost-exclusive specialty. More than 4,000 lawyers registered for a recent series of lectures on "How to Handle Workmen's Compensation Cases." A lawyer urged his colleagues to get into the growing compensation field, pointing out that 40,000 new cases are now being filed each year, that some benefit awards go well up into the six-figure bracket, that average fees are more than $280 per case, and that a modest two-man law firm might count on compensation-case fees totalling more than $60,000 a year.

The criticism of compensation practices is not confined to California. All 50 states have similar laws, though they vary widely in benefits and other details Most of the large industrial states are now undergoing similar struggles over liberalizing influences on their laws

In Michigan, for example, a celebrated case involving a General Motors worker is often cited at a horrible example of this dangerous new direction.

The worker was awarded $863 in medical expense, and $36 a week in disability benefits for an extended period, after he suffered a nervous breakdown. His breakdown occurred because a foreman criticized the quality of his work. The worker had a history of mental illness before he took the job. But the ruling was that job pressure had increased his anxiety to the breakdown point.

California employers report that their own anxieties rise over decisions like that

"If this compensation law," says one of them, "is going to be the back door where socialized medicine slips in, then I think we should all know about it. If socialized medicine is what we want, let's have it But let's call it that, and let's all bear the cost of it. Let's not charge it to the employers only, and call it Workmen's Compensation!"

BIG PUSH BY APARTMENT GROUP

Pasadenan Will Head Appraisers

Stephen Whittlesey, MAI, of Pasadena, has been elected president of the Southern California chapter, American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, succeeding Stanley E. Goode, Jr., MAI, of Santa Ana, and will lead the valuation experts for the year 1965.

Albert L. Johnson, MAI, of San Bernardino, was elected vice president, moving up from secretary-treasurer to the post held during the 1964 term by Whittlesey.

Donald A. Pehrson, MAI, of El Segundo, was named the chapter's new secretary-treasurer, and Robert E. Alleman, MAI, of Los Angeles, will serve as assistant secretary. Vacancies on the board of directors will be filled by David S. Mason, MAI, of Glendale, and James G. Thomas, MAI, of Los Angeles.

The Southern California Chapter, AIREA, represents 149 of the area's top valuation experts who have qualified for their MAI designations after intensive oral and written examinations and background experience in the appraising field.

Installation of the new chapter officers will take place at the annual membership banquet early in 1965.

SIRIS OPENS SECOND STORE ON LONG BEACH BLVD.

New 'Century Shops' Store Opened by Siris

Richard Siris, president of Siris Furniture Co., located at 1235 Long Beach Blvd., has announced the opening of a second store, directly across the street from the main store at 1252 Long Beach Blvd.

R. SHAPIRO

This new addition to the Siris Furniture business will be known as "The Century Shop" and will feature 18th century and Early American as well as Victorian style furniture.

To assure Long Beach buyers of Early American and Period furniture, the finest selection and a complete knowledge of the business, Richard Siris has appointed Richard Shapiro as manager of "The Century Shop."

He is reputed to be one of the ablest and best experienced man in this field in Southern California.

Another feature of "The Century Shop" will be the second floor, which will be devoted entirely to "Trade-In" furniture.

This is furniture that has been traded in on newer and different styled furniture and is much too good to be thrown away but can be purchased for just a fraction of its original cost.

New Office Building Begun in Wilmington

Construction of a new professional building is under way in Wilmington at 927-929 Avalon Blvd. to house the law firm of Charles W. Gorman and Richard M. Wonder and the local office of Southern Counties Gas Co.

The 3,800-square-foot, one-story building is scheduled for completion in December.

The gas company will occupy 1,000 square feet of the structure, while the remainder will house the attorneys and their staff.

• • • •

ARCHITECT Dell M. Williams, partner in the Corona del Mar firm of Murton H. Willson & Associates, AIA, who designed the building, states that privacy, comfort, and efficiency were prime requisites of the owners.

Gas year-round air conditioning will add to the built-in "comfort factors" of the new building, Williams added. The gas company offices will include space for display of the latest in appliances, as well as complete facilities for bill payment and customer orders. The present office complement, under Mrs. Marian McGee, cashier in charge, will staff the new Southern Counties office.

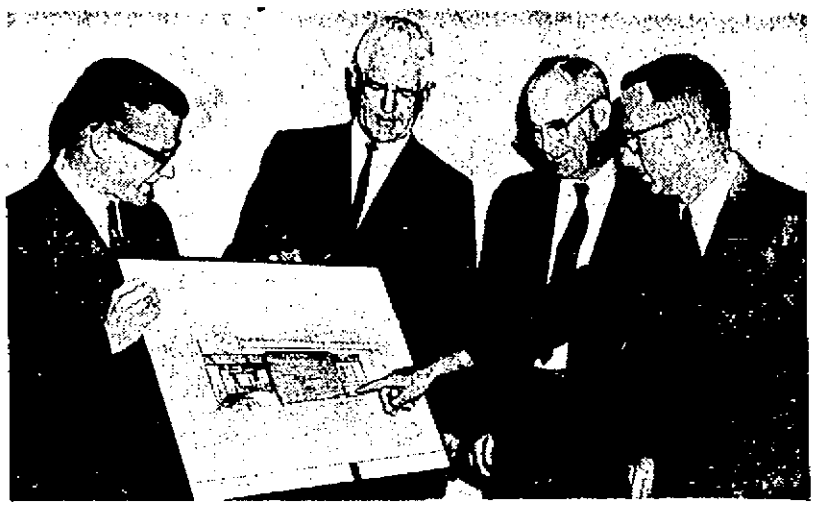

The building will feature a front wall of modular red brick, with glass entries, and will be topped by a fascia of pre-cast concrete. D. J. O'Conneles is general contractor.

Insurance Trust to Be Discussed

Marven E. Howard, CLU, advanced underwriting consultant for Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. in Los Angeles, will be featured speaker at the Estate Planning and Trust Council meeting Thursday noon at the Petroleum Club.

Howard will present a talk entitled "The Life and Times of a Life Insurance Trust."

Members of the Trust Council include life underwriters, C.P.A.s, bank trust officers and attorneys from the Long Beach and Los Angeles areas.

DESIGN MEETS WITH THEIR APPROVAL

Plans for new downtown office building in Wilmington, to house offices of the law firm of Charles W. Gorham and Richard M. Wonder and the Wilmington customer office of Southern Counties Gas Co., are approved by (left to right) Richard M. Wonder, gas company Harbor Division manager; E. B. Patterson, gas company customers department manager; T. R. Turner, and architect Dell M. Williams, of the firm of Murton H. Willson & Associates, AIA, who designed the structure.

3 Knotty Issues Cited by Goodrich Economist

Although the business outlook is good for 1965, the nation will have to face up to three major unsolved economic problems next year, a leading business economist declared at a recent meeting in Washington.

Dr. A. J. Ashe, associate director of corporate planning of the B. F. Goodrich Co., told a meeting of the Washington Rubber Group of the American Chemical Society that "the dark hour is drawing nearer" in the United States' balance of payments situation.

• • • •

HE SAID unemployment and inflation are also in the forefront of the nation's economic problems.

"The deficit in our international transactions showed improvement during the latter part of 1963 and early this year, but has deteriorated substantially in recent months," Dr. Ashe said. "Unfortunately, there is little, if any, evidence that corrective measures taken to date are of any significant and permanent value."

The economist said unemployment, especially among young people, continues "abnormally high and may worsen during 1965."

Next year about 3.7 million persons will become 18 years old, about 1 million more than in 1964, he reported.

• • • •

"IT APPEARS doubtful that our economy will expand sufficiently during the next 12 months to provide productive employment for the large increase in teenagers who will be seeking jobs," he said.

The rubber industry outlook for 1965 he termed bright. Tire shipments (including passenger, truck-bus, farm, industrial and airplane) are expected to total nearly 160 million units, up slightly from the high being established this year.

Fullerton Due to Get New Bank

FULLERTON — The state comptroller of the currency has approved application of the University National Bank, Fullerton, which will be located at 2565 E. Chapman Ave., in the vicinity of the California State College at Fullerton.

The directors of the bank are: Dean O. Bowman, William G. Fort, William J. Haney, William M. Harrison, William B. Langsdorf, Lester Lev, Henry E. North, Stanley E. Roberts and Philip S. Twombley.

Other principals are: Walter Beeson, Casper Breuer, Bee Campbell, Lloyd Carnahan, Dorman Commons, Ralph Diedrich, Edward Erickson, John Hagn, Charles Kohlenberger, Cleve Leonard, William McGarvey, Harold Miller, Elaine Mittleman, Harold Muckenthaler, Earl G. Parsons, [illegible] C. Schmidt, Jack Stea[illegible], Harold Williams, Glenn Walters and Duane Winters.

The bank is tentatively scheduled to open early next year. A chief executive officer has not as yet been named.

'Solid' 1965 Slated for Construction

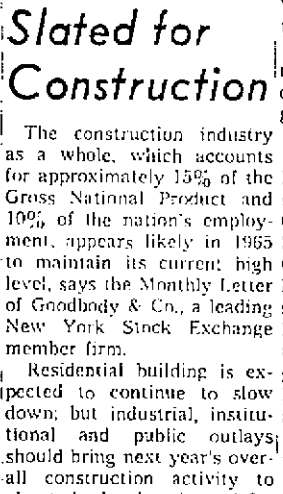

The construction industry as a whole, which accounts for approximately 15% of the Gross National Product and 10% of the nation's employment, appears likely in 1965 to maintain its current high level, says the Monthly Letter of Goodbody & Co., a leading New York Stock Exchange member firm.

Residential building is expected to continue to slow down; but industrial, insitutional and public outlays should bring next year's overall construction activity to about the level estimated for 1964, the research indicates.

• • • •

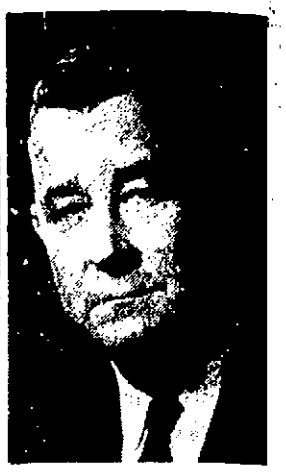

WHILE OVER-ALL industry profits next year may only equal or, at least, slightly exceed those of 1964, the industry is in a much stronger position to avoid a sharp decline in earnings than it was during 1960 business readjustment, it was said.

Over the long term, demand for more and better housing should expand significantly, in view of rising incomes, a higher rate of family formations in the second half of the 1960s, the growing number of vacation homes, and the rising trend toward establishment of separate households by individuals and by couples who previously doubled up.

Employment Agencies Unit Installs Officers

New officers for the South Coast Chapter of California Employment Agencies Association were installed last week at a dinner meeting in the Hawaiian restaurant in Long Beach.

Installed by Margot Young of Studio City, director of the state association, were:

President, George Amey of the George Amey Agency, Hawthorne, for another term; vice president, James Hackfield of Lawndale Employment Agency in Lawndale, succeeding Joseph Filing, J & M Agency, Long Beach; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Gaylord, of the Gaylord Employment and Nurses Registry, Long Beach, succeeding herself; and secretary, Lyndon McClennon of Bellflower, succeeding Laura Glascock of Always Employment Agency, Long Beach.

On the new board of directors are Flo Bailey, Laura Glascock, Ray Cohn and Claire Carmudy.

Amey said his plans for the new year included efforts to improve standards of the private employment agencies.

New 3-Dimension Screen Patented

A revolutionary projection screen that creates three-dimensional effects without viewing aids or special production equipment has been patented by an industrial film producer at Schenectady, N.Y.

The screen is made up of multiple layers of non-textured translucent sheets of cellulose acetate all of which reflect the projected image simultaneously. This, combined with the fact that the screen material is invisible when an image is projected onto it, is what is said to give the 3-D effect.

The inventor is Dale E. Wretlind, who has written, directed, and produced some 65 motion pictures for General Electric's advertising and sales promotion department.

New Suburbia Townhouses Alter Huntington Beach Scene

Townhouse living comes to Huntington Beach! Suburbia Townhouses, elegant two and three bedroom development, is holding its grand opening this weekend.

The exclusive 36-unit development was designed by Dorius & Ball of Corona Del Mar and built by Hercules Construction Co.

Offering the advantage of home ownership without the burden of exterior maintenance and upkeep, the two-story units are priced from $15,950 to $16,950. Excellent terms are available with as little as 10% down and 28 year financing.

* * * *

THE TOWNHOUSES feature 12 handsome exteriors and four exciting activity-zoned floor plans.

Norm Williams, Hercules vice president, said Suburbia Townhouses is the smallest development ever built by the firm. "We did it," he said, "to achieve the proper air of exclusiveness necessary in this resort setting."

The Gold Medallion homes feature built-in Hotpoint electric ovens, range with hooded exhaust fan, built-in dishwasher and disposal, luxurious carpeting and private, enclosed courtyard.

Also, marble-topped pullmans in each bath, exquisite lighting fixtures, laundry areas, full-size enclosed garages and Gold Medallion electric heating. Two of the plans include fireplaces.

* * * *

FOR LEISURE living, Suburbia Townhouses provide a sky-blue heated pool and cabanas. All utilities are underground, which adds to the general refinement.

Smartly decorated models are open daily from 10 a. m. to dusk. Suburbia Townhouses sales agent is Edith Jensen. From downtown Huntington Beach, drive north on Main Street to Clay Avenue. Turn right on Clay and proceed to Delaware Street. Models are located at Delaware and 17th streets.

Gordon Takes Fullerton Post

Appointment of Walter E. Gordon as controller for the Heliport and Special Projects divisions of Beckman Instruments, Inc., was announced last week by Robert A. Lineberger, corporate controller for the Fullerton firm.

Gordon will direct financial planning and control programs for the two Beckman divisions located at the company's Fullerton headquarters site. He succeeds James E. Shelton Jr., formerly of Fullerton, who was named to Gordon's prior position as controller for Beckman's Spinco Division of Palo Alto.

Rural Homes Aided

Low-income rural families used $132,537,000 in loans from the Farmers Home Administration during fiscal 1964 for improved housing facilities, reports Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

L.B. Man Gets Realty Title

Milt Miller as awarded the degree of "Certified Member Broker" at the recent meeting of the board of directors of the California Real Estate Association in San Francisco.

He reportedly is the first member of the Long Beach Board of Realtors and the Compton-Lynwood Board of Realtors to receive this designation.

At the present time only 41 brokers in California have become eligible by completion of required courses of study plus experience.

Miller's wife Shirley, also a Realtor, was present when the award was given. They recently moved from North Long Beach to Westminster.

West Gets East L.B. Phone Post

Rollo D. West, southern area commercial administrator for General Telephone Co., has become East Long Beach division manager, according to an announcement by Herbert W. Frahm, southern area general manager.

West succeeds Marvin L. Myrick, recently promoted to the position of assistant to W. Roy Jarmon, vice president - revenue requirements for GT&E Service Corp., with offices in New York City, Frahm said.

ROLLO D. WEST
Division Manager

MARVIN MYRICK
To New York City

• • • •

A NATIVE of Holton, Kan., West came to California with his parents in 1936. He attended Anaheim high school and Fullerton Junior College, where he received an associate of arts degree in engineering. West then continued his education at UCLA.

West joined General Telephone as a draftsman. He rapidly advanced to Southern Area staff administrator in Long Beach. He subsequently held positions as data operations manager in Santa Monica, Orange Division manager in Huntington Beach, southern area commercial administrator in Long Beach and now East Long Beach division manager.

• • • •

MYRICK, a business administration graduate of Montana State University in 1943, also holds a master's degree in business administration for the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He joined General Telephone Co. of the Northwest in Spokane, Wash., in 1948.

He transferred to General Telephone Co. of California in 1960 and held such positions as division manager in Long Beach, Downey and East Long Beach, until his present appointment to GT&E Service Corp.

1,100 Oil Wells Inside City Limits

KILGORE, Tex. (UPI)—The East Texas town of Kilgore has approximately 1,100 oil wells within its limits.

The chamber of commerce says the forest of derricks in the downtown section and other areas of the town rises over the world's greatest concentration of oil wells.

Sales Show 15% Gain

J. C. Penney Co. has reported that September sales rose 15.2% over the same month in 1963 as strong back-to-school business proved to be the major factor for the second straight month.

September volume amounted to an all-time high of $169,096,981 against $146,850,262 a year ago, an increase of $22,246,719 in the 18th straight month of record sales.

President William M. Batten noted in New York City that both the Company's store and catalog operations performed strongly during a month with a late Labor Day which pushed much of the back-to-school buying into September.

• • • •

MOST OF THIS BUYING took place in August last year, when Labor Day fell on Sept. 2 as opposed to this year's Sept. 7.

Another factor in the September performance, Batten said, was a strong promotional program featuring home furnishings and the department store chain's new hard lines.

Space Expert, 'Dear Abby' Among Variety of NAREB Session Speakers

President John T. Webster of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors has announced that speakers at the 57th annual National Association of Real Estate Boards convention Nov. 8-12 in Los Angeles will be as varied as the subjects, which run the gamut from "Management of Small Properties" to "Opportunities for International Investment."

Speakers will range from Dr. George E. Mueller, head of the manned space flight program for the National Aeronautics and Space Adminitsration, to Abigail Van Buren, author of the nationally syndicated "Dear Abby" column.

Starting things off Nov. 8 will be NAREB's open session on license laws featuring the latest ideas on subjects as diverse as Colorado's solution to subdivision abuses and legislative innovations.

• • • •

SPEAKERS for the session include Dr. David T. Rowlands, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania, and Benjamin T. Shuman, general counsel for the Florida Real Estate Commission.

The Board Presidents' and Executives' Conference, with NAREB President Ed Mendenhall and Executive Vice-President Eugene P. Conser as speakers, will be held on the same day.

The schedule for Monday, Nov. 9, contains over 10 separate educational sessions, including the Executive Officers Council program on multiple listing and the NAREB Build America Better Committee meeting on the subject "What Is Happening to the Housing Inventory of America."

The NAREB Committee on Real Estate Economics and Research panel, also set for Monday, will discuss the "Real Estate Market Outlook." In addition, the Institute of Real Estate Management will sponsor morning and afternoon educational programs on "Management of Small Properties" and Development Around Airports."

• • • •

THE WOMEN'S Council educational program on Monday is an all-day session marking the 25th anniversary of the Council, which met for the first time at the 1939 NAREB convention. The American Chapter, International Real Estate Federation, will hold an open session Monday morning on "Opportunities for International Investment."

The National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers also will have a morning and afternoon general session. Featured speaker for the afternoon session will be Charles Thomas, president of the Irvine Company, Irvine, who will discuss land planning development.

• • • •

TO CONCLUDE the day, Lynn Townsend, president of Chrysler Corporation, will speak at the Society of Industrial Realtors annual Industrialist of the Year award dinner after receiving the bronze award trophy.

The Rev. Tom Haggai, well-known radio commentator who has declared that "no nation is ever murdered; a nation that falls commits suicide," will ask "Will America Be Spared?" in his major address at the first NAREB general session Nov. 10.

Other open sessions on Tuesday will be sponsored by the Brokers Institute and the Executive Officers Council. The American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers and the Managers will hold open educational sessions, and the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will have early morning round tables.

• • • •

HOWARD BERTSCH, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, will be the speaker for the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers general session, Nov. 11, and NAREB will conduct another general session which will explore such timely subjects as re-housing the elderly, nursing home opportunities, and low-income conversions.

Guest speaker for the Women's Council luncheon on Wednesday will be Mrs. Van Buren. Also scheduled for Wednesday are an Appraisers open education session, a Brokers round table, and a Brokers' Traders Club round table.

On Nov. 12, the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will hold final round tables.

NAREB general sessions in the morning and afternoon emphasize important business matters, including the election of new officers and the presentation of awards for advance registration.

• • • •

THE CLOSING address will be given by Dr. George E. Mueller, who will tell of "Our Preparation for the Space Age."

It won't all be work. Special events have been planned for all Realtors to get together for entertainment. First, on Sunday, Nov. 8, is the Omega Tau Rho party at the Hollywood Palladium with music by Lawrence Welk.

On Tuesday night a special trip for Realtors only has been arranged to Disneyland. There's the appraisers' annual banquet, open to all delegates, at the Cocoanut Grove, and the brokers' dinner dance at the Biltmore Bowl on Wednesday night. On Thursday, immediately after the final general session, is the NAREB president's reception.

LAW IN THE NEWS

Bar Offers Financial and Legal Checklist

Is your family protection really what you think it is? Or have you missed something?

Has anything happened recently to threaten its security? Have you updated your will? Are there any gaps in your legal affairs?

Maybe it's time you had a financial and a legal checkup, says the State Bar of California. Much can happen in a year. For example:

Has your income changed much? Have you a new job? Have you married? Taken on any new financial burdens?

Has there been a marriage, birth, death, or separation in your family which could affect your family's welfare?

• • • •

TO FIND HOW much you are worth, add up your social security, life insurance, pension plans, savings, your home and other assets. Subtract your debts and the like. Then figure out how much your family can live on without you. Food, clothing, mortgage or rent payments, costs of educating children, what income your wife should have and the protection your family needs against sickness.

As a result of your checkup you should know your strength and weakness. You can then answer: Will your program do what you want it to? Your lawyer can help you here.

Do you have a will? If not, do you know how the state would split up your estate among your wife and children? Is this the way you'd want it?

Have you had a child since you drafted your will? Have you moved to another state?

Do you have a little business on the side? Would it be hurt if you are not around to run it?

• • • •

YOUR LAWYER will want to know where you keep your important papers — deeds, mortgages, insurance papers. If you inform him well, says the bar, he'll do what's needed to make easy the legal transferring to your family the security you've put aside for them.

Here are a few things about your will:

Don't write it yourself. Get a lawyer.

Don't scratch out, write over, or add to your will. Ask your lawyer to change it if that's what you want.

Sign one copy only.

For the most part use percentages, and don't mention specific sums in your will. Your fortunes may change.

Choose an executor of good sense and integrity.

Your fortunes may change; and so review your will now and then to see that it expresses your wishes.

Check your will when you go to another state. Laws vary.

Don't put off writing your will.

New Space Job for Victor White

Victor White of Palos Verdes Estates has been appointed assistant director for digital systems in the satellite control office of Aerospace Corp.'s El Segundo Technical Operations. This office is responsible for the general systems engineering and technical direction of the Air Force's worldwide satellite command and control network.

White will have responsibility for the digital systems engineering for the Satellite Control Facility including development of computer programs and digital equipment as well as the tracking data reduction system.

Before joining Aerospace in 1962, White was general manager of Logican, Inc., of Redondo Beach.

1964 Merger Trend to Unrelated Lines

The merger pattern in 1964 differs from earlier corporate "marriages," in that the merged firms are unrelated and noncompetitive.

Dolly Madison, purchaser of Huntingburg, is an ice cream manufacturer. Magnavox, which bought Kent-Coffey, makes television sets and radios. Futorian went in with Mohasco, floor covering giant.

But the Kroehler take-over of Murphy-Miller represented the joining together of two firms with common interests.

Stop Wall Marks

To avoid unsightly marks on wallpaper or walls caused by chairs and toys rubbing against them, paste a piece of felt on the backs of chairs, and along the sides of wagons and baby buggies, advises the United Wallpaper Co.

What Happened to 'Extra' Money From Tax Cut?

Ever since Congress voted to cut income taxes in 1964 economists and businessmen have been debating about what happened to the extra money on the paycheck. But nothing ever has been decided.

Most people, the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center reports, just didn't feel they had enough extra money resulting from the tax cut to do any real buying. Some other evidence seemed to indicate that taxpayers were using the extra cash to pay for things they had bought before the tax cut. In other words, to cut down their debts.

But, whatever the taxpayer has been doing with the extra money, the Internal Revenue Service has issued a word of warning. The present withholding rates are too low and in April, 1965, most Americans are going to need money to pay what they owe above their withheld taxes, the Service says.

SPEAKER

William H. McKay, Los Angeles Realtor, will be guest speaker at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors Thursday at Cerritos College, 7:30 a. m., according to F. W. Humphries, program chairman. His topic will be, "What Is Wrong With Your Sales Approach?"

L.B.'s El Dorado Park Estates Has 3, 4, 5 Bedroom Homes

Elegance is something the average person strives for, particularly in a home environment.

"It is a fundamental human drive to aim for the best," say officials of El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach. "We feel with the abundance of luxurious appointments, homes here offer that desirable commodity and with our moderate prices, it is within reach of a greater number of Southland families."

* * * *

THE TRUE ESSENCE of elegance has been captured in the one-story, two-story, split-level and tri-level homes, the spokesman cited.

Three, four and five spacious bedroom homes are included in the diversified selection. The master bedroom in some plans features a second natural wood-burning fireplace and private bath.

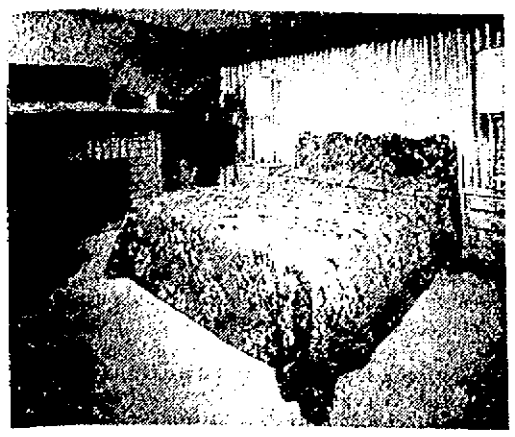

Luxurious interior appointments include genuine marble topped pullman lavatories, Hermosa tile in showers and to five feet over tubs, exotic planters and exterior ornamentation of stone, brick or wood, lavish use of natural ash in cabinetry and wall paneling. Medallion kitchens with built-in range, double oven and automatic dishwasher.

* * * *

THE COMMUNITY is adjacent to El Dorado City Park and Golf Course and convenient to many other fine recreational facilities.

A furnished model display of eight homes is open daily for public inspection until dark.

From Long Beach, drive east on Spring Street across the San Gabriel River to El Dorado Park Estates at Claremont, east of the park.

MASTER BEDROOM
Tastefully furnished master bedroom in model home at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach. Distinctive natural wood-burning fireplace adds to luxury theme.

LOCATED IN CYPRESS
Stone fireplaces, wide walls of glass, and luxurious carpets are features of new Somerset Homes in Cypress, only a short ride from downtown Long Beach. The three-bedroom homes are priced from $27,500.

'Know-How' Applied in Somerset Homes

From hotels and aerospace plants to construction of private homes is step that most major construction firms rarely take.

The step has been taken by Twaits - Wittenberg, veteran builder of such structures as Los Angeles' Biltmore Hotel and componants of Space-Technology Laboratories.

Somerset Homes in Cypress, Western Orange County, is an example of their major construction know-how applied to homes priced from $27,500 for up to 1,652 square feet of living area.

* * * *

THE NEW HOMES feature such items as huge stone fireplaces, built-in fire safety systems and remarkable attention to building detail. Spaciousness is a rule in every Somerset home.

Twaits - Wittenberg have situated the new homes in the last "island of rural charm" in the metropolitan Long Beach-Los Angeles area.

Circled by a skyline of buildings, the peaceful community of Cypress still has large areas of green and a dressing of graceful trees. A golf course and a famed horse racing track add to open countryside.

* * * *

A FAVORITE of visitors is the Somerset "Chestnut" model with three bedrooms, 2½ baths, a spacious laundry room and attached two-car garage. There is a den and family room.

Somerset home kitchens feature built-ins located so that housewives need take only minimum steps to cook a full-course meal. There is a built-in gas range, oven and automatic dishwasher.

Each home has luxurious wall-to-wall carpeting.

From Long Beach, the easiest route to Somerset is via Lakewood Boulevard to Carson. Turn right to Moody and right again to the models.

Durable Paint Jobs

Aluminum siding manufacturers today guarantee the paint on their product won't peel, crack, check or blister for as long as 20 years.

Buyers Guide to Medallion Homes

MEDALLION HOME — LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

The only electrically modern homes... in every price range

The Medallion Home Award is a cornerstone for modern living—a solid basis for a home's lasting value, today and in the future. Compare the detailed electrical construction requirements for the Medallion Home Award with those for any other type of new home symbol.

You'll discover the Medallion Home Award is the one award that requires a new home to conform to specific and rigid standards, giving important value to the buyer. Here are just some of the qualifications:

1. A flameless electric kitchen equipped with major appliances, including range and oven.
2. Full "Housepower" Wiring provides capacity for at least twenty circuits, considered a minimum for modern living; large enough wires; 240-volt service for the electrical capacity every home needs.
3. Abundant lighting planned for comfort, convenience and beauty.

A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:

4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

Forum Designed to Aid Salesmen

The Thursday breakfast meeting of the North Long Beach Realty Club will highlight an open forum led by Hursell "Red" Johnson of Johnson Realty.

This type of program, which has proved popular at the club, is designed especially this time to help salesmen, who are urged to submit questions and problems.

Newly installed President Ginnie Bemis of Bemis Realty will introduce the speaker. The club meets at 8 a.m. in the Crown Bowl, 1301 Artesia Blvd.

Garden Park Estates Notable in Concept

A home today must provide more than just shelter. It should fulfill the aesthetic needs of man, which includes an attractive floor plan, and easy - to - live - with color scheme.

Garden Park Estates in Garden Grove were designed by top Southern California architects, David Freedman and William A. Bray. They created dwellings that combine beauty with functionality. All interiors were professionally color coordinated.

STUNNING DESIGNS are available in one and two stories with three, four and five bedrooms and two baths. Interior space provides "entertaining" space, plus areas for families to find necessary privacy and quiet.

Garden Park Estates is one of the most successful residential communities in the Southland and the officials credit this to well conceived floor plans and convenient location. Included in the choice are eight basic designs.

All necessary community services are within easy reach, including good schools, shopping, churches, fine restaurants and transportation.

INTERIORS have genuine lath and plaster walls, gas forced air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch, built-in gas range and oven, pullman lavatory cabinets with "marble like" top and splash and "Mr. and Mrs." medicine cabinets.

Priced from $20,950 to $27,900 full price, veterans can purchase a Garden Park Estates' home with nothing down, except costs and impounds. Monthly payments start from $115.73, including principal and interest.

The homes are located at the corner of Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway in Garden Grove.

Rossmoor Townhouses Find Favor With Luxury-Minded

FOUNTAINS PLAY AT ENTRANCE
Looking through fountain entrance, group of Rossmoor Townhouses is seen with recreation area in background. A 40% sell-out has been reported.

Within three weeks following the preview showing and grand opening announcements, success of Rossmoor Townhouses is evident. 40% of the homes now sold. The sales pace continues to be brisk at the $4 million luxury development within the walled community of the original Rossmoor.

Rossmoor Townhouses, conceived and created as an outstanding sub-community of in-town residences, was designed for carefree, Southern California living by the entire family. The development offers model displays of expertly designed townhouse homes amidst the splendor of a country club setting.

PRICED from $19,500, these two, three and four-bedroom units provide a grant deed and full home-ownership tax advantages. Luxury touches to enhance any home include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting; an all-electric Medalion kitchen with built-in oven and range, dishwasher, disposal and washer-dryer combination; private concrete patio; two car garage; and absolute privacy (no common walls.)

The project is located within the Rossmoor business center and is within walking distance of banks, shops, library, theatre and department stores, according to Bill Ballon and Bernie Solomon, developers.

A FORMAL FOUNTAIN entrance keynotes the elegant setting, with ample guest parking provided.

Each Rossmoor homeowner will have virtually at his door step recreational facilities geared to every member of the family, including a huge swimming pool, a jacuzzi whirl-pool, a children's wading pool, a private clubhouse, putting greens, and shuffleboard courts.

In keeping with the planned community of Rossmoor, a single-residence appearance is achieved through the unique design of the structures, each contain four separate homes. The two-story townhouses are individually secluded, with double walls, fortified with rockwool and acoustical sound proofing for complete noise cut-off.

UTILITIES are underground, with hidden roof TV antennas. The 15-acre development is lushly landscaped with unusual split-level terrain treatment.

Rossmoor Townhouses may be reached from Los Angeles via the Long Beach Harbor freeways to the San Diego Freeway; south to Los Alamitos north exit; turn left five blocks on Los Alamitos Boulevard to Rossmoor Center. From Long Beach, 7th Street to Los Alamitos Boulevard is recommended. The sales office is open from 10 a.m. till 8 p.m.

Winners to Be Named in Architectural Contest

Mt. Olympus, a $110 million mountain-top development of custom home sites in Hollywood, will receive world wide attention Monday when winners of a $50,000 international architectural contest are announced at a reception to be held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Russ Vincent, developer of the Mt. Olympus project, says the competition, sponsored by the Mt. Olympus Division of the Russ Vincent Realty Co., in Hollywood, has drawn more than 22,000 inquiries from 75 countries.

"THE ENTRIES represent about $55 million in architectural man hours alone", said Vincent, who conceived the competition as a means of producing home designs for the sites on the mountain, contoured by bulldozers and earthmovers now for two years.

When this project is complete, says Vincent, he will have sites for 700 custom homes, costing up to $500,000 in an area other builders classified as "goat land" and impossible to develop.

Vincent's project has brought architectural entries from Iron Curtain countries, Europe, Africa, Asia, South America, Australia and the United States.

THE AWARD MONEY will be divided as follows: first prize, three design categories, $10,000 each, with an additional $5,000 Grand Prize for the best of three; second prize, three design categories; $2,500 each; third prize, three design categories, $1000 each; fourth prize, two winners in each design category, $500 each, and 5th prize, 5 winners in each design category, $100 each.

EVENT FOR NOVEMBER

Death Valley Sets 15th Encampment

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

One of the best known and perhaps the most colorful of all annual events held in the Southwest desert is the Death Valley Encampment in Death Valley National Monument—a trackless wasteland of sand and death-dealing sun that spelled disaster for many immigrants plodding their way toward the Pacific to open the West.

Death Valley '49ers, Inc., a group formed in 1949 at the centennial commemoration marking the successful exodus of the Jayhawker Manly Party from the Valley after being separated from the wagon train, plans a program that should attract hundreds of visitors from all over the Southwest for the 15th annual encampment Nov. 5-8 in Death Valley.

Exhibits, special breakfasts, evening camp fires, guided tours, daily events and programs, and the opening of the ghost town of Ballarat in Panamint Valley will feature this year's crowded program dedicated to the memory of Ralph P. Merritt, past president of the '49ers who died last year.

* * * *

THE ENCAMPMENT'S opening day program begins at 7:30 p.m. with a camp fire and community sing at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel, dancing at the hotel and a naturalist talk at the Death Valley Museum and Visitor's Center Auditorium.

The second day begins with an 8 a.m. annual author's breakfast ($1.75) at the Furnace Creek Golf Course. At 2:30 a dedication of the 1964 Encampment in honor of Merritt will be held in the museum. Meanwhile, riders of the third annual Death Valley Trail Ride are scheduled to arrive after a 6-day, 150-mile ride from Boron—the route followed by the famed 20 Mule Team Borax Wagons.

Another feature of the morning program will be a conducted tour (in your car) of Ubehebe Crater, Death Valley, Scotty's Castle and other points, starting from the museum. Evening programs will include a naturalist talk, a camp fire and dance.

* * * *

A CHUCKWAGON lunch and Burro Flapjack Sweepstakes at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel will highlight Saturday's (Nov. 7) program. Two outstanding photography programs are also scheduled, the first at 8 a.m. with a breakfast on Furnace Creek Golf Course, the other at 7:30 p.m. with a photographic show in color near Furnace Creek Ranch.

Another feature of the busy Saturday calendar will be the first annual Old Fashioned Fiddlers' Contest, to be held following the photographic show. Outstanding fiddlers from throughout the West will participate. The day's festivities close with a dance at 9:30 at Furnace Creek Ranch.

Protestant church services will be held at 7 a.m. Sunday in Desolation Canyon. Catholic Mass will be said in the museum at 7:30 a.m.

* * * *

TECHNIQUES of desert painting will be discussed by outstanding Western artists at the annual Artists' Breakfast ($1.75) at 8:30 a.m. at Furnace Creek Golf Course. There will be conducted tours during the day and the Encampment will close with a 7:30 p.m. talk by Park Naturalist Dwight Warren in the museum.

Special exhibits all four days at Furnace Creek Ranch will include, in addition to art, Indian artifacts, weapons of the '49ers—pistols, rifles, Bowie knives, relics of Wells Fargo Stagecoach days—gold, gems and minerals.

Those who plan to attend the Encampment should come prepared for fun, but also against their own discomfort. The nights probably will be chilly. If you have a trailer, camp with the trailer crowd. Bring your own duffle, and a wood supply if you camp out. Ample bedding is a must. Bring stools for the various evening activities.

* * * *

MEALS ARE available at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel, Furnace Creek Ranch and Inn, Scotty's Castle, Wild Rose Station, Panamint Springs, Death Valley Junction and Beatty. If you hope to get a room during the event, reservations should be sought at once at Furnace Creek Ranch and Inn (Fred Harvey Co., 530 W. 6th St., Los Angeles 14); Stove Pipe Wells Hotel (412 W. 6th St., Los Angeles), or Scotty's Castle (1462 N. Stanley Ave., Hollywood 46).

Magnificent Mermaid

MORE than the usual number of travelers are returning home with snapshots of Copenhagen's Little Mermaid, the famous bronze statue inspired by the fairytales of Hans Christian Anderson. Long a celebrity, she received an added, and mournful, renown last winter when her head was lost to a vandal's hacksaw. The act brought forth indignant comment from all over the world, and later, universal expressions of relief when the Danes were able to recast the head from the original mold and faithfully restore their little lady.

The mermaid is a prime example of what has been called symbolic statuary—a sculptured work that captures and comes to represent the spirit of an entire city or nation. She illustrates the affection, even reverence, that this kind of art often commands.

OTHER notable examples of statuary that have taken on this symbolic character, the power to stand as a kind of sentimental trademark, are the Statue of Liberty, the heroic David of Florence, the Sphinx in the Nile Valley, the mischievous Mannekin Pis in Brussels, and—newest on the list—Puerto Rico's El Pescador.

A note on El Pescador is timely, since hundreds of thousands of Americans from the mainland will be getting their first view of this dramatic work of art during the coming winter tourist season to Puerto Rico. Striding across a terrace overlooking a beach in San Juan, the gaunt bronze El Pescador, sculpture of an attenuated fisherman, seems to capture perfectly the strength of a people who have won world fame for their recovery program called Operation Bootstrap.

Miss Liberty, probaby the most famous statue in North America, was a gift from France to the people of the United States more than 75 years ago. The statue weighs 220 tons and stands 151 feet tall on a pedestal base of another 89 feet.

DENMARK'S Little Mermaid, just larger than life-size and a miniature compared to Miss Liberty, is loved by the citizens of Copenhagen almost as if she were human. In the cold winter of 1962 someone covered her icy shoulders with a fur coat. College students fill her lap with bouquets in the spring, and sailors salute her for good luck. She has perched atop her rock in Copenhagen's harbor since 1913.

The small bronze statue caled Mannekin Pis is known to all Belgium's population as the "oldest citizen of Brussels." The impudent little fountain decoration has existed for centuries, but careful research has not uncovered its origin.

Michelangelo's beautiful David, symbol of the Italian Renaissance city of Florence, is said to have been conceived as a marble eulogy to Lorenzo de Medici and the city he dreamed Florence would become. Today the statue bears eloquent testimony to the magnificence of that era.

RIO DE JANEIRO'S famed figure of Christ the Redeemer, which stretches its arms high above the harbor from Corcovado Peak, is one of the world's largest statues. Built of reinforced concrete with funds collected over 10 years from the people of Brazil, the statue stands 125 feet high and weighs 1,145 tons, including the pedestal.

An immense bronze buddha, the Daibutsu (Great Buddha) at Kamakura is Japan's best known statuary. Called "one of the most beautiful images in existence," it represents the Amida Buddha, or Lord of Boundless Light. Seated on lotus petals in a temple plaza, with palms upward and eyes half closed, the Daibutsu expresses the ideal repose and calm sought by the Buddhist religion. It was created in 1252.

OLDEST and probably best known of the world's statuary monuments is the Great Sphinx of Giza, a lion's body with human head carved of limestone. Dating from the 26th Century, B. C., the Sphinx bears some of the features of King Khafre, the pharoah who built the second pyramid at Giza.

For the traveler, these unique statues—whether in Egypt, Puerto Rico or wherever—take on the quality of a trademark, symbolizing always the place or country where they were seen.

Plan a Trip Into Pacific?

A comprehensive 1965 Pacific Explorer's Kit, with advice on all subjects of travel in the Pacific, is ready for those planning a trip into the sunset during the coming year.

The kit contains a new color map of the Pacific, a "trip planner" map so that you can sketch your own route, and individual folders with details about the history, climate, sightseeing, folkways, hotel and travel accommodations and amusements of each of the 22 Pacific countries. A currency converter also is included.

To obtain an "Explorer's Kit," send $1 to Department PD, Pacific Area Travel Association, 442 Post St., San Francisco, Calif. 94102.

Hotels Thrive

The Berlin Tourist Office reports that hotel business in the city rose 31% during the first three months of 1964 as compared to last year. Some 400,000 overnights were booked; in addition, about 50,000 overnights were recorded in private homes.

Around the World With

DELAPLANE

"We will spend some time in Europe and would like advice on a place to spend the winter. . . ."

BETTER get as far south as you can. Europe has a cold that cuts right through you in the winter. And while many countries say everything is centrally heated, this just isn't so. The ski resorts and Scandinavian countries are equipped to heat their houses but not the others.

I've also found that heat (when you find it) is regulated to 60 degrees or even less. The only warm place I ever found in Europe is down on the southern coast of Spain. Say around Malaga. South of Portugal should be warm too. And there are new hotels there.

"How would you handle money on an extended stay? Traveler's checks?"

IN ENGLAND, I opened a pound account with a London Branch of Bank of America. When I was moving around, I bought dollar travelers checks from them.

"What would be the cheapest country to use as a base?"

Spain, Ireland or Austria. Spain is warmest. In Ireland you don't have a language problem. Austria has the best food of the three.

"Should we buy foreign currency in the U.S. before we go?"

NO POINT in it. Exchange is just as good there as here. Change at banks or money changers, though. Hotels take a slice. And over a long haul, this can be quite a bit.

"We are both healthy. Can we work in foreign countries?"

REQUIRES an awful lot of red tape and usually you can't. Most countries follow rule: the employer must prove you are so expert that he cannot find a local citizen to do the job. It's not impossible. But I wouldn't count on it.

"If we travel, what is the cheapest way?"

BUS IS cheapest. But if you are moving a lot, you might get the Eurailpass. You must buy it through a travel agent here. For a little over $100 you get on any train in Europe anywhere, anytime and have thousands of miles of transportation. More than you can use.

"What are the most expensive things we will have to buy and how can we avoid paying too much."

AMERICAN cigarettes will cost 50 cents in most countries (except Spain were they will be 35). Seventy cents in England, $1 in Greece. Go local or quit smoking. If you have your own car, gasoline will run 60 to 80 cents a gallon. But the little European cars do not use much. Tissues like Kleenex are high.

"I want to see all of Mexico... close-up ...and for less money

"That's why I'm taking a Greyhound Escorted Tour of MEXICO!"

Really see the beauty and charm of Mexico on a fun-packed Greyhound Escorted Tour. Ride through the heart of the country, within touching distance of the sights...within hearing distance of the sounds. See things you can't see from a railroad track or a high-flying plane. What's more, by Greyhound you ride in your own private air-conditioned luxury coach...a bilingual escort explains all points of interest... you stay at first-class hotels every night. And remember, Greyhound gives you more Mexico for your money than planes, trains or driving yourself.

SEE IT ALL: 15 different Mexican states...scores of towns and villages off the beaten track...places tourists seldom go! Plus Mexico City, Taxco, Chihuahua, Guadalajara, Mazatlan, and much more! All transportation included.

Rossmoor Leisure World Reports Luxury Manors Over Half Taken

More than 60% of the 502 luxury membership ownership manors have subscribed in the 15th and final unit nearing completion at Ross W. Cortese's pilot "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World, at Seal Beach.

C. Robert Moon, vice president of New Horizons, Inc., handling national sales for Leisure World communities, said: "Very soon the last available land at this popular community will be fully sold. Some have two-story manors, the first to be constructed there, in order to make full use of the land."

"The San Diego Freeway now serves the community to the site, making nearby Long Beach, Orange County towns and Los Angeles only minutes away."

* * * *

FIRST RESIDENTS of Unit 15 already have moved in their luxury manors which are larger in size than those in the completed portion of the bustling community of nearly 11,000.

Leisure World is located just the "right" distance from the ocean and the boating marinas and all recreational facilities are completed and in use. The community contains an excellent golf course, three luxury clubhouses, an amphitheater and a $710,000 medical center — all bubbling with activity from dawn to dusk.

One-bedroom manors are priced from $12,595 to $12,995. Two-bedroom Unit 15 manors run $14,395 to $16,495.

The average monthly payment is $145, subject to modification. All loans are insured FHA at 5¼% interest.

Monthly payments take care of principal, interest, taxes, insurance and many other things.

The three clubhouses contain private dining rooms for large family parties and potluck dinners. These are also card rooms, classrooms for adult education conducted by instructors from Orange Coast and Long Beach State Colleges, a lawn bowling green, shuffleboard and roque courts; cards and billiards rooms, large dancing areas; wood-porking, ceramic-making and lapidary shops, fully equipped sewing and art rooms and various other facilities to house the 81 clubs and social organizations thriving in the community.

* * * *

MONTHLY payment also includes use of the golf course, the heated swimming and therapeutic pools, the intracommunity transportation system to all areas, including the 12-acre shopping center; a 24-hour security guard; exterior maintenance for all manors, maintenance of streets, gardens and community buildings.

Also included in the payment is 80% of the retail value of medical costs, including in-home nurse calls, calls to the doctor's office at the community's Medical Center, complete diagnostic facilities, minor surgery at the Medical Center and services of all specialist, ambulance service and prescription drugs.

An all-electric kitchen composed of General Electric range, oven, refrigerator and garbage disposal, complete the domestic picture. Future replacements are made when necessary.

Down-payments for one-bedroom manors range from $1,059 to $1,085, and two-bedroom garden manors range from $1,175 to $1,309. A portion of the down-payment — $381 to $393 for one-bedroom units, and $435 to $498 for two bedroom units — is used in the purchase of a share of stock in a Seal Beach Mutual Corp., entitling the buyer to occupy the manor of his choice in purchase upon execution of an occupancy agreement.

No physical examination is required prior to purchase.

Leisure World's western boundary is the Long Beach city line at Los Alamitos Boulevard. Frequent service public transportation makes Los Angeles and surrounding towns immediately accessible.

STRIKE UP THE BAND!

All three clubhouses at Ross W. Cortese's pilot "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World at Seal Beach, usually are booming with dance music on Saturday nights. Dance classes also are popular during weekdays.

Premier Homes Opening Exhibition Continues This Week at Huntington

Premier Homes in Huntington Beach will continue its grand opening celebration through the coming week, according to Frank H. McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks, sales agents.

The realtor reports that last Sunday's initial showing of the new Premier Homes subdivision drew a large number of visitors from the Long Beach area and eastern Los Angeles County.

"There can be no doubt that the extension of the San Diego Freeway to Bolsa Chica Road in Huntington Beach is generating tremendous new interest in Huntington Beach as a residential area," McFarland said.

* * * *

PREMIER HOMES are offered on a "4 Ways Better" approach to design, construction and features. Most important of the "4 Ways" to visiting homemakers, McFarland reports, is the "Total Convenience" kitchen package. Kitchens are all-electric and are equipped with name brand built-ins. A double oven with independent controls, range, range hood and dishwasher are included.

A surface-mounted food preparation center, including a blender and mixer, is a standard item in every Premier kitchen. Counter tops are ceramic tile and furniture-finished cabinets are featured.

* * * *

THE HOMES offer custom extras such as an atrium-type tiled entry, roof guttering all around, and a fully finished Premium area, with plumbing roughed in for future bath as and when desired by the homeowner.

The homes are available in three and four-bedroom, two-bath models, all with a family room. Rear yards are completely fenced, with an access gate. Front yard landscaping is included.

Priced from $23,400, Premier Homes are offered on VA no down and FHA minimum down terms; 20 and 35-year loans are available, and there are no second trust deeds.

* * * *

"HOMEBUYERS who want to have their home purchase consolidated into one convenient monthly payment especially appreciate the Premier financing plans," McFarland said.

Visitors can reach the site via the San Diego Freeway, turning off on Bolsa Chica Road and driving south to Warner. Turn left on Warner to Premier Homes model showcase.

Visiters taking the Santa Ana Freeway turn off on Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) and drive south to Warner, turning right on Warner.

Lakewood's Sunshine Homes Selling 2 a Day

Families have been selecting homes at Sunshine Homes-Lakewood at the rate of two a day since the planned development opened, reports Wally Dalzell, community manager for S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, the builder-developer.

"Almost 60 of the 132 homes have gone," Dalzell said, "and when the two entrance bridges are completed, the remaining residences are expected to be reserved in a matter of weeks."

The one and two-story houses, available in five floor plans, are finished in 15 exterior stylings, and have three or four bedrooms with two baths, said Dalzell.

* * * *

FORMAL living rooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms, convertible dens, garden courts and oversize double garages are community features. In addition to front yard landscaping and rear yard fencing, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting and custom living room, traverse draperies are included in prices ranging from $22,995 to $26,195 with minimum down on conventional terms, Dalzell added.

Other extras include custom light fixtures, custom wallpapers, thermostatically-controlled forced air heating, full wall wardrobes, copper plumbing and double linen storage.

* * * *

WALK-THROUGH kitchens have a built-in double door gas oven, cooktop, range hood with light and fan, automatic dishwasher, disposer, double sinks and pantry, plus an outside entrance to service areas.

Situated on large level lots, each Sunshine Home carries a written one-year warranty on defects in materials or workmanship, provided by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, one of the largest residential builders in the United States and a wholly owned subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum Corp.

* * * *

LOCATED near Centralia Street and Pioneer Boulevard in the newly annexed portion of the City of Lakewood, Sunshine Homes-Lakewood are close to schools, churches and shopping centers.

Furnished models are open daily from 10 a. m. to dusk and may be reached via the Artesia Boulevard off ramp from Long Beach Freeway, east to Pioneer Boulevard, right to Centralia Road and right again to Gridley Road.

Beach Fans Drawn to Ballerina Homes

Several families who came to the beach area during the summer to rent beach cabins and apartments ended up making a permanent move to the beach area, it was reported by Jack Hanscom, general manager of Mesa Realty, sales agents for Ballerina Homes.

"After several summers of frantic shopping for weekly rentals, they decided it would be convenient to live near the beach all year," he indicated.

Ballerina Homes, built by Oka Brothers-Buchanan-Hudson Development Co., are satisfying the needs of families who want to be near the ocean, but at the same time within easy driving distance to work in Orange and Los Angeles counties, Hanscom said.

* * * *

THE HOMES are offered in three floor plans with 13 distinctive exteriors. The floor plans include planned traffic patterns, laundry-hobby rooms, pantries, central halls, and breakfast areas, as well as sun decks.

The spacious rooms are fully livable and designed with varying family taste and furniture placement in mind. Family-sized living rooms are high-lighted with handsome stone or brick fireplaces.

Bedrooms, too, are spacious, with huge wardrobe closets. Master bedrooms boast dressing rooms and private, double pullman baths.

In commenting on the unusual low starting price of $23,900, Ted Hudson, partner in the building firm, said, "People think moving to the beach area is expensive, especially when they get luxury features such as carpeting and fencing. Lots of our buyers have expressed their pleasure at being proved wrong."

Ballerina Homes are reached by driving south on Brookhurst Street and turning west, or down Beach Boulevard and taking a turn to the east.

Val Sage Back in Role He's Made His Own

By ELISE EMERY

When Val Sage goes on stage Thursday night at the Concert Hall, lavishly arrayed as the King of Siam, he will be playing the role in "The King and I" for the 121st time.

"I never tire of it," he said.

"'The King and I' has every element — a strong story, lovely score, great dance sequences and a ballet, gorgeous scenery and costumes.

"Most important, it's timely. It mirrors the basic clash of East and West and it teaches that each has something to give the other."

Long Beach playgoers obviously agree.

"We have had more requests to repeat this show than any we have ever done," reported Harvey Waggoner, general manager of Long Beach Civic Light Opera which will perform the Rodgers and Hammerstein hit Thursday through next Sunday and Oct. 21 through 25. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Matinees are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. next Sunday and Saturday, Oct. 24.

Sage first became King in Orange Coast College's production in August, 1960. Actor and singer with top bands and major night clubs, he had long been an admirer of "The King and I."

During a rehearsal break, wearing walking shorts, tennis shoes and white T-shirt, he talked about the role.

"My friends urged me to try out for the

If You Know Gamesmanship:

Football's a Real Kick

By MARY NETH

For the girl who likes to tackle new ideas—football can be a real kick, a ball.

Believe it or not, some girls really follow the games: know what's going on. But, for many a girl (most we think) the football season means huddling in dejection while the better half (or boy friend) gives the huddling teams (not her) his attention.

It's these girls who need to know that football CAN be a ball—that to make the best of the game they need only play a game—that a bit of pretense can turn them into armchair pros.

So what if you're one of the feminine many who profess to hate the scrambly sport: to detest weekends built around a blaring TV, to look upon trips to drafty stadiums with nothing but repugnance. All the better.

That's a sure sign you're ready to kick off with "the feminine football offensive"—and score a real goal.

THE LINE-UP for this top secret play consists of a dash of Steven Potter wit (he, as you might remember, is author of such invaluable books as "Gamesmanship" and "Lifemanship") combined with just a little knowledge—not a bit dangerous in this case.

It seems that football fan-atics are terribly easy to fool and twice as easy to impress. (So busy watching the game, you know.)

And wouldn't you like to do just that?

Wouldn't you like, just for once, to say the devastatingly right thing? For instance when hubby shouts, "Touchdown!" wouldn't it be nice to answer "Sorry dear, they're calling it back—backfield in motion, you know?"

Well, you can.

And learning how doesn't have to take up a lot of time, either.

FIRST, ACT enthusiastic (hard, but try). Second, don't, whatever you do, fumble and ask male fan what's going on—it's like asking him to teach you how to drive the car (you know what that's like).

Here a book will help. We suggest skimming through one of the following: "How the Pros Play Football," (Buffums' Book Store); "Do You Know Your Football?" (Long Beach Public Library); or "Football Fundamentals for Feminine Fans," a booklet written for women by a woman (Mrs. Charlie Conerly)—send 35 cents to the Sporting News, St. Louis, Mo.

ALL RIGHT, you've read one and find you're still lost, somewhere between a touchback, punt, 20 yard line, and a down.

Don't despair. It's possible, by taking advantage of the next few tips, (culled from Mrs. Conerly's book) to give the appearance of having lots more knowledge than you possess.

"Take five or six minutes first of all," she advises, "and memorize all the referees signals."

It's not necessary to understand what they mean as far as the game goes. The important thing is to be able to scoop the announcer by shouting quickly before those around you can hear: "Incomplete Pass"—or whatever.

This done, check the scoreboard and mumble "second and eight"—whatever it says—that's the number of the down and the amount of yardage needed—it'll sound real great coming from you particularly if tossed-off in an off-hand manner.

Also, before the game begins—check the sports section of the newspaper—reading the advance writeup of the game.

YOU CAN USE the opinions of the experts as to outstanding players, who's apt to win, etc., as pretty effective half time gossip. Don't say too much—a haughty, rather supercilious attitude helps win points here.

A bit of subtle name-dropping is permissible, too. Try something like: "I see where Tom Jones is leading in interceptions: hope he does well today."

And, of course, when your fan-friend leaps to his feet and shouts —leap to yours and shout too.

And when he pounds his fist against his forehead —moan right along with him.

But, NEVER, NEVER console him with such a remark as "Don't get upset dear, it's just a game." It's doubtful, he's ever figured that out.

See, football can be fun. It can be an exercise in sharpening a gal's wit.

Football is a game of physical and mental skill and wholesome deception played by two teams of 11 men on a grassy field 100 yards long, 53⅓ yards wide. If you don't want hubby to be 'misunderstood,' pretend you understand it.

Mexican Fete for Bosses

A Mexican fiesta is planned by Long Beach Chapter of Executives' Secretaries, Inc., for Thursday with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club. The event will honor executives of member firms.

Sra. Consuelo Costello De Bonzo of Casa La Golondrina in Olivera Street will attend the party. Musicians, singers and dancers from the restaurant will present a Mexican serenade. Program chairman is Helen Harshaw.

Kathleen Shea, president, has announced that Mexican costumes are optional. Many members will wear Spanish combs and mantillas.

Feted at Bridal Showers

Barbara Nishkian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nishkian of Long Beach, bride-elect of Edward E. Halligan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Halligan of San Marino, has been the inspiration for a series of pre-nuptial parties. The wedding will be an event of next Saturday.

Mrs. L. L. Bendiger was the hostess at a luncheon kitchen and linen shower at her home, 744 Santiago Ave.

The Reef Restaurant was chosen by Mrs. David Smith for a luncheon kitchen and linen shower.

Mrs. Edward Hall of Santa Ana honored the bride-to-be at luncheon with a crystal and linen shower at the Stuft Shirt Restaurant in Newport Beach.

A miscellaneous shower and tea was hostessed by Mrs. Sheldon Medall at her Palos Verdes residence, with Virginia Halligan and Mrs. Fred Schmidt as co-hostesses.

Senior Citizens

National League of Senior Citizens will meet Monday at noon at Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave., for dessert luncheon with a program following at 1:30 p.m.

Music Club Year to Open

Mrs. Oliver S. Benediktson will begin her term as president of Woman's Music Club Wednesday.

Following the musical program (Ebell Auditorium, 1:30 p.m.) there will be a president's guest day reception and tea in Ebell patio. Members and guests are invited.

Mrs. Benediktson has been active in the creative section of the club since becoming a member in 1951, three years after arrival here from North Dakota.

She received formal education in piano and dramatics and at one time traveled with the Fairfield Play Production Company.

TODAY, Mrs. Benediktson is affiliated with LuValian Poetry Club, California Federation of Chaparrel Poets (where she has won several poetry festival awards) is a past worthy priestess of Nazareth White Shrine; a member of Bettina Chapter, Eastern Star, and member of Daughters of the Nile where she sings in Supreme White Shrine and Nile choirs.

She also is a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church choir and president of its women's organization; holds membership in Patrons of City College and the Friday Morning Discussion and Presidents Clubs.

Mrs. Robert P. West has arranged Wednesdays musical program which will include Greig and Chopin played by Dorothy Judy Klein, concert pianist. Mrs. Richard M. Le Rossignol is in charge of the reception.

Community Players Plan Dinner to Award Ethels

Nineteen years ago the annual awarding of Mrs. Walter Case trophies to best players of the year at Long Beach Community Playhouse was introduced.

The annual awards dinner will be held this year on Oct. 18 at the Petroleum Club with a 6:30 p.m. reception preceding dinner at 7.

Announcement of the winners, a closely guarded secret, and awarding the statuettes, popularly called "Ethels," will provide the highlights of the evening.

* * * *

NOMINEES of the year, from which winners have been selected, are Jess May, Lee Rhoads, Claudene Atkinson, Carolyn Conwell, Lorrie Richards, Jerry Brady, Ken Harkey, Ralph Richmond, Hal Slatton, Dennis Wheeler, Frankie Brady, Darlene Chaffee, Marilyn Herman, Ethyl Arntzen, Katheryn Offill, Mark Atkinson and Anita Slatton.

Under the direction of Harry J. Moore, president, awards will be presented by last year's winners: Dan Baurac and Mary Lou Grubb, leading man and woman; Gil De Rush and Katheryn Offill, supporting man and woman; Frank Keith, bit part; and Pat Shimpock, juvenile.

The most popular play of the past year will be chosen by popular vote.

Greg Killingsworth, director-producer of Virginia Country Theater, will present his teen-age players in a satire on opening night and selections from musical productions. His cast will include Pam Conaiser, leading lady of "Green Grow the Lilacs," and Pegi Boucher, star in "Miss Pell is Missing," current production at Community Playhouse.

* * * *

FEATURED in the decor will be enlargement of pictures from the seven plays of the 1963-64 season.

Robert O. Baker served as chairman and Mrs. Edwin W. Hyka as secretary, of the committee which selected nominees for awards following each play and cast a secret ballot for the winners.

John McNamara, playhouse director, and Elaine Herman, chairman of workshops, will be presented.

ENJOYING A REVIEW of scrapbook pictures of the annual presentation of Mrs. Walter Case trophies to best players of the year are Robert O. Baker, chairman and Mrs. Edwin W. Hyka, secretary, of the 1963-64 awards committee. Former member of the little theater group may make reservations for this year's awards dinner to be held Oct. 18 at Petroleum Club by telephoning the playhouse.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Rubber Band Will Hold Scarf Snugly in Place

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—To make a pretty and snug headband, take a small silk or chiffon neckerchief-size scarf and fold into a rectangle. Tie the ends to a rubber band. It will fit the head snugly and really stay in place. They are are easy to put on. You can have several by using old scarves that are no longer used for their original purpose.—D.M.

DEAR POLLY—A package of children's modeling clay is an important item in my emergency drawer. I use it often and for many things. It will temporarily stop a leak until help comes or you can fix it. A generous lump trust on a pencil or toothpick will hold the note that you leave for your family when away. The same will hold place cards or favors at a child's party. If modeled in bird, animal or other chosen forms, the favors can be most attractive.—MRS. R. B.

DEAR POLLY—Two invaluable articles for "batching" college men are a telephone book and a flannel "cap" for a broom. The telephone book will supply most of the addresses of friends and the flannel cap on the end of the broom takes the place of a dust mop. This saves the expense of buying a mop. The can works best if an elastic band is sewed around the top to secure it to the broom. When the caps get dirty, just throw them in the washing machine.—D. D. B.

DEAR POLLY—Recently I bought some soiled white candles at an end-of-the-year sale knowing I could clean them. A tissue or cotton ball saturated with rubbing alcohol compound does this beautifully. Nail polish remover will also clean them but I like the gloss left after using the rubbing alcohol.—MRS. H. C. A.

GIRLS—This is a good trick to know as spring house cleaning time rolls around, for candles get dingy and dirty just standing around in their holders. I, too, like the alcohol treatment better.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—When I fried bacon and then eggs in the electric frying pan, the bacon left a residue causing the eggs to stick. Now I line the pan with foil for the bacon frying, slide it out, letting the fat slip off into the skillet ready for the eggs. Both fry beautifully and no more sticking.—MRS. W. R. M.

GIRLS—Bacon is delicious when cooked on top of the foil, crisp without being so brittle that it is easily broken but it does take a bit longer than when cooked directly in the pan. I started the cooking with a cold pan, cold foil and bacon. Eggs do not stick so I, for one, have permanently adopted the method.—POLLY.

Second Bixby Tour Slated

CALIFORNIA ROOTS—One of ranch's two giant rubber trees, second oldest of their species in the state.

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

If you were one of hundreds pushed aside by the thundering herd that quietly and reverently stampeded Bixby Ranch during the recent Women's Architectural League Home Tour, you'll have another go at it.

The famed hacienda on the hill will be opened for an encore tour next Sunday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Arthur V.Hoyer, WAL president, president.

"When WAL announced the historic landmark would be opened to the public for the first time as one of the houses on our annual Home Tour, we were besieged with requests for tickets," Mrs. Hoyer said.

The day of the tour, Long Beach turned out en masse—3,800 strong—to see the famed ranch, oldest residential landmark in the vicinity of Long Beach.

"Many people had to be turned away, others could not wait in the long lines," Mrs. Hoyer pointed out.

SPURRED ON by the overwhelming interest in their family abode, surviving Bixbys (all live elsewhere) offered to open the home—now manned by a staff of caretakers—for a second time.

The tour again will be sponsored by the Women's Architectural League. There will be a donation charge of $1 for adults, 50 cents for children to cover insurance and other costs.

Tickets will be available at the ranch next Sunday, Mrs. Hoyer said. There will be no preliminary sale.

The historic domain on the hilltop off E. Seventh Street was for almost a century—more years than Long Beach has been a city—the home, the livelihood, the life of the Bixby family.

Officially known as Rancho Los Alamitos, it was first part of a vast Spanish land grant (26,600 acres), owned by Don Manuel Nieto. It was he who, in 1784, built the original adobe structure, now the front portion of the 19-room ranch house.

To stroll through the rambling structure, to view the deserted barns, the now-idle farm machinery, to amble through the gardens that surround the house is to relive the romance of early-day California.

For here are some of the Golden West's deepest roots. The beholder can not escape the spell—the magic union of man and nature that is California.

Mrs. Gray Serves in Heart Spotlight

Mrs. Brewster Gray, prominent local civic leader, was appointed this week as president of the Women's Heart League of the Long Beach Heart Association.

Announcement was made by Dr. Oscar Shadle, president of the Long Beach Heart Association.

THE TASK of coordinating such activities of the league as the annual Heart Fund Tea, Heart Brunch and Heart Sunday Drive is of deep interest to Mrs. Gray, for several members of her family have suffered from heart ailments.

Serving with her will be Mrs. Harvey Hartzel, vice president and chairman of Heart Sunday drive for the women's group; Mrs. Robert Lintz, chairman of Heart tea and Mrs. Leon Wiltse, chairman of Heart Brunch.

Mrs. Brewster Gray

Reep-Sauve Names Joined in Ceremony

After a wedding trip to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., Canada, Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. Roger F. Reep (Lea Rae Sauve) will be at home later this month in San Diego, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Navy.

Their wedding took place Saturday at 1 p.m. in St. Barnabas Catholic Church, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Sauve, 3629 Cerritos Ave., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Reep of Mt. Vernon, Wash.

White Swiss organza with Portuguese bell sleeves, sheath front and chapel train formed the bridal gown.

MRS. THOMAS Crowther, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Other attendants, who wore floor length coral gowns, were Mrs. Joel French, Mrs. Jack Myers, Ruth Protze and Lois Williams.

Ray T. Reep, Jr. was best man for his brother. Seating the guests were Lt. (j.g.) John Komes, Lt. (j.g.) Joel French, Thomas Crowther and Ed Sauve.

The new Mrs. Reep was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended LBCC where she was an Entre Nous.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pacific Lutheran University, Tacoma, Wash.

Our Girl in New York Enjoys Fun and Food

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

NEW YORK—Whether it's New York (I love this city), or whether it's the profound fondness you feel for those with whom you've hurried a whole week from the hors d'oeuvres to the snails bourguignonne, to the cheespeperoni brochettes and the cafe diable, the grand finale of our 22nd annual food editors' conference brings with it a feeling of loneliness and nostalgia.

It's been quite the busiest conference, but the best ever. And we haven't cooked a thing.

There have been high spots aplenty, but one soiree given by the United States Brewers Assn. was one of the most unusual. It was a gay, rollicking, fun-filled occasion, called Beer Party/U. S. A.

UNDER THE gilded canopies and silent profiles of the many sphinxes which dominate the decor at Sheapherd's in the Drake Hotel, we learned why dances such as the mashed potato, the hully gully and the bug have become a part of how America entertains itself, not only at some of the most dignified clubs in the country but at home as well. Demonstrations were given of these and other dance crazes which have become so popular with adults of all ages.

The gay atmosphere and humorous exhibition introduced the editors to the newest rave in home parties—beer party discotheque. Discotheque, in case you think it's an expensive fringed dress or a French library, is simply a happy phrase to describe music on discs.

Yes, it was a fun party, but let ye food editor remind you, when you entertain at a beer party discotheque . . . don't forget the beer.

ONE OF THE most intriguing invitations we received was from General Foods. It requested the pleasure of our attendance on a tour of Lincoln Center at 7:30 p. m. at the ballet performance, 8:15 p. m. at the New York State Theater, and an after-theater supper at Philharmonic Hall.

The tour of Lincoln Center was spectacular. Not only were the finished buildings such as Philharmonic Hall and the New York State Theater seen in detail, but the plans for the future center seemed to come to life before our very eyes: the wonderful new Metropolitan Opera House, which will open in 1966, the Vivian Beaumont Repertory Theater, to be ready next year, and the ambitious Juilliard School scheduled for completion later.

Here in reality is the dream of every American lover of the arts come true, in beautiful surroundings such as befit the beauty that will be seen, heard and studied.

THE AFTER-THEATER supper featured several new General Foods products. According to Herbert M. Cleaves, senior vice president, five made their official national debut at this supper—all products we'll be sharing with you upon our return. In the interim, our menu follows:

Champagne
Hors d'Oeuvres
Celery Olives
Sliced Sirloin of Beef Sauce Bearnaise
Peas and Celery
Assorted Hot Rolls
Neapolitan Salad
Low Calorie Italian Dressing
Assorted Pastries
Chocolate Angels Maple Honey Flan
Tropical Tarts
Chocolate Banana Cream Triangles
Coffee Tea Sanka Coffee
Mints

ANOTHER HIGH SPOT of the conference was seeing "Funny Girl."

After one of the receptions which lasted until 8 p. m., our itinerary indicated "free evening." So, not being used to being "free" we went to the theater.

At the very last event of the conference, we were wafted right out of this world and into Denmark—but in a very special way—an exhilarating hydrofoil ride. That's the boat that skims over the top of the water on sort of water skis. What a farewell party it was!

AS GUESTS of the Danish bacon factories' export association, the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Federation of Danish Dairy Assns., we were hosted at the Danish pavilion at the World's Fair.

It was a "wow" of a menu, too. And, amazingly enough, on that last day at the very last event foods can still be appetizing, tasty and glamorous. Whether it's courage, whether we've all reached that "hellish" stage of indifference, or whether the taste buds have just ceased to function, we didn't miss a thing!

The Danish people are very exacting, very traditional, and the menu was the same. It read like this:

APPETIZERS
Danish Savory Tartelletter
Mushroom Souffle
Ham Coronettes
Danish Koldtbord
Pindesmad (Open Sandwiches), Danish Shrimp, Salmon
Herring and Ham
Cherry Tomatoes
Akvavit

DINNER:
Danish Vineyard Snails With Special Sauce
Agurkesuppe Glace
(Cold Cucumber Soup)
Roast Danish Duckling
Danish Ham Birds
Loin Bacon Enbrochette
Garland of Danish Vegetables
Danish Bread and Fruit
Cheeses
Havarit, Esrom, Sansore, Enmental, Danish Blue
Wedding Cake
(In honor of Princess Anne Marie and King Constantine)

We'll return home next week, and to the good old Metrecal.

Leaf Propagation Demonstration Due African Violet Society Meet

A demonstration of leaf propagation will be given when the Long Beach African Violet Society meets Thursday in Woman's City Club, 1309 E. Third St. A social hour and plant sale will take place from 11 a.m. to noon.

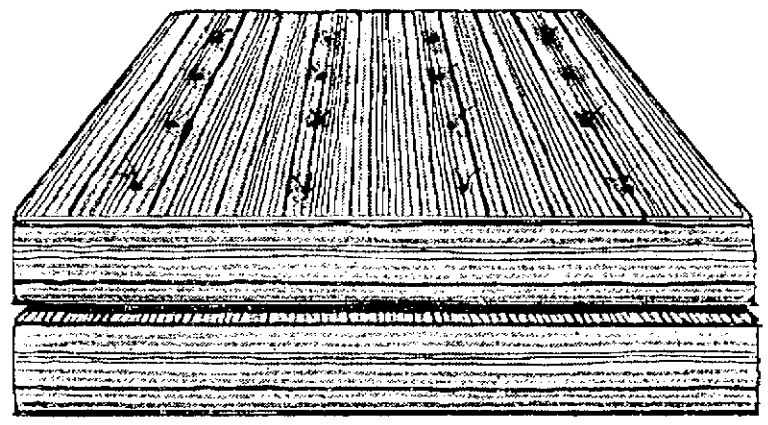

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Gwen Vaillant, president of Tri-City African Violet Society. In addition to the demonstration she will tell of the fourth conference and second show of the Northern California Council of African Violet Societies which took place recently in the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley.

Mrs. Ellen Caldon will preside. Visitors are invited.

Art Lectures Resume

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

"The Orient and Its Expanding Horizons" is the theme of the art lecture series which Long Beach Museum of Art and the American Association of University Women co-sponsor at the museum, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

As in the past, the lectures are open to the public without charge. The first, a brief survey of the great eras in Oriental art and "Aspects of Chinese Art," will be given Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. by George Kuwyama, curator of Oriental art at Los Angeles County Museum. The lecture will be illustrated.

Frederick Black, director of LBMA, will comment on the current museum exhibits, Art by Japanese School Children and the Art Rental Show.

The lectures will continue through June on the second Tuesday of each month.

FIRST exhibit of the season at Pavilion Gallery, Newport, will be the Karel Appel show presented by the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor.

Patrons and their guests will attend a preview reception and lecture by James Elliot, director of fine arts at Los Angeles Museum of Art, next Sunday afternoon. The exhibit will be open to the public from Oct. 21 through Nov. 29, Wednesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Appel was born in Amsterdam in 1921 and studied and painted there until he moved to his present home in Paris in 1950. Among his many prizes is the Guggenheim International award.

Oils, crayon drawings and lithographs are included in the Pavilion show. Largest piece is "Impressions of the United States," a 17-foot oil painting given to Los Angeles County Museum by Tony Curtis. This will be the first time the work will be seen publicly.

ANSEL ADAMS' photographic exhibit, "The Eloquent Light," recently exhibited at Long Beach Museum of Art, is on view at Fullerton Junior College Art Gallery through Oct. 30. Hours are Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

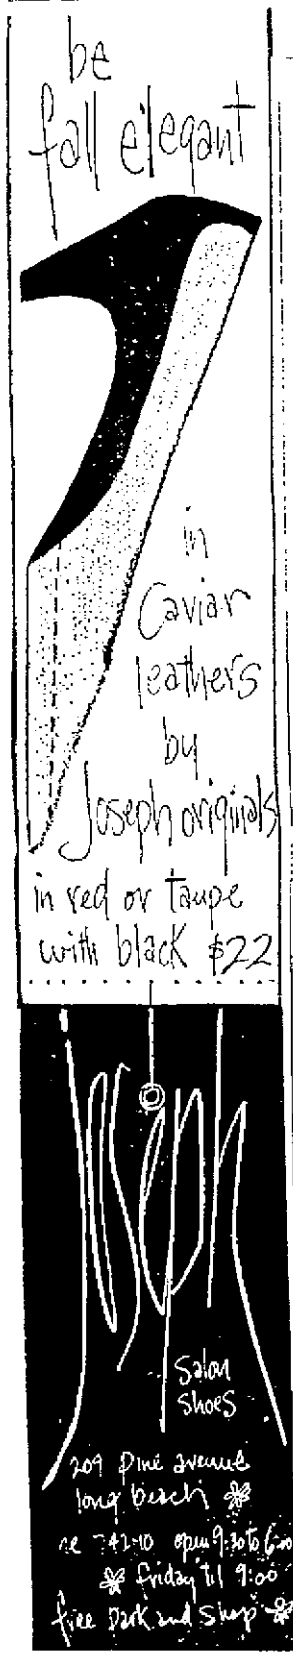

FROM Monday through Saturday the "Stars for Freedom Art Exhibit" will hang at the Feigen-Palmer Gallery, 515 N. La Cienega Blvd., Los Angeles.

Oil paintings, watercolors, drawings, graphics, sculpture, constructions and other art works by outstanding American and European artists and collectors will be on view. The selections committee was headed by Walter Hopps, director of the Pasadena Art Museum.

Donations of $1 per person will benefit the United Civil Rights Committee to defeat Proposition No. 14.

ROBERT Cremean has recent sculpture on exhibit at the Esther Robles Gallery, 665 N. La Cienega Blvd.

Amusing Operas Share CC Stage

Imagine a medieval town whose status-seeking citizens are so envious of a well-to-do poet that, though they mock and scorn him, they imitate his outlandish preference for such pets as unicorns, gorgons and manticores.

Then, picture an 18th century setting in which a saucy maid-servant outmaneuvers her master to become mistress of the manor — and his wife as well.

These situations come to life next Sunday evening on stage of Long Beach City College auditorium in a twin-bill operatic performance, "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" by Gian-Carlo Menotti, and "La Serva Padrona" by Giovanni Pergolesi.

* * * *

THE CHAMBER operas are being produced by the Camerata dei Musici and will be guest conducted by Lauris Jones, conductor of the Long Beach Symphony.

Admission is free for the 8:15 p.m. performance, and the concert-going public is invited.

Both works are colorful, fully staged productions by a local non-profit organization dedicated to presenting all types of chamber music to the community as a public service.

Camerata dei Musici, composed of local professional and amateur musicians, has provided other public concerts of a more conventional type in the past. Costs are borne entirely by the organization through various fund raising projects.

* * * *

"LA SERVA Padrona" is a set of operatic interludes in the 18th Century buffa style whose cast includes the maid, the master and a mute servant. Delightful string orchestra accompaniment completes the setting.

In striking contrast, "The Unicorn" employs larger forces on stage and is presented in the form of a masque. A choral group narrates the story and provides voices for the main characters and townspeople who are dancing and acting in pantomime.

A chamber ensemble of woodwinds and strings contrasts the choral a cappella singind and gives support to the dancers.

Both productions are sung in English. "Unicorn" is directed by Rex Waggoner, and "La Serva" is directed by John Noschese.

Chappell to Play in Downey

Downey Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Mario Cajati, will present the music of Tschaikowsky in its first concert of the 1964-65 season at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Warren High School gymnasium. There is no admission charge.

Gloria Chappell, violinist, will appear as guest artist. She is concertmaster of the Beverly Hills Symphony Orchestra and Downey Symphony Orchestra and will play the famed Stradivarius violin owned by her longtime friend, Jack Benny.

The program will consist of Tschaikowsky's "Overture from Hamlet," "Concerto in D" and "Symphony No. 5."

On Stage---

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Miss Pell Is Missing," 7:45 p.m. Thursday; 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, through Oct. 31.
MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2450 Magnolia Ave., "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," 8 p.m. Thursday, Sunday; 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through Oct. 25.

CSLB Faculty Show Exciting and Original

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The Faculty Show opens the year at the Art Galleries, California State College, Long Beach, 6105 E. Seventh St. today. A preview reception for the artists from 7 to 9:30 this evening is open to the public. The exhibit will continue until Nov. 20.

To many, this annual show is one of the most exciting in the area. The quality of the fine arts (drawing, painting, printmaking, and sculpture) and the originality of the crafts (ceramics, jewelry, industrial and advertising design, etc.) in this year's show continue the department's tradition of experimentation and serious involvement in the various art forms.

* * * *

THE DIVERSITY in the department is crystallized by the three potters. Thomas Ferreira, just back from a Sabbatical in Spain, is doing ceramic sculpture, including a rather magnificant cruciform floor pot. Richness of decoration within limits of thoughtful control characterizes Ward Youry's classic pots, while Bob Ramsey builds massive vessels from great, honest slabs of clay.

Sculptor Stephan Werlick, winner of the coveted Prix de Rome, is represented by several bronze works. Here the human form is recognizable and the approach expressive and Baroque. His "Sacrifice" is four figures interwoven with atmosphere in the form of metal sheets.

HOWARD HITCHCOCK is pursuing a new vein in small bronze castings of winsome figures placed in suggestions of environments. His "God Save the King" is a marvelous four-tiered tower.

Richard Oden explores human creatures enigmatically. There is a quality of intimate but impersonal inquisitiveness both in his elegant drawings from cadavers and his strangely luminous, powerful oil paintings.

Among the many fine drawings are John Lincoln's "Crane," Herbert Tyrnauer's "Somebody Else's Aunt," and Donald Dame's "Female Figure." Tyrnauer is also the creator of a chair to encompass a corporate body.

* * * *

DAVID BORDER'S large metallic purple relief painting called "No. 1 September" is monolithically awesome. Herman Graff suggests inexpressible horror in "Sacrifice," a surrealistic painting of devils, beasts, and humanoids.

The installation is the first here by Taizo Miake, new director of the galleries, and assistant professor of design at the college. A graduate of Pratt Institute, he has been curator of the Museum and Galleries at Florida State University.

Lakewood Fairy Tale Tryouts Set

Auditions for "Hansel and Gretel", forthcoming production of Lakewood Philharmonic Assn., will take place this week at Mayfair Park recreation building, corner of Clark Ave. and South St. Lakewood. Auditions are open to children, teenagers and adults.

Dancers will be auditioned Tuesday at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Oct., 18, at 3 p.m.

Singers will be heard Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct., 18, at 1 p.m.

DANCE SEQUENCES and choreography will be staged by John Dougherty, identified closely with dance in the Los Angeles area. This is the first time he has agreed to take part in staging a local production.

Dougherty invites dancers qualified for either technical or classical roles to try out for roles of dance doubles to the solo singers. An angel ballet and forest ballet are featured in the production.

Producer is Norman Kreitzer, and musical direction will be by J. DeWitt Schwab, for the past 12 years organist and choral director of St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Lakewood.

Foretaste of Grand Opera

Major and Minor Notes

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

Grand opera in Long Beach has often been discussed in this column. And now we are actually going to have a grand opera performance in Long Beach presented by the American Opera Company's Opera Studio, which, if not actually in the grand manner of the San Francisco Opera productions, will be at least a foretaste of what grand opera is like, and I hope will whet the appetite of our musical citizenry for many grand opera productions.

Temple Sinai is sponsoring the American Opera Company in an appearance at Millikan High School auditorium Saturday at 8:15 p.m. "Andrea Chenier" by Giodrano, a thrilling opera about the reign of terror during the French Revolution.

* * * *

THE MUSIC IS beautiful and the three principal singers are well-known in Southern California for out standing performances with the Los Angels Opera Company, Laguna Beach Festival of Opera and other companies. They are Maria Martino, soprano; Baldo dal Ponte, tenor, and Mario Farrar, baritone. The artistic director and conductor is James Low. The full opera will be presented, including costumes, scenery, full cast and chorus and with a duo-piano accompaniment.

* * * *

A NON-PROFIT artistic association, the American Opera Company was founded in 1962. Its objective is to provide Southland music lovers with the great music from the world of opera presented by noted local professional singers, conductors, directors and artists. In the winter season the American Opera Company presents opera with full orchestra and last spring, performances of "Madame Butterfuly," with Marilyn Niska in the title role, were sold out at the Wilshire Ebell Theater in Los Angeles; with many turned away. (It is my sincere hope the Long Beach may hear this "Madame Butterfly" at an early date).

* * * *

ALTHOUGH I personally have not heard the American Opera Company, reports of its performance of "Andrea Chenier" recently given in Los Angeles are most laudatory and I look forward eagerly to hearing it here Saturday.

Tickets may be purchased at Millikan High School the night of the performance and at Temple Sinai, Seventh St. and Molino Ave.

Bert Lahr to Star in 'Yankees'

Bert Lahr, America's king of clowns, will step to bat in the starring role of "Damn Yankees" at Melodyland, Anaheim, Tuesday evening.

Allen Case will play the middle-aged baseball fanatic who does business with Saint Nick and becomes the young baseball hero. Kit Smythe will be seen as the beautiful young witch, Lola —whose song, "Whatever Lola Wants" made musical comedy history on Broadway.

* * * *

ADDITIONAL fun and excitement will be furnished by the Katzenjamer Kids of baseballdom, Dean Chance and Bo Belinsky.

The two talented horsehide hurlers will don uniforms and grease paint to "trod the thespic" board as —a couple of ball players.

Children's Concerts Saturday

Students from first grade to high school age are being invited to the first in a series of free concerts presented by the Long Beach Symphony Assn. on Saturday at 10 a.m. in Long Beach City College auditorium.

Rhythmic ballet music from Tchaikowsky's "Swan Lake" will be played by the symphony.

Two pianists will then join the orchestra to perform "Carnival of Animals", one of Saint-Saen's most entertaining and popular compositions.

Written by the composer for his own family's amusement, Saint Saens would not permit its performance for the public during his lifetime. It was only after his death that the lively animal characterizations could be presented on the concert stage.

Children will readily recognize the lion, elephants, and other animal friends, plus turtles and fish in the music.

• • • •

PIANISTS in "Carnival" will be Ladd Thomas who has appeared in concert throughout the country, and Robert Prichard, who studied with John Crown at USC.

Secondary school students will have an opportunity at 11 a.m. to see the production "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore", a production of the Camerata del Musici scheduled for adult audiences on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Jones is the opera's music director. Singers, dancers will be costumed in medieval style.

Adults accompanying children are invited to stay for the performance. Further information may be obtained by calling the Long Beach Symphony office, 1935 E. 7th St.

HENRY TEMIANKA . . . 'A Challenging Assignment'

Henri Temianki on Music Staff

Klemperer, Monteux, Szell, Reiner, Barbirolli, Mitropoulos, Steinberg, Scherchen—violinist Henri Temianka has played with them all.

"Among the great concert artists of our day," Yehudi Menuhin wrote, "only a few are able to impart to their generation the great musical traditions of the past their own personal achievements. Henri Temianka is one of these."

Temianka this school semester joined the music department faculty at California State College at Long Beach as full professor—an assignment which has led to a certain amount of involvement in the musical life of the community which he welcomes.

He will bring his California Chamber Symphony Orchestra to the State College Little Theater stage for a concert at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. He will be guest conductor with the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra in December.

BESIDES his prowess as one of the world's outstanding violinists, Temianka has long been an advocate of chamber groups, founding his first chamber orchestra in London in 1936. He was co-founder in 1946 and first violin in the famed Paganini Quartet, awarded the prize in 1948 for the best recording of the year. One of the original Paganini Quartet recordings, the Debussy Quartet, was a smash—as far as classical record sales go.

HE IS THE only remaining original member of the Paganini Quartet, which recently recorded the Brahams Quintet for piano and strings, Opus 34, with Ralph Votapek, winner of the first Van Cliburn International Competition. He has recorded for RCA, HMV, Decca Gold Label and Kapp.

His musical activities are varied. In addition to his concertizing as soloist and his work with the Paganini Quartet, he recently recorded the Columbia album "A Percussion Spectacular" conducting the Los Angeles Percussion Ensemble in Alberto Ginastera's "Cantata Para America Magica" with Raquel Adonaylo, soprano; and Carlos Chavez' "Tocatta for Percussion Instruments."

• • • •

WHILE HE has championed contemporary music, he has a leaning toward the music of Mozart and the California Chamber Symphony Orchestra which he founded and conducts and includes a full Mozartean complement of winds and strings.

• • • •

BUT HIS main concern in Long Beach will be with music students at Cal State, where he will work with the large orchestra, a baroque orchestra, teach the conducting and advanced string classes.

"My principal objective here is to build a fine orchestra," he said. "The quality of the string program in the Long Beach Unified School program is nationally recognized. But something happens to the players after leaving the school district. They don't come to Cal State."

It is the hope of the college that by bringing Temianka to State, many of the Long Beach string players will be attracted to the institution.

• • • •

"I HOPE," said Temianka, "that these fine young musicians will continue their studies at State. I hope to create one of the finest orchestras in the country here. We have the talent."

"It is in many ways a challenging assignment. After having spent most of my life on the concert stage, I have a desire to share my experience and background with young people. I think any musician with a sense of responsibility and idealism would want to share such experience."

'Knife in the Water' at CSLB

Intense emotions explode within the confines of a small boat on a weekend outing in "Knife in the Water," a 1962 Polish film to be shown today by Long Beach Film Society.

The screenings will take place at 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. at California State College, Long Beach, Little Theater. A companion short, "Moment of Happiness," will also be shown.

The film, directed by Roman Polanski, won the Venice Film Festival's critic award. It is the second film in the society's fall series.

'The King and I' to Open Thursday

part at OCC and not just because I shave my head — I did that long before Yul Brynner did.

"The show was a success and the next year, 1961, I played the King with Long Beach Civic Light Opera. This company is wonderful, more professional than many companies that claim the professional label, and I told director Jim Brittain, 'I'll do a show with you again anytime, any place.'

"Then I was cast in the role in two stock companies in the East and Midwest.

"This summer I had just returned from New York to my home in San Francisco when I got a phone call from Long Beach. Would I do the King again? Here I am!"

The well-known story of "The King and I" opens in 1862 when Anna, an English widow played by Patricia Zieg, arrives in Bangkok, Siam, to teach the many children of the king. The splendor of the court, the strange customs, the differing philosophies amaze her. There is a basic clash between the dynamic king of the East and the strong-willed school teacher of the West.

Each is changed by the other, a rapprochement grows and a real love develops between the two.

"The King is fun to play," said Sage. "He is a bundle of contradictions. He is very wise and very immature. He wants to modernize his country, but at the same time he is weighted down by his immutable, cultural heritage.

"IT'S EASY to identify with him, for there's a bit of the childish and a bit of the mature in all of us."

Sage profoundly believes in the central theme of the musical, the oneness of mankind.

Fourteen years ago, when he was 18, he discovered the faith which is the greatest influence in his life, Baha'i.

"Baha'i teaches that man is created to know and worship God, his creator, but that God cannot be defined nor described. It teaches that in his bounty to man, God has revealed his laws and truth through great spiritual beings through the ages. We revere Buddha, Christ, Krishna and all great religious leaders who have made God's truth manifest.

"WE BELIEVE that Baha'u'llah, who founded Baha'i in Persia in 1863, was one of these great teachers. The faith is now established in 260 countries.

"The principal tenet of Baha'i is the oneness of mankind. It appreciates the differences that make the human family great and teaches unity in diversity.

"But no matter how perfect law and truth are, they cannot work until there is a change in the human heart. Equal civil rights must take place now, but to change the human heart will take more time.

"Perhaps I like 'The King and I' so much because it draws into conflict two opposing philosophies and each influences and modifies the other. There is unity in diversity.

"BAHA'ISTS also believe that man must develop his innate intellectual and spiritual capacities that make him unique. If he does not, he has failed. If he fails, he is lower than a man, truly not a man."

That is why Sage himself might have created the lines the King pens to Anna on his death bed:

"It occurs to me that there shall be nothing wrong that men shall die, for all that shall matter about man is that he shall have tried his utmost best."

Club Opens 38th Season

Musical Arts Club will open its 38th season with a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Starlight Room, Lafayette Hotel.

Ruth Miller, program chairman, will present Betty Olsson, lyric soprano, in an "Evening of Opera." Miss Olsson has appeared in opera in New York, the Southwest and recently sang at the Laguna Opera Festical.

She will sing arias from "Don Pasquale," Donizetti; "Pagliacci," Leoncavallo; "Falstaff," Verdi; "Gianni Schicchi" and "Manon Lescaut."

Dance Program

Helga Lind Dance Studio will present students in a program at Lynwood High School Auditorium tonight at 7 p.m.

'Fabulous Japan' on Film Series

WILLIS BUTLER

"Fabulous Japan," first film-lecture of Long Beach City College's 1964-65 International Film Series, will be presented at five high school auditoriums this week.

Opening at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wilson auditorium, the program will be repeated Tuesday at Jordan, Wednesday at Lakewood, Thursday at Polytechnic and Friday at Millikan High School. Season tickets will be available at the box office each evening.

• • • •

NARRATOR will be Willis Butler, a film-lecturer and producer of documentary motion pictures since 1940.

"Fabulous Japan" opens with a flight from Seattle to Tokyo's Haneda Airport. After exploring the world's largest city, the film includes sequences on Japanese industry, culture and family life, and scenic side-trips to such tourist attractions at Mt. Fujiyama, the world-famous gardens of Kyoto and the "Floating Shrine" of Itsukishima.

Butler's film presents the curious blend of East and West, ancient and modern, which will be seen by thousands of travelers now attending the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Fall Fashions You Can Bank On

. small price tags with high (style) dividends

By Mary Ellis Carlton

I, P-T Fashion Editor

High style clothes with minimal price tags will be featured during a fashion show and breakfast being sponsored by Ladies Oriental Shrine today, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Lakewood Country Club. Included in the unique style revue, presented by Sears, will be children's wear, teenage fashions, regular sizes and half sizes, men's and boys' suits and sports outfits, furs and fur-trimmed coats, evening dresses and daytime dresses.

Modeling the latest in fall finery will be members of the Ladies Oriental Shrine and graduates of Sears' Beverlee Kelley Charm School, some of whom are pictured here. Open to the public, the show is being coordinated by Janice Mutz, director of the store's charm school, and is designed to prove exactly what she teaches in class—that fashion is a look, not a price.

MAKING SIMPLE ARITHMETIC of school wardrobe, sixth grader Cynthia Hocott balances fashion ledger with plaid-elegant skirt, coordinated forest green sweater and (the pure 1964-ism) matching green knee socks.

DOUBLE SPARKING fall fashion trend, Janice Mutz, director of Sears charm school, wears pink and white wool dress that's easy on the waist and easy on budget, tops it with pink suede coat for smart costume look.

FOR EXTRA FASHION MILEAGE, Simone Miller and Martha Barker (driver's seat) go very this-year's model . . . Simone in black-and-white plaid slack suit (newest way to follow pants fad) and Martha in suede billed cap and fleece-lined car coat, all with minimal price tags.

A SMALL CHECK covers lots of fashion ground here, doubled and redoubled in three-piece costume with matching hat. The model: Toni Frank, a high school junior.

Fred J. Wards Honored at Surprise Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Ward, 521 Chestnut Ave., were honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday.

The surprise party, a champagne supper, took place in Panorama Room, Lafayette Hotel, with the couple's son, William J. Ward of San Bernardino, as host.

The Fred Wards were married in Long Beach Oct. 7, 1914. Ward, a native of Springfield, Mo., came here in 1908. His wife, who was born in Alliance, Neb., in 1900.

Recently retired, Ward worked for many years in the heating and sheet metal contracting business. In addition to their son and his wife, the couple has three grandchildren.

Composer's Wife on Salon Series at VCC

Dorothy Rodgers

Edna Lillich Davidson will open her seventh series of luncheon salons Thursday at Virginia Country Club. The program of reviews of books, plays and music will continue monthly through May.

Guest author speaker will be Dorothy Rodgers, wife of the famous composer Richard Rodgers, whose book, "My Favorite Things," is being published this month.

Mrs. Rodgers, whose home is in New York, is a woman of great talent, charm and taste. Her interests in travel, theater, sculpture, painting and interior design make her book an exciting stage for the exchange of ideas, and in making a home a haven of comfort and beauty.

Pride in her home and her way of life inspired her to write her book.

* * * *

THEME OF the day will be "Springboard for the Future." Among books Mrs. Davidson will review at 1 p.m. are "Sixpence in Her Shoe," by Phyllis McGinley; "This Rough Magic" by Mary Stewart; "Armadeggon" by Leon Uris and "You Only Live Twice" by Ian Fleming.

Also "Credos and Quips" by Virginia Cary Hudson; "The Pond" by Robert Murphy; "The Rector of Justin" by Louis Auchincloss; "First Lady" as told to Patrick Dennis; "Things As They Are" by Paul Horgan; "The American Heritage Cookbook"; "Selected Letters of Robert Frost," and "Day's at the Morn" by Samuel Chotzinoff.

TABLE hostesses will be Mmes. Mary Beery, George Cottle, Francis Hertzog, Edward McMahon, George Montgomery, Glenn Scott and Lyman Vaughan. Members and guests will assemble at 11:30 a.m. for a social half hour, and luncheon will be served at noon.

Accepting reservations are Grace Hahn, 219 Esperanza Ave., and Myrtle McCauley, 1633 E. First St.

Find Pressures Too Much for Students

'Capable of Doing Better' Push Can Have Serious Consequences

(Editor's Note—Heart attacks, ulcers, nervous breakdowns, even suicides among school children. It's a result, say educators, of the severe pressures on pupils to excel in studies, to get into college, and to stay. And it's a serious problem in the modern world.)

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Editor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Grace was 17 years old, on the serious side ,and a junior in high school. She committed suicide.

George was the son of a successful and wealthy doctor. He went to jail for stealing money he didn't need.

Shirley was a cute little tyke who suddenly "went stupid." She flatly refused to learn, and calmly accepted failure after failure in school.

Roy worked hard all through high school and won a scholarship to a top private school. He stayed one semester, said "To hell with it," and went to work as a dishwasher.

THESE FOUR youngsters had one thing in common—they cracked under the pressure applied by well-meaning adults.

They were not isolated cases.

The New Jersey Department of Education reported that at least 41 school children in that state committed suicide between Sept. 1960 and June 1963. Possibly 738 others attempted suicide, and thousands more threatened to.

How many of those 41 children—and others in other states—took their own lives because of the spirit-crushing demands of parents, teachers, and the community? No one will ever know.

There are the pressures of intelligence tests and aptitude tests; tests given at various ages and stages of a child's school development; tests that may determine what kind of school a child will go to, how he will be treated in his class, at what speed he will advance—tests, the results of which follow him throughout his educational development.

THE PRESSURES come in many ways and from many sources.

Half in jest, educators say some parents who laugh at the bumblings and fumblings of their own youth, have decreed an 11th Commandment for their children: "Thou shalt not fail."

But the New Jersey report included these words:

"There was an almost unanimous evaluation of each child by his parents and teachers as one who was capable of doing better."

"Doing better" can be a noble goal. Many educators, however, believe it all too often becomes push-push-push exploitation of youth by status-seeking adults.

They point out the pressures can start as early as kindergarten; build up during the grade school years; reach a peak in high school, and subside only slightly in college.

PRESSURE ON the child to learn to read before he is able—pressure to choose a life's work by 7th grade—pressure to pick a high school program to fit that future career—pressure, pressure, pressure to go to college, particularly the "right" one—pressure to be a "success," as an older generation defines success.

High schools, and high school teachers, are sometimes rated by their production of national scholarship winners.

Some students load their high school programs with science, math, foreign languages and extra-curricular activities, thinking this will ensure college admission.

Some businesses require a high school diploma for even the simplest job.

Of themselves, and in moderation, none of these pressures is necessarily bad, educators point out. Combined, and applied with great force, they push the warning needle deep into the danger area.

PROF. RONALD C. Doll of Hunter College says "Extreme pressures on school children are driving them toward heart attacks and nervous breakdowns."

Dr. Kenneth Zike, head of the pediatrics department, Harbor General Hospital, Los Angeles, says at least half the children referred to the neurological clinic there with learning problems are "the victims of pressure—pressure to do a task they have not the maturity to do."

Prof. Doris Lee of Portland (Ore.) State College, tells of a father she knows:

"He has two fine teen-age daughters, both in high school. He was so pleased with their high grades, their many extra-curricular activities.

"Then a note of worry crept into his voice and he said, 'The other day Karen's vision sort of blanked out on one side. The doctor said it was the beginning of migraine. Then Ann came down with an upset stomach and an examination showed an ulcer starting'."

THE REAL pressure does not come when a child is asked to do "his best." It comes when he is expected to be "the best."

By definition, half the children in any group must be only average or below.

Not all children can learn to read in kindergarten, or even the first or second grade. Not all youngsters can excel in science and math or become doctors or physicists. Not all high school graduates can go on to Harvard, Yale or Stanford. Not all college students can make Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. William C. Kvaraceus of Tufts University, an authority on youth problems, said recently:

"The forgotten youth in America today is the middle-class youngster slipping downward toward a lower-class way of life, the youngster unable to keep up with the pack, unable to succeed in high school and go on to college.

"This is a fate that many middle-class parents consider a disgrace to the family name.

"The pressures and conflicts such a youth is subjected to often result in delinquent behavior—destroying property, stealing cars, staying out all night, drinking. This is his way of striking back."

STUDIES HAVE shown some young people become adept at resisting adult pressure.

For instance they devise elaborate strategies for pleasing the teacher without really doing their work, they plod along, seemingly content with school, until they reach the legal age for quitting, and suddenly they quit; they deliberately flunk out of their freshman year at college, knowing their chances of being accepted elsewhere are virtually non-existent.

One of the most drastic ways of resisting is to just quit learning.

John Holt, in a new book, "How Children Fail," says:

"Children who depend heavily on adult approval may decide that if they can't have total success, their next-best bet is to have total failure . . .

"Perhaps children find, or try to find, in hopeless incompetence the kind of refuge that an alcoholic finds in liquor."

HOLT BELIEVES that some children fail "because they are afraid, bored and confused.

"They are afraid, above all else, of failure, of disappointing or displeasing the many anxious adults around them whose limitless hopes and expectations for them hang over them like a cloud."

And sometimes the reaction sets in, and a brave youngster will tell his father, "Dad, even if I did learn to read, I couldn't learn well enough to please you. So, why bother."

Last month the Moline, Ill., school board expelled eight high school students.

Dr. Dwight Davis, school superintendent, told the board that all eight had higher than average intelligence, but all had flunked three courses. Expulsion followed lengthy counseling sessions, conferences with parents, and a period of probation.

"They are capable of doing good work, and they are not doing it," Dr. Davis said.

EVEN THOSE who most deplore the crushing pressures on youth see no solution to the problem. It's just part of the present pressure-packed world.

Parents will continue to want their children to go to college. Colleges will continue to raise their admission standards. Inevitably, preparation for college will begin earlier and earlier.

"If we continue the way we are going," says Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, "the nursery school soon will be a kind of advanced placement program for 3-and-4-year-olds going to Harvard."

Advanced college placement, Taylor said, is no longer a plan to provide a bright high school youth with a better education, but a design to speed him through his required courses and out into the world.

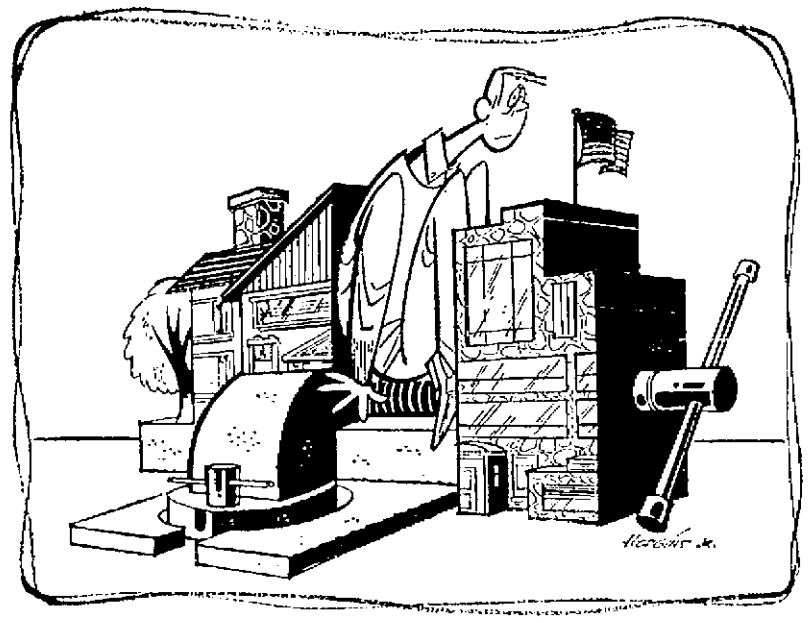

The same is true, he said, for year-round college plans such as the trimester, which try to cover the same ground in shorter time.

"WHAT IS the rush?" Taylor asked in a recent issue of the U.S. Labor Department's "Occupation Outlook Quarterly." "Where are we going in such a hurry? What is education for?"

Taylor said, "There is little enough time in school and college years to learn even a small part of what there is to be known and what one needs to know to live a full life . . .

"Students need time to learn. They need the experience of reading books of their own choosing, they need to attend concerts, talk to their friends, write stories, write papers which have depth and are not merely obligatory tests, enjoy the community life of the college, join political organizations, and grow into their intellectual maturity by having a chance to be themselves without pressure of constant social and academic obligations.

"This is what being a student really means."

Club Lead Mandatory for East

It was one of those free-wheeling rubber bridge games.

With 14 high card points, North refused to be shut out by West's three heart bid and doubled.

After East passed, Ted Von Greyerz of Dayton, Ohio, jumped right to six spades.

West opened the jack of diamonds and Ted was a little disappointed when he saw the dummy. It appeared to him that there was no way to make the contract unless diamonds broke 3-3.

He won the first diamond with dummy's ace and played the jack of spades. West showed out but this didn't worry Ted too much and he proceeded to play four more rounds of trumps. West discarded four hearts and a club. Dummy discarded two clubs and a heart.

NOW TED led a diamond to dummy's king. East held on to his queen, so Ted played a heart to his ace and threw East in with his last diamond.

East had to lead a club. He had no other cards in his hand. Ted played a low club and West had to come up with the king. Ted was in dummy with the ace and was able to discard his losing heart on dummy's fourth diamond.

If East had thrown his queen of diamonds away, Ted would not have cashed the ace of hearts but would have thrown West in with the third diamond, whereupon West would be forced to lead away from one of his kings.

Altrusans in Gay 'Sip 'n' Dip' Mood

Ah, sweet charity! What fun is had in thy name!

So saying, Altrusa Club of Long Beach announces plans for its third annual California Fine Wines Festival from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Friday in the Supper Room of Lafayette Hotel.

Ten major California wineries will be represented at the "sip and dip" affair, with party proceeds going to Altrusa (classified women's service club) philanthropies including Long Beach Juvenile Hall, Community Rehabilitation Industries, job clinics and scholarships for women. Organ music will be played throughout the evening by Janice Whitlock.

Reservations are available with Helen Smith, 155 Granada Ave.

Guild Benefit

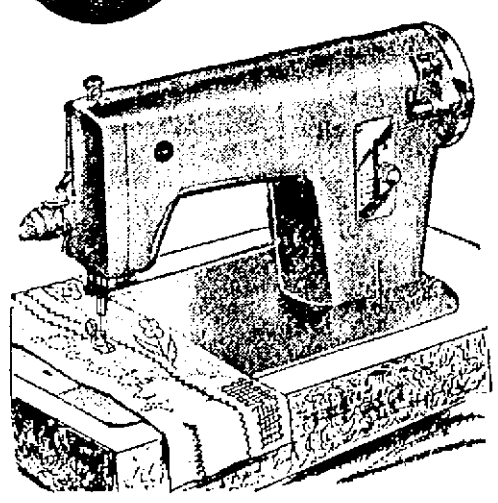

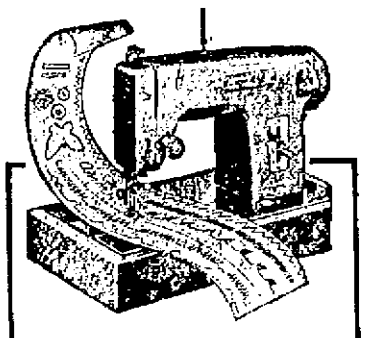

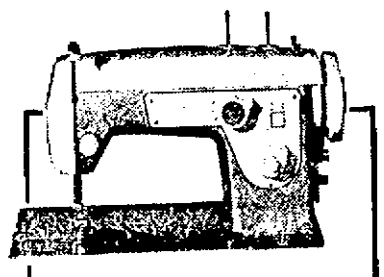

Benefit luncheon and card party of Women's Guild, Church of Religious Science, will take place Thursday noon in the Guild hall, 505 E. 36th St. Mrs. Ora Miller will be in charge, assisted by Grace Walters. Guests are invited.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Three Groans for Gramps

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy. I live with my mother and grandparents. Tonight at the dinner table, I said "navel." My grandfather said he didn't want to hear any more dirty or sexy talk out of me. Believe me, Abby, I don't see anything dirty or sexy about a navel. My mother is on my side and she is getting tired of my grandfather saying to me, "You're talking dirty." This happens all the time. Any suggestions?—T.T.

ABBY

DEAR T: I'm afraid the "dirt" (if there is any) is in your grandfather's mind, but let your mother handle grandpa and provoke as few complaints as you can.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: We parents are properly concerned about the safety of our children as they walk to and from school, and visit friends outside their immediate neighborhoods. A relative in Omaha, Nebraska, told me of a plan now being successfully implemented through their PTA. It is called the "BLOCK PLAN." A home-made sign, "BLOCK HOME," is prominently displayed in the window of one home in every block. Children have been instructed that this home is an island of safety where they will be welcome should they become sick, or injured, or besieged by molesters, bullies or dogs. (Each house must be approved by the PTA, of course.) The plan costs nothing, requiring only the cooperation of good people who are interested in the safety of their children. If you see the merit of this plan, I hope you will print it in your column where it will get nationwide publicity, and move other communities to copy it. Sincerely, LOVES CHILDREN

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Our apartment building is so close to another apartment building that you can reach out and almost touch it. Directly across from us are three ladies (all over 40) and their kitchen window is right across from ours. Well, those three women walk around making their breakfasts without their blouses on (just their bras). And they sit down and eat breakfast that way. They can see us having our breakfast at our kitchen table, and they don't make any effort to cover themselves up. They look over at us and go right on eating. We can't help watching the show. It's too hot to pull our shade down. I've never seen anything like it. And neither has my husband, and he's been in the service and has lived in Arkansas. He always says, "My, what if we had company?" My mother and father are coming to visit us soon, and they would die if they ever saw a scene like that. Should we try to get the message to these ladies before my parents get here?—EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: You should give the message, but they probably wouldn't cover up for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. Pull your shades down and get an air-conditioning unit.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a heated discussion on spanking children. I say a child should be spanked on his bottom. My husband insists that a slap in the face is much more effective. He said his mother used to slap him in the face and it did him more good than if she slapped him on the bottom. I say that nobody, not even a child, should be slapped in the face.—THINK I'M RIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bentley

Reception Slated for Goldenweds

A reception at Houghton Park Clubhouse will be held from 2 to 5 this afternoon honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Bentley on their golden wedding anniversary.

Host and hostesses at the reception will be their son, daughters and their spouses. They are Messrs. and Mmes. Richard Stoukup, James Hickman, Ronald Bentley of Long Beach and William Ferrier of Compton.

Also attending will be their ten grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley were married Oct. 14, 1914 in Stettler, Alberta, Canada. They moved to Long Beach in July, 1923, when they built and moved into their present home at 27 E. 55th St.

* * * *

AN ACTIVE member of Long Beach Board of Realtors, Bentley is secretary of North Long Beach Commercial Club and Kiwanis Club of Uptown Long Beach of which he is a charter member with a perfect attendance record of 17 years.

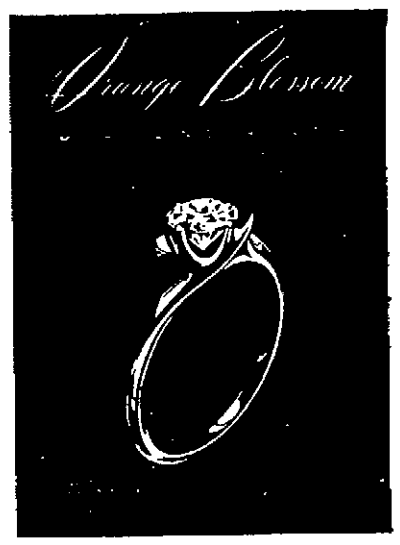

Mrs. Bentley is a member of North Long Beach Women's Club and past president of American War Mothers, 61.

Decorating Job Appeals at Walkers

Recently completed for the 31st anniversary sale this month of Walker's downtown Long Beach, is the redecoration of the second floor.

Oyster white walls, pale beige carpets and lowered lighting replace the former dark-tone walls and carpets.

Flourescent light fixtures throughout the floor give a pleasant sunny daylight effect, no matter what the weather outside.

* * * *

FANCIFUL floral designs, hand painted by Dorothy Everett of the store's advertising staff, call attention to the turquoise lettering of the various sections on the floor.

In addition to expanded sections for customer convenience, existing fitting rooms have been recarpeted and painted, and several more fitting rooms added.

Flower Arranger on Guild Slate

"The Shape of Things Still Undiscovered" will be the subject of a lecture-demonstration by Don Bumbaugh, floral arranger, at a meeting of the Orange County Floral Arts Guild Monday at 10 a.m. at the Santa Ana Woman's Club.

Information concerning the guild may be obtained from Mrs. A. J. Antosik, 149 Prospect Ave., or Mary Lilibridge, 169 Nieto Ave.

GRAND OPENING

LIVE ELEGANTLY IN NEWPORT'S BACK BAY!

Custom Living Cape-Style

In the prestigious Back Bay residential area, the South Oaks Corporation has created The Cape Series, a charming, planned community of professionally designed homes for gracious living, distinctive in architecture, quality and value. The Cape Series is now open.

The charm and simplicity of New England's Cape Cod prevail throughout. Professionally landscaped—and maintained—lawns and gardens separate the homes, admitting sunlight and Pacific breezes. Privacy for the entire residential area and for the individual owner is part of the plan.

The Cape Series offers to the mature family only 35 exceptional homes and a carefree mode of living, relinquishing maintenance and gardening care to professional services. The cost is considerably less than the rent and upkeep for a comparable home in a less attractive setting. Convenience is the keynote of your Cape Series home!

Some of the outstanding features of the Cape Series, which will be of continuing delight to residents are the charming hand split cedar shake roofs, large windows on all sides, quaint shutters, traditional dormer windows and enclosed double car garages.

Interior highlights which point to the quality and fine planning which make the Cape Series unique in Southern California include extra storage area in large wall-to-wall wardrobe closets, genuine raised panel ash kitchen cabinets in rich tones of fruitwood and pecan and many other custom touches provided for years of pleasure and service.

The Cape Series homes, ranging in price from $22,700 to $24,975, present you with a choice of six distinctive plans on one level or two stories with 2 or 3 bedrooms, all with 2 baths . . . plans designed to suit varying individual requirements.

The developers' objective was "custom living in a planned development." They have created a cloistered community, set in the heart of Newport Harbor's exclusive Back Bay area, with every phase of comfortable, care free living carefully provided. A new, rich life of ease and pleasure awaits you now at the Cape Series.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Goes Out to Dine

[EDITOR'S NOTE: Medical-science editor Ben Zinser can't cook, but he does love food, which he may have to give up some of these days because he has learned that calories do count. Anyway, here are some of his views on food:]

By BEN ZINSER
L. P-T Medical Science Editor

One thing I've learned about good dining — and it didn't come from the medical journals — is this:

Never eat in a place boasting signs such as "Good Eats" or "Mom's Place." Or in a place with this sign hanging over the cash register: "The Credit Man Is Out Collecting."

Also beware of the place where the man behind the cash register wears a felt hat and carries a flyswatter.

But if the waiter inquires, "Avez-vous bon appetit?" then you know you're in the right place.

• • • •

Actually, I would much rather the waiter would say, "Tiene Vd. buen apetito?" ("Have you a good appetite?"), because Mexican food is what I prefer.

I'm an enchilada man myself. Used to go for chili, but in my opinion there are no good chili joints west of Phoenix, and I would rather go clear to Texas if I had my druthers. There is no chili like Texas chili.

(Incidentally, you don't dare overdo this chili bit or you may wind up with a Billroth I. See your nearest medical dictionary; I don't have time to explain now.)

• • • •

A doctor friend of mine is a great admirer of Mexican food, and he told me long ago never to order iced coffee with a Mexican meal.

He did once, in a bordertown cafe, and learned the hard way.

"Cafe with ice?" the Mexican waitress inquired incredulously.

"Certainly," he said. "Iced coffee."

Moments later the waitress placed at plateside a conventional coffee mug.

Containing coffee, of course. But hot coffee.

And in the coffee something was floating.

It was:

An ice cube.

A Running Start Toward Delinquency

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a son 15, the oldest of five. He has lived with his maternal grandparents until last February.

Since he has been with us he has skipped school and was brought before the juvenile board. He was discharged with a warning. During the summer, I gave him bus-and-lunch money thinking he was going to summer school—he was not. At home, he quarrels constantly with the children and is very rude and defiant with me. He's always in trouble.

I love him and don't want to see him in an institution, but my problem is also with his father. He is completely unconcerned about the whole thing.

I (and others) think my husband is afraid of his son. I love my husband, too, but I can't seem to get through to him that the kid needs his supervision and guidance.—HELP

DEAR HELP:

If something isn't done and soon, you are going to have REAL trouble! Your son has a running start as a juvenile delinquent.

It is obvious that neither you nor your husband can handle him so I strongly suggest you get outside help. Do it for his sake as well as your own. Since he has been before the juvenile board, talk to the members and/or a family counselor. They are familiar with this sort of thing and best able to advise you.

Of course you don't want him "in an institution," but unless you get professional help, that is just where he is going to be—or worse. —M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My mother says I'm no good, nothing but a parasite. Whenever anyone comes to our house she tells them how bad I am.

I have a so-called "wonderful" 25-year-old brother who hasn't held a regular job for two years, but she is always telling everyone what a grand person he is.

I'm plain sick and tired of being constantly condemned. Even though I've only been around 17 years, I have yet to hear a kind word from my mother to my father or me or my two sisters.

What would you do?—TEEN-AGE PARASITE

DEAR PARASITE:

Your mother is unnatural, to say the least. She seems to care so much about the older brother and so little about her husband and the other children it doesn't fit. Something must have happened somewhere along the line to cause this. Your father should make her realize how unfair she is, how she is hurting you and the girls.

There isn't much you can do except be a good boy and do the best you can. Don't let her bitterness sour you (most mothers aren't like that): I suspect that for some unknown reason she is very unhappy, but she is wrong to let it affect her relationship with you children.

Bear with her for a few more years. Perhaps someday she will realize her mistakes in worshiping her oldest son who isn't so "wonderful" after all.—M.M.

DEA RMRS. MAYFIELD:

I am 15 and going with a boy the same age. He is getting too serious and I want to break it off, but he says he'll kill himself if I do.

I wouldn't ordinarily pay much attention to such a threat but he drinks, and I'm afraid some night when he is "high" he might do something drastic.

What can I do? —TOO YOUNG

DEAR TOO YOUNG:

My advice is to "break it off" at once. You are right—you are both too young. And WHERE does he get the stuff to drink? He's off to a flying start—drinking at 15!

Don't worry about what he "might do"—I seriously doubt that he would do anything and even if he did, blame the one who furnishes the drinks, not yourself—M.M.

Association Publication Wins Award

Announcement has been made by Delores Vincent, president of the Long Beach Medical Assistants Association that "The Quill," monthly publication of the local chapter has again won top state honors.

Miss Vincent recently returned from a board of trustees meeting of the California Medical Assistants' Association in Richardson Springs.

The publication will now be in competition at the national convention to be held in Oklahoma City Oct. 13 through 18.

OCTOBER dinner meeting of LBMAA will be held Monday at 6 p.m. at the Crown Bowl, 1303 E. Artesia Blvd. N. B. Kurnick, M. D., will address the group on the subject of genetics.

Hostesses for the event are Alice Schofield, Clara Kennedy, Helen Moyer and Lucille Minnieur.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Oct. 12-16:

MONDAY: Lasagna, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered whole kernel corn, chocolate pudding, raisin bread square and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hamburger on bun, potato salad, strawberry sauce, pickle chips and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, tossed green salad, sliced peaches, homemade peanut butter cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna - Noodle casserole, buttered green beans, cantaloupe wedge, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL MENU

MONDAY: Cheese enchilada, buttered frozen peas, fruit cup supreme, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad, strawberry - rhubarb sauce, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, frozen corn, sliced peaches, coconut cookie and milk.

THURSDAY: Neapolitan macarroni, buttered green beans, spicy applesauce, hot buttered cornbread and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish with oven browned potatoes or beef-vegetable casserole. Hawaiian Coleslaw, cantaloupe wedge, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

She Computes

NOW YOU TAKE a real, live woman and make a robot and what've you got? You've got an emotional problem, that's what.

Or, rather a lack-of-emotion problem.

Julie Newmar is a real, live woman who has the natural proportions many women go shopping for.

She is also a bundle of emotion.

She is also a robot in CBS-TV's Sunday night "My Living Doll" series, co-starring Robert Cummings.

"Emotion," said Julie, "is a great deal of life. It's like putting your hand on a motor and feeling the warmth of it."

As robot Rhoda, Julie isn't supposed to get her emotional motor started.

"It's like being born two weeks ago," she said. "It's hard not to show emotion —oh boy, it is.

"To be totally cerebral is a demanding exercise."

TO MEET robotic cerebral demands, Julie's decided on the policy of "not registering."

So how do you not register.

You do it by keeping your eyes, hands and mouth a blank.

If you don't know how to do that, take a course in method acting or enroll at the nearest school for robots.

Julie never went to robot school. And she's pretty sure it was her real, live body that got her the computerized role.

In the series, no one except Cummings and one other scientist know she's a robot. His colleagues are emotionally stirred by her sexy appearance.

JULIE'S NOT knocking it.

"My body works for me," she said. "I mean, well, I couldn't play 'Hazel.'

"It's something you've got that you're grateful for and you forget about.

"Then you get down to work. Otherwise, you're hung up on it."

So it's not her svelte physique with which she's concerned, it's her emotions and how to obscure them.

"You see," she said, "I'm not a robot.

"I'm handicapped. I'm real and I must work with what I have."

And that's plenty.

Andy Griffith to Lose His Deputy

DON KNOTTS . . . Emmy Winner Departs

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Don Knotts is probably the only actor in history who got a movie contract because of his ability to play the role of a fish.

Not many actors can, you know. Takes a versatile fellow.

Most stars are signed up by studios because they would look good kissing Doris Day or shooting an Indian. Knotts is good at portraying a fish, preferably a small one.

Knotts was recently given a picture contract by Universal Studio.

He says the bosses at Universal strongly considered his fish role in "The Incredible Mr. Limpet" movie before offering him the well-paying pact.

Such was their concern, that Don believes they saw "Limpet" twice before deciding to grab him off before Marineland hired him.

NOW THAT UNIVERSAL has hooked Knotts, it means that Don leaves his role as "Barney Fife," the hapless deputy on CBS-TV's "Andy Griffith" show.

It's a shame, not because he was much help to Sheriff Andy, but because Don provided the humor not found in many jails, real or make-believe.

Knotts is leaving Andy and the gang with pangs of sadness in his heart. After all they're in their fifth year on the show. However, the pain will be erased once he settles down to being a movie star at Universal.

"I got too good an offer," explained Don, during lunch at Desilu Studio. "I'm going over to Universal and make some movies.

"I had four years of the Steve Allen show every week. Then I came over here and I've been on every week, or almost every week, for four years. And this is the fifth. That's nine years of television every week."

DON'S UNIVERSAL bosses hope to use him in movies, although there are television commitments in the contract.

"For 15 months my commitment requires me to do one motion picture and six television appearances," he said. "They can use me in their TV shows or loan me out.

"At the end of 15 months I'll keep going on movies if I don't fall flat on my face. If I don't continue to do movies, I'll do a TV series of my own. So a lot hangs on that first picture."

Universal hopes to capitalize on the "Barney Fife" character that Don plays on television.

"I shouldn't depart from my character," agreed Don. "That doesn't mean I'll be a deputy and wear a uniform all the time. But I'll keep the same characterization—feisty, over-emotional, actually a childlike character."

There's a rumor that Rock Hudson might leave Universal Studio next year. Knotts was asked if he was Rock's replacement.

"Nope," he answered, "I'm a little short."

Huntington Beach Surfing Films

Films of the recent surfing championship events at Huntington Beach air 5 p.m. today (Sunday) on channel 9.

Stan Richards, host of the program, said Huntington Beach lifeguards claimed the surf "was at its "biggest" since 1958.

William Gallienne, representing the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce, will be interviewed during the program.

Pan and Fan Mail

When channel 4 signed off a few days ago, I noticed a television code that they have adopted.

One point I noticed was that they would not broadcast anything that was an attack on any religion.

Of course, on the surface, this sounds fine if you don't do much thinking.

This is typical "liberal" smokescreen. This is really a violation of the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

This violates free speech and freedom of religion.

You could not possibly quote most passages from the Holy Bible, word for word, without some religion saying that it was an attack on them.

George Spriestersbach, Azusa

So far, George, you're the only one who is complaining.

The code you refer to is that of the National Assn. of Broadcasters and is subscribed to by most television stations.

The provision to which you allude specifies:

"Telecasting, which reaches men of all creeds simultaneously, should avoid attacks on religion."

The undersigned night-workers respectfully solicit your help in improving the quality of TV programs available between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m.

We nite-hawks would deeply appreciate re-runs of programs shown earlier in the evening.

Make it 35 others, F.J. I'm with you.

Would you please tell me what television series Dick York appeared in last season? He is now a co-star of "Bewitched."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

But He's Not Bawling About Progress from No. 5 Bad Guy to 'Peyton Place' Medic

By JOAN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Ed Nelson was a 26-year-old father of three children when he discovered that crying in front of an audience was great fun. So he decided to become an actor.

In a roundabout way, he arrived in Hollywood where he progressed from No. 5 bad guy in westerns (the one who gets shot in the opening reel) to his present role as Dr. Rossi, one of the regular characters inhabiting 'Peyton Place." That's the twice-a-week fall series on ABC-TV.

ED NELSON

As Nelson described his acting rise, he went from the No. 5 bad guy "to No. 4 and 3. Then I played the bad guy who gets shot at the end of the show. Somewhere in here they let me get to the point where I could kiss a horse. Then I progressed to bad-guy-who-turns-good roles, then good-guy-who-turns-bad. Finally I got to kiss a girl."

Nelson, a handsome, green-eyed native of New Orleans, has appeared in about 250 television shows and several movies since he arrived in Hollywood in 1956. He is an able actor who can play roles ranging from sniveling coward to noble hero.

In times of personal involvement, he says he is inclined to become so emotional that he becomes tongue-tied. This business of ad-libbing his way through some of life's strains hampered his early wish to be a lawyer.

"Being a lawyer was something set upon me by those around me. But in practice cases I found myself so anxious to convince judge and jury that my client was innocent, I could hardly talk. I would start out a sentence and become so wrapped up that as I reached the conclusion of the sentence I would repeat what I had already said."

This problem still plagues Nelson. "I remember trying to tell off a director once. Six of us were working in a fight scene in a steamy-hot desert location. And he was so tough we were all mad at him. So that night we made a pact that the next guy he hopped on would tell him off. At the hotel that night I practiced a cutting speech, in case I was the guy.

"The next day we were doing a saloon scene with a lot of people involved. I miscued and touched off a kind of chain reaction where people were pouring coffee before the cups appeared, and all the actors wound up in a pile in the middle of the floor.

"THE DIRECTOR jumped another guy. I came forward and said it was my fault. He yelled at me for trying to be a hero, so I decided to use my rehearsed speech. What came out was something like 'I have never before worked with a director like you and I hope I never before work with a director like you.' I'll never forget the way he stepped back and looked at me with his head cocked to one side, like a dog when he is curious."

After Ed gave up law a friend asked him if he wanted to join Le Petite Theatre de Vieux Carre, 600-year-old membership theater in New Orleans. Ed agreed and wound up playing Biff in "Death of a Salesman."

"That, more than anything else, did it for me. There was one scene in which I was supposed to cry. The director actually made me cry, and it became easy because I really believed the scene. It got so I looked forward to that scene from the time I stopped crying until I started again."

WHEN NELSON arrived in Hollywood he followed the struggling young actor routine by driving cabs, teaching swimming and acting as a lifeguard while looking for work. His first job was in the movie, "The Attack of the Crab Monsters."

"I was the monster, and the only time you saw me was an accidental shot of my feet hanging out the bottom of the crab shell."

IT FIGURES

Same Old Ratings Game Dominates New Season

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) Having endured the slings and arrows of government investigation, now officially ended, television ratings continue to dominate the uppermost influence in the new video season.

If you should suggest to anyone in the industry that this influence might now be even slightly altered, he will look at you as though you are completely mad.

No one, of course, ever expected things to really be very different. The whole idea was to make the ratings more accurate and reputable, the argument being that the basic system is definitely needed so that advertisers can know approximately how many persons are watching their programs — which leads to price rates and so on.

NEVERTHELESS, to sit in the midst of this new season atmosphere of petrified madness is an experience to shrivel the soul, so petty and frantic and unmanly is it. The ratings the industry considers most influential, the national Nielsens, are not even out yet — and, in fact, won't be truly definitive, in the view of believers, until after the elections because of the number of pre-emptions for political broadcasts, news specials and the like. But there are other ratings, and they have people jumping, with all three networks grasping at figures.

Even if the ratings were right beyond question, the best they could do in appraising the new entertainment series at this stage of this season is indicate some apparent hits and misses. Thus they have indicated, for instance, one expected result of the debuts: The seeming smash-hit status of "Peyton Place," with its stepped-up soap opera emphasis on sex. "Variety," the show-business weekly, says this Tuesday and Thursday night-time serial "already is inked in for a three-a-week prime time exposure in its second year." It is also possible that there will be other night-time soap operas.

* * * *

THUS, ALSO, the new monster situation comedies may do well, if these early ratings are anywhere near correct. "The Munsters" apparently drew an imposing figure, and, according to one survey passed on by a happily partisan source, "The Addams Family" actually edged out Bob Hope's star-laden comedy special—an almost unheard-of occurrence. As I say, however, it's all in whether you swallow the figures.

If you do, then you will be interested in a rating that showed a Sunday night movie, "Some Like It Hot," beating out "Bonanza" and streamrollering over a major NBC-TV newcomer, "The Rogues." The ratings, of course, vary with the quality of the movies. Other early ratings allegations: Jack Paar held forth over "The Reporter" and "12 O'clock High." ABC-TV's "Bewitched" is hot, as expected. And "Ben Casey" trounced "Slattery's People."

Nurse Special

Julie Harris has been signed to portray nurse Florence Nightingale in a 90-minute "Hall of Fame" drama set for NBC-TV airing on April 8. Title of the drama is "The Holy Terror."

Political Debate 'Best Rated'

Viewers in one of three homes with their TV sets on watched the debate last Monday between Sen. Pierre Salinger (D) and George Murphy (R), according to KNXT (channel 2).

The station based its estimate on a phone survey taken during the time period of the debate. The debate's rating of 23 outdistanced the next highest station by 87%.

An estimated 1,500,000 viewers watched the special hour-long telecast.

SPECIAL

SCARLET HILL — Premiere. Beth Locerbie stars as widowed owner of a rooming house in a small town in upstate New York. The various strangers who come to stay there make up characters of the daily soap opera.

ANDY WILLIAMS — It's a star-filled hour of fun and music when Liberace plays a Gershwin melody and Phil Harris sings songs of steamboats with the Good Time Singers. Also spotlighted at 10 p.m., ch. 4 in color, is Brazilian composer Antonio Carlos Jobim, originator of the Bossa Nova, playing some of his own compositions including "Desafinado" and "The Girl from Ipanema."

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE — Veteran Ed Wynn, who as a septugenarium began a new career as a dramatic actor, plays a spry old inmate of an unusual home for the elderly who bicycles 60 miles to the state capital to get Slattery's help in fighting the threatened closing of the home. Richard Kiley, co-stars at 10 p.m., ch. 2, as the unorthodox director of the hospital. (Wynn, incidentally, is featured also on this week's Red Skelton show and now is filming a "Bonanza" segment.)

DEBBIE WATSON, in her title role of "Karen," gets surfing lessons at 7:30 p. m. Monday on channel 4.

Bone of--Arf!—Contention

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) -- Filmland's dogs are growling at an edict handed down by the American Humane Assn. which looks out for the welfare of acting pooches.

Watch the bones, the AHA said in its latest bulletin for dogs and their masters. Splintered bones might hurt a hound, who couldn't care less until he starts to choke.

"Dog biscuits or artificial bones are preferrable to real bones," the organization's bulletin said. "Bones are not an essential diet ingredient and may actually be dangerous."

That's a lot of pap as any dog can tell you.

What's the sense of digging a hole if you don't have a bone to bury? And why bare the postman if not to get at his shinbone?

AGREE or disagree, the AHA is still the hound's best friend. The organization is a zealous watchdog for actors with horns, feathers, four feet, flippers, wings and claws. Also trunks.

The organization is to animal actors what Walter Reuther is to auto workers. An AHA inspector regularly visits movie sets and television stages where animal performers are working.

Each hawk-eyed inspector watches for any infractions of rules which govern the employment of those who can't defend themselves — lions and tigers, for instance.

HUMAN actors can take care of themselves, although many of them could use a handler.

The whole thing started in 1910 when animal lovers protested against filmland's treatment of horses. The louder the animals screamed, the louder the animal lovers screamed.

Eventually, producers got tired of all the noise.

AHA's Hollywood man is Harold Melniker, who said "One of the important things that provoked all this was the 'Running W'."

The "Running W" trick, says Melniker, was used on a horse who "ran with invisible wires attached to his front legs. When there was no more wire, the horse went over on his head. It was likely to give you a horse with a broken neck or leg. That's positively forbidden now."

SPECIAL

BIG NEWS — Maury Green reveals "deals" made in California politics in a 3-part "special assignment" beginning today at 6 p.m., ch. 2. Included are Nixon's 1952 Senate race, Knight's being pushed out of the 1958 Governor's race and other secrets involving persons with no further political ambitions.

CAMPAIGN & CANDIDATES — Frank McGee makes a thorough analysis of the state of California and the Presidential campaign within it during an hour-long special at 10 p.m., ch. 4. The state splits within both parties are probed, as well as such issues as social security, medicare, Proposition 14, defense contracts and the "frontlash." Former Sen. William Knowland, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh offer their analyses, with others appearing including Pierre Salinger, Alan Cranston, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, actor Ronald Reagan, JBS's John Rousselot, and George Murphy. (CBS next week offers a full hour on New York's Keating - Kennedy contest.)

'Every Woman Has Little Witch in Her,' Says Liz

LIZ MONTGOMERY

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If Elizabeth Montgomery is a witch, then witch-hunting should become the national pastime.

The beautiful daughter of oldtimer Robert Montgomery plays a witch in the new television series "Bewitched" with enough charm and verve to make Hallowe'en an international holiday.

You may not believe in witches, but Liz does.

"Every woman has a little witch in her," she said during a noon break at Columbia Studios. "Besides, I believe in witches. They're all over the place.

"Actually, we witches don't like Hallowe'en. It's bad for our images. That's the night all the amateurs get into the act, riding around on brooms and all that jazz. We're not hags at all. I've yet to see a genuine witch cackle or stir a cauldron."

* * * *

WHAT Elizabeth and all other witches do best is cast a spell, and that is precisely what the actress hopes to do on her show.

Liz began the ABC-TV series only three weeks after giving birth to her first child, William Allen Asher.

"I was never so tired in my life," she said, "but, I've gradually gained strength. And the fact that Bill has been directing all the shows has been a big help."

Bill is husband Bill Asher who directed Elizabeth in "Johnny Cool" before they were married."

"He's the best director I've ever worked for," Liz said, "and I said the same thing before we were married."

The Ashers drive to work together in the morning and go over their scripts at night.

"We try to keep our family life separate from our working life," Elizabeth said. "But it's not easy. Of course the series is important. But our life together with the

* * * *

ELIZABETH walked back to the set for a scene with her co-stars, Dick York (who plays her husband) and Agnes Moorehead (who plays her mother).

"Agnes is a witch, too," Liz explained. "Because she's several hundred years older than I am, she is a much more powerful witch. I'm supposed to be 300 years old in this show, but I lie about my age. I tell people I'm only 250 years old."

Husband Asher raised his eyebrows at this bit of news and said, "Are you ready, Samantha?" Then he added, "on the set that girl is Samantha to me—the name of her character in the show. So there's never any conflict. She's Liz at home and Samantha at work.

"Believe me, I never get mixed up on which is wife and which is witch."

Richard Boone Plans Hawaii Film Studio

HONOLULU (UPI)—Actor Richard Boone has announced plans to set up a motion picture studio here, with production slated to start in January on a television series.

Boone, who moved his family and his sport-fishing boat here in June after becoming dissatisfied with life in Hollywood, said:

"We're bringing a piece of Hollywood here."

The former star of "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "The Richard Boone Show" said establishment of the studio and the television series is only the first step in the opening of a major film industry in Hawaii.

HE STARTED arrangements for the film studio shortly after coming here, Boone said.

The studio, still unnamed, is expected to be given a name with a local flavor, possibly "The Hawaiian Islands Film Studio."

The studio will be owned and operated by Boone and a local "hui", or group of investors. Boone plans to do all the work here using mostly local talent.

Benny Fiddles for Fund

Appearing as a violin soloist with the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, Jack Benny recently played to a capacity audience in his home town of Waukegan, Ill.

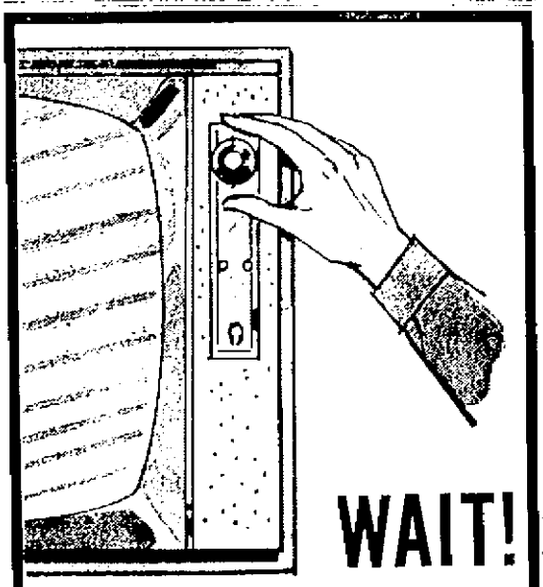

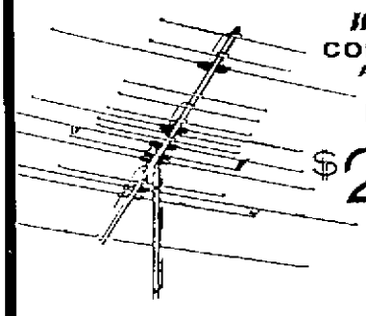

Proceeds of the concert, $20,330, went to establish the new Music Center of Lake County, Ill.

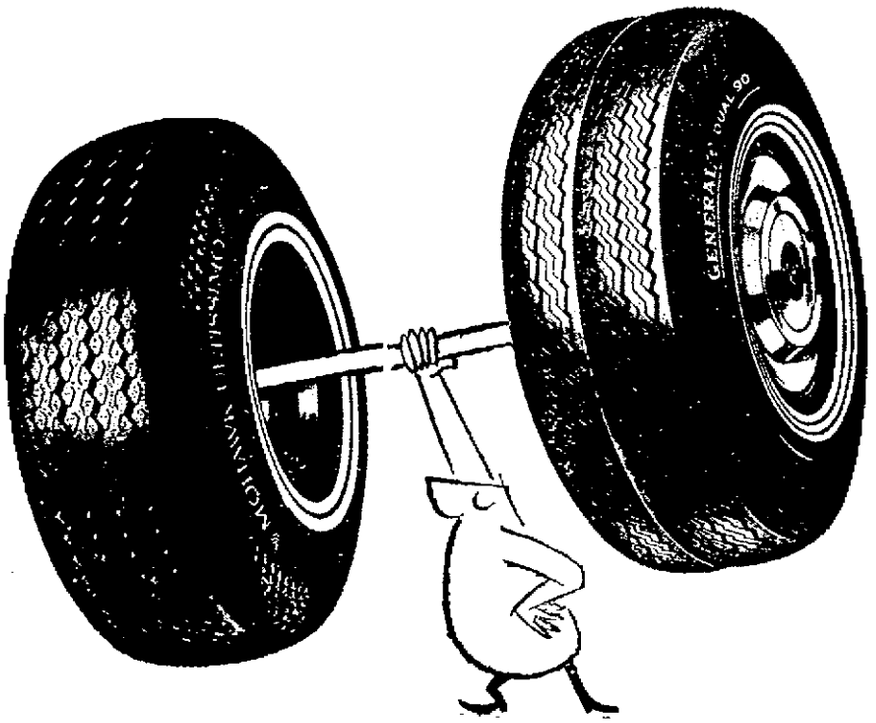

His home-town appearance marked the first time he had played in Waukegan since he was 15 years old.

SPECIAL

DR. KILDARE — Estelle Winwood, Hans Conried, Josephine Hutchinson and Edgar Stehli star as the charming, but eccentric, Blairs during the 8:30 p.m., ch. 4 hour. A greedy scion (Conried) of the hospital-founders tries to have the rest of his family declared incompetent so he can gain control of the estate. Investigation leads Kildare and Gillespie to a post-dated tombstone, an occupied coffin, and a seance during which the family matriarch reveals the contents of her will and a surprising fact about the accuser.

SPECIAL OF WEEK — A double feature documentary opens at 8:30 p.m., ch. 5, as narrator Richard Basehart traces the evolution of Communist suppression in East Germany and Red China — with the inevitable need to escape to freedom. Following, at 9 p.m., Mike Wallace looks at the tragic life of Marilyn Monroe. Latter is a repeat.

Sports Today

WORLD SERIES, if it goes full 7 games, will be screened at 10:45 a.m., ch. 4, in color, with Curt Gowdy and Harry Carey mikeside at Busch Stadium.

OLYMPICS 1964, in two segments on ch. 4. Full hour at 10 p.m. has finals of women's long jump and men's 100-meter dash, rowing 8-oar final and summary, finals of men's springboard diving and women's 100-meter backstroke. Wrap-up at 11:15 p.m. shows finals of men's 400-meter freestyle, men's 200-meter breaststroke, men's discus.

DOBIE GOES WEST

Cattle Rattle Flusters Rustler

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dwayne Hickman, a perennial sophomore on television, is going back to movies playing a cowardly cattle rustler.

As a cattle crook in "Cat Ballou," Dwayne keeps a wary eye on the cows. They frighten him more than the cowboys. When a cow moos, Hickman hoists his hands in the air.

DWAYNE HICKMAN

"Cat Ballou" is Hickman's first picture role in more than five years. During the interim he was star of the old "Dobie Gillis" series which has since gone off the air.

Before that series he had a long run as the sprite on Bob Cummings' hit series.

When "Gillis" went into the wings, Hickman made a pilot film for a new series in which he would play a schoolteacher. He didn't get on the air.

• • • •

"I WAS CAUGHT swimming against the tide," said Hickman of the show's failure. "I made a nice safe comedy. And at the time I made it, they were buying way out shows — monsters and hillbillies.

"It seems to me that television is developing into a gimmicky, mediocre situation. When I started with Cummings 10 years ago, a show with good people, a situation and good writing would go. Now you have to be gimmicky."

When "Gillis" went out of production a year ago, Dwayne made a financial settlement which gave him security for some time to come. He could afford to pick and choose his roles.

"I didn't want to do 'I Was a Teen-Age Monster' and that kind of thing," he said.

• • • •

HICKMAN admits that his professional activity since "Gillis" "hasn't been exciting," but things are now picking up. Three studios are after his services.

"I won't have a day off until the end of the year," said Dwayne.

Hickman can't explain the increased demand for his services any more than he could the lack of "excitement" in his career during the past year.

Chopstick Blues

In earlier broadcasting days, Jim Backus, star of CBS-TV's "Gilligan's Island," was sponsored on radio by a Chinese restaurant.

He used to be paid in chow mein, he attested.

"The trouble with that," he said, "is that two hours after I got paid I was broke."

PRIME RIBS

The Tenderloin is the quality restaurant that serves choice prime rib for only $1.95. Come over soon, we're still at 4363 Atlantic Avenue.

If you value your carpets

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE—In his first of two filmed color comedy-dramas, Hope offers Faith, Purity and Charity, played by Jill St. John, Rhonda Fleming and Marilyn Maxwell, in a Western satire at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4. Hope plays a busted marriage broker stranded and jailed in a rough mining town called Golden Gulch, with Bruce Cabot as the sheriff and Rod Cameron, Sonny Tufts and Aldo Ray as three rowdy brothers who become his clients. When the beauties arrive from the East, however, they've no interest in marriage. Several "surprise" guests are seen in cameo roles, including a 39-year-old fiddle player and a bouncing (redheaded) Ball.

HOSTILITY ABATES

Method Actor Settles for Situation Comedy

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Anthony Franciosa came to town eight years ago, a hot-eyed disciple of method acting, burning to inflict his intensity on unsuspecting movie-goers.

You know the type. The angry young man, mostly angry with himself for not being the world's greatest actor at age 25.

Eight years ago Tony looked down his handsome nose at television situation comedy with the disdain Sir Laurance Olivier might hold for, say, Pat Boone as "Hamlet."

So what is Tony doing now? Right, a situation comedy.

But if you think Franciosa is embarrassed about it, or apologetic or infused with battered illusions, forget it.

He plays his role in "Valentine's Day" (ABC-TV) with dash and style. The doctrinaire Actors Studio syndrome has abated, and Franciosa has proved that he is just as good a comedian as he is dramatic performer—which is very good indeed.

TONY FRANCIOSA

Still, Tony defends the youthful hostility that smolders within all fledgling actors.

"It's good for young actors to be critical and tear things down to examine them," he said during a lunch break at 20th Century-Fox. "They should indulge themselves and learn.

"Eventually, of course, they must readjust their thinking when they get into commercial show business—Broadway, movies and television—which is very different from Off-Broadway and Little Theater. It's one thing to criticize and another to participate.

"I WAS UNPREPARED for the pressure of having to produce, to come through when the chips were down. Once you're in front of that camera you'd better be a professional.

"When I came out here I pretended I knew what it was all about and overcompensated for what I didn't know."

Translated: Tony was as defensive as a porch-climber in a line-up. He filled in his deficiencies with bravado and aggressive chatter about the shortcomings of established stars. He was going to show 'em, by gad, that he was the actor to end all actors.

No such luck.

It's amazing the transformation that success has wrought in Franciosa. He grins easily. He's relaxed. And apparently he ain't mad at anybody, even newsmen with whom he once fought furiously.

Of his video series, he says, "This half-hour comedy show presents as many problems to an actor as a great dramatic role.

"I've never done anything like it before so it is a real test, a challenge. It doesn't come easy to me. It may be full of frills and fluff but it is demanding."

IF YOU ARE LOSING YOUR HAIR...

CONSIDER THIS REMARKABLE RECORD

TUROFF OFFICES IN 10 CALIFORNIA CITIES HAVE GIVEN OVER 1¼ MILLION SUCCESSFUL TREATMENTS. CLIENT SATISFACTION IS CAUSING US TO GROW—AND GROW. JOIN US!

IT HAPPENS every day now. A young man realizes that he's losing more hair than he should. A middle-aged woman discovers that the softness of her hair is caused by its thinning away. Young women who have "tried everything" decide that what they need is professional attention. And middle-aged men see the first signs of the baldness they dread and wonder what is to be done.

NOWADAYS QUITE A LOT CAN BE DONE

Much more than most people think. Nowadays success comes to many people who, not long ago, would have been told that their cases were hopeless.

JUST AS TEETH are destroyed by our "soft" civilized diet, it is conceivable that our hair suffers from our "soft" civilized way of living. Physical inaction, lack of fresh air, inadequate hair and hygiene habits, and nervous stress of modern living may all reflect unfavorably on man's hair growth. From their years of experience in successfully treating hair and scalp disorders, the specialists in the Turoff System have proven that modern man can avoid baldness by counteracting the effects of "soft" civilized living with a "hard" vigorous system of scalp hygiene. THE UNUSUAL SUCCESS of the Turoff System in administering over 1¼ million treatments supports this theory strongly. The inescapable truth is . . . premature thinning of the hair, or actual baldness, is inevitable for many men and women . . . UNLESS CORRECT SCALP HYGIENE IS BEGUN EARLY.

PREPARATION

Much must be done, before the actual Turoff treatment, to condition the scalp properly. First your scalp is thoroughly examined. Every individual is thoroughly examined in complete privacy and an individual course of treatments is determined. No two cases are ever identical, neither are the treatments.

COMPLETE PRIVACY

COMPLETE PRIVACY—No one but you and the Turoff consultant know of your visit. For those finding difficulty in attending Turoff's, a specially prepared Home Treatment Kit can be prepared for your particular requirements (after office consultation).

S. I. Turoff, Director, Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts, now demonstrates remarkable new methods. No appointment needed, for free examination and 30-minute trial treatment.

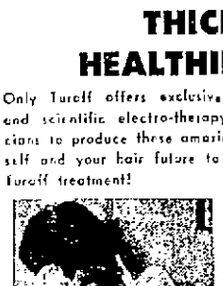

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM S. I. TUROFF

Our new methods are exciting! There is a number of people who wait, till hopeless baldness develops. If you have a hair-loss problem, you should act NOW! I'll make it EASY! Take this pleasant, remarkable 30-minute treatment on a TRIAL basis. PAY NOTHING unless you decide to continue. Don't miss this!

Sincerely,
S. I. TUROFF

NEW WAY TO THICKER, HEALTHIER HAIR

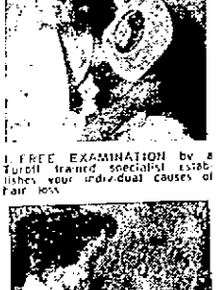

Only Turoff offers exclusive laboratory created formulas and scientific electro-therapy perfected by Turoff technicians to produce these amazing results. You owe it to yourself and your hair future to provide the best the unique Turoff treatment!

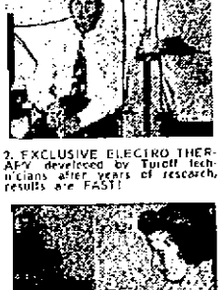

1. FREE EXAMINATION by a Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research, results are FAST!

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas, laboratory produced, another step on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant relaxes tensions, loses and loosens scalp so tissues can grow.

"I'll START LATER"

We have seen more people get hopelessly bald with this attitude than for any other reason. Baldness does not wait! you must have hair for us to help you.

GROWTH CYCLE

Every 4.5 years, every hair is replaced by a new hair. If the hair is weak and colorless, at this point it may denote approaching baldness—although the hair root is still alive. Turoff's exclusive treatment can promote the growth of hair at this crucial point.

TUROFF HAS A NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro therapy. Turoff clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results that Turoff has grown from one clinic to ten clinics and become California's leading hair specialists. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

FREE EXAMINATION

Step into Turoff Hair Treatment Clinic for an absolutely FREE consultation and examination—without obligation! Let him tell you frankly, whether your hair or scalp problem is under Turoff's scope of treatment—and if not—he will refer you to the proper medical or other treatment you require. Your FREE examination and consultation is conducted in private.

DINAH SHORE presents an hour variety special at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, channel 7.

SPECIAL

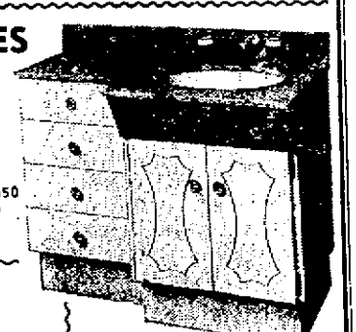

EXPLORING—3rd season premiere. Migration is the topic for the 4 p.m., ch. 4 color hour as animated films, folk singers, puppets and historic footage deal with movement of birds, animals and humans. David Wayne, Theodore Bikel and Alex Hassilev are opening guests, with host Dr. Albert Hibbs and the Ritts puppets.

MISS TEENAGE L. A. — Selection of L.A.'s entry in the national Miss Teen Age contest will be held in the KCOP studios at 9 p.m., ch. 13. Fully sponsored by radio station KFWB, the hour features the rock 'n roll station's 8 deejays—Wink Martindale, Sam Riddle, Joe Yocam, Gene Weed, Bill Ballance, Roger Christian, Larry McCormick and Bill Slater. Winner will go on to Dallas (with contest telecast Nov. 13 by CBS) to compete for a 4-year $10,000 scholarship to the college of her choice.

DINAH SHORE — The vivacious singer returns in the first of four specials to investigate the intriguing, and sometimes frustrating, world of teenagers as seen through the eyes of adults. David Janssen, George Gobel and Rose Marie are special guests at 9:30 p.m., ch. 7, with teenage fads and foibles explored by Gobel's son and the teenage daughters of Dinah and Rose Marie. As 40 youngsters dance the Watusi and the swim, Dinah wings a standard to the big beat.

Air Conditioning, 400 B. C.

By Helen L. Gillum

FOR centuries the hand fan has been an item of necessity and luxury and also has been collectable, over the ages.

These accessories, which date back to ancient China and Egypt of 4000 B. C. (long before the days of air conditioning!), are thought to have been introduced into Europe during the Crusades. They were used by royalty and the nobility, and were collected as a hobby by queens, court beauties, great actors and actresses — and just plain people. One lady of the English courts, Lady Charlotte Schreiber, Whose fabulous collection is now in the British Museum, went so far as to describe her fans in an excellent book, published in 1883, called "Fans and Fan Leaves," a volume still consulted by students of fan history.

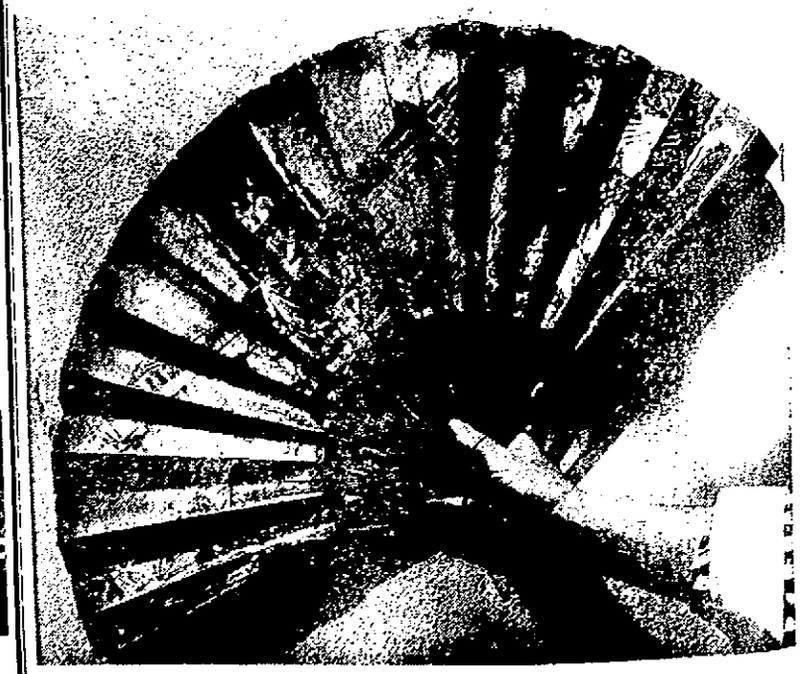

FANS were made in countless types of materials, colors, and decorative procedures. Natural leaf forms, like the palm leaf, and the flat and the fold fans, fashioned from ivory, wood, whalebone, celluloid, silver, silk, lace, parchment, paper, vellum and feathers, were carved, embroidered, painted, enameled, and even set in jewels. Many were designed to commemorate cultural achievements of an era, some depicted legendary or historical events, and others were of a symbolic nature.

A fine assortment of old fans, owned by Miss Pamla Townsend of 6143 N. Hershalt Ave., Lakewood, includes an intriguing fan of symbolic and historical meaning. It is not known how old this 13-inch high paper fold fan is, but the brittle condition of the paper and wooden framework indicates great age. A background of flowers, stately pavillions and other buildings is set in what appears to be a harbor or other body of water. Up close, a statue resembling an angel sits on a throne, holding high what is perhaps the Torch of Freedom. She is surrounded by cherubs carrying symbolic objects, such as a wheel and mallet for industry, an artist's palette for Art, a caduceus for Medicine, and other figures that carry out a representative theme.

ELEGANCIES of bygone opera performances are brought to mind by an 8-inch opera fan, decorated across the leaf with musical instruments. A charming seascape centers on a blue background, and the entire fan twinkles lovely with tiny gold sequins. This fold fan's sticks—or "guards" — are of inlaid ivory and it is complete with a long tassel. Another opera fan, of white ostrich feathers, is still in beautiful condition with white plumes gracefully waving.

A black crepe-de-chine fan, 14 inches high, is gay with cherubs hand-painted in oils in natural tints, and birds, flowers and musical instruments in pastel oils. A white crepe-de-chine fan, with silver, blue and yellow butterflies hand-painted in oils, has wooden sticks hand-carved in a flower and butterfly pattern.

A solid black silk, unadorned mourning fan was a gift to Miss Townsend from an elderly friend. If it lends a somber air, this mood is dispelled by a magnificent 16-inch high peacock-feather fan. When opened to its full width, it displays beautifully matched peacock tail feathers, with the showy rainbow-colored "eye" of each feather falling into harmonious sequence as the fan unfolds.

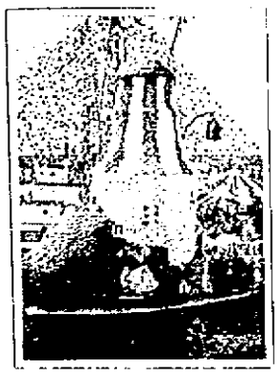

Fans were the air conditioners of ancient times and also have been collectables over the ages. Decorated fan above is of great age and interest.

OUR COVER

San Pedro's "Fishermen's Fiesta" ranks with the Rose Parade, the Mardi Gras and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade as one of the nation's most colorful and best known celebrations. Started by a handful of fishermen grateful for a good season's catch, the Los Angeles Harbor fiesta has grown into a three-day show known around the world and viewed by hundreds of thousands. Capstone of the fiesta, which features street dancing, carnivals and "Old Country" entertainment, is the parade of decorated boats like that on the cover. For a history of this colorful waterfront event and what to expect at this year's show, see Page 7.

Science Closes In on Human Leukemia

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

MEDICAL scientists are closing in fast on human leukemia.

In medical circles there is growing certainty that viruses cause human leukemia—and possibly other forms of cancer.

Research findings are snowballing. Because scientists have become so optimistic over the new wealth of knowledge about leukemia, funds for expanded research have been rushed through Congress.

The National Cancer Institute, a research arm of the U.S. Public Health Service, and drug industry investigators have combined forces to launch a crash program. Aim: to nail down the viruses believed to cause human leukemia.

AT THE NATIONAL Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., authorities estimate they will need $30 million over two years to carry out this crash program.

Some of the money is expected to be allocated when Congress reconvenes next year. A special $10 million appropriation already has been rushed through.

Says Dr. W. Ray Bryan, an official of the NCI: "It has been firmly established that certain leukemia and lymphatic cancers of chickens and mice are caused by viruses. The evidence strongly suggests that counterpart diseases may occur among humans."

A statement from the Senate Appropriations Committee, which heard testimony from eminent scientists, notes that "viral causation of leukemia is very close to full, scientific proof."

SEVERAL researchers have reported seeing particles in the blood of human leukemia victims. These particles resemble leukemia viruses found in mice.

At Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., researchers have successfully grown these human leukemia virus-like particles in the laboratory.

Until recently, attempts to grow these particles in tissue cultures had been unsuccessful.

Thanks to powerful centrifuges and electron microscopes, these particles can be seen today in at least 30% of victims of acute leukemia of childhood.

RESEARCHERS at the National Cancer Institute have produced what appear to be pre-leukemia symptoms in monkeys by injecting virus-like particles taken from leukemia patients.

At Middlesex Hospital Medical School in London, investigators have apparently transmitted a human lymphoma (a tumor) to monkeys by using what appears to be a virus. This tremendous achievement confirms the viral nature of at least one form of human cancer.

Preliminary evidence also indicates that leukemia in cats is caused by a virus.

At the John L. Smith Memorial for Cancer Research laboratories in Maywood, N.J., occasional virus-like particles have been isolated from human blood plasma. Attempts are now being made to pin down their identification.

THE PLASMA containing the virus-like particles was taken from "cluster" patients. A number of leukemia cases have occurred in persons residing in one locality, leading to the belief that a common cause, such as a virus, may be responsible for the disease.

Clusters of leukemia have been reported in communities in Wyoming, Utah, New Jersey, Georgia, Illinois and Maryland. Best known example of leukemia-clustering is that in Niles, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

The Niles episode touched off what is believed one of the most significant facets of leukemia research.

It all started with a letter from St. John Brebeuf School in Niles.

ADDRESSED to the American Cancer Society's Illinois division office, it read: "In the past six months we have had what we feel is an unusual number of deaths of children from leukemia."

There followed the names, ages, addresses and dates of death of eight youngsters, plus information on about five more then ill with the disease.

"We hope and pray that your efforts to cure such diseases will meet with success," the letter said. "May God bless you and your work." (Signed) Sister Mary Viva, principal.

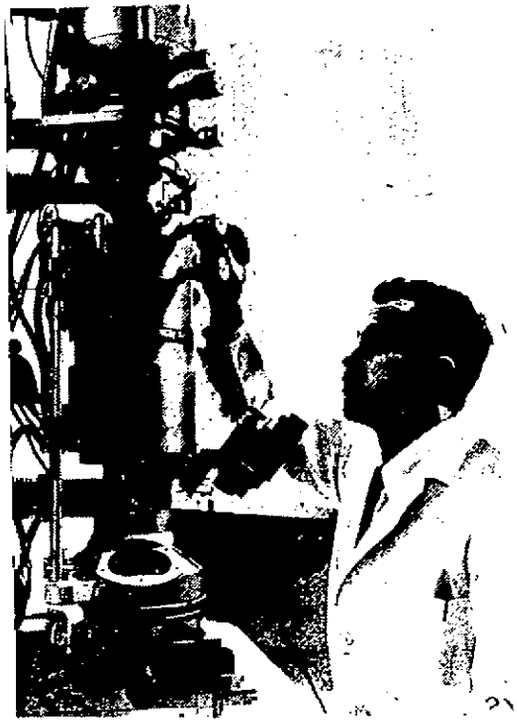

Goal of the virus research is development of a vaccine to protect against human leukemia.

THE GOAL may be within reach. Even now, vaccines exist to protect mice against leukemia.

Dr. Steven O. Schwartz, Chicago, blood specialist with the Hektoen Institute for Medical Research, says a vaccine for human leukemia is an "absolute certainty."

Medical Tribune, a newspaper for doctors, editorializes that although optimism must be tempered with caution, "prospects for great discoveries seem truly to be at hand."

The search for the human leukemia virus and a vaccine to cope with it is easily the hottest program in medical research today.

Electron microscope is aiding scientists in attempts to link viruses with human leukemia.

Tremendous power of electron microscope shows up Rauscher viruses in leukemia mice blood.

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812, for origin, meaning and brief geneology, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on NORRIS, NOURSE.—F. J., Torrance; S. N., L. D., Long Beach.

F. J., S. N., L. D.: NORRIS and NOURSE are from the old French word "Noreis" meaning "northerner." An alternate but very doubtful old French source was Norrice meaning "nurse." French Norris forefathers migrated to England where Hugh Le Norreis lived in 1199. The most prominent Norris shield has a silver cross on a background covered with silver and black rectangles. The will of the Rev. Edward Norris, an American ancestor, was proved in Massachusetts in 1660.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please identify MULVIHILL.—D.P., Bellflower; J.M., Lakewood.

D.P., J.M.: MULVIHILL started as the Irish Gaelic O'Maoil-Michil, denoting "Sons of the Servant of St. Michael." This lineage who were early rulers of County Roscommon, descended from a chief who died in battle in A.D. 866. Their shield has two blue rampant lions supporting a red hand above a silver salmon on a silver backing, for the upper half; and a green lower half emblazoned with a gold Irish harp flanked by two erect battle axes.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on LAW.—J.L., Stanton; L.L., E.L., Long Beach.

J.L., L.L., E.L.: LAW originated as the dialectical north English and Scottish term "Lawe" meaning "burial-mound hill." This locational name was used by ancestors to landmark their property which had on it a prehistoric Bronze Age burial mound. Primary progenitors include Benedict de la Lawe in 1246. The Law shield is covered with ermine, emblazoned with two red roosters and three red stars with gold centers engraved on a diagonal gold stripe. The family motto "Compositum jus fasque animi" translates from Latin as "law and equity."

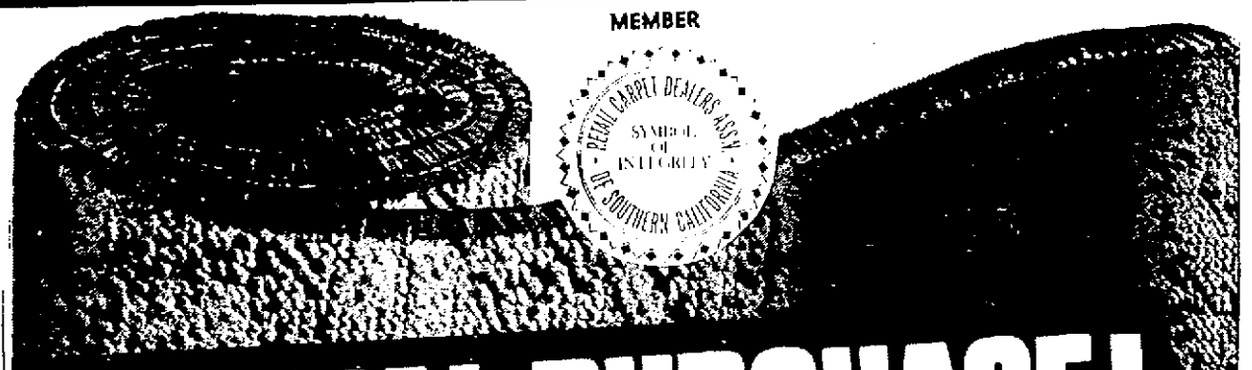

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the background of ROCHA.—G. R., Westminister.

G.R.: ROCHA is a distinctive Spanish property-descriptive surname meaning "land that was cleared of brush." The Rocha coat-of-

Little Red Schoolhouse

By Earline M. Gladstone

MANY of the younger generation consider the "Little Red Schoolhouse" a symbol of our American educational system in Grandma's Day. Youngsters of Ballard, a village three miles north of Solvang, have a different conception of the phrase. To them the Little Red Schoolhouse is a very important part of their present-day life, for they still learn the rudiments of education in a neat, diminutive, crimson building trimmed in white. Every fall the bell rings out the lazy summer vacation and rings in another year of school.

On Dec. 20, 1883, Miss Nellie Gallagher opened the doors of Ballard's new school building and welcomed her pupils for the first time. The structure has been in continuous use as a schoolhouse ever since.

Today two huge black walnut trees frame this storybook school, and shade the picnic tables and the hopscotch pattern in front. There are starched white curtains at the window, and a clock on the wall measures the hours, unmindful of the three generations of Ballard citizens who have passed that way.

Mrs. Grace L. Davison, author of several books, and former teacher at the Little Red Schoolhouse, still lives nearby. She was 8 years old when she attended school that first day in 1883. She and her several brothers and sisters graduated from the Ballard school, as did her own five children many years later.

She recalls that in the beginning, church services as well as school activities were held in the schoolhouse. Weddings, funerals, civic and social affairs also took place there.

As the Ballard school was the first one in the Santa Ynez Valley, pupils came from far and near. Some rode horses and others arrived on foot. Children living at the Santa Ynez Mission walked the three miles to school. All youngsters brought their lunches in tin pails. Water for the school was carried in buckets from the well of a nearby resident. Everyone drank from the same dipper.

A bell tower was added to the building about 1890. Before that time the teachers summoned their pupils by beating on a triangle. The girls sat on one side of the schoolhouse, and the boys on the other. Playgrounds were spacious, but divided, and there was no trespassing. Discipline was the order of the day, and the teacher was not restrained from using the rod if she deemed it necessary. Girls wore sunbonnets, and the boys hats, but they all came to school bare-footed and sun tanned.

On Friday afternoons visitors were welcomed, and the children participated in special programs. School books were paid for by parents. As they were expensive they were handed down from one child in the family to the next, almost like heirlooms. The girls did the janitor work. On special occasions they not only swept and dusted the schoolroom, but garnished it with flowers, greenery, and gay pictures.

Formerly, one teacher taught nine grades in the one room that measures 24 feet by 32 feet. Today fewer grades are taught in the tiny building, and there are two teachers. There were no graduation exercises in the "old days," but a student completing the 9th grade was given an examination sent out by the county school board. If he passed the test he was a graduate.

Mrs. Davison remembers that many prominent people attended school in Ballard's Little Red Schoolhouse, among them Ira Robert Taylor Smith, author of "My Fifty Years in the White House."

Coming Next Week: Waterfront's Most Spectacular Show

The Fiesta of the Fishermen

Dancers in foreign dress and doing native dances give international flavor to the Fishermen's Fiesta.

By Lou Jobst

IT HAS BEEN called a pescatorial Pageant of the Masters and a seagoing Tournament of Roses.

It has been the center of a religious controversy and called a careless carnival with political overtones.

It has gay, ribald, wild, solemn and even heroic moments.

It is the nation's third most photographed event, overshadowed only by the Rose Parade and the Mardi Gras.

It is the traditional end of the fishing season in America's largest fishing town and the mecca of 300,000 to 400,000 persons every year.

It is the waterfront's most spectacular festival.

It is the Fishermen's Fiesta of Los Angeles Harbor.

THIS YEAR'S autumnal rites—the 14th annual presentation of the fiesta—will be held Friday through Sunday, Oct. 23-25.

Theme of the 1961 Fiesta, expected to be the largest, most extravagantly colorful and best attended in the spotty history of the celebration, is Melodyland, featuring themes built around the great tunes and songs.

The theme, like the Skipperette, Miss Cathi Vilicich, 17, and her two Seamaids, Luara Modrid, 17, and Suzanne Butler, 16, were selected by contest in August.

Skipper or grand marshal of this year's show is Burton W. Chace, long-time Southern California government and civic leader and supervisor from the Fourth District.

Chace is a resident of Long Beach and veteran advocate of the waterfront district and beach cities.

ANOTHER LAWMAKER, Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, was skipper of the 1963 event, which was the second to be held in succession since a four-year suspension from 1958-62. It was devoted to dedication of the $21 million Vincent Thomas Bridge spanning the main harbor entrance channel.

While the fete will pretty well follow the tried-and-true format of past years, what was probably its most moving and meaningful event, the "blessing of the fleet," will be noticeably absent again this season.

"The blessing of the fleet," an eight-century-old tradition of Mediterranean fishermen (from whom most San Pedro fishermen are descended), was dropped as a result of a contention it violated the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

CATHOLIC CLERICS had participated in the ceremony, which antedates the start of the formal Fiesta program in 1916, and this was objected to because both the city and county of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Harbor Department give financial support to the Fiesta.

A threatened law suit was dropped when Fiesta officials agreed last year to drop the blessing of the fleet from the program.

This put no damper on the show as more than 83 units participated in the land parade and 70 brightly and cleverly decorated boats in the seaborne parade.

The Fiesta traces its origin back to 1921 when a few of San Pedro's immigrant fishermen decided (no one is sure why) to parade their boats to Catalina Island.

THE INFORMAL show was held a few times during the bleak depression years and then largely forgotten until the first really big celebration was held in 1945.

Finally, in 1948, the organized show, which includes the boats decorated with papier mache, street dancing, carnivals, a beauty contest, a fish fry, international culinary and fireworks, got under way.

Through the years Fiesta skippers have included now Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. Pat Brown.

OLD TIMERS recall that only 42,000 persons showed up for the first official Fiesta right after the war.

That year a single plane flew over the parade.

Last year more than 250,000 persons attended and the final event featured a big flight of a full Navy squadron of jets.

Days, sometimes weeks, are devoted to decorating boats in varied themes for the parade.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO AT THE BIG FISHERMEN'S FIESTA

FRIDAY (Oct. 23):

Official opening at 2 p. m. Program includes boat decorating, harbor boat rides, carnival rides, international food booths, and fish fry.

SATURDAY (Oct. 24):

SUNDAY (Oct. 25):

10 a. m., International food booths, harbor boat rides, carnival rides, fish fry, open house on U. S. Navy ship, boat parade, and international folk dances.

BIZARRE SURROUNDINGS, IMPROBABLE CIRCUMSTANCES --EVEN MIRTHFUL MISHAPS!

Weddings Can Be Wacky

Wacky note at one wedding came when a hornet in preacher's pants stung the parson four times.

By Frank L. Remington

MIDWAY THROUGH an Alabama marriage ceremony, the officiating justice of the peace asked the bride if she'd obey. The independently minded girl retorted angrily, "Do you think I'm crazy?"

The highly-nervous groom blurted out, "I do." Pandemonium reigned for several minutes before the harried justice ultimately completed the nuptial rites to the bride's satisfaction.

The newlyweds might have done better at Wally Smith's service station in nearby Florida. A notary public authorized to join starry-eyed couples who have valid marriage licenses, Smith weds them free of charge in his Miami gas emporium—if they purchase at least five gallons of gas. One couple insisted on tying the knot atop the elevated grease rack. Smith obliged, though the eager groom almost tumbled off when he leaned over to buss his bride.

Bizarre surroundings, improbable circumstances and mirthful mishaps frequently make for wacky weddings. Several years back in Hutchinson, Kan., for example, Bill Dennis and Pat Gough ultimately said "I do," even though Dennis forgot to pick up the license, the pastor became ill, the bride's brother failed to arrive in time to take part in the proceedings, the air conditioning blew out the church candles, and the bridegroom discovered he didn't have the wedding ring.

SEVERAL YEARS ago Evangeline Karsai repeated marriage vows with Jevan Urosevic in the middle of the Ambassador Bridge linking the United States and Canada. The groom, a displaced Yugoslav living in Windsor, Ontario, couldn't enter the United States until his visa application cleared. The bride could not get married in Canada because her U. S. divorce hadn't cleared international red tape. So they got parsoned while the bride stood in the U. S. and the groom in Canada with only the toes of his shoes impinging this side of the border.

Equally singular, the nuptial rites of Olive Pratt and Polk Eastman took place more than a century ago while the lovers stood on one side of the Kentucky River and the minister on the other. The turbulent river, swollen by spring rains, defied crossing. Consequently, the cleric shouted the usual questions across the stream. The happy pair hollered back their vows and a few minutes later the iron-voiced parson pronounced them man and wife.

One of the wackiest weddings occurred in Bahia Blanca, Argentina. Acrobatic lovers Hilde Littig and Jupp Klein committed merger while dangling from a double trapeze 150 feet in the air. On the other hand, J. F. Gutrick and Katie Wilson literally went off the deep end in commencing their matrimonial venture. They donned diving suits to be married at the bottom of a Los Angeles swimming pool.

DAVE GOLDBERG took his fiancee, Hilda Schneider, on a roller coaster ride along with a clergyman. They completed the jaunt as man and wife. Sentimental Clara Chmiel of Philadelphia chose to start her marital career in the Willow Grove Amusement Park's tunnel of love. That's where her intended, Stanley Gutowsky, had popped the question.

Numerous couples have exchanged nuptial vows while soaring above the earth in a balloon. The first bridal balloon flight occurred in 1865, with Mary Jenkins and John Boynton in co-starring roles. More than 6,000 spectators watched the goings-on, all cheering wildly as the balloon rose to romantic heights from Manhattan's Central Park.

Within the red-and-gold-draped balloon basket the wedding party stood ankle-deep in rich carpeting. The outside of the basket fluttered with American flags. Riding high above the city, the couple signed the marriage contract and soared on and on. Ultimately they landed in the suburbs that night. And Mary and John lived happily together for more than 40 years.

Recently Alberto de Cristofaro and his intended bride really took a nuptial leap to start out their life together. In a plane some 1,300 feet above Italy's Turin Airport, they leaped out and parachuted gracefully to earth where a priest who'd jumped minutes before greeted them. The three principals climbed into a jeep and motored to the church for the rites.

A FEW YEARS ago in Miami, Fla., Frank Dyslin and Betty Anderson tried to get married while speeding along the ocean's surface on water skis, but the boat's motor drowned out the minister's words. To further complicate matters, one bridesmaid's swimsuit split up the back. Then both Frank and Betty lost their balance and fell in the water. But the story has a happy ending. The two swam to shore and completed the ceremony while standing up to their hips in water.

Humorous sidelights and outlandish incidents characterize many weddings. Clad only in a revealing bikini swimsuit at her nuptial ceremony, an uninhibited Los Angeles bride explained: "It seemed very appropriate for a hot day like this." At another wedding, the bride's skirt suddenly slipped to the floor. The groom fainted, the minister turned his head away, but the best man whipped off his jacket and wrapped it around the blushing young lady.

At a recent wedding in Bournemouth, England, the minister got no further than, "Dearly beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of . . ." when the best man sagged to the church floor in a dead faint. Although horrified, the vicar continued the ceremony, and a few seconds later a young choir boy keeled over in a faint.

STILL SHAKEN, the vicar continued. But now Alan Farwell, the groom, turned pale, swayed momentarily, and then collapsed to his knees. The bride helped him to his feet and supported him until the moment came when she was to receive her ring. Someone rummaged through the clothing of the best man—still prostrate—to retrieve it. At this, the bridesmaid fainted. The sight induced four others in the audience to pass out. Racing through the rest of the ceremony, the vicar pronounced the pair man and wife. As to the eight faintings, the cleric said: "The church wasn't overheated. It was just sheer nerves."

Rev. White Iddings of Albermarle, N. C., suffered a harrowing experience. As the strains of the wedding processional floated through the church, he began a strange series of contortions somewhat resembling The Twist. A yellow jacket had crawled up his trousers and stung his leg four times.

Oddly enough, there's occasionally some doubt as to who will end up as the bride's spouse, or, indeed, whether she'll gain a husband at all. A Kentucky man learned he'd have to wait three days after applying for the license before he could get married. "If it's all that trouble just to get married," he declared, "I'm not interested any more."

A BOSTON BRIDE experienced one of the most frustrating and puzzling weddings. During the wedding banquet following the ceremony, she dozed off. When she awoke, the bridegroom and all the guests had departed. She didn't see her husband again until five years later.

Illustrated by CLYDE WINSLOW

Reno clerk flipped a coin to choose between two prospective grooms for undecided bride.

Some years back Miss Dorothy Williams walked into Reno's Marriage License Bureau with a problem—or rather two of them in the form of two young men. "Both of them want to marry me," she explained. "But I can't make up my mind."

The clerk simply tossed a coin into the air and told one of the wooers to make the call. Harold Nelson called "heads" and heads it was. He middle-aisled Dorothy with the losing suitor serving as his best man.

In Los Angeles, Rex Jackson repeated nuptial vows with Anita June, but the groom vanished right after the ceremony. Three days elapsed before the bride saw him again and asked what was going on. "I married you to win a bet," Rex explained. "Don't worry, you're not hurt." Hurt or not, the stood-up bride promptly won an annulment.

ANITA FARED a little better than Claudia Scalcos. Some 400 guests packed Rome's St. Joseph Church to watch her nuptials. "Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?" the officiating priest asked Vittorio Janitti-Piromallo. Vittorio shuffled his feet and scratched his head in apparent indecision, and finally said "no." Without pausing longer, he turned heel and walked up the aisle and out the door.

An 18-year-old bride in Venezuela, though, doubtless had the biggest problem of all: she exchanged vows with the wrong man and didn't even know it. Pretty Aminta Paredes de Garcia told municipal authorities she was engaged to Rafael Garcia, whom she chose over Rafael's identical twin, Norberto. While Rafael was out of town, Norberto proposed immediate marriage. She said she found out too late that she had married Norberto, who used Rafael's birth certificate.

WHETHER a minister performs a marriage ceremony across the river from the marital candidates, or eight people faint at the nuptial rites, or even whether the officiating cleric gets stung four times by a yellowjacket, weddings will continue unabated. And some of them are bound to be bizarre. Some time, perhaps soon, an adventuresome couple probably will decide to wed on the moon while clad in space suits. An ideal bride for the occasion is the girl who promised her man-hating mother never to marry any man on the face of the earth. If such a ceremony occurs, it will win all honors for unique weddings.

Legend of the Cocos Treasure

Illustrated by CLYDE WINSLOW

Cocos Island is a land of mystery and stories of cached pirate treasure.

By J. Gordon

INVARIABLY, a tale of treasure arouses a great deal of interest but rarely does such a story attract as many well-heeled, well-organized expeditions as the treasure tale of Cocos Island. Its immense wealth has prompted more than 500 well-fitted expeditions to make it the most sought-after treasure anywhere.

Cocos Island belongs to the Republic of Costa Rica and lies basking in the Pacific Ocean about 300 miles off the coast of that Latin American country. In the 17th and 18th centuries, this four-mile strip was the ideal catch-all for the products of pirate raids and lootings. It was frequented by such buccaneers as Capt. John Cooke, Capt. Edward Davis, Benito Bonito, William Dampier and Capt. Cowley. It is believed that each of these men used Cocos to protect their loot from the vindictive wrath of government gunboats. Of those mentioned, Davis and Bonito are the more notable.

Davis, who at one time had a thousand pirates operating on his behalf and under his direction, raided and looted Spanish ships and towns in and around South America in the 18th century. He accumulated a fortune of several kegs of gold doubloons, 150 tons of silver reales and more than 700 bars of gold and buried it all on Cocos.

BONITO, sometimes referred to as "Bonito of the Bloody Sword," was supposed to have buried more than 300 tons of silver and gold pieces of eight in a cave on Cocos and several dozen kettles filled with gold doubloons on a small strip of land in a river on the island. He and his officers were caught and executed by the British for piracy. His crewmen were sent to a penal colony in Tasmania, where they died. Those two treasures are allegedly still buried on Cocos Island.

The island's biggest attraction and most authenticated treasure is called "The Loot of Lima." It came from the city of Lima, Peru, in 1821 and was placed on the island by an English mariner named Capt. Thompson. The treasure consisted of gold, most of which had been amassed by the Spaniards in their conquest of the Incas who used the gold in construction and architecture. The bulk of the gold belonged to the government; the rest to the church of Lima which, at that time, contained more gold than any other place of worship in the world. Among its contributions to the "loot" were its giant-sized, solid gold candlesticks, a large jeweled altar plate molded of solid gold and a life-sized, gold statue of the Blessed Mother and Child.

The story of this treasure begins in 1821 when a revolutionary army led by Bolivar, an uprising liberator, threatened the safety of Lima and its treasure. The government and many of the wealthy residents sent their valuables to Callao, a seaport about eight miles away. The attack on the city was imminent and the fruits of victory would be the loot of the treasure and the plunder of the gold-encrusted cathedral. The church was stripped of its gold which was sent with the other valuables to Callao. Upon arrival at the seaport, it was discovered there was only one ship available, the brig Mary Dear, commissioned under a British Flag and commanded by a Capt. Thompson. No one of stature could vouch for the integrity of Thompson and there was too little time to investigate the authenticity of his professed honesty. Thompson was not told of the nature of his cargo and, determined to learn it, watched the loading process closely. His vigil paid off when he saw a few of the more than 200 jeweled swords being loaded and caught glimpses of the gold as it was being lowered into the hold.

WHEN THE LOADING was complete, a heavy guard was placed on the ship. Thompson was ordered to make ready to get under way at a moment's notice in the event the revolutionaries were successful. He mingled with the crew spreading word of the gold and urging them to kill the guards. They awaited their opportunity, overpowered the guards and made off with the treasure. Thompson sailed directly to Cocos Island and buried the loot. Soon afterward, a fast Spanish man of war dispatched from Panama overtook and captured the Thompson vessel. The crew was tried and executed. Thompson and his mate escaped. The mate later died of fever and Thompson eventually worked his way to Newfoundland. He died before he could return for the "loot."

Long after that time a supposedly authentic letter from Thompson was uncovered. It says, in part, "Reaching back from the shore where we made our landing, was a piece of level ground about two acres. The ground laid on the foot of a mountain. Down its side ran a stream. We followed the stream very near to its head, on the level ground at the foot of the mountain. Here we selected the spot and buried the treasure. Some was in boxes and some in hides, and there were 10 boatloads in all." This alleged treasure is purported to be worth in excess of $30 million and some estimates place it closer to $60 million. This, together with the other pirate loot means Cocos Island contains more than $100 million worth of gold, silver and jewels.

THIS TREASURE-FILLED island is remote and uninhabited. It rises out of the sea, shrouded in mist and covered with a thick jungle growth. For the most part, it soars straight up, reaching heights of two to 600 feet along its shoreline. Standing erect like a lone skyscraper, the island has hundreds of waterfalls which pour unceasingly from the faces of her cliffs. This is a result of the heavy, all-year rainfall which keeps the stream beds swollen and the face of the island changing by the process of natural erosion. This process could very well explain the disappearance of Bonito's "strip of land in a river" and Thompson's stream "on the level ground at the foot of the mountain." Even if the maps which have sold for as high as $20,000 were authentic, they would be ineffective because of the erosion and the fact that hundreds of explorers have altered and re-altered the landmarks.

The latest explorer was adventurer Fred W. Nyquist of Newport Beach, who headed a 10-man expedition which left Long Beach last June on a 110-foot powerboat. This was the ex-photographer's second crack at the Cocos secret. He had been a member of the 1963 J. A. Forbes Expedition.

Forbes, one-time citrus farmer from Riverside, launched a total of eight expeditions to the fabulous island. Buying such tools as metal detecting devices and heavy earth-moving euipment, the Forbes people transported it to the wealthy island from Newport and Long Beach. Each of the Forbes expeditions were unsuccessful.

ARMED WITH NEW information, the Nyquist Expedition went searching for the Lima treasure. They remained on the island for two weeks, blasting boulders and probing to a depth of 35 feet with a large power drill in a pre-selected spot. On his return to Newport Beach, Nyquist said, "If the treasure is there, and I believe it is, it is no longer recoverable. It was probably buried in tideland and, because of its tremendous weight, the gold would sink in the Cocos sand to a depth where no one will ever find it."

Possibly Nyquist is right, and then he could be wrong. The treasure may be discovered tomorrow or next week or next month in a cache previously overlooked. For the treasure hunter there is always a glimmer of hope.

Cocos can be reached easily by chartered boat from Puntarenas on the west coast of Costa Rica. The fee is nominal and during the hunting season, can be shared with one of the several hunting parties going to the island in search of wild pig and other small game.

This truly remarkable island contains "the stuff dreams are made of" and its legend will continue to live as long as there is an air of nostalgia when men think of places adventurous and far away.

CALIFORNIA IN 1849 . . .

A Ball to Celebrate a Constitution

By Maymie R. Krythe

OCTOBER 12 is a national holiday—Columbus Day—but it is also an important California date, for, on this day in 1849, the members of the state constitutional convention completed the drafting of the California Constitution. That night they celebrated the significant event by a Grand Ball; then next day they met again to sign the important document, which the people ratified a month later.

Gov. Bennett Riley had called for an election Aug. 1 to choose delegates for this vital convention. In September, at Monterey, the 38 delegates from Northern California, and the 10 representatives from the southern section met at Colton Hall.

CONVENTION members were made up of native-born rancheros, such as Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo, Jose Antonio Carrillo, and Pablo de la Guerra; Americans who had lived for some time in California, including Abel Stearns, owner of Rancho Los Alamitos, Thomas O. Larkin of Monterey, and Capt. John Sutter. Several of the representatives from northern towns were comparative newcomers. Dr. Robert Semple, who had taken part in the Bear Flag Revolt, was chosen to preside, and Capt. William G. Marcy served as secretary.

Congressional action on California's admission into the Union was delayed almost a year and it was Sept. 9, 1850, before President Fillmore signed the bill. Another six weeks passed before the news reached the West Coast.

For an excellent description of the last days of the convention we are indebted to Bayard Taylor, a newspaper man, sent out by the New York Tribune to gain first-hand knowledge of affairs on the Pacific Coast. In the summer of 1849, he left New York, traveled across Panama, and reached Monterey in time for the most of the convention.

Since the citizens of Monterey had honored the members with a ball on their arrival, the delegates at the close of their work each gave $25, for a total of raising $1,000, for the gay social event on the evening of Oct. 12, 1849.

THE TABLES and chairs were cleared from the hall, and it was decorated with young pine trees. At each end of the room, which was lighted by three chandeliers, were draped American flags.

At 8 p.m. — the fashionable hour for beginning a ball in Monterey — the guests began to arrive and the hall was soon filled with Californians and Americans. There were 60 or 70 women, about the same number of men, besides the convention representatives. Bayard Taylor had given a vivid description of the ladies who were there:

"The dark-eyed daughters of Monterey, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara mingled in pleasing contrast with the fairer bloom of the trans-Nevadan belles. The variety of feature and complexion was fully equaled by the variety of dress. In the whirl of the waltz, a plain, dark, nun-like robe would be followed by one of pink satin and gauze; next, perhaps, a bodice of scarlet velvet with gold buttons, and then a rich figured brocade, such as one sees on the stately dames of Titian."

THE GENTLEMEN, too, wore their best, but Bayard Taylor reports that "a complete ball dress was a happiness attained only by the fortunate few." White kid gloves could not be purchased in Monterey; and it was reported that one man paid $50 for the use of a pair of patent leather boots for that one evening. The writer, too, had to borrow some clothes for the occasion. He had to "accommodate his pantaloons," which were much too large for him, "by a liberal use of pins."

However, the whole company looked very "genteel"; several officers, including Gen. Riley, were in full military dress; and some aristocratic California dons were in attendance. But the writer declares that to him the most interesting person present was Padre Ramirez in his clerical cassock.

The band consisted of two violins and two guitars, and they "made up in spirit what they lacked in skill." The dances were the waltz, contra-dance, and quadrille.

"The etiquette of the dance was marked by that grave, stately courtesy, which has been handed down from the old Spanish times. The gentlemen invariably gave the ladies their hands to lead them to their places on the floor; in the pauses of the dance both parties stood motionless side by side, and at its conclusion the lady was led bravely back to her seat."

Supper, announced at midnight, was served on the first floor. The refreshments consisted of turkey, roast pork, tongue, and pates, with various kinds of drinks. The ladies began to leave about 2 a.m. and when Bayard Taylor left an hour later, the dance was still going strong.

So, in this gala way, the completion of the California Constitution was celebrated more than a century ago in Old Monterey.

Free Donkey, Anyone?

By Vynola F. Limerick

ANYONE for a free donkey? You must not eat him, but one may be had for the asking; all that is necessary is a permit from the State Department of Fish and Game to lasso and lead home a feral (wild) burro from the closest government range.

This is with the understanding that he is to be domesticated for a beast of burden or a backyard playfellow and not to wind up on the family festal board as the piece de resistance.

To people in general, nothing could seem less appetizing than burro steaks but to some gourmets they are quite a delicacy. In fact, the government had to intervene to keep a nedacious America from practically eating the defenseless beast off the face of western United States.

PRIOR TO 1939, the chief menace to the small donkey with the Mexican name, was ruthless slaughter for pet food. After an indignant public became aroused, the state legislature passed a law forbidding such use.

Then, about 1953, the palatability of burro meat became generally known and the hunting was on again, more uncontrolled than ever. Many irresponsible, trigger-happy persons joined the fray and shot the animals for sport—thanks to man's insatiable desire to kill.

Nick Brotsis, prospector and miner of San Pedro, remembers the days burros were butchered in great numbers and only the hind quarters were taken for home consumption. He says the meat is tender and similar to deer in flavor.

Now, under government protection, there has been a population explosion in the world of the wild burro. They have increased to the point that ranchers and nature lovers are complaining of their depredations. Through close grazing they are seriously depleting or completely destroying the grass and native flowers.

THEY ARE fouling spring-fed pools, trampling and destroying the watering places until the other wild life have no place to drink. White, crescent-shaped scars that decorate the necks and flanks of the males are evidence of the fights they engage in at neighborhood brawls and boy-meets-girl gatherings.

The feral burro population in California alone is approximately 3,700. Mountain lions are the only predators capable of consistently killing the animals and their occurrance on burro range is extremely rare.

They are practically disease free and often live to be 35 years old. An Arizona burro owner erected a monument in honor of his equine friend and helper that shared his sorrows and joys for 60 years.

In early times, travelers found these humble little beasts sturdy, dependable and sure-footed in the trackless wastes and rough mountain terrain. They played an important part in the history and settlement of the American West, especially in the days of gold strikes.

THESE ANIMALS were brought to North America by the Spaniards and by the 1880s had become a standard beast of burden in the West.

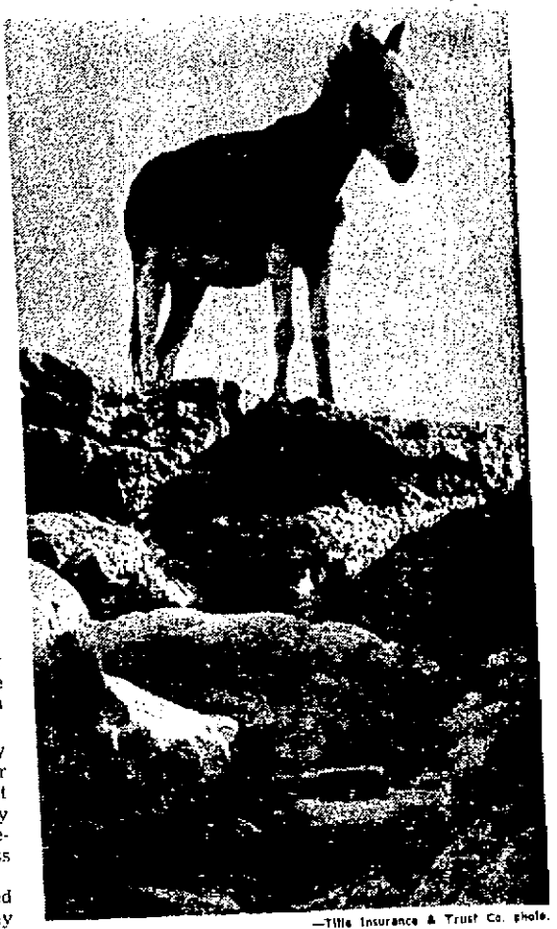

Before herding one of these equine prizes home for either a pet or a burden carrier there are several things to consider.

Old timers called burros "mountain canaries" because of their penchant for giving forth with their own version of the "Donkey Serenade" at the most inopportune hours, usually when the work-weary frontiersmen were sleeping.

HAVING THE convenient faculty of being able to lock their ears and nap imperturbedly standing up any where, any time, burros have no trouble catching up on their sleep.

Although they are doughty little burden bearers, their usefulness in this respect has been greatly curtailed by the modern jeep which requires less space and less fuel.

But anyone still interested in acquiring a burro may have one for the asking and the taking—just don't plan to eat him.

Wild burros, protected by law, may still be obtained — with requirement they not be eaten.

Split Level Tailored to Family Needs

By Stella George

FOR TOGETHERNESS or for aloneness, depending upon the mood, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cahill, 6301 Elliott St., College Park Estates, is tailored to the needs of family living. As an example, a lower area of the split level home serves happily as a playroom for four small daughters but stands ready, when occasion demands, for duty as an adult family room for entertaining or a TV center.

And a compact den away from family activity serves as a retreat for Dr. Cahill when concentration is required. Mrs. Cahill also has her room aside upstairs, with sewing machine, ironing board and other necessities.

On the main floor are a spacious living room and dining room, kitchen with a dinette center, powder room, and stereo storage closets. Upstairs there is the master bedroom suite plus girls' bedrooms and a handy all-purpose room.

A LARGE antique clock decorates the used brick above the fireplace in the corner of the living room. It is a French castel clock

Antique French clock adds a touch of the unusual to this fireplace corner in the living room of the Eugene Cahill family home.

Happy hours for for young girls are offered by this downstairs playroom, convertible to adult entertaining or for watching television.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Reaching a Child

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: Why is it often so hard for an adult to communicate with a child?

ANSWER: For the simple reason that adults often forget they are dealing with children.

A parent, denying a child's request, will say, "You're too young"—and then, when asked a question, will talk to the child as if he were 40 years old.

The ability to communicate with children is rare. Some parents and teachers never learn it. Yet the essential rules are relatively simple.

When talking with a child:

1. Use words the child understands.
2. If the subject requires the use of new words, carefully explain those new words in terms the child already understands.
3. Use short sentences.
4. Repeat the explanation in different words (but, still, words with which the child is familiar).
5. Provide a down-to-earth example of what you mean.

QUESTION: Does a student's personality, as well as his ability, affect the grades he gets in school?

ANSWER: Yes, this appears to be the case.

A study reported in the Journal of Educational Psychology revealed that some students got consistently high grades from their instructor for day-to-day work in the classroom, but got low grades on the term-end examination. Others got low grades from the instructor but high grades on the final test.

The implications of this study are numerous. But one clear suggestion is that the instructors had been grading students on factors apart from scholastic performance.

Teachers wouldn't be human beings if they didn't have this weakness. And in the end, perhaps it's all for the good—for it gives the student a taste of the way the world will deal with him later on. He will find that he won't make all his marks in life by ability alone.

Saucy Sense With Cookery

When a meat ball is not a meat ball it's a delicious sphere of beef wrapped around a nugget of blue cheese and served with rich mushroom steak sauce. And there's a saucy idea here for other recipes, too.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

PROPER preparation of tasty sauces is often a chore for many homemakers. Not so, however, with convenient canned mushroom steak sauce. Its versatility and delicate, rich-bodied flavor is unmatched for a variety of taste-tempting dishes.

For instance, a meat ball is a meat ball, usually, but not in today's recipe! Each meaty sphere envelopes a nugget of pungent blue cheese. Mushroom steak sauce is the make-easy, add-to ingredient. Menu notes include fluffy mashed potatoes and canned diagonal-cut green and wax beans.

Surprise Meat Balls

1½ pounds lean ground beef
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely-chopped onion
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
About 6 oz. cheese
Melted shortening
One 10½ oz. or two 5¾ oz. cans mushroom steak sauce

Lightly but thoroughly combine meat with bread crumbs, onion, eggs, milk and seasonings. Shape into 1½-inch balls around chunks of blue cheese (be certain all cheese is sealed in). Brown in small amount of melted shortening in large heavy frying pan. Stir in mushroom steak sauce; cover and simmer about 20 minutes. Yield: 18 meat balls or 6 servings.

Ready Roast Sandwiches

Heat mushroom steak sauce in large heavy frying pan. Add slices of cooked roast meat. Simmer several minutes, turning once. Arrange meat on slices of buttered bread and top with hot sauce.

Hunter's Stew

Two 10½ oz. or four 5¾ oz. cans mushroom steak sauce
One 12-oz. can beef loaf, cubed
One 17-oz. can sweet peas with onions, drained
One 16-oz. can small whole potatoes, drained
One 8-oz. can diced carrots, drained

Heat mushroom steak sauce in medium saucepan or container. Add cubed meat and drained canned vegetables. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Recipe of the Week

APPLES and dates combine tastefully in this week's prizewinning recipe submitted by Mrs. Frances P. Edelman, 2803 Petaluma Ave., Long Beach 90815. The recipe:

Apple Date Torte

1 box zwieback, finely crushed
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ cup sugar

Blend zwieback crumbs with sugar and cinnamon. Cover bottom of buttered 9-inch spring mold pan with half of the crumbs. Pour apple mixture in and reserve remaining crumbs for topping.

Filling:
5 large pippin apples
½ cup sugar
1 pt. sour cream
16 large fresh dates, chopped
3 tblsp. butter
6 eggs, well beaten
1 tsp. vanilla

Peel and slice apples thinly. Cook them slowly with butter and sugar 15 minutes in a large skillet. Remove from fire. Beat eggs well, add sour cream and vanilla and add to slightly cooled apples. Cook and stir over low fire until slightly thickened, add dates. Pour into prepared spring-form and top with reserved crumbs. Dot top with extra butter and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Water Lover for Poolside

Stately but dainty Cyperus Papyrus, also called Egyptian paper plant, is a graceful grower.

By Karen Smith

FOND of water and offering approximately 600 species, widely distributed, Cyperus finds many uses for damp situations in the garden and in landscaping. In fact, most of them thrive right in shallow water and make fine pond plants.

Probably the most popular variety of them all is the Papyrus. It is extremely attractive not only in ponds but near swimming pools, standing out as a garden ornamental, softening a corner of the yard, and, when small, occupying a planter. Papyrus grows to eight feet, has many drooping thread-like rays that are close to 18 inches long. It is called the paper plant of the Egyptians.

The smaller Umbrella Cyperus of Africa and South America is also attractive. It stands about four feet tall, and the rays are about five inches long. The crown of leaves can be carefully cut off and placed in damp sand or moss to form new plants. Much moisture is needed by the Umbrella plant.

The Chufa Cyperus, native of Europe, Asia, and North America, has tender tubers which, when dry, make good food for chickens and pigs. The plant is propagated by planting the tubers.

Seeds of most Cyperus can be sown in the ground during fall or spring, or divisions ready for planting may be obtained. The plant is a perennial and so requires the same clean-up in fall as any other perennial. Burn old foliage and remove any snails or other pests.

Cyperus not only softens a harsh corner but eagerly accepts water used to wash terraces or splashed over from pools. It can stand in water.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Water Can Cause Allergy

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

SOME persons are even allergic to water.

These susceptible persons break out in hives and suffer intense itching when certain areas of their skin come into contact with water, or when an increase in sweating takes place.

The affected areas are usually those rich in oil glands.

Two Philadelphia physicians say attacks can be prevented by taking an antihistamine drug or by coating the skin with oil.

THE NEW antibiotic gentamicin, used as a nasal ointment, is effective in suppressing "staph" germs in carriers of these infectious organisms.

Dr. Arthur White of Medical College of Georgia, reporting in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, says that tests with gentamicin show that the nostrils are the primary reservoir of staphylococcus infections. From the nostrils the germs spread to the skin and to the air.

FREQUENCY of body rhythms such as heart rate may help doctors predict the onset of mental disturbances, a University of Wisconsin researcher says.

Dr. Norman S. Greenfield and associates have found that the frequency of body rhythms such as heart rate and electrical activity of muscles are especially high in mental patients. They hope to use these findings and new advances in computer techniques to work out a new diagnostic tool.

A new man-made material called Corfam, for use in shoe uppers, has been given an OK by the Council on Footwear of the American Podiatry Association.

The Council says that Corfam "is comfortable and compatible with good foot health when used as a footwear upper material under conditions otherwise also compatible with efficient foot function."

Corfam is neither a plastic nor a coated fabric, the Council's statement notes. It is a complex chemical substance that "breathes" freely, wears well and flexes easily.

THE DRUG thiabendazole, which has been able to cure cases of human trichinosis, also is active against a number of disease-causing fungi, researchers report.

Test-tube experiments have shown the drug effective even against fungi that do not respond to other drugs, according to a report in the Journal of Investigative Dermatology.

The Night Teddy Roosevelt Was Shot

By Hoyt McAfee

THOUSANDS of spectators let out a collective gasp as Teddy Roosevelt staggered to the speaker's platform, his shirt soaked in blood from a bullet wound he had suffered a few minutes earlier! His features wracked with pain from the pellet still lodged in his chest, he stood alone and unaided and began the most emotion-stirring speech ever delivered in any presidential campaign!

This was at Milwaukee Stadium on the night of Oct. 14, 1912, when he ran for president on the Progressive (Bull Moose) ticket. From his enraptured audience came low moans and stifled subs, followed by shouts of admiration.

"If ever a presidential candidate cast a hypnotic spell over his audience, Roosevelt did so that unforgettable night," one historian summed up. With the blond stain on his shirt slowly spreading across his chest, the question uppermost in everyone's mind was: "Will Teddy live to finish his speech?"

AT THE OUTSET he had the audience to a state of near-frenzy by exclaiming: "I will deliver this speech or die!" Then, raising his arm feebly to silence the screams and shouts of his listeners, he added quickly: "It takes more than a bullet to kill me —a Bull Mooser!"

At that moment he winced in pain and his head slumped almost to his left shoulder. Off in the wings Teddy's campaign associates and friends watched tensely, ready to rush out and grab him should he start to pitch forward on his face. But, as it turned out, Roosevelt was far from "done in" or finished.

He spoke for an incredible 50 minutes that night, while his spellbound audience watched every movement of his body and every expression on his face in sheer, almost unendurable fascination. A mighty roar shook the auditorium — a chorus of "No — no — no!" —when he declared in a ringing voice: "Tell the people not to worry about me, for if I go down, another will take my place!"

After which Roosevelt left the stage on his own power and was rushed to Milwaukee's Johnston Emergency Hospital. Doctors bent over him hurriedly and treated him for shock and considerable loss of blood. One of them spoke for the others when he remarked: "What guts—and magnificent spirit—this man has!"

IN THAT moment of crisis Roosevelt's rugged constitution and unquenchable love of life came to his rescue. After being transferred to Mercy Hospital in Chicago, he demonstrated that he was still very much alive and kicking by pinching every pretty nurse within reach on the cheek!

So rapid and astonishing was his recovery, in fact, that 16 days later—on October 30, 1912 — he entered Madison Square Garden, New York City, with the confidence of a lion. On-the-spot reporters later recorded that "never in the history of political campaigning have we seen such a demonstration of admiration and affection for any public personality, anywhere in our world!"

Their accounts went on to describe ear-piercing shrieks of joy, singing, marching in the aisles, the stamping of feet, and wild-ringing cries of "Teddy — Teddy — Teddy!" On the platform he flashed his infectious grin and waved his arms jubilantly. On and on roared the multitude, pouring out its pent-up emotions like a river on the rampage.

IT WAS BY all odds the most dramatic tribute ever paid a presidential candidate in this nation's history! For example, the stirring, 14-minute ovation Bobby Kennedy received at the recent Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City is still fresh in mind. But at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 30, 1912, the wild, uproarious, emotion-soaring tribute to Roosevelt lasted 42 minutes!

At that same location two nights later (Nov. 1), the clamorous shouting for "Teddy — Teddy — Teddy" roared out of control again for 24 tumultuous minutes!

In the national election a few days later, Roosevelt's colorful personality and warmth of popularity enabled him to carry such major states as California, Pennsylvania and Michigan — among others. As the leader of the newly-founded (and poorly-financed) Progressive, or Bull Moose, Party, he polled an astounding 4,119,538 popular votes.

That was a better showing than the long-time, well-heeled Republican Party made with William Howard Taft as its presidential candidate. Its popular vote total came to 3,484,960. This split vote resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic standard-bearer, as a minority president.

BUT TO EXPLAIN that bullet wound inflicted upon Roosevelt in Milwaukee. It was fired by a demented New York saloonkeeper of German extraction — one John Schrank. That anyone should seek the office of president for a 3rd term caused him to fly into an insane rage.

Even worse, Shrank's mind was poisoned by hallucinations that Roosevelt had been responsible for President McKinley's assassination on Sept. 6, 1901! Roosevelt, of course, became president when McKinley died on Sept. 14; and he—then only 42—completed the three and one-half year, unexpired term of his slain chief. Then he was elected president for 4 years in his own right—from 1905 to 1909.

When Teddy bolted the back-pedaling Republican Party in 1912 and spearheaded the Progressive movement, Schrank was driven to uncontrollable frenzy. He then purchased a .38-caliber Colt pistol from a shady pawnbroker and pursued Roosevelt for 24 days!

THIS INVOLVED slightly more than 2,000 miles of travel through the east, south, and then to the midwest—with the crazed, pistol-packing Schrank close on his heels all the way.

Finally, in front of Milwaukee's Gilpatric Hotel on Oct. 14, 1912, Shrank's long-awaited chance came to strike. When Roosevelt stood up in the rear of an open car to acknowledge the cheers of thousands of his admirers, the demented man drew his pistol from a coat pocked and fired once—from a closeup position. His shot struck Teddy's folded manuscript (crammed inside his breast pocket)—and that not only deflected the bullet but saved Roosevelt's life!

Knocked down and captured before he could fire a second time, Shrank received a life sentence in a hospital for the insane. Roosevelt—despite his painful wound—refused to let his associates rush him to an emergency hospital. He propped himself against the back seat and insisted: "Drive me to Milwaukee Stadium for my speech!" And the dramatic response to it was a moment to remember enduringly.

AS A MARK of his rugged strength, Teddy carried that bullet in his chest from Oct. 14, 1912, till his death of natural causes on Jan. 6, 1919!

So spoke Teddy Roosevelt, the man a group of leading historians have labeled "the most dramatic and colorful campaigner our 20th century has produced."

Just the other day several editors of various political convictions offered their comments on our current presidential campaign. Each one lamented how it has so far turned out to be "awfully dull and uninspiring." Three of them went on to sigh nostalgically: "Oh—for a firebrand and man of raw courage like Teddy Roosevelt!"

Colorful campaigner and rugged individual, Teddy Roosevelt is shown in battle dress.

Old West Play Fort

By Bill Meyerriecks

BY THE TIME the pint-sized cowboys in your family are able to say "howdy, podnuh," you've accepted the challenge that keeping them on the home range is a real and constant one.

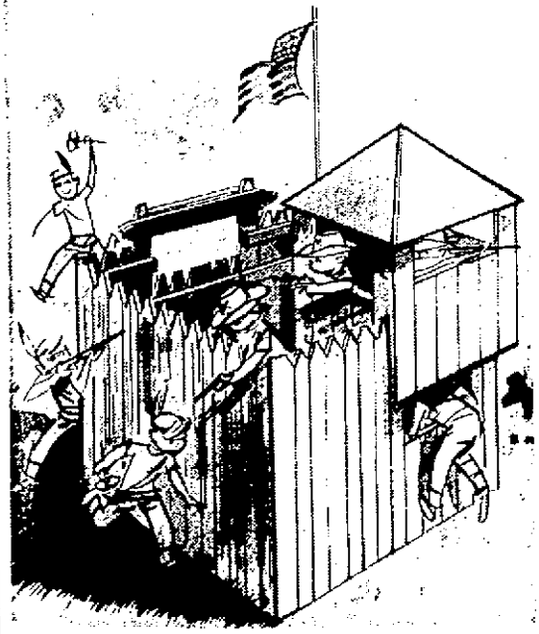

How to conquer this challenge in a positive, interesting way is suggested in Sketchbook this week. The S-180 design plan of the "Old West Play Fort" is one to consider.

THE PLAY FORT squares up in a six-foot area of the yard. It is built primarily of easily-handled 1 x 6 boards that make up the fort's perimeter and exterior plywood for the platforms. It boasts wide, swinging double doors that the youngster can ride through, a "barracks" with bunk as well as a "jailhouse" with bench. By ladder the young pioneer can climb to the five-foot high firing platform to let his imagination view the rolling hills of Apache territory.

The look of a real rustic fort comes from the panel design construction. The fort's plan provides an easy-to-take-apart construction for dad. It is done by inserting special fasteners to hold together all major assemblies. The job is easier to assemble permanently by just using plain wood screws.

Most parents would find the cost of a fort like this prohibitive if bought retail. It's a big play project. It would be a fine idea to send for the plan and build it for a special fellow's birthday, or Christmas present.

TO ORDER Sketchbook Plan S-180, the Old West Play Fort, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., 90812.

Six feet square and loaded with fun and exercise, this play fort will keep the kids busy.

Center for a man's sports equipment is displayed here by Tom Kennedy of NBC-TV.

Sportsman's Showcase

By Steve Ellingson

TOOLS of a man's trade and the equipment of his favorite sport are always his most cherished possessions. To be real honest about it, most men enjoy displaying and talking about these possessions every bit as much as using them. That's the reason for the sport center plan shown today.

Here is a sportsman's showcase that's just as adaptable for an archer's bows and arrows, a fisherman's rods, reels and tackle as it is for guns. You will notice the upper portion of the cabinet is divided into three sections. The two glassed-in cases on each side keep guns dry and dust free, yet on display. These may be locked to safeguard the guns as well as curious youngsters and friends. (Half of all gun accidents happen in the home.)

THE MIDDLE section of the cabinet has a pegboard back, which makes it handy for hanging lures and all sorts of sporting paraphernalia. Just the place to display trophies. The bottom doors, which also may be locked, conceal a roomy space for ammunition, cleaning gear, pistols, a tackle box, decoys and dozens of other items needed by all sportsmen.

The showcase pictured was made with birch plywood, but you may use knotty pine or any one of the dozens of plywoods now on the market. Here is a project that any amateur can undertake with success when he uses the easy-to-follow pattern. Complete details with lots of easy-to-follow illustrations are included. Inexpensive, too.

TO OBTAIN the easy-to-follow pattern No. 358, send $1 by currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pattern Dept., Southland Magazine, Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

By Eleanor A. Price

DOG SHOWS continue in the limelight these fall days in the Southland, and today is no exception, what with Glendale Kennel Club presenting a show and trial at Casey Stengel Stadium on Verdugo Road in Glendale. Next Sunday, San Fernando Kennel Club has its show at San Fernando Recreation Park, just off San Diego Freeway, and Hub Poodle Club will present a fine match the same day at South Park, Compton.

With these doggy events in mind, a question often arises: "What makes a champion?"

The answer can be two phased: Sometimes it is a matter of luck, but more frequently it boils down to this: You should invest all you can afford in a fine purebred female dog and, whether or not she is a champion, breed her to a top stud dog that carries the characteristics you want to obtain. It might be wise if you consulted a few breeders as to which stud dog would be best for your particular case —that is, if you can find enough breeders who have the breed in mind, not their own pocketbooks.

There are various methods in the breeding-for-a-champion program. Line breeding is the mating of dogs having common distant relatives, such as grand or great-grandparents.

OUTBREEDING is the mating of dogs of two unrelated lines.

Inbreeding is the mating of a pair bearing 50% or more relationship to each other, such as parent to offspring, or brother to sister. Inbreeding may intensify good points, but it also intensifies faults which are more apt to predominate than good points.

Whatever the program, hope for quality pups rather than quantity. And keep the puppies that appear sound to you. If one or more looks like show material, enter a dog show. Entry blanks must be secured well in advance. Jack and Claire Bradshaw, 727 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles 15, are superintendents for most of the Southern California shows.

IF YOU ENTER an older dog which has not been shown except in the puppy class, place it in the novice class. Do not enter the average unshown dog in the open class, especially if he is to be shown by an amateur who may become nervous and relay this jittery feeling to the pet. Dogs in the open class are usually well-trained and often handled professionally. Competition is thus quite strenuous.

The bred - by - exhibitor class also sees some heavy competition, but it is a good class and more should show interest in it.

If you can afford a professional handler, put the dog in his hands as soon as you can, or at least two weeks before the show. A qualified handler can instill good ring manners and otherwise prepare the dog properly. It is, of course, more fun if your dog wins with you on the other end of the leash.

Your dog may not come home loaded with ribbons and trophies, but you will enjoy dog shows, their procedures, and best of all you will learn more about breeding for quality.

Old Iron, New Use

You can make effective use of such ancient kitchenware as iron or aluminum frying, broiling or baking pans by turning them into homemade humidifiers for your house plants.

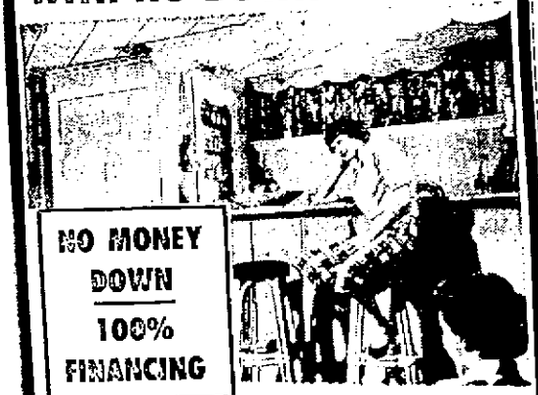

Enamel them in shades to match your woodwork, then fill them with an inch or so of sand, pebbles and vermiculite. Set clay-potted house plants in them and water to the top of the pebble or sand layer. Evaporation of this moisture will increase humidity of the air around your plants.

BOOK REVIEWS

Origins of Life Through Eyes of Science

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

ECON PRIZE winner and international best-seller "CREATION STILL GOES ON" by F. L. Boschke (McGraw-Hill, $8) is science's most up-to-date assessment of the earth and its place in the heavens.

Written in the symbolic framework of the Biblical Genesis, this is a spell-binding account of the origins of the world and life as conceived through the eyes of modern science.

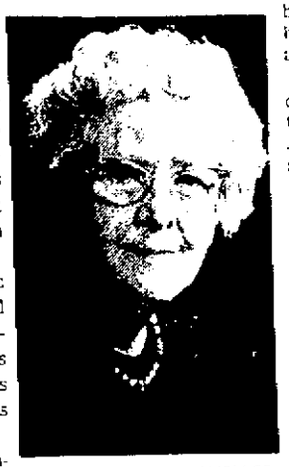

Part One—"In the beginning"—deals with the creation of earth, explains current theories about the age of the world and provides the latest data on carbon dating methods, meteorites. Part Two — "Let there be light" — discusses the present day scientific conceptions of the universe and the place of the earth in these heavens. Part Three — "Let the waters under the heavens"—tells of the changes in the earth's surface since its infancy and Part Four—"Let the earth bring forth living creatures" — investigates the likely origins of life on this small planet.

Dealing with most of the modern scientific disciplines, physics, astronomy, chemistry, geology and biology, Boschke offers what amounts to an interim report on the present state of our scientific knowledge.

"GREAT AMERICAN CAVALRYMEN" by the Editors of Army Times (Dodd, Mead, $3.50) is the story of America's "horse soldiers" from the Revolutionary War to WW II.

Continuation of a series which has included "Famous American Military Leaders of WW II" and "Famous Fighters of WW I," this volume is a collection of stories of great cavalrymen, ranging from Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox" who struck terror in the hearts of the "redcoats," through the Civil War's numerous celebrated horsemen (Stuart, Sheridan, Custer, Jackson, et al) to the mule drivers and riders of the Italian mountain campaigns in WW II made famous by Ernie Pyle.

LETTERS that Ben Hecht received from his pals—H. L. Mencken, Sherwood Anderson, Charles MacArthur, Gene Fowler, etc.—form the backbone of Hecht's "LETTERS FROM BOHEMIA" (Doubleday, $4.50.) The letters, hyper-personal and often irreverent, reveal the serious and not-so-serious conflicts of artists, writers and odd-balls.

ANNE GERTRUDE SNELLER

When an author publishes her first book at 81, it is news. Miss Sneller, retired New York schoolteacher, recaptures a bygone era in "A VANISHED WORLD" (Syracuse University Press, $6).

"THE FINE ART OF POLITICAL WIT" by Leon A. Harris (Dutton, $4.95) is devoted to the wit and invective of American and British politicians from the 18th Century to the present, with examples from the careers of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, Winston Churchill, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Adlai Stevenson, John F. Kennedy, etc. It's fun to read again Roosevelt's speech about his Scotch dog Fala.

MIKE JACKSON, who lives in San Pedro and writes a daily column for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, is out with a book of commentaries on our time, "SUGAR AND SPITE" (Doubleday, $4.50), adorned with a picture of himself and a couple of Dalmatians.

Jackson likes photography, dogs and cats, likes that are reflected in his book. He doesn't think much of opera, stuffed shirts or the thinking processes of women.

Does your second-grader have trouble learning to read? Mike suggests he learn to read the way he did—by attending silent movies and figuring out the titles. Are you out of a job and broke? Mike says his best year was one that he was in that condition in Laguna Beach. He netted lobsters, picked up avocados in vacant lots, maneuvered invitations to buffets, and his friends brought him French bread and wine.

He tells about a mountain climbing expedition to the top row of seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum, he describes experiments with left-handed British cats. He thinks porpoises are as smart as people, and cats and foxes are smarter than both of them. His funniest story is an account of buying a new suit; his most moving is about his hand-shaking Old Dog, whom he found tied to a lamp post in a San Francisco early morning fog, and bought for 34 cents.

"QUEEN OF THE PLAZA: A Biography of Adah Isaacs Menden" by Paul Lewis (Funk & Wagnalls, $4.95) tells about the exotic, talented woman who became the international symbol of glamour before she died in 1868, at the age of 33.

Billing herself as the "Queen of the Plaza," a dancer from Havana (she never had danced professionally), Adah became the toast of the world's leading cities. As an actress, she achieved unprecedented success in "Mazeppa." In pink tights, strapped to a horse that clattered over a circular runway that extended into the audience, she thrilled the men and shocked the women. Besides introducing tights to the stage, Adah was the first woman to bob her hair and the first to smoke cigarettes in public.

There was another side to this provocative girl from New Orleans. She was an intellectual whose poetry attracted the attention of such literati as Charles Dickens, George Sand (who helped her prepare "Infelicia," her volume of poetry), Walt Whitman and Bret Harte, as well as Swinburne and Alexandre Dumas the Elder, who according to the author were her lovers.

RECENT RELEASE of Dr. Sam Sheppard from prison focuses attention on his brother's book, "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" (McKay, $4.95) by Dr. Stephen Sheppard, with Paul Holmes, Chicago Tribune newsman who has followed the Sheppard case closely. The Sheppard family is convinced of the innocence of Sheppard, convicted of slaying his wife Marilyn in their home near Cleveland. The book, which Erle Stanley Gardner calls "a document of deep social significance" details the family's 10-year efforts to remedy what it considers a miscarriage of justice. The family believes that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial because of the sensational publicity and mass hysteria surrounding the case.

IRWIN SHAW spent long days as a boy in Brooklyn watching the yachts come and go, dreaming of the day when he would sail his own white ship off into the wide sea.

"IN THE COMPANY OF DOLPHINS" (Geis, $3.95) is the story of that daydream come true. It recalls the magic of a summer when Shaw and his wife and son chartered a boat, complete with salty sea dog captain and one nubile deckhand (a vacationing ballerina) and sailed the blue Mediterranean. Yes, they were accompanied by dolphins.

LIN YUTANG has written a suspenseful and romantic tale of escape from Red China in "THE FLIGHT OF THE INNOCENTS" (Putnam, $5.95.)

This is the story of James Thayer, an Englishman who returns to Red China to take back his Chinese bride, Esu, and his aunt, the missionary sister Angelica. It also is the story of the seven others who accompany him, including Esu's father, two children, and a former prostitute.

"BREAKFAST With the Nikolides" by Rumer Godden, considered one of her best novels, perhaps the best from the Indian period, has been out of print for 15 years. A new Rumer Godden audience has grown up since its first appearance. Viking is reissuing it ($4.50). "Breakfast" is the moving story of a lone Englishman who runs the government farm in the little town of Amorra in the great plains of East Bengal, and the strange things that happen when his lovely, hated wife and two small daughters arrive from his violent and shadowy past.

"THIS GERMANY, The Story Since the Third Reich" by Rudolf Walter Leonhardt (New York Graphic Society, $7.95) is an "inside" book, written by a German journalist and enormously popular in Germany. It has been called "the kind of book John Gunther would have written if he had been born German and lived there all his life."

The author stands up for books, the theater, the arts, music, schools, universities, science and related subjects and persons and he has great faith in his country's future.

WILDLIFE AT HIS DOORSTEP. Irving Petite writes of the animals that like to gather in his front yard in a new book, "THE ELDERBERRY TREE" (Doubleday, $3.95). The author's cabin on a ranch in the Cascade Mountain foothills of western Washington also was the setting of Petite's book about an orphaned bear, "Mister B." Jacket art (above) and illustrations are by the author's mother, Jean W. Petite.

LIONEL TERRAY, Frenchman who has more successful climbs to his credit than any other mountain climber and is considered by many to be the greatest climber alive, has written his autobiography "OF THE IMPOSSIBLE, From the Alps to Annapurna and Beyond" (Doubleday, $6.95.) The book already is a best seller in France and England. In 1947, he climbed the north face of the Eiger in the Alps, and then climbed it again; in 1950 Terray, Maurice Herzog and Louis Lachenal climbed the Himalayan peak Annapurna. Since then he has climbed Makalu, Nilgiri and Jannu in Patagonia and Peru. His Andean ascents include Fitzroy, Talliraju, Soray and the east and west peaks of Chacraraju. "Borders," a lively, unsophisticated book, describes the techniques, hardships, frustrations and joys of modern mountain climbing.

How can I conquer fear and worry?

Do you ever ask yourself: "Is there any way to retain my peace of mind amidst the stresses of life?" Paramahansa Yogananda answered that question in Autobiography of a Yogi. Many thousands have received inspiration and relief from mental burdens through a thoughtful reading of this book.

In Autobiography of a Yogi, Yogananda explains that most difficulties in life arise from spiritual neglect and an unbalanced mode of living. When you read Yogananda's fascinating experiences with many of the greatest saints and sages of modern India, you will be convinced that through scientific yoga-techniques of meditation as taught by Yogananda you too can attain attunement with God, the Divine Comforter and Healer of all inharmonies.

Autobiography of a Yogi is available at bookstores in the United States ($4.00) and Canada.

SELF-REALIZATION FELLOWSHIP, Publishers, Los Angeles

From Long Beach to Inca Land

By Irma McCall

ELEVEN-year-old Stanley Osborne, 1840 Stearnlee Ave., is probably the only boy in Long Beach who can give his classmates an authentic travel talk on "My Life in Peru." Sixth graders at Bixby School will learn about his unusual experiences as they study Latin America.

Stanley is the fortunate cousin of Wilhelm Mayer who lives in Huancayo, Peru, population 20,000 and two miles high in the Andes. Stanley's mother Ursula originated the idea of the two families exchanging their children for a term of schooling. His father, Clyde Osborne, professor of Chemistry at California State College at Long Beach, and Ursula agreed last year that Stanley was ready for that enriching educational experience.

Wilhelm's invitation arrived in the Christmas mail and was eagerly accepted. Wilhelm's and Ursula's families are related. Anticipating Hitler's treatment of Jews, they left Germany in the 1930s. Like the Lost Tribes of Israel, they fanned out to far corners of the earth — Egypt, India, South Africa, Venezuela, United States, England and Peru.

WHEN URSULA was 11 she was sent to her aunt, a teacher in a boarding school in Kent, England. In 1941, she came to California, earned a Bachelor of Science degree at UCLA, and met her husband on the campus.

Before embarking on the big adventure Stanley dug in on his "Gracias," "Buenas dias," and "Como esta Usted?"

At last came the glorious moment when Stanley, on his own, bade "adios" to Los Angeles from a soaring jet. At the Bogota stop on the 13-hour flight, the boy gamely climbed off to inspect the airport.

Wilhelm's wife, waiting at the Lima airport, embraced him and guided him on a two-day tour of the historic city.

"I liked the museum the best," Stanley says, "especially the room with about a thousand old Inca pots."

TEN HOURS' pull upgrade by train gave the boy a good view of the mountainous countryside. He sad llamas and at stations, he saw Indians in magenta, emerald, and orange costumes milling about, offering bananas and oranges for sale.

Cousin Wilhelm, owner of a hardware store in Huancayo, welcomed Stanley, taking him to the six-room adobe home amid eucalyptus trees. A garden with ripe strawberries, beets, and maiz (corn) was bright with California poppies.

Members of the family gathered to greet their young relative — Reinhard, owner of a dairy; Franzisca, expert weaver; Wilhelm's daughter Hannah, 15, who hopes to visit the Osbornes and attend college here; and 13-year old daughter Renate. Stanley noticed the small stature of the Indian servant Maria.

SOME OF the food Maria prepared, such as marinated raw fish, tasted quite different from Mom's roast beef. He learned to like a porridge of bananas, ground apple, lemon juice, chopped walnuts, milk, and sugar stirred into raw oatmeal.

Another Inca dish is "Pacha Manca" (Quichua for earth pot). Wilhelm served it for large parties. Maria, assisted by the guests, heated stones while preparing leg of lamb, sweet potatoes, lima beans (named for the capital), and almost anything else. They put the hot stones and all the ingredients into a hole, covered them with earth, and in about 40 minutes the food was cooked — and delicious, Stanley decided. He may try preparing this feast in his back yard.

The town's school kids were enjoying their three-month vacation, which begins in late December, but Stanley discovered a pal in Christopher, hailing from England. They enjoyed hikes into the countryside.

A TUTOR, Rosa, came everyday for an hour to converse with Stanley in Spanish and he soon was even rattling off verbs — and in different tenses!

He enjoyed visiting the large Sunday market, where he bought gifts including miniature llamas. Movies from the United States were dubbed in Spanish. His birthday was celebrated with a huge bonfire of corn stalks followed by fireworks.

The Mayers took Stanley in their Ford truck on a fascinating trek 6,000 feet down the mountains into lush jungle vegetation. Brilliant green parrots screeched through vine-tangled trees. The boy picked coffee beans from high bushes and saw bananas growing up-side-down.

STANLEY took up a colorful hobby — weaving of scarfs, table cloths, wall hangings. Franzisca, while in Sweden, learned the art, taught it at a Newfoundland orphanage, and brought it to Huancayo, where Wilhelm has built her a modern concrete workshop in a corner of the yard. There she creates beautiful pieces featuring ancient Inca designs, which tourists buy eagerly.

When school bells rang in April, Stanley enrolled in the 5th grade at the American Methodist School along with 44 boys and girls. After a few days he found he understood most of the lessons, all in Spanish.

"The boys favorite game at recess is soccer," he said. "It seemed funny not to touch the ball with your hands."

When the semester closed in August, Stanley reluctantly climbed aboard a northbound plane. Midnight found him exploring the elaborate airport in Mexico City.

Carroll Baker runs acting gamut from a teener to a prostitute in "Sylvia."

Movies

Her Grade: Passing

"SYLVIA" is one of the most challenging stories ever to be filmed. In it, Carroll Baker is required to run the acting gamut from a life-buffeted prostitute to a flashback of the same girl at the age of 14, when she had the ingenuous curiosity of Alice in Wonderland.

After reading the demanding script, Carroll was confident she could bridge the difficult acting range between the age of innocence and a worldly trollop, but she was not at all self-assured that she would convincingly look the part of a sweet, naive teen-ager.

So Carroll decided to make a test: not on film, but in real life. Donning the wardrobe and makeup of the girl, Sylvia, at the age of 14, she sauntered by a Hollywood junior high school shortly after the lunch hour.

A TEACHER came up, noted that she seemed to be just dawdling about the school grounds. Addressing her like a pupil, he wagged a chiding finger, remarking that if she didn't get a move on, she'd be late for class.

Although Carroll didn't carry the masquerade any farther, she was relieved at receiving a passing grade for her makeup and acting ability.

A Paramount release, "Sylvia" co-stars Carroll with George Maharis, and is currently being directed by Gordon Douglas.

Salute to Autumn

By Lorena Fleissig

AUTUMN has many delights. Anyone with a love of color in nature will welcome the season of fall foliage with its myriad and subtle changes of tone and form.

To bring the beauty of autumn into the home one must be a collector of frost-touched leaves. One goes searching around the garden, the alleys and vacant lots scanning the whatevers for wild oats, dock, forked branches, bronze fern fronds and, perhaps, a stone that is ruggedly attractive. This is how an autumn arrangement for buffet or table top starts with fun, almost like a scavenger hunt, but with choices directed by your own eye for special contributing effect.

SHADES OF red, gold and brown you never noticed before in weeds and plants will blend in a natural arrangement. Succulents too may join the dried composition for they sometimes remain in good condition for months without water. You might gather more material than you can use for an arrangement. However, these extras may be tied and hung upside down in a dry place to be used later to revamp the setting.

Perhaps the brittle stems will be too stiff for harmonious placing. By selecting the partly green stalks you may shape them before they are completely dried. Put them in a container with the least amount of water. As the water is used up the stalks will dry in the form which your fingers have persuaded them to take.

Finally arrange them in relation to your own feeling of balance. Or you might study the color harmonies of floral arrangements in commercial displays. Oftentimes such receptacles are too crowded in contrast to the simple effect you may wish to achieve, so test your own originality. You no doubt have more ideas than you suspect and will find working with nature is creatively simple.

IF YOU HAVE no access to natural growth, you still have a limitless choice of form and color that has been captured in plastic.

The base to hold these branches must be heavy or firmly stable. It could be a moderately large cross-hatched rock, a stump or a twisted section of weathered wood with a slab of bark still intact. Loose dust and webs must be brushed away and it would be well to give the old wood several coats of clear varnish to seal loose or spongy portions.

To fasten the stems use plenty of floral clay which is inexpensive and found in the variety counters. Push the clay into an angle or crotch of the wood or rock base. Press the stems into the clay beginning with the taller pieces placed slightly off center. Trim the materials so they occupy an area 12x15 inches for a small arrangement. With the help of a heavy needle holder you can plan a long flat grouping or a loose branching effect. The whole may be centered or placed off center in a round or oblong tray or bowl. It may be set on a slab of stone, wood or a piece of construction paper. Or, as in the accompanying photo, on a circle of brown cardboard, the heavy, varnished wood holds yellow leaves of ivy, orange-red bittersweet, green and brown oak leaves with acorns all held to the wood with the clay.

IF YOU HAPPEN to be a collector of ceramics or objects appropriate to the fall season, use them for original effect.

The ceramics pictured are a molasses brown bear (vase) and lighter brown twins (salt and pepper). Reminiscent of Smoky Bear who is featured as protecting our fall woods and grasslands, these seemed to add charm to the whole setting. Speaking of mountains and vacations, this is the time to look for specimens to add with imagination to your fall tribute.

By John Camden

DURING the past year or so, I have become increasingly aware of the fact that my family communicates with one another by means of ESP. I am sure this is the case since seldom, if ever does anyone complete a sentence. This rapport exists not only between my wife and our son, she and our daughter, my daughter and son, and lately, to my amazement, between my wife and me.

For example, the other morning while I was shaving I overheard the following:

My daughter, calling from the back bedroom: "Mom, can I borrow . . ."

My wife, speaking from the kitchen: "Absolutely no. You remember what happened to the last . . ."

Daughter: "But I told you I caught them on the . . ."

Wife: "If you insist upon wearing them to school, you'll just have to . . ."

Daughter: "But I can't buy my own. Daddy doesn't give me enough allowance."

I POKED my head out into the hall.

"Allowance for what?" I asked.

"Stockings, of course," said my daughter. "Really, daddy!"

A few minutes later I heard my son calling to my wife.

"Mom, where are my blue . . ."

"In the bottom drawer on the right hand side," she answered immediately.

THAT EVENING at dinner the conversation was worth recording.

"He just gives us too much homework. It's not fair," announced my daughter to the rest of the family.

"I had him last year and he never gave us much," said my son.

"Classes are different now," said my daughter. "He says . . ."

"He also says that because you're in . . ." said my son.

"That's not the reason at all," said my daughter. "We are . . ."

"You are not," said my son.

"Just because you . . ." said my daughter.

"That's not true . . ." said my son.

"STOP!" I said. "This is a family dinner and your mother and I would like to know what . . ."

"I think he does give too much homework for children their age," said my wife. "But I suppose he only does what . . ."

"Who's he" I asked. "And where's the . . ."

"Catsup?" said my wife. "Wait, and I'll get it."

"I wish you'd ask daddy to give me more allowance," said my daughter. "Every girl I know . . ."

"Not according to the mothers I talk to," said my wife. "Why I was talking to . . ."

"She doesn't count," said my daughter. "And her parents are much too . . ."

"Her father's a child psychologist," said my wife. "He ought to . . ."

"That's why," said my daughter.

"They don't even let their son have a car," said my son.

"WOULD YOU people please let me in on this conversation?" I said. "Who is he and she, and they? You don't even . . ."

"Five dollars a week isn't too much for a girl my age," said my daughter. "Please, daddy?"

"This is not the time to talk to daddy about . . ." said my wife.

"But it is, mother," said my daughter. "I have to . . ."

"You use too much hair spray," said my son. "All she does is use hair spray. The bathroom smells like a —like a . . ."

"A WHAT?" I said. "Will someone in this house please finish a sentence once in a while?"

"You just did," said my daughter.

"Don't be rude to your father," said my wife. "As I was saying . . . what was I saying . . ."

"I'm saying that I'm going into my den to have coffee in peace," I said, rising from the table. "Don't anybody follow me," I added. "I've had enough of your . . ."

"But we didn't daddy," said my daughter.

THE NEXT MORNING while I was shaving my wife called from the kitchen.

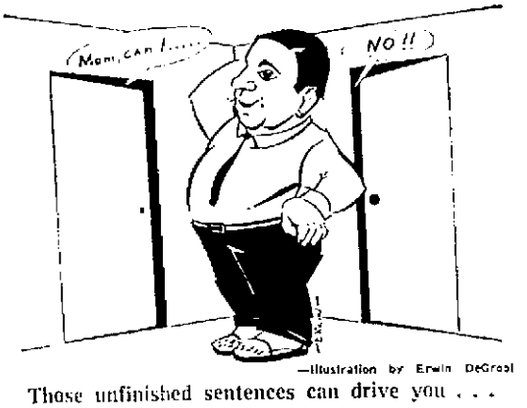

"Do you want hot cereal or . . ." she said.

"I'll have the . . ." I answered.

"Fried or scrambled?" she asked.

Scrambled, I said to myself. Aloud I said, "I feel like . . ."

The eggs were scrambled in butter with chives, just the way I like them. There's a lot to be said about this ESP.

Peters' Rabbit, Jack

By Dorothy Severns

ALMOST everyone knows that a jack rabbit is a hare (not a rabbit) and that a hare cannot be tamed. But Sylvia and Wayne Peters, 9629 E. Ramona Ave., Bellflower, have a big jack rabbit hopping about in their back yard.

When they call his name, Jack comes to eat out of their hands. Hopping or playfully leaping, he follows them around the yard.

More than two feet long, he has long, slender legs, a black tail, and ears at least six inches long. His upper lip is divided—a true harelip.

Jack and two Muscovy ducks eat grain and he is eager to get into the adjoining yard with his other friends, Paulina and King, the Peters' two Keeshond Dutch barge dogs.

LAST MAY, Wayne Peters found a tiny jack rabbit in the Edison Steam Plant transformer yard. It had crawled through the fine mesh fencing into the grassless yard where it would have starved, for the "lost" mother never could have squeezed through.

Although Peters had always heard it is impossible to raise a hare in captivity, he took the frightened, hungry little mammal home in his lunch pail.

Jack thrived on a four-hour schedule of diluted canned milk fed from a spoon. When hungry, he kicked the sides of his box hard enough to awaken Peters for his night feedings.

Jack, a growing boy, thrives in captivity.

Stocks Add Fragrance to the Garden

By Joe Littlefield

STOCKS are members of the mustard family, and cabbage also belongs in this large family group. (When one envisages a cabbage and the number of various vegetable dishes it provides, one wonders how such spicily fragrant stock flowers can be related with cabbages!)

Stocks are from the Mediterranean region and the Isle of Wight. Gardeners who have discovered stocks' desirable qualities grow them in masses in sunny flower beds for winter color, fragrance, and cut flowers.

Some gardeners are too ambitious when purchasing stocks. They prefer the largest, huskiest plants in the flat or pony pak. They fail to realize that the smaller the plants, the less root disturbance in transplanting, and better growth will follow. Don't cut out the individual plants with about square inch of soil with roots. Instead, cut out a group of the plants together, then gently break the individual plants with soil from the clump, and plant them.

WATER THEM carefully if they're planted in a heavy, compacted soil, because stocks won't tolerate continual dampness. Too much water causes stem rot. They'll need more frequent waterings in porous well drained soil.

Do not cultivate the soil; instead, spread a quarter-inch layer of manure, or some mulch material, but keep it away from plant trunks.

Feed stocks lightly at least twice, with a balanced plant food. First feeding three weeks after planting, second feeding about three weeks later. Watch the plants closely for pests, particularly for aphids on the topmost foliage. One of the main reasons why some stocks grow stunted with short, weak stems and poor flowers, is because aphids cripple the growth.

GARDEN HINTS:

Alyssum seed sown on bare slopes and embankments helps hold soil from washing away, during the rainy season.

Spray shrubs that are scale infested before the weather becomes too cold. Citrus, gardenias, camellias, oleanders and other hardy type shrubs may be scale infested too. Oil emulsion spray has been proved more effective in scale control than malathion.

A camellia probably has not sported new variety flowers because it has several branches growing up through the shrub with flowers that are different from the rest of the plant. No doubt, it is sucker growth overlooked when it was young. That growth develops below the graft, similar to sucker growth that grows out below the bud union on a rose bush. If such is the case on your camellia, cut off the sucker growth close to the main trunk of the plant.

A CERTAIN percentage of gardenia leaves are now turning orange or yellow color. This is a normal condition that happens twice a year, in the spring and again in the fall season, and is due to two seasonal changes.

Sickly, half yellow and, half green stunted leaves all over the plant usually indicates a chlorotic, possibly an alkali condition. One of several horticultural "irons" helps green up the plants, but may not do too much good coming on into cold weather. Another trick more effective is to use a liquid soil conditioner high in acid action containing nitrogen fertilizer.

Moving Time

Begin moving your outdoor plants indoors gradually before night temperatures drop below 40 degrees and before the heat's turned on. Plants that have been plunged outdoors in clay pots should be scrubbed to remove encrusted dirt and mold and their foliage should be syringed and given a spray of insecticide.

Plants that have grown roots through their drainage holes should be re-potted in new clay pots.

Spicy fragrance of stocks makes them desirable for planting near the house or patio.

GARDEN CLUBS

Culture and history of roses will be the topic of John Van Parneveld, Whittier rosarian, at a meeting of Long Beach Garden Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 208 Linden Ave. Mrs. E. L. Ibbotson, club vice president, will report on objectives for members at the California Garden Clubs, Inc., convention in May 1965.

Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Linden Hall, 208 Linden Ave. Jesse G. Chapman will speak. A plant table will be provided.

Orange County District of California Garden Clubs, Inc., will sponsor a flower show school, including flower arrangement, horticulture and flower show practice, Oct. 13-15 at Keystone Savings Building, 555 N. Euclid Ave., Anaheim. The National Council of State Garden Clubs has approved the school and the instruction will be Course I for all prospective flowers show judges as well as for those interested in other phases of the school. Mrs. Joe E. Wolff of Bellevue, Wash., a nationally accredited instructor in flower arrangement and show practice, will teach flower arrangement from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.; Mrs. Richard Carlson of Fullerton will instruct in horticulture from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. and Paul T. Silvius of Malibu will teach show practice from 10 a.m. to noon. Both Mrs. Carlson and Silvius are experienced instructors. Reservations for the school may be made with Mrs. Arthur L. Payne, 1951 E. Lemon Heights Dr., Santa Ana.

Dorothy Digs

This is the time of year when the shortened days and cooler nights make one feel that the plants and soil do not need to be watered. But unless we have unexpected rains, your watering program should be continued until real winter rains begin.

Give your garden, both lawn and shrubs, a fall fertilizing, preferably with a fertilizer containing chelated iron, manganese and zinc. At the same time, check carefully for insects that are still active. If you see them or see holes in your leaves, spray with a combination insecticide for both sucking and chewing insects. This will get them all. There is nothing that spoils the looks of your garden more than to have holes in the leaves of your favorite plants.

This is also the time when you may find ants appearing after you thought you had them under control. Chlordane or Dieldrin will take care of them. Spray directly on the nests and along runs where they are traveling.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . . Shop for pyracantha and cotoneaster now and enjoy their colorful red berries through winter.

Plant freesias, sparaxias, ixias and Dutch iris. These four like to go into the ground earlier than other spring-blooming bulbs.

Set out violas and pansies for bloom in late fall and winter.

Winter sweet peas should go into the ground without delay. You want them full grown before winter arrives.

Dwarf citrus can be put in now in tubs or in the ground. Ask your C.A.N. nurseryman which varieties have ornamental value in winter.

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANULL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANULL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANULL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANULL. It relieves itch-irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANULL with other medications.

Effective Deodorant: Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANULL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANULL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANULL in your pharmacy.

Luxurious Dining Room for Your Dining Pleasure

SINCE I HAPPEN to be one, I can point out modestly that writers are intelligent, analytical, critical people who quite often are very hard to please. So you can see how happy I was the other day when I received a letter from Long Beach magazine writer Frances P. Edelman offering high praise for one of my favorite restaurants.

Mrs. Edelman, her husband and another couple happened to visit the spacious, attractive Rossmoor Inn, 12311 Los Alamitos Blvd., owned by two personable brothers, Max and Howard Schreiber. "The moment you enter the Inn," she wrote, "you get a feeling of elegance. A nice change from your every day dining area. After we were seated, a charming young waiter came up to us and said, 'My name is Sam. I will be serving you this evening.' This immediately put the Inn in a class by itself."

Mrs. Edelman reported that the Chicken Jerusalem ($3.50) in wine sauce with vegetables was excellent, "as were the tourndos of beef tenderloin ($4.75) enjoyed by two other members of our group. The prime rib au jus ($4.25), eaten by a heefeather from away back, was the best he had ever had."

Having dined at the Rossmoor many times, I can wholeheartedly echo Mrs. Edelman's acclaim. Head chef Al Flavio, formerly at Scandia in Los Angeles, has been at the Inn since it opened and is an artist in the preparation of continental and American delicacies. Other items on my "must" list are his coq au vin ($4.25), which is chicken cooked in wine, and boneless trout Meuniere $3.50) with mushroom sauce. One of the luncheon delights is diced chicken in Madeira sauce, rolled in a French pancake, $1.85.

The Inn serves Sunday dinners from 1 to 10 p.m. The exuberant, talented Greenwood Brothers entertain nightly, except Sundays.

SUNDAY TREAT—Ken's Restaurant, 3918 Long Beach Blvd., one of the city's most beautiful dining spots, features roast duckling on Sunday which never fails to produce smiles of pleasure on those who partake of it. The duckling is tender, succulent and served with a tangy orange Bigarade sauce which complements its flavor perfectly. It's $2.55 for the quarter of a duck portion, served with a "bouquet" of appetizers in a silver shell, wonderful salad, individual loaf of fresh bread, baked potato, ice cream or sherbet and beverage.

HERE'S A WASHER WITH THE MOST-WANTED FEATURES, PLANNED & PROVED BY WOMEN...

FRIGIDAIRE

You, the women that do the washing, have planned the features of this fabulous Frigidaire Automatic Washer. A giant 12 lb. tub that holds two big baskets full! . . . takes you less time to do the washing! Provides a big 'Action Zone' to give you the most thorough big-wash you could hope for. Thrifty 2-Speed, 3-Cycle operation for complete and simple control of your washing! Frigidaire's exclusive 3-Ring Agitator gently tugs your wash under the water into the 'Action Zone.' One of the three rings pumps lint and scum out of the 'Action Zone', over the clothes and out of the washer. The second ring gently unfolds and tumbles each piece into the 'Action Zone', coaxes out stubborn soil and guards against tangling. The third ring gently squeezes suds through your wash 330 times a minute, helps clothes get clean inside and out! Your clothes will stay clean in the 'Action Zone' with fresh running water rinses that carry lint and scum up and out of the washer. Gets clothes fabulously clean. Spins your clothes extra light, too. Saves dryer time . . . saves you from heavy lifting. You'd think these wanted features were enough; but just look at these additional features for carefree washdays: Custom Deluxe styling, rust-resistant porcelain enameled top, lid and tub, distributes detergent, bleach and dye (liquid or granular) automatically, safely underwater, lid safety switch stops action when lid is lifted, automatic unbalanced load safety stop and recessed toe space! CHINLESS WONDER: THE STORY OF ALICE PEARCE

by LLOYD SHEARER

THE 1965 MODELS: IS ONE OF THEM YOUR DREAM CAR?

October 11, 1964

How come 44,000,000 people are insured by Metropolitan Life —more than by any other company in the world?

Mostly it's because our customers like the way we treat them and their money. Big as Metropolitan is, we've never lost the personal touch.

With 31,000 representatives across the continent, Metropolitan always has someone nearby —a staff of 64,000 in all—to give personal attention to every claim or question.

These advisers are specially trained to give Metropolitan's famous Family Security Check-Up. This is a clear-eyed analysis of your family's financial security that often turns up assets you never even knew you had.

Your Metropolitan adviser can also show you a number of ways to stretch your coverage far beyond what you thought your budget would allow.

For example, take a simple Metropolitan income rider. This can make a $10,000 policy pay off as much as $50,000 to your wife and kids. Something to look into.

Also, be sure to ask how you can start collecting from Metropolitan while you're still around. One way is an ingenious plan that lets you turn an ordinary policy into a retirement fund any time you feel like it.

These are a few of the facts and figures that explain why Metropolitan advisers are asked to give thousands of Family Security Check-Ups every day. And why one out of every five people in the U.S. and Canada is insured by Metropolitan. And also why one out of every two Metropolitan life policies bought, is bought by one of our present policyholders.

Now—here are some other reasons why more people choose Metropolitan:

• We pay policyholders and beneficiaries an average of a million dollars an hour every business day. Last year, that added up to over $2 billion. And two-thirds went to living policyholders.

• Metropolitan offers an unusually wide range of life and health plans and annuities. This permits your Metropolitan adviser to tailor a program specifically to your needs. We can insure you for any amount from $500 to a cool $5 million—or even more.

• Nearly half the 100 largest U.S. industrial corporations (plus 42,000 other companies large and small) insure their employees with Metropolitan.

• Metropolitan has more life insurance in force than any other company—a staggering $107 billion.

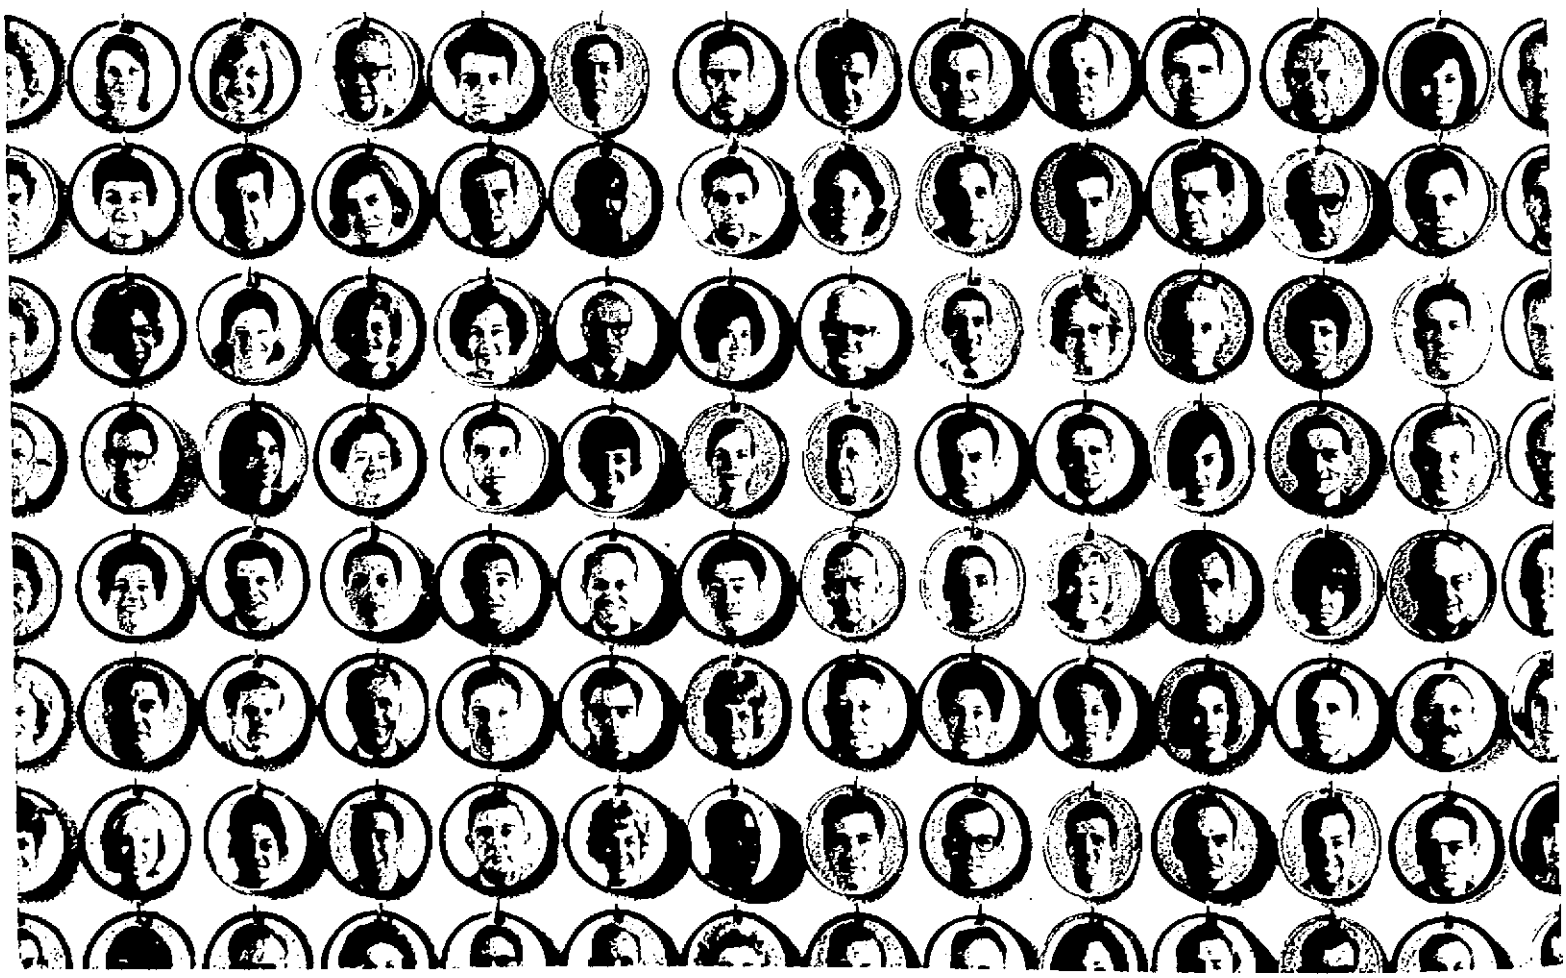

• A pioneer in health education, Metropolitan has given away 1.8 billion pieces of health and safety literature.

• Metropolitan invests an average of $8 million every business day in U.S. and Canadian communities—spurring new ventures such as jet aviation and modern housing—stimulating jobs for millions—and getting the greatest return for our policyholders.

'65 Chevrolet Impala SS Coupe

'65 Chevelle Malibu SS Coupe

'65 Chevy II Nova SS Coupe

'65 Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

Let Chevrolet put you in beautiful shape for '65

'65 Chevrolet Impala SS Coupe

The Chevrolet has it all over lesser cars like never before. It's new from the frame up. Cradles more lavish interiors in an equally lavish new ride, then wraps it all up in inspired new styling. With V8's up to 400 hp at your order. And things you can order from air conditioning to AM/FM Stereo radio—in body styles from wagons to that new SS coupe with Sweep-line roof!

'65 Chevelle Malibu SS Coupe

Suddenly Chevelle's a young swinger! You can equip it with a 300-hp V8 now—enough to make a swinger of any car, but especially Chevelle. It always looked and rode like it had a big edge on the rest; now it looks even more so. And rides like the road was broadloomed.

CHEVROLET

'65 Chevy II Nova SS Coupe

With a name like Chevy II Nova Super Sport Coupe, you expect something fancy. Just as well; Chevy II repeats for '65 as America's best dressed practical car. Best fed too now that you can order a 300-hp V8 to go with all the money-saving features that made it famous!

'65 Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

Corvair's all-new Corsa sports a flair for the dramatic. Its standard 140-hp Six is topped only by a Turbo-Charged 180-hp Six you can specify. Shoulder room is roomier. Handling is handier. With looks in every series—Corsa, Monza and 500—that make you wonder if other cars just aren't trying. . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit, Michigan.

what women will like about the NEW CARS

by E. D. FALES, JR.

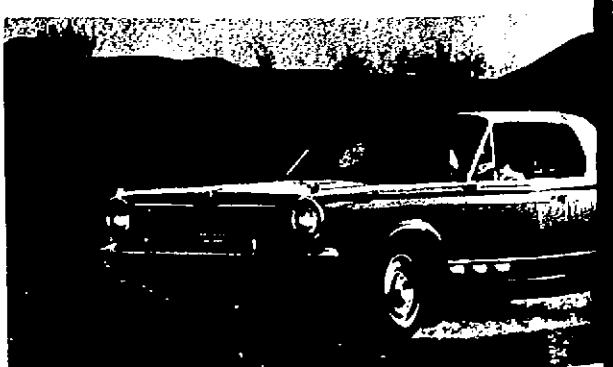

.....AND SOME THINGS THEIR HUSBANDS WILL LIKE, TOO

New cargo deck is demonstrated in Ford's 1965 Mustang. With fold-down seat, long objects lead through trunk.

New taillights on Rambler Ambassador stand foot higher than most, can be easily seen by drivers far behind.

New zip and stability are tested out by Parade reporter E. D. Fales, Jr. in Dodge Dart at testing grounds. Thanks to new "widetracks" and

DETROIT, MICH.

These days, there are more women drivers than ever—and they spend more time in the car than ever before. Yet each year, when the auto manufacturers' new models are unveiled, you hear about what men will like about them—not what women will like.

What will women like about the 1965 cars? I have just spent two weeks in Michigan and Wisconsin testing them from what is— for me—a new point of view. I have sizzled over test tracks, checked them for loading space and riding comfort, inspected for accessories a woman might like, tried them for ease of handling and upkeep. And then, not trusting myself, a mere man in spite of 30 years' experience driving and writing about autos, I checked with my own wife and a host of other wives in my suburban neighborhood. And what I found gave me a whole new slant on cars and driving—and made me think that women will like the 1965 models better than any in the past.

To begin with, let me tell you about something that happened on the Pontiac test track in Detroit. Talking to some engineers, I climbed into the rear seat of a '65 sedan and began to jot down notes. I was able to do it so easily that I was astonished to look up and find scenery silently whizzing by. "How fast are we going?" I asked the test engineer. "103 mph," he replied quietly. Yet I heard no noise, felt no strain, no vibration.

Of course, no wife is going to drive 103 mph. But she, perhaps more than her husband, is going to appreciate the quiet, smooth riding that's characteristic of the new models. She's also going to like the new styling. This is the year of the "status car" for everyone. Ford's sensational middle-priced Mustang is a gem of good taste. The restyled (for the first time since its introduction) Chevrolet Corvair glistens with class. Chrysler's New Yorker is a beauty. And the Teague-designed Rambler Ambassador has the proud air of a Lincoln Continental.

more inside space

Perhaps even more than the new lines of the 1965 models, however, women will like the way many use their interior space. For example, every Ford four-door sedan—and certain models of Corvair—this year will convert into a station wagon. Fold the rear seat forward and you have a roomy, 7-foot-long floor space.

The Plymouth Barracuda and the Ford Mustang offer a twist on the same idea. Besides the fold-down rear seat, there's a plastic door between seat and trunk space. When you open it, you have a cargo space that extends from front seat to rear and is ideal for carrying long objects like skis, rugs and camp gear.

Another feature of the 1965 models that will particularly appeal to women drivers—and passengers—is what engineers call "windows-up" driving. My wife, and probably most other women, always complains that in hot weather, with windows down, her hairdo gets mussed up by air swirling into the car. But if she closes the windows, it's stifling.

Engineers this year have whipped this complaint with new ventilation systems. Ford has a straight-through airflow in which fresh air comes in the front, goes out through vents beside the rear window. Dodge Polara has a system called "rammed fresh air," which directs air intake toward the feet, makes the whole car feel air-conditioned. Incidentally, women will be pleased to learn that air conditioning is less expensive and more reliable than in the past. It costs as little as $300 extra in some lines, and no longer causes drafts as many early versions did.

Also for the weather-conscious wife is a new feature on Cadillac—the rainy-day door lock. As soon as you put the key in the driver's lock, all other doors unlock automatically.

smooth 'n' easy

When I came back from Detroit, I found few women who wanted to talk about the cornering ability of cars, their performance or their gear ratio. But I found many who wanted to know how smoothly the new models rode or how easily they handled.

The fact is, almost all models are more stable in riding and road-hugging than ever before. The reason is that most of them have gone "widetrack" and "long-track." That is, they have spread the wheels two to three inches farther apart and lengthened the wheelbase one to three inches. With more span between the front and rear axles, the car rides more easily and you feel less tiresome road jounce.

Ford, meanwhile, besides going widetrack, has gotten a smooth new 1965 ride in still a different way, called surfboard suspension. The new models "float" above a frame that surges and flexes with the road. It twists and pivots, yet the car's body remains level. I rode a new model over Ford's "pitch-and-jounce" test road. The trip was unbelievably smooth, like riding a level surfboard through rough waves.

Most women also want to know about a car's safety features. How fast can they stop? How good are the lights? How good is the visibility?

Brakes, you'll be gratified to know, are bigger, safer and surer this year. Chevrolet's Corvette has become the first American car to give you disc brakes, which provide smoother and more reliable stopping, on all four wheels. (You can get them on front wheels only on Thunderbird, Lincoln Continental, Rambler Ambassador, Mustang and Barracuda.) Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Ford have increased their conventional brake size by 10 per cent. This helps them keep up with today's power.

As for lights, one outstanding innovation is Oldsmobile's "cornering lights." They're small, side-aimed headlights mounted on the front fender. You flick them on as you make a turn into a darkened driveway or narrow street and they light your route into the hidden part of the turn.

Rambler Ambassador has a safety taillight feature. Trouble with most brake lights is they're too close to the ground. The driver behind you can see them, but not the driver behind him. Ambassador has introduced "cathedral" taillights a full yard above the ground.

Thunderbird has another form of safety taillight. It's a "traveling" turn signal—three red lights in a row that light up in sequence when you turn, make an arrow of light that plainly says, "I'm going that way." Oldsmobile puts a safety red light in another place—the driver's door. Open it to get out and the light goes on, flashes a warning to cars behind.

And speaking of lights, a styling trick that fascinated me—and that women should like—is Buick's vanishing headlights. At first glance you can't see them. But turn on a switch and two doors open in the grille and out they pop, lighted and ready.

If you're like a lot of other women, you want, above all, a feeling of security in your car. My wife and her friends, for example, tell me that one worry women have is running out of gas, especially at night.

This year there's less danger of that. Several makers have installed bigger gas tanks. And Ford and Chrysler go a step farther. For a few dollars extra you can install an alarm that warns you when gas gets low. This is a red light that flashes on near your dash.

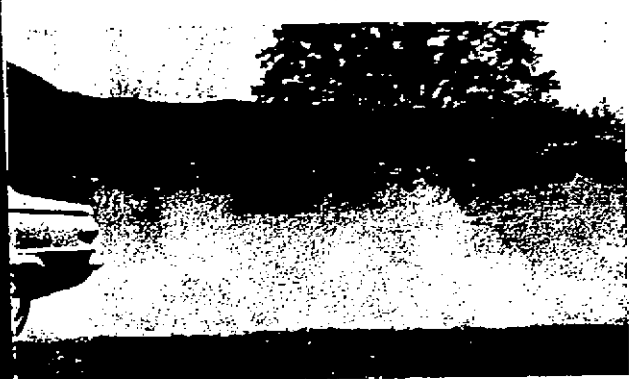

Ford, in fact, offers a very handy row of "take-off signals." These are a line of fire red warning lights. One flashes when your fuel is low. Another lights up if you've left a door ajar. A third reminds you to apply vacuum locks to all the doors — in order to keep the kids in safely

last reminders

The fourth light reminds you to "fasten seat belts" for take-off—as in a plane. And the fifth, for road emergencies, tells you that all your car's small outside lights are flashing to protect you.

I think women will also like Pontiac's new wiper blades, which go all the way to the left edge of the glass; also that Pontiac's windshield is flat today, eliminating the problem of fuzziness and distortion. And Mercury has a new windshield wiper that speeds up automatically when your windshield gets heavily loaded with mud, slush or snow. Then there are items that women will like because of sheer comfort and luxury. Oldsmobile offers as an extra a rear-seat vanity, with mirror, tissue-holders, lights. There are new steering wheels that are soft to the touch, and new, more durable carpeting. And many cars are now offering tilt steering wheels as an option. They're a godsend to women because with a tilt-wheel you just flip a switch and the wheel moves to any position and angle you find comfortable. You can even change it while driving in perfect safety.

But perhaps the feature many women will like best is encompassed in Ford's new side-seat station wagon. These facing seats are basically intended for children. But what a woman will probably do is plop down on one, prop her feet up on the other and let her husband do the driving!

longer wheel bases, 1965 models of all manufacturers hold road better than ever, as level performance in swirling turn above demonstrates.

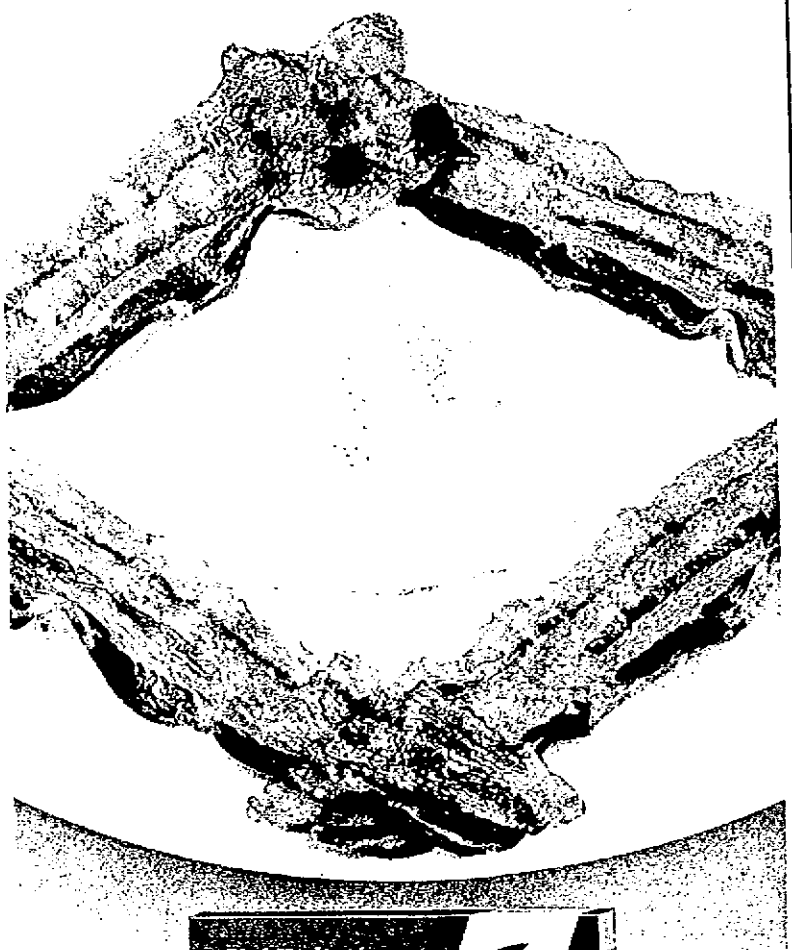

New safety is illustrated by Oldsmobile's cornering lights that you flick on as you turn into dark areas.

New comfort of '65 cars is optional tilt-wheel. By flipping switch, driver adjusts it to his comfort.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

BY LENNY COLYER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lenny Colyer, 44, of Park Ridge, Ill., is a veteran stand-up comedian from the Midwest. Twenty-five years ago he started out in Cleveland as a guitarist with a semi-name band, then graduated to vocalist with semi-name bands. One night he substituted for an ill comic in the Chez Paree in Chicago. He was "caught" by an agent who soon had him billed as a comedian in small night spots throughout the U.S. and Canada. Since then, Colyer has worked the Palace in New York, the Eden Roc in Miami Beach, the Mapes in Reno. He lives in Chicago with his wife and daughter, regularly tells such jokes as these:

Parking meters are nothing more than a legalized form of gambling. The city bets you a $2 ticket against your nickel that you don't show up in an hour!

The traffic situation is really getting desperate in the large cities. If auto sales keep going up, by the year 1970 there will be 200 million automobiles in use—so all you pedestrians who want to cross the street, you'd better do it now!

You've got to admire women and the way they dress these days. But I'm afraid some of them are due to be investigated by the Senate for "deceptive packaging."

I won't say my wife and I married young, but when I kissed her after the ceremony, our braces locked!

She became interested in gardening when we moved to the suburbs, and one day she said to me: "I want roses like our neighbors have!"—So I waited until it got dark. . . .

My wife kept telling me the man next door had a green thumb. "Having a green thumb doesn't mean he's a good gardener," I told her. "It could also mean he's a lousy painter!"

One thing about the little woman I'll never understand is how she can spot a blonde hair on my coat when I'm a block away and still drive up the driveway in our car and miss the garage door by 12 feet!

Wasn't it Horace Greeley who once said: "Go West, young man, go West"? In the meantime, he stayed in the East and made a fortune!

What with the coming national and local elections, the political scene is really in an uproar. And while we may get confused about the pros and cons of our current foreign policy and some of the statements of our diplomats, you can't knock diplomacy. After all, what else can put peace on a wartime basis!

My father was an inventor, and one of his best ideas was crossing an Idaho potato with a sponge. It didn't taste so good, but it held a heck-of-a-lotta gravy!

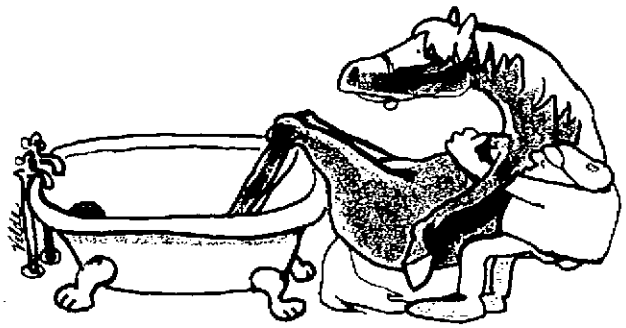

A well-known Hollywood movie idol had his bedroom redecorated, with everything in his favorite color, yellow. The carpeting, walls, ceiling, curtains, bedspreads, sheets and pillowcases—everything was done in yellow. One day he came down with a case of yellow jaundice. His wife asked their family doctor to come over quickly and see what he could do.

The doctor arrived 15 minutes later, went into the actor's bedroom and came out an hour later looking very puzzled.

"Oh, doctor, I've been so worried," said the wife. "Do you think you can cure him?"

"Cure him?" exclaimed the doctor. "I can't find him!"

Anecdote of the Week

■ Jo Denton, wife of the well-known Hollywood motion-picture publicity director, James Denton, phoned a horse stable in Los Angeles. She asked that a horse be delivered to her apartment on the third floor of her building. When the delivery wagon arrived with the horse, the delivery man asked for $200.

"I'll get you a check," Mrs. Denton answered. "But first, bring the horse inside."

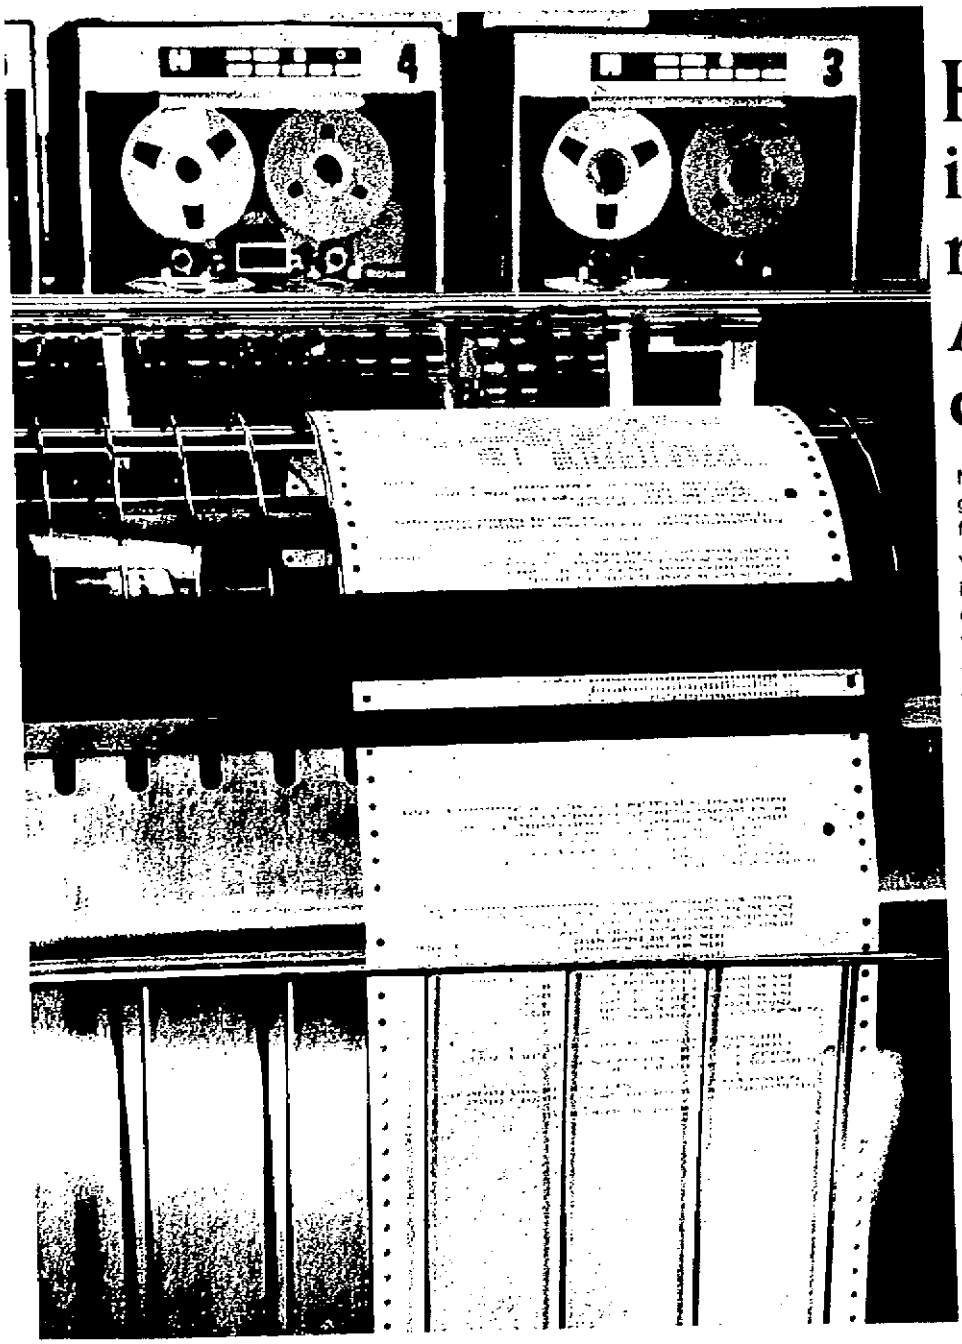

"Okay," said the man. He went down, got the horse squeezed into the freight elevator, took him up to the apartment.

"You want the horse right here in the living room?" he asked.

"No," said Mrs. Denton. "Bring him into the bathroom and put him in the bathtub. If he doesn't fit, put most of him in the bathtub."

The delivery man was amazed. "In the bathtub?" he asked. "I'll do it, lady, but then I want my money, and I wanna get out of here." He led the horse into the bathroom, managed to get its two hind legs into the tub. Then he walked into the living room to get his check. After pocketing it, he turned to Mrs. Denton. "I've heard of a lot of nutty things in my time," he said, "but this one tops everything. Why on earth do you wanna horse in your bathtub?"

"It's simple," explained Jo Denton. "For 32 years my husband has been coming home from work. And every night for 32 years he's been asking me, 'What's new?' Tonight I'll really have something to tell him." ■

poor reading

Helping a child to read

■ The chart above is your key to helping your child to read better. Through letter and picture, it illustrates the long and short vowel sounds of English—which account for 80 per cent of words in the language. Learning to identify them is the essential skill in building a good reading vocabulary. Your child should be able to do so by the middle of his first year in school. Strangely enough, however, 70 per cent of U.S. adults have not learned to do so—and therein lies the U.S. reading problem.

Why are these skills never developed? Many authorities claim it is because the American method of teaching reading relies on memory. Students are taught to recognize a word either from its shape or from certain clues—like the headlights in the word LOOK. When his memory falters, however, the reader has no way of understanding the word. As a result, the average American never approaches his listening vocabulary of 25,000 words.

You can help your child tap his listening vocabulary. Teach him these sounds using the pictures and letters:

Long	Short
a as in apron	apple
e as in eagle	eskimo
i as in iron	Indian
o as in ocean	ox
u as in uniform	umbrella

What's more, here's how Bayer Aspirin meets the test of competition.

Reporting on a government-financed study of five leading pain relievers, an article in The Journal of The American Medical Association shows:

For speed and strength of relief, Bayer Aspirin is unsurpassed by any product tested, including the so called "extra-strength" one that claims to be 50% stronger.

Of special concern, the product that claims to be 50% stronger than aspirin does upset the stomach with significantly greater frequency than Bayer Aspirin.

In fact, Bayer Aspirin is as gentle to the stomach as any product tested, including the higher-priced buffered product.

ALICE PEARCE THE CHINLESS WONDER

by LLOYD SHEARER

HER FADEAWAY CHIN BRINGS HER TOP ROLES EVERYWHERE IN SHOW BUSINESS

HOLLYWOOD.

Most people who are born with or acquire a handicap let it get them down.

They waste years of their lives getting pickled in the vinegar of their own depression. They develop an introverted and sour personality. Disgruntled, irascible, disappointed, they become envious and irritable, constantly bemoan the unkind fate which made them too tall, too short, not pretty or handsome or rich enough.

There are some persons, however, who not only conquer their handicaps but turn them into assets.

Take the case of Alice Pearce, 46, formerly of New York City and now of Los Angeles.

A receding chin has led Alice to Broadway, TV and film success as the bird-brain of all time. Thanks to her fadeaway chin, Alice earns from $20,000 to $30,000 a year playing lame-brain and idiot parts.

She has just finished working in five major films, the latest opposite Jimmy Stewart in Dear Brigitte, and has more TV character offers than she can handle.

"Women with fadeaway chins who look weak and silly," Alice says, "are apparently hard to come by."

Alice Pearce was not born with the runaway chinline which is today her stock in trade. She was born in New York City of a firm-chinned, wealthy and intelligent family. Her father was a foreign banking specialist, and when Alice was a child she was taken to Brussels, Belgium, where her dad represented the Chase National Bank.

"One afternoon when I was 9," the actress recalls, "I was playing in a park in Brussels. I was showing off on a swing. I think I was trying to impress some boys. I went way up, lost my grip and slipped out of the swing."

Alice landed on her chin with such impact that its growth was permanently retarded. All the dentists and bone specialists of Europe could do nothing for the girl. From that point on she was destined to go through life with an underdeveloped chin.

"Every girl wants to be beautiful," Alice Pearce declares, "especially in our society where we put such a tremendous emphasis on physical beauty. In our culture, according to the advertisements, to be beautiful is to be automatically happy. Supposedly doors open for you everywhere, men swoon, beauty is the key to success.

"None of this is true, but like every other young girl, I was brainwashed by this concept, which, of course, made me unhappy. As a teenager I was sent off to boarding school, the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. At first I was self-conscious about my chin. Youngsters can be cruel, and I was afraid my classmates would make fun of me. They didn't. They were very kind.

"As a result I didn't develop any trauma. I was unhappy for a while, but I refused to let my chin or lack of one bring on an inferiority complex.

TAKING STOCK

"When I got to Sarah Lawrence College, I looked in the mirror one day. I took inventory of myself. The most unusual thing about me was my chin. I decided to take advantage of it and become a comedienne, so I studied dramatics.

"While I was in college, I dated boys. Some of them actually phoned for a second or third date, and that was very reassuring to my ego. It proved that the boys were interested in me as a person, in me as a character, not because I had a pretty face."

After graduation, Alice Pearce prepared herself for a theatrical career by a season of summer stock in Maine. Leonard Sillman, the producer, watched her work, and because comediennes are the rarest of breeds, signed her for her Broadway debut in New Faces of 1943.

"Luckily for me," says Alice, "my weak chin caught on promptly, and I was signed for one bird-brain role after another."

Alice was brought to Hollywood for a feature role opposite Fred Astaire in On the Town. After that she worked in Look, Ma, I'm Dancing, Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, Small Wonder, a flock of other Broadway and Hollywood hits. Returning to New York, she put together a one-gal night club comedy act. It played the Blue Angel in New York for 67 consecutive weeks.

Alice's private life was equally fruitful. In 1948 she married John Rox, the composer (It's a Big, Wide Wonderful World), and the marriage was a happy one, dissolved only when Rox died of a sudden heart attack in 1957.

Last month Alice Pearce got married again, this time to Paul Davis, a former Broadway director who

The chinless wonder, Alice Pearce, plays an unemployment clerk in Dear Brigitte opposite Jimmy Stewart.

The versatile Miss Pearce plays it straight with Robert Cummings in the movie How to Be Very Very Popular

now runs one of the leading art galleries in Los Angeles.

"I've never had any trouble with either men or women," she says. "And frankly I think it's because of my chin. Everyone likes me to begin with because they feel sorry for me. When eventually they get to know me, they enjoy me for whatever good qualities I may have. I think this is particularly true of men. They say I'm fun to be with, that I'm not vain or self-centered. More important, I'm not competing against them.

"As for women, no woman has ever been jealous of me—not with my chin. Matter of fact, a physical handicap like mine makes me very, very popular with the girls. They take one look at me and say to themselves, 'She's no competition.'

People with handicaps have an advantage in a competitive society. Unless they're truculent or arrogant or just plain ornery, the first impression they make is a very sympathetic one. They arouse kindness and understanding and generosity. People want to lend them a helping hand.

"Look at me. As a chinless wonder, I've done very well. If I'd sustained no accident as a kid, if I had developed an ordinary chin, today I'd probably be just another starving, middle-aged character actress.

FEAR OF GROWING OLD

"Even if I had developed into a beauty—and I might have, because my mother was a beautiful woman—I'd be haunted by the fear of growing old. That's the trouble with all beautiful actresses. Time eventually robs them of their beauty. They see it going, and they become desperate. They go in for plastic surgery, face-lifting, wrinkle-removing. How to stay young becomes their prime obsession.

"If a woman has never known great exterior beauty, she doesn't have to worry about its disappearance.

"Young girls won't believe this, but many an intelligent man would rather marry a girl of charm, wit, character and achievement than a beauty contest winner who has none of these. Beauty is transient. Character is not. People who surmount handicaps generally develop character.

"If you were born with one, you should be grateful, not sorry. Take it from a chinless wonder who knows."

Alice Pearce in her night-club act. "Everyone loves a comedienne," she says. "No comedienne ever remains unmarried."

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Your worn-out feeling may be due to pale, iron-poor blood.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because GERITOL contains 7 vitamins and, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! In only one day, GERITOL-iron is working in your bloodstream, carrying strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests: Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement.

So when you feel tired, check with your doctor, and if iron-poor blood is your problem, take fast-acting GERITOL every day. You'll feel stronger fast—in just 7 days or your money back from GERITOL.

Due to iron-deficiency.*

BIG DEAL?

You bet! It's the only machine washable and dryable wool sock—Jockey Thorobred®

Even at the regular price, Jockey Thorobred socks are a bargain. Why? Because Thorobreds are unshrinkable! Machine wash 'em . . . machine dry 'em. They can't shrink out of size. (A new pair free if they ever should.)

Besides being pleasingly practical, they're devilishly dapper, too. They have to be to go around on such famous feet as Bobby Darin's, Glenn Ford's, and Bing Crosby's.

When you're sock-shopping, look for the red toe stripe, mark of a Thorobred. Buy half a dozen or so, why don't you. No discounts or price cuts. Just the best dog-gone socks you can wear. $1.50 to $1.95 in crew, anklet, and over-the-calf styles.

Jockey MENSWEAR

Since its inception, Jockey Menswear has maintained a policy of selling exclusively through quality retail outlets . . . stores dedicated to serving customers courteously, sincerely, and honestly.

The greatest care is, of course constantly applied to the manufacture of garments which bear the Jockey label. But this is only half the story. The other half is the personal service which the retailer renders in matching these garments to individual customers' needs and wishes.

The stores listed below, that are featuring Jockey Thorobred wool hose, have steadfastly demonstrated a sincere devotion to customer satisfaction. Because of this, they earned our wholehearted admiration and respect. And we trust that their efforts will be rewarded by your continued patronage.

PIES IN THE SKY

by BETH MERRIMAN
Parade Food Editor

FLYING HIGH TO WELCOME THE START OF THE FRESH CRANBERRY SEASON ARE TWO HANDSOME PIES, COMBINING BRIGHT RED BERRIES WITH TWO AUTUMN FRUITS—APPLES AND PEARS—WITH DELICIOUS RESULTS. TRY BOTH.

DOUBLE-CRUST CRANBERRY APPLE CHEESE PIE

1 package pie crust mix • 1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup flour • ½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
3 cups peeled, cubed apples • 3 cups fresh cranberries

Prepare pie crust according to package directions.

Roll out half the pastry; line 9-inch pie pan. Combine remaining ingredients; toss lightly; pour into pastry-lined pan. Roll out remaining pastry; place over filling. Moisten edges of pastry; seal and flute edge. Cut a few slits in the top crust to allow steam to escape. Bake at 425° for 35 to 40 minutes, or until crust is browned. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

LATTICE-TOP CRANBERRY PEAR PIE

1 package pie crust mix • 1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch • ¼ teaspoon salt • ½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg • 3 cups sliced, peeled, fresh pears
3 cups fresh cranberries • 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

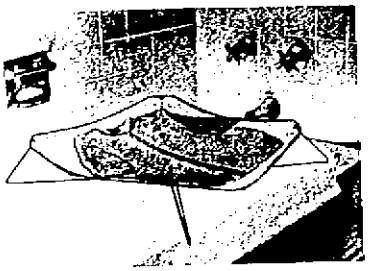

Prepare pie crust according to package directions.

Roll out half the pastry; line 9-inch pie pan. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, spices, pears and cranberries; toss lightly. Pour into pastry-lined pan. Dot with butter. Roll out remaining pastry; cut into ½-inch strips. Arrange strips lattice-fashion over filling; flute rim. Bake at 425° for 35 to 40 minutes or until crust is browned. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

HERE ARE NEW IDEAS FOR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Sweater dry: Your sweaters will dry faster on this ventilated nylon net screen (above). It's raised so air can circulate, dry both sides at once. Helps keep sweaters in shape, too—and you can pin garment edges to resize shrinkables. Metal stand with 24-inch-square screen fits on countertop, in bathtub, folds for storage. $1.98. Sunset House, Dept. PP, Sunset Bldg., Beverly Hills, Calif.

Two-way cooling: You can use a new aluminum thermoelectric food cooler at home and in the car. It holds 30 twelve-oz. cans or equivalent, has interchangeable cords — one for car lighter, one for home outlet. Because thermoelectric concept eliminates all moving parts except small fan, it can operate several hours without running down car battery when motor is off. Details: Cronstroms, Dept. PP, 4225 Hiawatha Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Hot tray with bin: This electric food warmer-server (above) has a rotating bin to hold rolls, pies—and leave more room on top for platters, casseroles. Bin detaches for cleaning. Use it, too, in oven to defrost, bake frozen items, then reattach for warm keeping. 22½" x 11" x 4½": $32.50. Sutton, Dept. PP, 519 East 72, New York, N.Y. 10021.

Ladder leveler: Simple way to make any standard ladder safe when you use it on uneven surfaces is with an aluminum leg extension. The device clamps to either leg, adjusts up to 12 inches in length, has safety pin to prevent accidental slips. $9.95. Trampolt, Dept. PP, Box 145, Hudson, Mass. 01749.

Others Can Mediate With Christ – For US

Catholics always have believed this, although at times they are criticized for it.

"Christ," some sincere people say, "is our sole Redeemer and our sole Mediator. We don't need anyone else to mediate or intercede for us."

This misunderstanding, we are sure, will be quickly cleared away in the mind of any fair-minded Christian when the Catholic teaching and belief are explained.

Since the time of the Apostles, the Catholic Church has insisted that there is only one Mediator between God and man—our Lord Jesus Christ. The entire Catholic religion, in fact, is founded upon that truth.

But this does not mean that there are no intermediaries between Christ and ourselves. Indeed, the whole Bible takes such mediation for granted.

When Christ commissioned the Apostles to "... teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit ..." He was interposing their ministry between Himself and others. In the granting of Sacramental authority to His Church, He was obviously instituting a succession of human "deputies" to serve as intermediaries between Himself and the faithful.

In the administration of Baptism, for example, Christ dispenses one of the gifts of Redemption through a purely human agent. This is true also in the other Sacraments, and in no wise does the administrator detract from the honor due Christ or interfere with man's direct approach to God.

The Apostles repeatedly asked their disciples to "pray for us," and St. Paul admonished the faithful to "pray for one another ... that you many be healed ..." Indeed, if Christ did not intend to have intermediaries between Himself and men, would St. Paul have told us that "God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings ..." (1 Cor. 12:28)?

Yes, others can mediate with Christ in our behalf. And their example and prayers can often work a vast miracle in our spiritual lives ... for indeed the "prayer of a righteous man availeth much." How much is indicated by the words of St. Paul to Timothy, reminding him that by holding true to the doctrine, "thou wilt save both thyself and those who hear thee" (1 Tim. 4:16).

If you would like to know more about the power of these mediators of Christ to help you, write today for our pamphlet on that subject. It will be sent free, and nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. PR-28.

DON'T LET THEM STEAL YOUR CAR

HOW GOOD ARE YOUR PARKING HABITS?

by CHARLES W. STICKLE

Thorough job: Owner returned to parking lot to find car minus engine, transmission, wheel.

By the time you read to the end of this column (roughly 90 seconds), an automobile will be stolen somewhere in the nation. And if you want to interrupt your reading to step outside to see if your own car is locked, there's a good chance at least three more cars will have been stolen before you get back.

Automobile thefts are one of the most staggering figures in the national crime index, reports the FBI. And they continue to skyrocket, to the consternation of law enforcement officials across the country.

What can you do to reduce the number of thefts?

The first step in the right direction is to take a long look at your "parking habits." Just as bad driving habits cause highway accidents, bad parking habits boost automobile thefts. Most frequent invitation to the potential car thief are keys left in the ignition switch, a careless practice which triggers more than 40 per cent of all car thefts, according to the National Automobile Theft Bureau, an arm of the motor vehicle insurance industry.

Recently a headline in a Pittsburgh newspaper proclaimed: "I STOLE 16 CARS AND 9 TRUCKS IN 1 HOUR."

Actually, the thefts never occurred. What did happen was that within an hour a team of reporters found 16 automobiles and 9 trucks, all of them operable, with the keys in the ignition—all waiting to be stolen.

"A dozen unlocked automobiles can be found on any downtown city block," states Ray King, secretary of the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

King says the theft of nearly 400,000 cars last year in the U.S. set an all-time record. He makes the alarming prediction that if the present rate continues unchecked, this figure may nearly double by 1970.

Little that the cautious motorist can do will stop the professional thief, who, according to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, can break into the most securely locked vehicle and drive it away in seconds. But, Hoover notes, this type of thief accounted for less than 15 per cent of all motor vehicles stolen last year.

Who then is responsible for the theft of the other 85 per cent?

JUST A LARK

Actually, 4 of every 5 automobiles stolen in any 12 month period are taken by "joy-riders," or others seeking temporary transportation, and then abandoned. Many are recovered stripped of expensive equipment and accessories. Others, driven recklessly by the joy-riders, suffer serious mechanical damage, and many are wrecked.

Although the joy-ride impulse is at the root of many auto thefts, the patterns of the thieves vary, depending on the season of the year.

The Boston police department has been in the forefront of law enforcement agencies which seek answers to the problem. Its survey showed that in the summer months many automobiles stolen by joy-riders in the Greater Boston area were found abandoned on near-by Cape Cod. After enjoying their sojourn there for one day or more, the thieves selected another car in a parking lot on the Cape for their return trip to Boston.

During the fall and winter "off-season," when there are fewer cars parked in the Cape area, Boston car thieves made the round trip in the same vehicle, the survey disclosed.

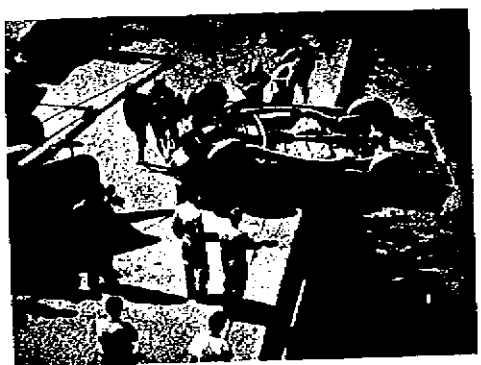

EASY PICKINGS

Cleveland police found that shopping center parking lots and other free parking areas were easy pickings for the joy-riding thief. In several instances, bands of youths who drove into the lots in a single vehicle sped out in several cars.

One of the oddest examples of theft occurred in Omaha, Neb., where 2 boys, age 9 and 10, stole from a parking lot an unlocked car left with the keys in the switch. One boy, kneeling on the seat behind the steering wheel, drove the car while his companion crouched on the floor boards working the gas pedal and brake at the shouted directions of the driver. They drove six blocks through heavy traffic before they were stopped by a policeman.

Car thieves, of both the professional and joy-riding stamp, find happy hunting grounds at race tracks, ball parks, picnic areas, public beaches, theaters, motels and hotels.

Law enforcement officials generally agree that bad parking habits, like bad driving habits, are rooted in ignorance as well as carelessness.

One that didn't get away—firemen recover car from a river bottom several months after it had been stolen.

The driver who parks his car in a dimly lit area known for its high crime rate will probably take great pains to make sure ignition, doors and windows are tightly secured. But back home he will revert to his bad habits, leaving the keys in the ignition and door and windows wide open.

It will shock him to learn that 39 per cent of all car thefts occur in residential areas. Even driveways, garages and the parking areas adjacent to private homes and apartment dwellings are not completely safe. The FBI says these areas are favorite spots for some thieves and notes that the incidence of theft in residential areas increases at night, when almost two-thirds of all auto larcenies occur.

A by-product of these thefts is the mounting pilferage of parts and accessories. One insurance rating bureau estimates that high-performance engines, four-speed transmissions, bucket seats, ornamental wheel covers, radios and tires make up a $1 million haul.

The NATB has six tips which can help prevent theft and, if the motorist is unlucky enough to be a theft victim, assist in the recovery of his car:

SIX TIPS

1 Lock your car wherever you park. Remember, more than half of the $376 million worth of automobiles stolen last year were left unlocked by their owners.

2 Keep clothing and other personal belongings out of sight. An expensive movie camera in a saddle-leather carrying case left on a car seat has been the lure for many a thief who, after breaking in and stealing the camera, decides to take the car as well.

3 Don't leave your driver's license and auto registration attached to the sun visor, steering wheel or in the glove compartment. These documents can be used by the thief to make good his escape.

4 If possible, park in well-policed and carefully patrolled areas, even though you do lock your car securely. This may prevent the theft of wheels, tires, wheel-covers or any other removable equipment.

5 In case your car is stolen, there are two reasons why you should report it to the police without delay. First, police can sometimes spot the vehicle before the thief gets away—particularly in sparsely populated areas. Second, in many areas the owner of the car is liable for damage caused by a thief until his report of theft is registered with the police.

6 You can be of great help to the police if you really know your car—not just the license, engine and serial numbers. Remember there are many cars of the same make, model and color. It's a great help to police if you can furnish an exact description of the car, including any peculiar marks which can identify it as yours beyond a doubt.

Is our double-ply toilet tissue becoming a status symbol?

It's "in" in Beverly Hills. Certain beautifully-groomed women wrap up their bouffant hairdos for the night in pale pastel double-ply Crown Chiffon toilet tissue. They're all customers of a famous hairdresser who insists on nothing less.

It entertains rich kids. Gives them something new to do. Crown Chiffon is so soft and velvety. And strong enough for mummifying little sisters.

It's reached Manhattan. Several San Diego couples who go there regularly to welcome astronauts take supplies of Crown Chiffon with them. "At times like this," says one, "ordinary single-ply won't do. And ticker tape is out."

It's inspiring bathrooms in San Marino. You pick your favorite color Crown Chiffon — lilac, aqua, pink, yellow or white are twice as rich in double-ply — and take it from there. The starting point for "Roman Ruin," above, was lilac Crown Chiffon.

It's created other two-ply status symbols. Among them, this fur-lined fur coat, having your own plane plus your own pilot, owning an inside, and an outside, dog. (But among double status symbols, Crown Chiffon still has the distinction of being, at least, the least expensive.)

If we've come up with a new status symbol, that's fine. All we started out to make was the softest, richest, most luxurious double-ply toilet tissue there is: Crown Chiffon

Girl golfers hit the jackpot

by TOM SILER

Blasting out of a sand trap at a tournament meet, champion Mickey Wright shows gallery the skill that puts her on top.

Mickey Wright is the best woman golfer in the land, and she has the credentials to prove it—money bags, titles galore, a slow backswing and ulcers.

Why the ulcers?

Only 29, Mickey collected a record-breaking $31,269.50 in tournament cash last year, won 13 tournaments and averaged less than 73 strokes per round for the entire year. This year the champ may do even better. Currently, she has 8 victories in 18 tournaments and $19,670 in the bank, with 10 tournaments to go. Mickey, a 5-foot-8, 140-pound blonde with merry blue eyes, is the smoothest shotmaker to come down the distaff road in many a day. She's conquered everything except those ulcers.

Mickey dominates the nomadic females as no man ever dominated men's tournament golf. In fact, Miss Wright's dazzling power and artistry might be considered a drawback to the ladies' tour by some, but the noisy dissent is led by Leonard Wirtz, ex-basketball official who is business manager for the entourage called the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

"No, no, Mickey's our showpiece," says Wirtz. "She's a great golfer and a real champion. But no one resents her success. The others just wish they were that good."

Wirtz has the unusual task of guiding Miss Wright, who also doubles as president of the LPGA, and 40 or so other women golfers through the hinterlands seeking a fast buck on the golf course. They seldom play the biggest cities—no draw. But they do well in these days of booming golf in St. Petersburg, Fla., Waterloo, Ia., San Antonio, Tex., Biloxi, Miss., and Seattle, Wash. They usually put on a 54-hole show over a 3-day period and cut up a pot ranging from $7,500 to $15,000.

Part of the reason for the growing interest in ladies' golf tournaments is, no doubt, their pretty legs, pretty smiles and pretty swings. But, in addition, the girls play well and can put on as exciting a show as most men's tournaments produce.

Veteran of ladies' circuit, Patty Berg, welcomes newcomer Carol Mann.

Wirtz says the women golfers will divvy up close to $400,000 this year, and he's hoping eventually to get the girls in the big money of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus via television. They've been on live TV only once—last October at Las Vegas, a 90-minute spectacular that had its amusing overtones. Local beauty parlors and specialty shops did a land office business the day before. Girl pros who teed off early played slow so they'd be seen on TV, and those who started late played fast for the same reason.

Despite what you've heard about women getting along with women, Wirtz says the golfers are as sweet as pie to each other—except, of course, when they blow a short putt worth $200.

The warm camaraderie among the petticoat platoon is in strange contrast to the frictions on the men's tour, where a single jackpot might match Mickey Wright's winnings for the year. The girls throw a first-time tournament winner into the nearest swimming pool, clothes and all.

This is not such a tragedy as it might seem, since a girl golfer doesn't travel light. A typical wardrobe, stashed away neatly in a late model car, includes 26 pairs of shorts, 2 swimsuits, 3 dozen shirts, a dozen blouses (dress and sport), 10 pairs of golf shoes, 6 pairs of dress shoes, 18 cocktail dresses, 10 everyday dresses and knit ensembles, 2 furs, a rain suit and trench coat, 1 pair of woollies, 6 pairs of slacks and 4 pairs of knee socks. Add fishing poles, minnow buckets and sewing baskets, and you've got a load.

The tournament circuit promises glamour and travel and excitement to many young girls, but it actually rates way down the scale in romance. Most of the girls are single. Wirtz says, "We had one girl who fell in love every week, but constant travel kills most of the incipient romances. Occasionally, we'll see some young fellow follow the tour two, maybe three, weeks, but most of them soon disappear."

In any case, time is at a premium for most of the lady golfers. Besides the playing and travel time, many of the golfers must allow time to tend to administrative functions. Betsy Rawls and Mary Lena Faulk, for instance, inspect the course each week and help set up the ground rules, if needed. Judy Torluemke, Judy Kimball and Clifford Ann Creed—a 90-pounder called "Bones"—arrange the pairings. Miss Rawls handles statistics and shoots off the tournament results to the auditor, who in turn mails back checks to the lucky girls. Beth Stone handles local publicity, Sybil Griffin the mail for the travelers, Miss Wright, as president, and Wirtz meet the graver issues.

The LPGA is careful to protect itself from ordinary golfers who get the idea they're good enough to play on tour. The novice is required to pay an entry fee of $50 per tournament until she gets a player card. She earns it by finishing in the top 80 per cent in 3 out of 4 consecutive tournaments, which isn't easy.

Champion Mickey Wright wishes she had more competition. "Our tournament money will be increased when we get a better field of players," she explains. "We've got about 25 good players now. Our goal is 50. We can have 50 good players in 5 years. Now, most of the girls spend $5,000 or so to stay on the tour. That means a few make money, many do not. Last year 10 girls made $10,000 or more."

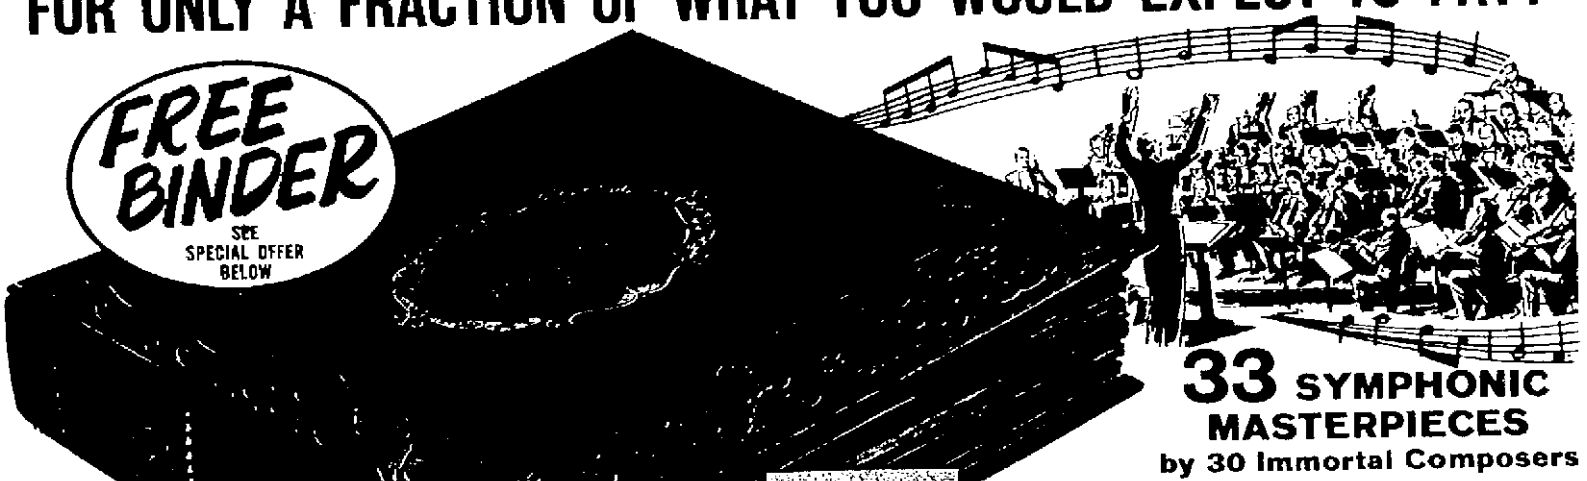

Miss Wright doubtless would like to make even more money, and she'd like to see her competitors fare better. But she frankly does not covet the golfing bonanza of Palmer and Nicklaus. "I think it can get out of hand," she says. "The proper recompense for tournament golf is what we're making."

Included with each recording is an eight-page Listener's Guide, an envelope-sleeve to protect the record, and a title page in striking color and gold — all carefully wrapped and sealed in plastic.

GUARANTEED $4.00 VALUE

If, after playing any record, you feel that the quality is not equal to that of records selling for $4.98 or more, simply return it for replacement or, if you wish, for full refund.

FREE BINDER—WITH FIRST TWO RECORDS

Made of simulated leather, embossed and stamped, this handsome binder stores your entire set of 16 records, the colorful title pages, and the Listener's Guides. When assembled, the collection will be a handsome ornament to add beauty to your home.

HOW TO RECEIVE YOUR TREASURY

Fill in and mail the coupon at right. In return we mail you the first two records of the Treasury, together with the binder. Play the recordings in your home for ten days. If you are not satisfied for any reason, simply return the package to us and that will be all.

If you find that the records are everything we describe them to be you may pay the invoice enclosed with the package ($1.69 plus 31¢ mailing costs for each record). Pay nothing for the binder — it's free to anyone who collects the entire set of sixteen records.

After we receive your payment for the first package, we continue sending you two records at a time, about once a month, until the complete Treasury is in your hands.

Thus, at the end of only a few months, at amazingly low cost, you will own one of mankind's most thrilling cultural treasures, to bring you and your family endless pleasure throughout the years.

MAIL COUPON TODAY

PROBABLY millions of families have always wanted to have a well-rounded collection of recordings of the world's greatest music in their homes. But the problem of making the best choice among thousands of pieces of classical music has always been a puzzle. Few people know by name the compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, and dozens of other composers, or which selections are the most melodious, the most heart-warming and consoling, the most thrilling, the most inspiring, the most joyful, the most conducive to maximum enjoyment.

This problem of exactly which classical compositions to select has been solved for you by the experts who assembled THE STANDARD TREASURY OF THE WORLD'S GREAT MUSIC. Now, in this brilliant collection of 16 Hi-Fi, Long-Play, 33-rpm, 12-inch vinyl records, you have thirty-three complete symphonic masterpieces by thirty of the greatest composers, chosen by some of the world's foremost musical authorities.

With this Treasury in your home, you will have at your command the most beautiful music ever written, recorded by world-famous orchestras and conductors. Furthermore, with each of the sixteen records you get a handsomely illustrated commentary about the music and the composer.

Best of all, through this special offer you can own the complete Treasury, with its thirty-three complete symphonic compositions, at little more than you would expect to pay for a mere half dozen or less of records of similar quality.

Parade, Box 1550, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11202 M-1

I accept your offer. Please ship me, for free examination, the first two records of the Standard Treasury of the World's Great Music, together with the handsome, simulated leather binder in which to keep them.

If these recordings do not satisfy me in every way, I will return everything to you within ten days without further obligation.

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

BECAUSE OF LARGE MAIL VOLUME, PARADE CANNOT ANSWER QUERIES.

MEN FIRST. In America 7 out of every 10 husbands die before their wives.

CULTURE BAIT. Librarians throughout the country are pondering the gimmick now used at the public library in Islip, Long Island. There, to lure children away from TV and increase their reading time, the library gives away free ice cream to every child with every 15th book he charges out.

MONEY AND CRIME. J. Edgar Hoover believes one way to combat crime is to increase the pay of crime-fighters. Crime in this country has increased 15% over last year. According to Hoover, the average monthly earnings of police employees in local governments are at least $25 lower than the averages for firemen, teachers and public utility men. "These figures," he maintains, "lend credence to the contention that our society demands more for less from the law enforcement officer than from any other public servant."

WHAT STOCKS? Do you play the stock market? Institutions, banks, trusts and pension funds now handle close to 25% of the activity on the New York Stock Exchange. These outfits generally deal in stocks of promise and high standards. If you don't want to get hurt, it might be a good policy, say financial advisers, to follow these institutions in buying and selling. Their portfolio changes, in many cases a matter of record, can be obtained from your local broker.

TV & PSYCHOSOMATIC MEDICINE. Do TV commercials and TV medical shows suggest to you that you're ill? The General Practitioners Association in Great Britain, alarmed at the growing number of patients with trivial complaints, is launching a probe to determine whether TV is causing too many people to worry unnecessarily about their health.

CANCER AND HEREDITY. Evidence exists that cancer or a predisposition to it may be inherited. A recent report by Dr. Henry Lynch, given at an American Institute for Biological Sciences meeting in Colorado, told of a family of 130 members in which 25% either now have or have had cancer. In one family of 12 brothers and sisters, 7 were cancer victims and 3 of these had more than one primary malignancy. Current figures reveal that 10 out of every 100 Americans now die of cancer.

TEENAGERS ON THE INCREASE. Teenage ranks are expanding rapidly. This year 3,100,000 youngsters will celebrate their 17th birthday. Ten years from now 4 million will reach 17. America is developing a massive teenage population and a growing, vital teenage market. Take, for example, the purchasing power of young girls. Approximately 6% 11 million constitute 6% of the nation's population. Yet they spend $321 million a year to buy 56% of all the records and record albums in the country. Boy and girl teenagers now spend $10 billion annually. By 1970 this figure will jump to $21 billion. According to Phillip R. Cateora, assistant professor of marketing at the University of Colorado, there are three major characteristics of our teenage culture: (1) romantic concept of life; (2) compulsive independence of the family; (3) compulsive conformity to the teen-group mores.

IDEAL SECRETARY. A group of New York psychological consultants have worked out the following set of standards for secretaries and other female job-holders: (1) age 35 to 50 -- so that she remembers the depression; (2) married; (3) to a husband with a medium-paying job so that her job is a financial necessity and she doesn't goof off.

POLARIS IN PACIFIC. The U.S. Navy is moving Polaris submarines to the Pacific just as soon as a forward support base for the atomic sub squadron is finished at Guam. Should be any day now. First Polaris sub scheduled to be stationed in the western Pacific is the Daniel Boone.

EDUCATION'S FUTURE. By the year 2000, educational institutions will play the largest single role in the American economy. So declares Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University of California. Also by the year 2000, according to Dr. Dwayne Orton of IBM, many colleges with enrollments of 100,000 to 200,000 will become cities in their own right; colleges and universities will become 3-year institutions offering master's degrees; education will be compulsory to age 20; and community colleges will take care of the first 2 years of college.

FRENCH PILL-TAKERS. The French are great eaters and great wine-drinkers, but they now lead the world in the consumption of medicine for digestive and liver trouble.

FROM THE MYSTERIOUS GEOMETRY OF NATURE...

The daisy head bears curious relationship with the mathematical Fibonacci series, produced by starting with 1 and adding the last two numbers to arrive at the next: 1, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, 13, 21, 34, etc. Daisy head has 21 clockwise spirals, 34 counter-clockwise!

...TO THE CALCULUS IN A STARTLED CAT...

Just as a movie film consists of repeated still pictures of a moving object, so does Calculus break motion down into an infinite number of "instants." Thus mathematicians can calculate an object's speed and acceleration at a specific instant.

...TO THE AMAZING COINCIDENCE OF BIRTHDAYS...

Out of any 30 people in a crowd, the odds are better than two to one that at least two of them have birthdays on the same date. In dealing with a group above 50 people, the chance approaches certainty. Try it on 50 friends and see for yourself!

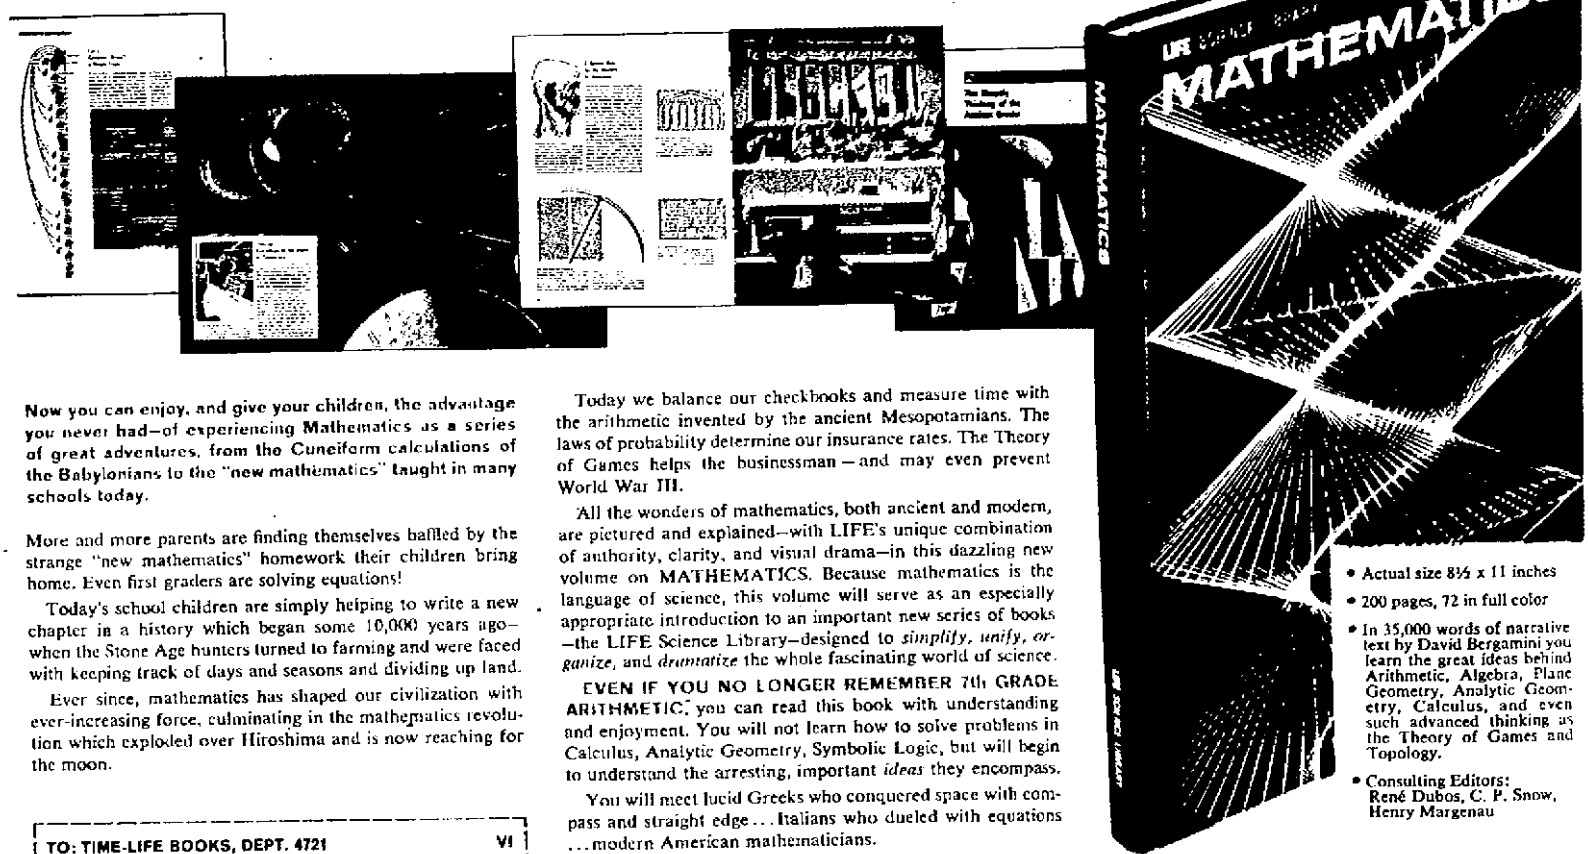

...TO THE "RANDOM WALK" PRINCIPLE OF MODERN PHYSICS

If a blindfolded boy walks away from a lamppost, changing direction according to whim, the "law of disorder" predicts that he will keep returning to the lamppost. Young Einstein used this principle to describe the movement of tiny particles suspended in a liquid.

This LIFE Science Library book makes everything from Euclid to Einstein so fascinating you'll exclaim

"If only Mathematics had been made this exciting when we were in school!"

Now you can enjoy, and give your children, the advantage you never had—of experiencing Mathematics as a series of great adventures, from the Cuneiform calculations of the Babylonians to the "new mathematics" taught in many schools today.

More and more parents are finding themselves baffled by the strange "new mathematics" homework their children bring home. Even first graders are solving equations!

Today's school children are simply helping to write a new chapter in a history which began some 10,000 years ago—when the Stone Age hunters turned to farming and were faced with keeping track of days and seasons and dividing up land.

Ever since, mathematics has shaped our civilization with ever-increasing force, culminating in the mathematics revolution which exploded over Hiroshima and is now reaching for the moon.

Today we balance our checkbooks and measure time with the arithmetic invented by the ancient Mesopotamians. The laws of probability determine our insurance rates. The Theory of Games helps the businessman—and may even prevent World War III.

All the wonders of mathematics, both ancient and modern, are pictured and explained—with LIFE's unique combination of authority, clarity, and visual drama—in this dazzling new volume on MATHEMATICS. Because mathematics is the language of science, this volume will serve as an especially appropriate introduction to an important new series of books—the LIFE Science Library—designed to simplify, unify, organize, and dramatize the whole fascinating world of science.

EVEN IF YOU NO LONGER REMEMBER 7th GRADE ARITHMETIC, you can read this book with understanding and enjoyment. You will not learn how to solve problems in Calculus, Analytic Geometry, Symbolic Logic, but will begin to understand the arresting, important ideas they encompass.

You will meet lucid Greeks who conquered space with compass and straight edge... Italians who dueled with equations ...modern American mathematicians.

YOU WILL SEE in glowing full-color paintings, rare prints, and photographs, the uncanny geometry in Nature... the bridges of Königsberg that inspired the "Network Theory" ... a strip of paper with only one side.

You will end by exclaiming, "Why couldn't they have made math this exciting when I was in school!" And you will rejoice for your children. (A special section explains the "new mathematics" many of them are learning.)

- Actual size 8½ x 11 inches
- 200 pages, 72 in full color
- In 35,000 words of narrative text by David Bergamini you learn the great ideas behind Arithmetic, Algebra, Plane Geometry, Analytic Geometry, Calculus, and even such advanced thinking as the Theory of Games and Topology.
- Consulting Editors: René Dubos, C. P. Snow, Henry Margenau

If you have $30, a lot of patience and an ability to ignore all the distractions, you can buy a counterfeit California driver's license in Tijuana.

It may not be quite as good as the one you get from the Department of Motor Vehicles—and it may not fool a traffic officer—but it's good enough to pass checks on unsuspecting businessmen.

Despite warnings from a liaison officer for the San Diego Police Department that "it can't be done unless you have connections across the border" it was done last week by a guy who didn't have connection one.

Here's the way it works.

You walk through the border gate and look like you're looking for a taxi. You don't really have to worry about this because within 40 feet of the gate at least a half dozen taxidrivers are already looking for you.

For practical purposes the taxidrivers — and their taxis—are all the same, so you fight your way into one. This means fighting your way through the others.

As you drive off you notice that there is a little man sitting in the passenger seat beside the driver. He's your man. He speaks English and the driver doesn't.

Now comes the invariable pitch.

"You wanna' girl?" he says with a slight leer. Before you can shake your head twice, he adds, "You wanna' see some French movies? Very sexy. Picture postcards?"

For about five minutes or a half a mile ride you keep saying, "No," until he pauses for breath. Now, it's your turn.

You say, "How about a driver's license?"

He looks at you like you said a dirty word but then he nods. "I take you," he says. To the driver he says, "La Baron Hotel."

You pull into the driveway of La Baron hotel. It's a motel with a large courtyard which you are about to go in.

"What's this?" you say.

"This the place," he answers.

"For driver's licenses?"

"Sure. Also nice Mexican girl, French movies and postcards."

"Oh no," you say as the driver hits the driveway. "Let me out of here." The driver stops the car for this discussion.

"You don't wanna' go in here," your escort says. "You can wait here while we get the man for the license."

"No," you answer. "Take me downtown. I want

30,000 Will Greet Johnson at Airport

Macapagal Lauds Raid on N. Viets

Respect for U.S. Raised, Filipino President Says

U.S. naval action against Communist PT boats in the Tonkin Gulf raised American stature throughout Southeast Asia, Philippine President Diosdado P. Macapagal said during his goodwill visit to San Pedro Saturday.

"The quick action you took in the Tonkin Gulf incident indicated an improvement of your efforts in South Viet Nam," Macapagal said.

* * * *

"I BELIEVE you can win in South Viet Nam," he added. "You must win the support of the people to do it. Without the support of the people it is difficult to win any fight."

The Asian leader, accompanied by his wife and 16-year-old daughter, arrived at Los Angeles International Airport at noon. They went immediately to Ports O' Call Restaurant, San Pedro, where they were guests of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission and Mayor and Mrs. Samuel W. Yorty.

* * * *

MACAPAGAL was given a new title—Admiral of the Port of Los Angeles.

Macapagal has been on a 12-day tour of the United States. He said he received a very warm welcome from President Johnson. They arrived aboard one of President Johnson's jet transports, Air Force II.

His trip, said Macapagal,

EDDIE CANTOR
Laugh-Maker Silenced

Eddie Cantor, 72, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Eddie Cantor, banjo-eyed vaudevillian whose dancing feet and double - takes brought him stardom in movies, radio and television, died at home Saturday at the age of 72.

"Eddie had not been himself since Ida's (his wife's) passing (August 1962)," a family spokesman said.

"He had a sudden coronary occlusion and died instantly shortly after 7 p.m. Two of his daughters were at home at the time."

Cantor rarely was seen in public in recent years.

* * * *

THE COMEDIAN, as famed for his charitable works as he was for his fried-egg eyes, continued to be a show-business figure a decade after giving up greasepaint and public appearances.

Semiretired since suffering a heart seizure in 1953, Cantor wrote books and took pride in his discovery of new talent. His energy and drive made him one of the best-loved performers of his generation.

During both world wars, he was a supersalesman at bond drives. He worked ceaselessly for causes in which he believed with a dedication in direct contrast to his carefree comedy roles.

* * * *

A COMEDIAN for most of his career, Cantor turned dramatic actor in several television shows in the 1950s. But he was best known for his broad comedy sketches, zany renditions of such songs as "If You Knew Suzy," and fast patter with "The Mad Russian" and

Stringent Security for LBJ Visit

Secret Service, Police in Thorough Check of Route

By ANDY PARK

Security preparations described as "fantastic" by veteran law enforcement officers were under way Saturday and early Sunday to guard President Johnson for the three hours he is expected to be in the Southland today.

President by virtue of the assassination of John F. Kennedy less than 11 months ago, Johnson is in the midst of a seven-day campaign tour that has seen him plunge into crowds and expose himself to personal danger at every stop.

THE LONG BEACH Police Department, charged with the security of the presidential party while in the city, held a top-level meeting at the Long Beach Airport Saturday afternoon with supervisory personnel personally checking every detail of the arrangements for the 11:45 a.m. landing of Air Force I, the President's jet.

Secret Service men and Long Beach, Compton and South Gate police, along with sheriff's deputies, continued Saturday making a house-to-house check of the 22-mile route the motorcade will follow from Long Beach Airport to South Gate Park.

Weary officers pointed up the staggering task by citing the presence of "thousands of transient motel rooms" along the route facing the streets.

* * * *

SECRET SERVICE agents, perturbed by Johnson's refusal to move via helicopter or freeway from the airport to the park, faced another setback when the White House detail of the Service ordered the 10,000-pound "bubble top" armor-plated limousine flown to San Francisco Saturday for Johnson's use in a Columbus Day Parade later today. This made it necessary to obtain a conventional automobile for the President's motorcade to South Gate.

DEMONSTRATOR SEIZED IN QUEBEC
Police struggle with demonstrator who resisted being taken into custody as Queen Elizabeth went from Wolfe's Cove to Provincial Legislature Building in Quebec, French-speaking center of separatist sentiment. Young man was seized as precautionary measure just outside Legislature.

Quebec Riots Continue Outside Queen's Hotel

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)— Helmeted police riot squads swinging nightsticks Saturday night waded into several hundred anti - royalist demonstrators outside the famed Chateau Frontenac Hotel. Inside, visiting British monarch Queen Elizabeth was dining on wild duck at a state dinner.

The clash was the latest in a series Saturday attendant upon the queen's visit to Quebec City, center of agitation by French Canadians for separation from the rest of Canada.

The riot police, wearing orange coats, charged into the demonstrators, mostly students, who were chanting separatist slogans.

Some of the demonstrators were battered, their arms were pinned behind their backs and they were tossed into patrol wagons for trips to the police station. More than 10 demonstrators who participated in earlier disorders were in jail.

Several young women were clubbed or trampled in the near-stampede that developed when the police attacked the demonstrators.

* * * *

THE CLASH developed shortly after the queen, glittering in diamonds and evening wear, entered the hotel for the dinner—the social highlight of the year in Quebec.

Demonstrators had lined the route from the royal yacht to the hotel, shouting slogans "Quebec for Quebecers" and "Quebec, yes; Ottawa, no."

There was no violence when the queen drove past the demonstrators Saturday night but many shouted separatist slogans at the queen, who rode in a bulletproof limousine with Prince Philip.

Earlier, the police also beat demonstrators and newsmen while the queen rode through the city to the sound of catcalls and boos. Some of the demonstrators shouted, "Kill the Queen!"

An American broadcaster was struck, injured and arrested in one of the melees. He was identified as Mark Schlieffer of New York, representing the Pacifica Foundation.

Motorcade Planned to South Gate

President Johnson is scheduled to land at Long Beach Airport at 11:45 a.m. today on a fast campaign visit that will include a motorcade to South Gate, a speech there and return to Long Beach.

Moving at an ever quickening pace, the President—

Maps showing President Johnson's local motorcade route and airport parking facilities are on Page A-3.

on a seven-day stumping tour of the country—will be at the midpoint of his first prolonged trip of the presidential campaign when he steps off Air Force I to face a predicted 25,000 to 30,000 persons.

No speech is scheduled at the airport. The timetable calls for the President to leave the airport at noon in a motorcade.

* * * *

HIS willingness to plunge into crowds, however, to shake hands and occasionally say a few words conceivably could change the itinerary.

Hammering home his campaign theme of prosperity and peace — brought about by both parties—the President's schedule has tightened considerably.

Mrs. Johnson is expected to remain in Texas while the President is in California.

He is scheduled to get up early at the LBJ ranch near Austin, fly to Bergstrom Air Force Base by helicopter and leave at 7:30 a.m. for Phoenix, Ariz.

After an hour stop to attend the First Presbyterian Church of Phoenix, he is scheduled to fly into Long Beach at 11:45 a.m.

SUPERSCIENTIFIC HARD SUIT FOR EXTREME DEPTHS

L.B. Divers Get Metal 'Man' for Sunken-Treasure Hunting

By LOU JOBST
I. P-T Marine Editor

Four Long Beach divers are planning a superscientific hunt for sunken treasure complete with a metal undersea "man."

The metal creature, known as ADA for Articulated Diving Armor, cost $50,000 to construct and is the only one of its type in the Western Hemisphere.

ADA is as fearsome and strange a creation as you'd expect to find anywhere in Outer or Inner Space.

He stands eight feet tall, weighs more than 800 pounds, has six blue eyes in front and one big polarized peeper in the rear. His body is constructed of ¼-inch-thick, hand-forged steel, contains its own life-support system, communications network, power supply and has a wide array of precision tools which can be coupled into its two bulbous arms.

ADA, invented by the Italian diving master, Robert Galleazzi, is designed to carry a man to depths of 800 feet and then whisk him back to the surface without any delay or fear of the dreaded bends.

"The real big advantage is that a diver can stay on the bottom in deep water much longer," says 44-year-old Art Broman, operator of Commercial Divers Inc., 2260 Senasac Ave., Long Beach, and one of the four men who hope to use ADA to retrieve treasures from the Pacific and the Caribbean.

The other three are Clifton L. Clemons, 43, former Coast Guardsman and father of three children; Joseph Beatly, 38, married and a commercial diver for 18 years, and Scotty Chisholm, 65, a diver with nearly a half century of underwater experience.

This quartet, along with ocean explorer Mordecai Crebow, 59, of Hollywood, last month founded Sea Salvage Specialties, Inc. for the purpose of locating and retrieving sunken treasure.

Crebow hopes to make the first foray to sea "within 60 days." The first target is the Yankee Blade, a sailing ship which went down in 1854 off Point Arguello in Santa Barbara County, with $32 million in gold dust, nuggets and gold coin.

The SSS team has pinpointed the general locations of more than a dozen other treasure ships, including the Brother Jonathan, which sank in July, 1865 off Crescent City with $300,000 in gold in its vaults, the SS City of Rio De Janeiro which rests on the bottom of San Francisco Bay with $3 million in gold, the SS Islander, which sank with $5 million in precious metal in 310 feet of water in 1901 while stateside-bound from the Yukon gold fields. L.A.C. Says:

Salinger and Murphy

It is understandable that many voters are undecided as to whom to vote for as United States Senator. The TV debates and many quotations on issues have not helped many. Those who are certain of their preference do not have the problem. But the many who are still uncertain should give careful consideration to the kind of man they would support. This writer is biased in that he supports Murphy—and for the following reasons:

I am opposed to Salinger because he, in my opinion, is lacking in integrity and he is demagogic in presenting his case for election. He reminds me of a quotation from Emerson that: "What you are stands over you the while and thunders so that I cannot hear what you say to the contrary."

In his TV debate with Murphy, Salinger brushed aside the Bobby Baker case. He said he had not been aware of what Baker had done. This is hard to believe since Salinger was the press secretary to the President dealing with all departments of government, including the powerful Democratic Senate groups for which Baker was the secretary. Salinger would indeed be naive to have been ignorant of Baker's activities during the almost four years of Salinger's dominant position.

Then we have the case of the recent primary election when Salinger and Cranston were candidates for the Democratic nomination. Salinger charged Cranston with shaking down inheritance estate appraisers for campaign funds. Cranston sued him for libel. But three days before the election, the two agreed that the winner would pay the loser up to $150,000 to take care of any campaign deficits. So now we find Cranston an ardent supporter of Salinger. Gov. Brown and Cranston criticized Salinger for becoming a candidate when he could not even vote in the state. He apparently approves of the President of the U. S. continuing to run a monopoly TV station in his home area—which has been possible only by ruling of the agency over which he has control.

The choice is between men more than issues. The honorable man will make decisions based on conditions and information at time of Senate voting. But the demagogue or opportunist can be expected to act in accordance with party pressure and expediency. The record of Salinger, in my opinion, places him in that category.

As for George Murphy, for 30 years he has been a permanent resident of California. First as a popular entertainer, later, and at present, a successful businessman as an officer in Technicolor and other radio and television enterprises. He was a labor leader as president of the Screen Actors Guild—which drove the Communists out of control of the industry. For 20 years he has been a leader in the Republican party—a past state president. During these years he has been called to Washington for many conferences. He believes in orderly and honest government and an end to irresponsible deficit spending.

The voters of both parties will choose between these two men. They will have a choice between Murphy with his long experience in California business and politics, where he has an honorable record, and Pierre Salinger, whose silence on the Bobby Baker case and his unsavory deal with Cranston exemplify his character. What he is and stands for speaks much louder than what he says.—L.A.C.

Molotov-Cocktail Bombers of Teen-age Pair Hunted

Sheriff's deputies today are hunting six teen-agers believed responsible for the fiery Molotov-cocktail bombing of a parked car and its two occupants in the Carson area.

Although the bomb, hurled from a passing car, landed all around them, neither David Lopez nor Nancy Pacheco, both 18, was injured.

* * * *

ACCORDING to Sheriff's Sgt. Frank Waldron, the couple gave this account of the apparently unprovoked attack.

Lopez, of 13140 S. Willowbrook Ave., and Miss Pacheco, of 20614 S. New Hampshire Ave., Carson, were sitting in Lopez' car near the Pacheco girl's home about 2:30 a.m. Saturday when the carload of teenagers pulled alongside. Two of the youths stepped from their car and began throwing the flaming gasoline-filled bombs at the auto.

* * * *

ONE BOMB exploded in a fiery flash only inches from the front bumper, and a second burst into flames beside the driver's door. A third bomb landed behind the car.

When the flames subsided, two more youths shattered the car's rear window with a rock. Terrified, the couple fled with their attackers in pursuit. Lopez said he finally was able to lose the car by turning off his headlights.

HHH Labels Ike Mission a 'Gimmick'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said Saturday night that the Republican proposal to send former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to Viet Nam was one of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater's "tricks and gimmicks."

Humphrey said Goldwater "reached into the grab bag to pull that one out . . . he should have asked Eisenhower about it before he announced it."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate made the statement in a news conference shortly after landing at the South Bend airport. A crowd of about 300 persons was on hand.

* * * *

IN A SPEECH prepared for delivery on the University of Notre Dame campus, Humphrey said the Kennedy-Johnson administrations have furthered peace but that Goldwater "apparently believes war is inevitable."

Humphrey told the news conference a Democratic victory in November would leave the Republican Party in a bitter struggle for control between the Goldwater followers and moderates.

"Nixon and Scranton (former vice president Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton) are campaigning hard for the Republicans and are probably keeping in touch with party organization," he said.

* * * *

HUMPHREY'S comment about Goldwater's proposal to send Eisenhower to assess the situation in Viet Nam came in answer to a newsman's question.

"It is one of the tricks and gimmicks used by Goldwater that doesn't indicate a great deal of thought," Humphrey said.

Humphrey also touched on Democratic proposals for plans for a farm program. He said they would be re-examined in terms of commercial exports, "to try to get as much free market as possible."

Humphrey told a Democratic rally later that "the deliberate initiation in the nuclear age of full-scale war as an instrument of national policy has become an absurdity."

Food Talk Snagged on Wages

Federal mediators reported more progress Saturday in top-level negotiations on the 28-day strike by wholesale food company employes in Southern California, but said the day's talks ended in an impasse on wages.

Mediators indicated that money issues — the heart of the strike-lockout — remain unsolved. Work rules and other non-cost items have been pretty well resolved as a result of recent compromises by both sides.

The Teamsters union, which represents the strikers, has threatened to expand the stoppage to points in the east.

* * * *

IT WAS reported that if the dispute were not settled soon, food warehouses around Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C., would quickly become involved.

Teamster head Jimmy Hoffa said he had authorized local unions in 16 Midwestern and Eastern states to join the strike if the current mediation breaks down. Hoffa personally led the Teamsters' negotiators Saturday.

The talks, which ended at 2 p.m., are expected to be resumed Monday at 9 a.m.

Meanwhile, 10,000 workers remain idle in Southern California. Some markets are beginning to run low on commodities; others remain relatively untouched.

Planes Delivered

PARIS (AP)—All 12 Boeing C135 tanker planes ordered by France for its nuclear force have been delivered, the government announced Saturday. The tankers will be used to refuel in flight the Mirage IV supersonic planes built to carry France's atomic bombs.

Barry Asks Amendment on Prayer in Classrooms

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater said Saturday night "The moral fiber of the American people is beset by rot and decay" and this is no time to ban God from the schoolrooms.

He called on Congress to put the question of prayer in public places to the test of a constitutional amendment and criticized what he termed "pie-in-the-sky" promises by President Johnson.

The Republican presidential candidate characterized his Democratic opponent as offering the people "a shopping list" to choose from the programs they like best. He said the President "promises everything."

* * * *

IN HIS speech prepared for delivery in the Mormon Tabernacle, Goldwater said, "The doctrine of the fast buck now vies with doctrines of faith," and called it appalling that the Democratic Party wrote a platform "with no concern or even mention of God."

Describing Johnson as a "power-hungry, prideful man," Goldwater in speeches at Spokane, Wash., and Portland, Ore., thumped on the theme that people won't be fooled by extravagent promises and that this nation is troubled "deep in its heart."

Where usually he has skipped mingling very much with crowds at airports, he lingered long at all stops Saturday. Where his campaign schedule generally has avoided downtown motorcade tours, in Salt Lake City he made a long swing through the business district.

It was a pleasant, sunny late afternoon in Salt Lake. Even those who held up Johnson for President signs smiled in friendly welcome to a visitor come to the city.

AND THE Arizona senator warmed to it, waving greetings to teen-agers and children who held the opposition's banners.

Before speaking Saturday night, he visited with President David O. McKay, the ailing, 91-year-old leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon), in a hotel across from the Tabernacle. McKay wished him success, but gave him no political endorsement.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's California campaign was an estimated $250,000 richer Saturday and within $300,000 of its $1.8-million goal.

Sources made this disclosure after the GOP presidential standard-bearer attended and spoke briefly at a closed-door meeting in the St. Francise Hotel.

The Republican candidate called anew for individual responsibility, not big government.

"My opponent does not want to be elected nearly so much as he wants to be crowned," Goldwater said at an airport speech at Spokane, Wash., before flying here.

* * * *

HE CALLED the things his opponent talks about "political pie-in-the-sky."

Goldwater said the President once reportedly said the American people "have a baby-like faith in him."

"I ask you to let this power-hungry prideful man know that the American people are not babies and they do not need to be babied."

"I say that when you elect a president you want a man to manage the legitimate business of your government. The government that is big enough to give you everything you want, is big enough to take it all away."

* * * *

GOLDWATER said there were matters that troubled the American people and that "in no election of our history have we faced such a stark proposition: to have to consider the question of simple honesty in the administration of our national government."

At Portland, Ore., Goldwater opened the Pacific International Livestock Show, repeating the things he had said in the earlier stop at Spokane.

Snow Closes Passes

AOSTA, Italy (AP) — The Great and Little St. Bernard Passes were closed Saturday by snow ranging from 20 to 30 inches deep. But an all-weather automobile tunnel opened earlier this year will keep traffic rolling.

Miller Catches Cold, Halts Ohio Campaign

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI)—Rep. William E. Miller cut short a campaign trip through northeastern Ohio Saturday because of a severe cold. He returned to his home in Washington.

The Republican vice presidential candidate was hoarse as he spoke in a freezing rain to 500 persons in Ashtabula and about 700 in Painesville.

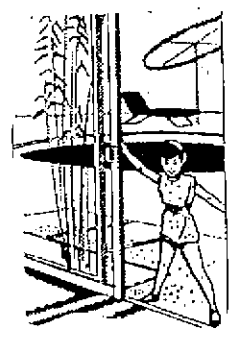

Miller, in his speeches, accused the Democrats of a "cruel hoax" in "distorting" Sen. Barry Goldwater's views on the control of nuclear weapons by NATO commanders.

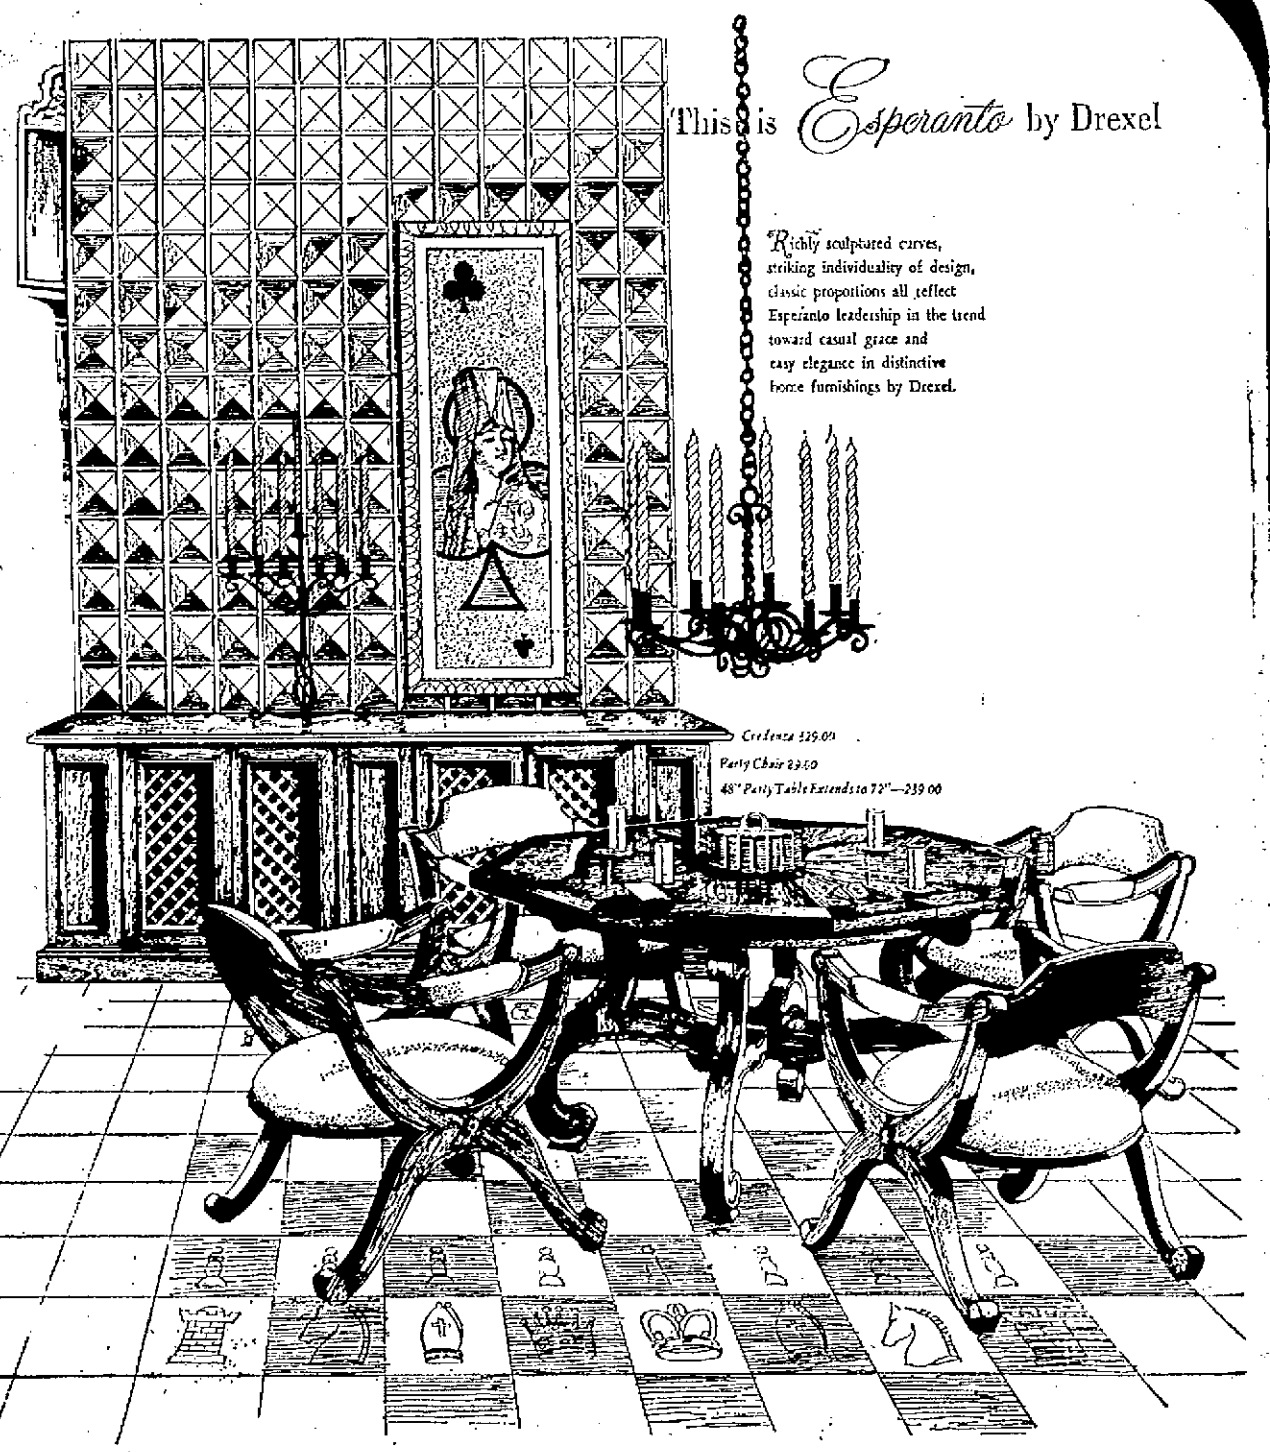

The policy the Republican presidential candidate favors, Miller said, in the use of nuclear weapons was in effect under former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the late John F. Kennedy and "is now in effect under Lyndon Johnson.

port to approach it from the north on Lakewood Boulevard.

About 4,500 parking spaces will be available in the Douglas Aircraft Co. parking lots at the east and west sides of Lakewood Boulevard. Police urged motorists to use car pools and to fill the west parking lot first.

Should the Douglas lots be filled, an additional 12,000 cars can be accomodated at Veterans Stadium, officials said.

The Long Beach Public Transportation Company will run buses starting at 10 a.m. and every 15 minutes afterward leaving from Broadway and Pacific Avenue going along route 11 to the airport.

THE ROUTE will be out Broadway to Ximeno, up Ximeno to the traffic circle and up Lakewood Boulevard to the airport. The buses will wait and return passengers to Long Beach as they fill up, bus company officials said.

From the airport, the President's 12-car motoraced, escorted by 23 California Highway Patrol motorcycles, will move to South Gate. He will follow the same route on his return trip to Long Beach Airport.

Michael Cullen, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Long Beach area 32nd District has received White House clearance to board the President's plane here, to deplane with the chief executive and to ride in the motorcade to South Gate.

Johnson is most confident presidential candidate since Thomas E. Dewey went down to defeat in 1948.

JOHNSON sees no real threat of an upset in 1964.

The President had a let-up day at the LBJ ranch Saturday. He combed over details of campaigning to come. He received the customary daily briefings on affairs at home and abroad from his staff, and got out some statements.

One of them saluted the first anniversary Saturday, of a treaty, now signed by more than 100 nations, banning nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere, outer space and oceans.

"The world embarked," the President said, "on the first step to remove the threat of oblivion that for two decades has stalked the earth . . . the air is cleaner, the world is safer, and the hopes for peace are a little brighter because of this act of common sense."

Johnson has taped for television a report to the nation Thursday night on progress under the treaty.

WHETHER Johnson was enjoying his let-up day was something of a question, because he has been displaying a bouncy, buoyant zest for hard campaigning and contacting people.

Johnson began talking this past week in terms of "how big" rather than of "whether" he will win Nov. 3. He says he is going to rack up the biggest presidential victory in all history.

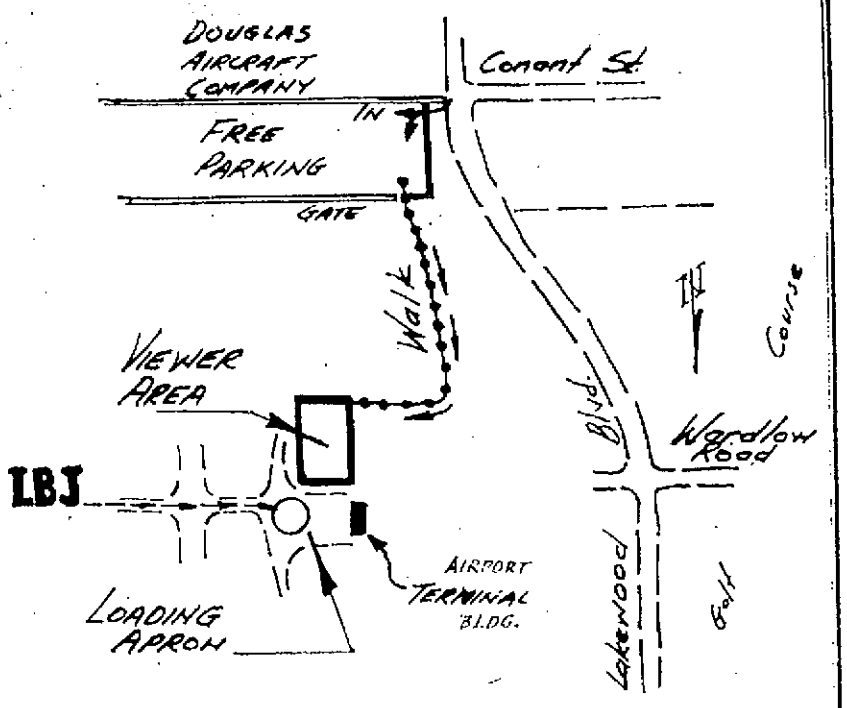

Polls give Johnson comfort—as they did Dewey before scrappy, underrated Harry S. Truman took the measure of New York's Republican governor 16 years ago. The gap has narrowed a bit, as the pollsters see it, but it still has been staying around 2-1.

JOHNSON says that is an unrealistic assessment of what the edge will be when the votes are in—that he will be happy indeed with a 55-45 margin.

But he isn't going to ease off on campaigning. More than any candidate in years the President is exhorting his supporters to get out and vote—and take their friends and aunts and uncles and cousins with them.

His newly fortified White House car is being flown around the country to major stops. Along with bullet-resistant glass and armor, it has a built-in speaker system. He uses it at impromptu stops to urge people to "come on up, come on up. I want to say hello to you." He tells police to let them come. And he winds up most of the time telling his curbside audiences: "You-all vote Democratic Nov. 3."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S plane will arrive at Long Beach Municipal Airport at 11:45 a.m. today. Map shows where the President will be and locates parking and viewing area for those wishing to welcome the President. The Police Department asks that motorists approach the free parking area by driving south on Lakewood Boulevard to allow easy entrance to the parking space.

MAP SHOWS route the President's motorcade will take after leaving Long Beach Municipal Airport at noon for South Gate's Recreation Park where he is scheduled to speak at 12:55 p.m. The motorcade will leave the airport going north on Lakewood Boulevard to Carson Street; west on Carson to Long Beach Boulevard; north on Long Beach Boulevard to State Street which continues north to Tweedy Boulevard; east on Tweedy Boulevard to the city of South Gate's Recreation Park.

transparent top, the President is expected to stop the motorcade along the route and plunge into crowds waiting to greet him.

Paying particular heed to a recommendation of the Warren Commission, the Long Beach Police detective divisio and Secret Service agents have worked closely during the past week with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in comparing lists of known subversives and potential crackpots.

POLICE CHIEF William J. Mooney said Saturday the department will be "at peak strength" for today's task of safeguarding the President. But privately, all police officials graeed: The United States is always in danger, especially when he insists upon exposing himself to crowds.

Long Beach Police received a call from a General Telephone Company operator at 12:50 p.m. Saturday advising that she had just received the following call:

"President Johnson will never live through this trip through Long Beach."

Police traced the call to a service station in Los Alamitos, but when investigators arrived at a phone booth outside the station, no one was there.

Unions Donate Time on Y Jobs

Twenty volunteers turned up Saturday morning to speed construction of new handball courts at the North Community YMCA, 6095 California Ave.

They were members of Bricklayers Union Local 13 and of Laborers and Plaster-Tenders Local 507. The "Y" hopes that the courts will be finished by Dec. 1.

Fire at Armory

Fire engines responded Saturday to a minor oil fire at the National Guard Armory, 2200 Redondo Ave., crowded with weekend guardsmen. Minor damage was reported in the 4:25 p.m. blaze.

SUNKEN-TREASURE HUNTERS

ADA (Articulated Diving Armor)—a metal undersea "man" who will search for sunken treasure—is surrounded by four Long Beach divers who are planning the undersea hunt—(from left) Gus Clemons, Joe Beatty, Art Broman and Scotty Chisholm.

L.B. Divers to Use Hollywood Explorer's Treasure-Hunt Suit

also have mapped the positions in the Caribbean of hulks of Portuguese and Spanish bullion-carrying vessels.

Crebow's divers will use a spectacular array of scientific gadgets in addition to ADA. This gear includes a $35,000 metal-detector capable of penetrating 1,000 feet of water and 50 feet of mud and sand in locating metal masses, underwater television cameras and video recorders, and sonar to probe rock and coral deposits.

The expedition, which will comprise 15 persons, also will have underwater motion-picture cameras and the latest subsurface cutting and construction equipment.

Besides the four divers and Crebow, the treasure team will include a marine geophysicist, G. C. Henderson of Texas A&M, and an underwater archeologist, James Moriarity of the Scripps Institute at La Jolla.

Long Beach's Broman and Clemons have both made dives, to 150 feet, in ADA during a special 60-day training period in Italy.

"Most of the training was in the maintenance and operation of the equipment, processes which are very complex," said Broman.

Broman says there are six other ADA units, four behind the Iron Curtain. All the others are being used by the military for salvage and rescue work, missile recovery and other related tasks.

"Ours is the only one in the world owned privately and being used commercially," he asserted.

Broman admits there are hazards in the suit, but he maintains it's "much safer" than the traditional hard-hat and weighted rubberized-fabric suit.

With traditional gear, a diver at 400 feet, could stay on the bottom only about 20 minutes and then had to spend two to three hours coming up to avoid getting the bends, nitrogen bubbles in the blood which can kill or cripple.

Broman says that in ADA, which has huge stainless steel bearings for arm and legs joints, a diver can stay on the bottom, in deep water, for from two to 12 hours.

ADA, by ejecting ballast of water contained in a back tank, can shoot to the surface, in an emergency, eliminating the necessity of being pulled up by a cable.

The diver climbs in to ADA, which is composed of seven sections screwed together through the top hatch. It is roomy enough inside to move the body far enough around to look out a larger rear window and the temperature is cool, never above ordinary room temperature.

Crebow, who has spent more than $50,000 of his own money and 11 years in building an underwater research foundation and other below-the-waves schemes including, once, a Sea Farming League, is wildly enthusiastic about the venture.

His divers share his enthusiasm.

"I guess it is the dream of every diver in the world to search for sunken treasure," explained Broman, "and we're getting a chance to fulfill that dream."

Comedian Cantor Succumbs

others of his radio and video entourage.

One of his trademarks was his bouncing, skipping footwork as he sang, a throwback, he said, to the days when a singer had to dodge barrages of ripe fruit from rowdy audiences in vaudeville.

For years, Cantor joked about the fact that he had five daughters and no sons. But he leaves only four of those daughters: Mrs. Natalie Metzger of Los Angeles; Mrs. Edna McHugh of Malibu, Marilyn Cantor of New York City, and Mrs. Janet Gari of New York.

His fourth daughter, Marjorie, who was also his secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959, at age 44.

Ida Cantor, his beloved wife, died Aug. 8, 1962 at the age of 70. She became known to millions of Americans because of her husband's theme song, "Ida," and the jokes he used to tell about his family. Mrs. Cantor died of a series of heart seizures.

She was his constant companion on scores of personal appearances, but never performed herself. Cantor collapsed at her death and never fully recovered from the shock.

* * * *

CANTOR always was alert to new talent. Among his discoveries were Dinah Shore, Eddie Fisher, Deanna Durbin and Bobby Breen.

In 1953, Warner Bros. filmed his biography, "The Eddie Cantor Story," starring Keefe Brasselle. But it was Eddie's own brassy voice that supplied the songs that brought him fame and millions of dollars.

The ebullient comedian suffered his first heart seizure in 1953 and collapsed several times thereafter. In 1956, he underwent an operation for removal of kidney stones. He joked about his ailments, saying, "Nobody lives forever."

Cantor was born Izzy Iskiwich Jan. 31, 1892, in New York City's East Side. His parents died before he was 2. He was reared by his grandmother.

CITY PLANS PROGRAM

Judge DeVries Heads UN Week

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Judge Martin DeVries of Municipal Court has been named chairman of Long Beach's observance of United Nations Week, Oct. 18 through 24, it was announced here Saturday.

The appointment was made by Mayor Edwin Wade, who at the same time gave official city support to the world-wide observance by signing a U.N. Week proclamation, approved earlier by the City Council.

Long a champion of world peace, DeVries has been a judge of Municipal Court since 1933. In six elections held for that office, voters have supported him with substantial majorities on each ballot.

* * * *

A NATIVE of Montana, he is one of 10 children born of immigrant parents who settled in the Dakotas and Montana before the turn of the century. He holds degrees from three universities.

In 1959, the Rotary Club of Taegu, Korea, invited the judge to speak to the amputees of Korea (there are 60,000 of them in that country as a result of the war.) He delivered an inspirational message on what can be done if will and spirit are exercised.

Both he and Mrs. DeVries have traveled extensively in the cause of world understanding and have supplied many students from other lands with scholarship assistance. Guests from other countries are frequent visitors in their Long Beach home and foreign students constantly seek their friendly counsel and fellowship.

* * * *

MANY SPECIAL events have been planned for the weeklong U.N. observance.

The first event, announced by Mrs. Walter Oliver, president of the Long Beach Chapter of the United Nations Association, will be an open house at the chapter's Global Gift Shop, 1244 E. 4th St. next Sunday.

Gifts sold year 'round to help finance work of the local chapter will be on display.

"We plan to feature distinctive items under $5 which are most representative of the countries from which they come," Mrs. Oliver said. Also on display will be UNICEF greeting cards and date books, designed by world-renowned artists from 15 different countries. Proceeds are donated to the UN Children's Fund for help to needy children around the world.

BESIDES holding U.N. story hours each day of the week, the City Library and its branches will provide up-to-date packets of literature on United Nations for use of clubs and organizations.

The Council of Churches is providing reproductions of the United Nations prayer for all member churches.

Mrs. Alexis Jacoubowski, one of 10 U.S. women recently invited to visit the Federal Republic of Germany and who, on her own, visited seven other countries of Western Europe and 10 U.N. agencies, has a full schedule of speaking engagements during the week.

Climaxing the observance will be a United Nations Association dinner on Oct. 21 at Long Beach Yacht Club. Open to the public, the general meeting will feature Paul Edwards, public information director of UNICEF, as principal speaker.

VOLUNTEER district chiefs can be contacted at their homes. Persons who wish to enroll in the campaign may do so by obtaining information at their branch libraries or the main libary.

"The success of Prop. M," said Harris, "depends on people talking to people about this community need and every single individual in Long Beach who is interested is needed in this campaign and at the polls on election day.

"If all knew the need, I'm sure they would vote for the new main library. This is why we are stressing the personal contacts."

House-to-house contacts with residents in all areas of the city are planned by the committee working under general chairmanship of the New Main Library Committee headed by Don Gill and Leo Vander Lans. Campaign headquarters for Yes on M are in Room 811 Edison Bldg., 100 Long Beach Blvd. Persons wishing to contribute funds or other aid to the program may do so through the campaign office.

* * * *

PROP. M calls for a vote on the proposal to build a 150,000 — square foot library — based on present and anticipated population growth—to replace the present structure in Lincoln Park. The new library would be built on the west side of Cedar Avenue between Broadway and Ocean Boulevard — across from Lincoln Park. Parking space would be provided.

In the main, the proposal calls for increased space for present activities carried on in the library and addition of some space for facilities the library feels necessary to fulfill its function. Specific plans for library layout have not been drawn (fees for this service are included in the bond issue), but a tentative program calls for the following:

Public Service Areas—Boys' and Girls' area, office, workrooms, storage, story-hour room; reading areas and workrooms for literature and history, science and industry, periodicals, philosophy and religion, music and art; phonograph-record section inspection and selection space, six listening rooms, workroom; film section, selection and study areas, work, office, machine and preview rooms; reading areas for map section, government documents; exhibit and assembly room; municipal reference reading area and workroom; special collections room or rooms; areas for coordinators of adult and young adult services; four discussion rooms; closed-circuit television and areas for type; reading rooms for microfilm, microcard, facsimile newspaper and public typing rooms.

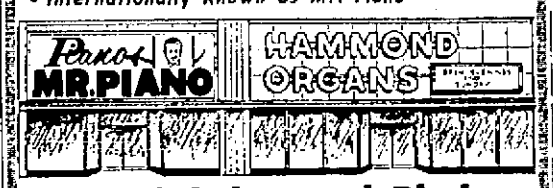

Space would be increased for the adult circulation section, conference and workrooms and other activities necessary to carrying on library work — cataloguing, PBX, information desk, etc.

Processing Division provisions call for catalog room, catalog office and machine room, order section and office, bindery and photo-reproducer, book meeting and inspection room.

Extension service would have office space for the branch office, workroom and receiving areas and a garage for the library's Bookmobile and station wagon.

Administrative areas provide space for a reception room and clerical pool, mimeograph room, city librarian's office, assistant city librarian's office, administrative assistant's office; personnel director's office; public relations office, exhibit and storage area; conference room; and areas for supplies, inventory, storage, delivery, handyman and custodian; staff room.

Viet Execution Delayed to Help Yank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government of South Viet Nam was reported Saturday night to have assured the United States that it does not plan to make any immediate decision on the execution of a young terrorist, who is linked to the Venezuelan kidnap case of Lt. Col. Michael Smolen.

This word from Saigon Saturday appeared to remove any prospect that the South Vietnamese government would make a final decision in the case of Nguyen Van Troi pending the outcome of widespread efforts under way in Venezuela to find the American officer who was seized by pro-Castro terrorists Friday.

* * * *

ANONYMOUS phone callers in Caracas told news media officers Friday night that if Troi was executed Col. Smolen would be shot.

In Caracas, police raided suspected hideouts of Castro-Communist terrorists Saturday in search of Col. Smolen. They searched at least 30 homes and apartments without success.

Road patrols checked all cars leaving Caracas. Venezuelan National Guard units and military-intelligence officers joined in the search.

By evening, more than 15,000 persons had been checked in a dragnet by 5,000 National Guardsmen and police around the capital. But the search failed to produce any trace of the abducted officer.

DEPUTY chief of the U.S. mission to Venezuelan forces, Smolen was abducted in a car as he stepped from his home to ride to work with Col. Henry Lee Choate, the mission chief. Two young gunmen seized him. Three others chased Choate, but he eluded them. He jumped over a fence and took refuge in a house.

Three persons were arrested later for questioning.

One was the owner of the car used by the kidnapers, which was found abandoned a mile from the scene. He said the car had been stolen Thursday night from a parking space in front of his home. Police said they were suspicious because the theft was not reported promptly.

Two newspapers received calls Saturday saying Smolen was unharmed.

NEW YORK (AP)—The 69-year-old mother of Lt. Col. Michael Smolen pleaded Saturday night with her son's kidnapers in Caracas to spare his life.

She gave her message to the New York Journal-American to be relayed by the Associated Press in Venezuela, with the hope it will dissuade her son's captors from killing him. They have threatened to do so unless a condemned Communist terrorist in South Vietnam is spared.

HERE IS the message by Mrs. Smolens, who lives in Brooklyn:

"I am an old woman. I know little about politics. I know little about the world. My world is my family. My love is for my children.

"You say you will kill my son, Lt. Col. Michael Smolen. I can do nothing but weep.

"I weep and I hope that you will be merciful to me. I hope that you will spare the life of my boy, and send him back to his father and me.

"As your mothers would plead for you, I plead for my son.

"Let him live. I beg this of you.

"Mrs. Katrim Smolen."

MACAPAGAL VISITS SAN PEDRO
Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal (left) and Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty cross footbridge to Ports O'Call Restaurant in San Pedro for luncheon in Macapagal's honor Saturday.

Tonkin Gulf Action Hailed by Macapagal

"has strengthened the fast, unbreakable ties of friendship between the American and Philippine people."

* * * *

THE GREAT need of his country, he said, is to improve the standard of living. "I hope to attract foreign capital — particularly American capital."

Earlier, in a Washington radio interview, Macapagal hinted that his country might join the fight against communism in South Viet Nam.

He pointed out that the Philippines are committed under treaty to assume such responsibilities. "So far no request for military assistance has been made of us," he said.

The fall of Viet Nam to the Communists would "increase the danger to Philippine security," he said.

Following the luncheon, the Macapagals went to the Palladium in Los Angeles for a reception by the Filipino-American community. In the evening they were guests at a dinner hosted by the City of Los Angeles and the World Affairs Council.

The Macapagals will fly to San Francisco this morning. From there they will return to the Philippines.

BOSUN'S CALL HEARD AFAR

300 Attend Reunion of Old 'Sara's' Crew

By MARK CLUTTER

The ship lies in smithereens at the bottom of the Pacific off Bikini Atoll—but the men who served aboard do not forget her.

On Saturday afternoon they got together again—the 13th time in 13 years. The men of the fifth USS Saratoga heard a ghostly boatswain's pipe and came from as far away as Washington, D.C. Some 300, counting wives, gathered at the Edgewater Inn Hotel to drink and dine and dance. And above all, for talk, talk, talk.

THE FIFTH Saratoga—there is now a sixth and the United States seems always to have a Saratoga—was one of the first of the aircraft carriers. She was built in 1925.

In World War II, her history was practically the history of the war in the Pacific. She fought at Guadacanal, the Gilberts, the Marshalls, Iwo Jima.

In February, 1945, she took seven bombs. Dead casualties numbered 122, wounded 192. She caught fire, but the sailors beat the flames in a heroic battle. She staggered to Eniwetok Atoll, and then to Puget Sound. The gallant ship was repaired quickly and returned to battle.

In July 1946 she had her last trial by fire. She was one of the obsolete ships destroyed by an underwater atomic blast.

* * * *

"THE MEN who come to our reunions are mostly those who served aboard a long time," said Harold McGrath, convention chairman, of 3424 W. Washington Ave., Santa Ana. "Some of them were in ship's company for 11 or 12 years."

Each year the men go to a different city to drink a toast to their fierce steel mistress. Their wives gather in little groups, not sure that they understand the love of men for "her" who rewarded their love with danger, hardship and terror.

Russ to Perform 'My Fair Lady,' Perhaps 'Story'

MOSCOW (AP) — Liza Doolittle, Prof. Henry Higgins and the rain in Spain are coming to the Soviet Union in a Russion version of "My Fair Lady" this season.

A Russian company may also stage "West Side Story."

Boris Rodionov, head of the Moscow City Council's cultural section, said the Russians would draw on the British version of "My Fair Lady" seen here several years ago, and add their own interpretations. Theatrical students are working on "West Side Story," he said, and it will be staged if it is good enough.

Liz, Debbie, Latest Spouses Get Together

LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Express reported Saturday that onetime rivals Elizabeth Taylor and Debbie Reynolds and their latest husbands got together Friday aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Express reporter Peter Evans, who is on the ship, said Miss Reynolds invited Miss Taylor and her fifth husband, Richard Burton, to her suite for drinks with her and her husband, Harry Karl.

Singer Eddie Fisher divorced Miss Reynolds so he could marry Miss Taylor. She divorced him so she could marry Burton.

Castro Ushers In His 'Brave New World'

MIAMI (AP)—Havana Radio said Saturday the Castro regime is completing plans to handle the care and education of Cuban children after they are 45 days old.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the Ministry of Education has created "the Institute of Pre-school Education" which will choose and train persons "who will have charge of the education and the care of children" from age 45 days to school age.

The announcement did not say whether the children would remain in their parents' homes.

REDUCE NOW FOR FALL AND THE HOLIDAYS

Pat Walker Tells How to Reduce

I will be leaving this month for Australia to open salons in Sidney and Brisbane. "Down-under," the women are every bit as figure conscious as they are here in this country. Therefore, our salons should be a tremendous success there, too.

Now that fall is here and the holidays rapidly approaching, it suddenly makes a woman realize that her figure is so important when she shops for new clothes.

All too often, a woman will tell us how frustrated she was because she tried on figure revealing fashions and found the added inches and weight made it impossible for her to wear them. She became demoralized and disheartened because nothing looked the way it should. This resulted in a minimum wardrobe "just to get by."

It is a shame that all too many women experience this because in truth it need not happen. Today, it is best to invest money in a new figure than try to buy clothes to disguise it. You can buy your figure back just as you would purchase purchase clothes, furniture, automobiles, or anything else. You have nothing to lose but inches with your "Figure Perfection" program.

I visit with so many, many women of every age, walk of life and nationality, and each woman thinks her figure problems are so very different from another woman's that it will work for that other woman but not for her.

After a figure analysis, she realizes her figure problem is really not so different and that thousands of others have experienced the same problems that she is and suddenly, she regains hope and faith that something can be done for her and her own figure problems. When she has had her figure analysis, she knows where she needs to lose, what it will cost her, and how long it will take.

It is a very proud, secure, happy woman who has the figure to wear young figure-flattering clothes. As a result she receives compliments and attention of those closest to her because she becomes a new person both in appearance and personality. This has not been luck on her part, she made her own luck when she recognized she had figure problems and gained the many rewards of our "Figure Perfection" program.

—Pat Walker

Miss Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority, talks to many women of every age, walk of life, and nationality, and each woman thinks her figure problems are so very different from another woman's that it will work for that other woman but not for her. She invites any woman to call for an appointment for a personal consultation.

Reducing The Pat Walker Way Is A Lasting Way, Proven by Long Beach Woman

The following letter was published over two years ago. At that time Mrs. Frances Robertson had just completed her reducing program. We re-print her letter telling of her reducing experience. Also note that one photograph was taken over two years ago when she completed her reduction. The second photo, taken recently, over two years later, Mrs. Robertson is more beautiful than ever and still a perfect size 10, demonstrating that reducing the Pat Walker Way is the lasting way.

as told by
Mrs. Frances Robertson
Long Beach, Calif.

I'm 53 years old and proud of it! I have the greatest husband but he is away on a foreign assignment. I have three children, ages 20, 22, and 24. I also have five wonderful grandchildren,—and another on the way. My name is Frances Robertson. I live in Long Beach on East Ocean Blvd. I used to be in Real Estate but have not worked for quite a while.

The day I went to the Pat Walker Salon in Long Beach I went with a good friend who also was my neighbor. I was feeling miserable because I had a 40-inch hip, my thighs were over 25½ inches each. I had "over-the-bra" roll, not to mention other figure faults.

Miss Walker, the National Figure Authority, talked to both of us and told me what my problems were and what they could do about them. You see it hasn't made me haggard and drawn looking. I have an 89-year-old father who thinks that I look so wonderful that I should consider going back to my former profession which was Real Estate.

I have to admit that I am proud of myself and grateful to Pat Walker and her personnel. I've loved every minute I've spent in the Salon with Miss Walker's staff. They were thoughtful and helpful and made reducing a joy, not a chore. —Frances Robertson

Over two years ago, the above photograph was taken of Mrs. Frances Robertson when she had just completed her Pat Walker Figure Perfection program. She had reduced from a bulging size 18 to a trim size 10. We re-publish this photo so that you can see for yourself how reducing the Pat Walker way is the lasting way. Compare it with the recent photo at the right.

Here you see a very recent photo of Mrs. Robertson with Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority. Mrs. Robertson, now two years later, has retained her size 10 figure and her youth. She is full of zest for life with endless energy, and enjoys the many compliments she receives from her husband and friends.

San Francisco Legal Secretary Reduces A Size 22 to Size 16 and Still Going Down

Here you see a snapshot of Mrs. Josephine Conway. She weighed 196 pounds and wore a size 22 dress. She plodded around unhappily with aching back and feet. She was ashamed of her appearance due to her figure faults. Her husband urged her to seek Pat Walker's help. In the photo at the right, you'll see her as a size 16 but still going down.

Here you see Mrs. Conway with Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority. Mrs. Conway has reduced 8½ inches from her waist, 9 inches from her abdomen, 6½ inches from her hips, 6 inches from each thigh, 3½ inches from each upper arm, but she is still going down.

as told by
Mrs. Josephine Conway
San Francisco, Calif.

I am a legal secretary, Notary Public, a club woman, and a long-time resident of San Francisco, and I have now been married 35 years.

What the Pat Walker Salon has done for me it can do for you. Just look at my snapshot photo when I weighed 196 pounds and wore a size 22 dress. At that time I plodded unhappily down the street with an aching back and feet. Now my posture is greatly improved—my sway back has vanished along with my backaches and I can walk lightly again and look alert in a size 16 dress. Statistics can be boring, but you will find them not so boring when they are your very own. I have lost over 78½ inches.

I feel having an attractive figure is a real asset in my capacity as a secretary in a law office. I feel business women should be trim and attractive and improve on their appearance. This is what made me do something about my weight. My husband also urged me to do something about it as I just didn't want to go out of the house unless I had to.

I realize now I was unhappy and saw the Pat Walker ad and read what other women had accomplished. I thought I too should do something about myself.

The very first treatment was wonderful and for the first time in so very long, I did not suffer from insomnia. The added pep and well being I now have is unbelievable.

Every woman who has a weight problem and is tense and tired I know will be greatly benefited by the Pat Walker program. I can honestly say I never felt better. My husband and friends marvel at my appearance. I tell you I enjoyed every one of the treatments I have had and they have done me worlds of good.

Just a word of appreciation for the kindness and encouragement I received from Pat Walker and staff. I sincerely thank each of you. You have helped make a new, happy person of me.

figure authority

When I spoke with Mrs. Conway, she said that words could not convey her thanks for the wonderful way she feels as a result of her inch and weight loss she has had as a result of reducing with us.

Mrs. Conway and her problems are typical of many women who are overweight. The fatigue, difficulty in climbing stairs, of walking, the frustration from not looking or feeling their best, all the many problems that come from having figure faults and being overweight. Like so many others, she has found that the problems she had were not so great that nothing could be done. She was sensible and chose to help herself by seeking help from our program and it proved to be the right decision for her. In a few short weeks, you will again see Mrs. Conway but sizes smaller.

START REDUCING NOW TO WEAR THE NEW FALL AND HOLIDAY FASHIONS

Miss Walker says start reducing now before buying your new fall clothes that allow no room for bulges or bumps. Get yourself into shape to wear fashionable sheaths, party dresses, slim pants and all the new holiday fashions. Start reducing now and let your figure flatter your clothes and your clothes will flatter your figure.

by Pat Walker,
nationally recognized

When Frances Robertson first came to us she had struggled for many years, in her own way, with her figure problems. Like most women, she thought reducing would work for someone else but not for her. I spoke to her the day she came in for her complimentary treatment and explained our "Figure Perfection" program to her. She was told where she needed to lose, how long it would take and what it would cost. She had a special goal in mind. Her husband was on foreign duty at the time and she wanted a new figure for him when he returned home. I told Mrs. Robertson we would do just as she wished, and she was most happy to start. When we talked that day, she told me about her family, her 85-year-old mother, and her 89-year-old father; also about her married children and how she loved her five grandchildren.

She had such a warm personality, was young at heart, and an all-around charming woman. I knew she would be very proud of herself once she had her figure back. She also told me that she had once been a model of size 10 clothes. What I knew and what was hard for her to believe was that she still had her size 10 bone structure but had just padded it with excess inches and weight and was now a bulging size 18. Well, to get on to the happy success of Mrs. Robertson's case history, we did what we promised. We reduced her back to a perfect size 10 and when I was recently photographed with her for a second time, two wonderful years have gone by and she's still a perfect size 10.

She told me that many happy things have happened since I last saw her. She had been in the East where friends of long standing couldn't believe she could still look so young and wonderful. She told of the wonderful compliments her devoted husband gives her. She is still considering the possibility of actually doing some real estate work more for fun than anything else because she had so much energy and enjoyed meeting people. The past two years have brought two more wonderful grandchildren in her life contributing further to her zest for life and the future.

The climax to Mrs. Robertson's story is that here is a woman who can with great pride look in the mirror and say to herself that she had a real problem that bothered her in so many ways and she solved it by seeking expert, personalized help and today she is the woman she deserves to be; attractive, full of pride, happy and contented with herself. That is as it should be for all women.

Dallas Security Termed Shocking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney-author Louis Nizer declared security was so poor in Dallas the day President Kennedy was assassinated that "we are fortunate Oswald did not have a machine gun."

Nizer, in a lengthy introduction to Doubleday and Company's hardcover edition of "The Warren Commission Report," said there was "no excuse" for not guarding empty buildings or warehouses along Kennedy's motorcade route. He said security revelations in the report were "shocking."

"Whatever may be said for the failure to guard all buildings, there can be no excuse for ignoring empty buildings or warehouses," Nizer said. "How many can there be on the motorcade route? There is rarely even one and certainly there are no more than a few."

* * * *

NIZER SAID the Warren Report did not provide sufficient emphasis on the failure of the Secret Service or the FBI to inspect buildings, a basic routine in protecting the heads of state in most other countries. He noted that empty buildings and warehouses are always suspect because they permit an assassin or a group of assassins, to get ready without danger of interference.

"So dangerous is an unoccupied floor or warehouse that we are fortunate Oswald did not have a machine gun and mow down not only the president, but vice president Johnson and other officials, as well as Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Connally, thus decimating the executive branch of our country," Nizer wrote.

"Indeed, if Oswald had not been a 'loner', a small squad of killers could have occupied the sixth floor with him and wrought a wholesale destruction of our officials as the Japanese did on our ships at Pearl Harbor."

Nizer said the report proved that the assassination was the outcome of "a series of coincidences not likely to occur again for a thousand years" and should put the doubts of "all reasonable men" at rest.

* * * *

HE SAID he was hopeful the report would result in the strengthening of security around the president and a correction in the balance of rights of the press and the rights of a defendant.

Taking a critical view of the role news media played in the events following the assassination, Nizer suggested taking "a leaf from our English cousins" by limiting what the press can report about suspects and alleged evidence before trial. He said the balance between the right of fair trial and right of free press has definitely tipped in favor of news media.

"The commission properly raises the question of whether an unprejudiced jury could have been found to try Oswald had he lived," Nizer wrote.

Norse Ship Captains Will Get Bicycles

OSLO (AP) — Danish bikes have been ordered for captains of all the big tankers of a Norwegian shipping company. Capt. Trygve Christensen of the 96,000-ton tanker Borgsten started it when he got tired of making his deck inspections afoot and bought a bike to use aboard at sea and in harbor.

Prop. 8 Takes Uncontested Races Off Ballot

7th of a Series
By JIM McCAULEY
I. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Orange County and other counties exceeding 700,000 population would be authorized by Proposition No. 8 to remove from the ballot uncontested races for superior court judge.

In 1962, Los Angeles County was granted similar permission, pegging the population cut-off line at 5 million.

Proponents say the constitutional amendment will focus attention on contested offices, speed election talulations, save $30,000 each in Orange, San Diego, Alameda and San Diego Counties and provide adequate machinery for write-in campaigns.

To avoid cluttering the ballot with uncontested races, Los Angeles County uses this method in filling elective po-

SEN. JOHN W. Holmdahl, D-Alameda, one of the proponents, revealed that study shows that in the past 10 years Orange County hasn't had a single contested race.

Yet still taxpayers foot the bill for including judges' names on the ballot. The percentage of uncontested races ran 88% in San Francisco, and 95% each in San Diego and Alameda Counties.

The amendment provides that an incumbent judge can be challenged if 100 petitioners serve notice of a write-in campaign at least 45 days before the election. Or, a rival always can file nomination papers.

Opponents say the amendment makes write-ins more difficult and that election by voters is a fundamental concept more important than speed and economy.

Commented Sens. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, and Robert Lagomarsino, R-Ventura:

"As a practical matter, most judges are never really passed on by the people. Most judges are first appointed by the governor. Thereafter they are reelected time after time without opposition because it is common knowledge that it is extremely difficult to unseat an incumbent.

"This proposed change will further impair the right of the people to select their judges . . ."

Retorted Sen. Frank Petersen, R-Ukiah: "Write-in campaigns would be enhanced by sitions in muncipal courts, water districts and park-recreation districts.

Communications Symposium Set

I, P-T Reporter Exposes Driver License Racket South of Border

a drink."

"BUT YOU can get a drink here," he says, pointing. "See the nice bar. They got girls, movies, postcards, everything."

The distractions again.

"No," you say, "Take me downtown. To a bar."

Both men shrug their shoulders, indicating they think you are making a terrible mistake. But the driver pulls out of the driveway and starts on.

Now, because he hasn't mentioned it, you ask, "How much?" "What?" he says. "How much for the driver's license?" "Oh," he says, as though you had just brought the subject up. "Fifty dollars."

"Too much," you say. "I understand you can get them for $10 to $15." He shrugs.

* * * *

IN DOWNTOWN Tijuana (if that's what they call it) the driver parks the cab in the 1000 block of Avenida Revolucion. You pay the driver $1 and you and your new friend walk. A half a block down the street he turns into a doorway. The number is 1026. On the glass above the door "Cuardos Paredes" is hand-painted in orange. You can't miss the place.

You walk through the door. You're in a long, dirty hallway. The walls are painted in red and white triangular sections. Fifty feet down this hall you turn right and you're in another hallway. Twenty feet down this hall and you turn left. Now you know where you are. You can't miss it. On each side of the hallway are doors, about eight of them. In six of them girls (?) are standing. They beckon.

With your trusty guide you pass the gauntlet of fingers clutching at your coat sleeve. At the end of the hall are three men. One of them obviously is a man of some importance. You can tell because in his right hand he has a roll of what appears to be bills. The outside one is $5. The inside ones you can't of course see.

* * * *

THIS IS the man and you're all ready to ask him about driver's licenses, but no. You have to go through the standard girls, French movies and postcards routine first. When this is over, you say "Driver's license."

"Yes," he says.

"How much?" you say.

"Fifty dollars," he says.

"Oh no," you say.

"How much you wanna pay?" he says.

"Fifteen dollars," you say.

It is his turn. "Oh no," he says. Then he relents. "Forty dollars," he says.

You shake your head — firmly you hope and say again, as though he didn't hear, "Fifteen dollars."

* * * *

HE SHAKES his head just as firmly and repeats, "Forty dollars. That's all."

This is your first try, so you turn on your heel and walk out. On the way, the man with the bills says, "How about a nice girl? Here, try my wife."

You don't like his "wife" so you keep going. And they let you go. All except your guide. He follows you out to the street where you stop and say, with appropriate shrug, "Well, that's that."

"Wait," he says. "We try another man."

You follow him a half a block down Avenuda Revolucion to a cab stand. Here is another man. You talk to him but reach the same point when negotiations break down. He stays at "forty dollars," and you stay at "fifteen dollars." This is it. You walk away. Your guide this time does not follow but writes you off as a cheapskate and goes looking for someone else.

HALF AN hour later, after a beer in one of the bars, a cab driver on the corner of the Avenida Revolucion and Calle Cuarta gives you the big pitch again. After the girls, French movies and postcards are done with, you ask about the license. He says okay and drives you around the block a couple of times and then up a very dirty alley and parks beside some very dirty apartments.

He leads you around a corner and into the back door of a building. Inside comes a surprise.

You are in the same crib house you were in before. The same fat guy with the black mustache and the roll of bills is there. He smiles. You smile. Even now you have to go through the girls, French movies and postcards routine but finally he'll talk about licenses. Okay.

Since you left him at $15 you feel now maybe you should go up since he didn't hunt you up, so you go to $20. He's accomodating, so he comes down to $35. Now you are getting some place. You go to $30 and "that's that." He doesn't believe you but, this time, he doesn't let you walk. He finally says okay to $30.

* * * *

NOW YOU talk to the cab driver. He shows you a license of a guy from West Covina and tells you to write down the information you want on your license. You write the name, age, address, physical description and other essential data, including the office you want it issued from. He takes the paper and you go.

"Now we see the man who does the work," he tells you as you are standing on the corner of Avenida Revolucion and Calle Septima. Now we're getting close, you think. But no.

After a 40-minute wait for "the man" you find that he expects you to give him $20 now and the other $10 when you get the license. When do you get the license? Why, three hours later, of course.

"It takes time to do good work," the unshaven, disreputable-looking artisan says with a shrug. This is the Moment of Truth — and you fail it.

* * * *

YOU SAY, "Look, I'm not about to give you $20 on the promise that you'll meet me in three hours with the license. You get me the license and I'll pay you $30 for it—when you give it to me."

Both men shake their heads. "This is impossible," they say, almost in unison. But you are firm. So firm the "artisan" gets out of the cab and walks away. "Well, that's that," you tell the driver and you get into a long discussion about how you "don't trust anyone" and that's why you can't get the license.

"Okay" you finally say. "I take. Get the guy back and I'll give him the $20."

This takes another wait of 40 minutes on the corner. But you give the guy the money and the cab driver says, "Now we have to get the picture." You discuss price, of course, and your guy says, "Oh, a dollar, or a dollar and a half."

* * * *

YOU SAY okay and after he leads up a dirty stairway, down a filthy hall and into an even dirtier studio at 622 Avenida Ninos Heros to the Altos Fotorama. Now, a man with the inevitable mustache poses you with great care in front of an ancient Graflex view camera and takes your picture — on a 4 by 5-inch negative yet.

The price, of course, is $2 instead of the $1.50 but you are too tired to protest. What's fifty cents now.

In fact the driver apparently gets this idea too because as you drive away he says, "Why don't you get a draft card to go with this? Only $10. Forty dollars for both." He's talking about a Selective Service card, with which an under-21-yearold service man can many times get a drink in a bar. But you're over 21, so you say "No, thanks."

YOUR GUY lets you out on "his corner" and you drink beer or something until the long three hours have passed. Now it's 5:30 p.m. and you're ready. But no. It seems your cab driver, whose name he finally tells you is Ruben, informs you that there has been a "delay" and the license won't be ready until 6:30 p.m.

But, lo and behold, when you return at 7 p.m. your man is smiling. He doesn't have the license but he knows where to go. You get in the cab and after the inevitable ride around several blocks the cab stops and your "artisan" climbs in the back. He has the license. You look at it. It looks all right, so you give them the other $10.

* * * *

AS YOU step out of the cab at "the corner" your friend, Ruben, plants the final sword.

"My fare?" he says, so you throw him the usual dollar. But Ruben isn't finished. "Two dollars," he says blandly. "Look at all the trouble I've had."

"Trouble you've had," you say and, dropping the dollar on the car seat, you walk off.

You've done it. You have a California driver's license.

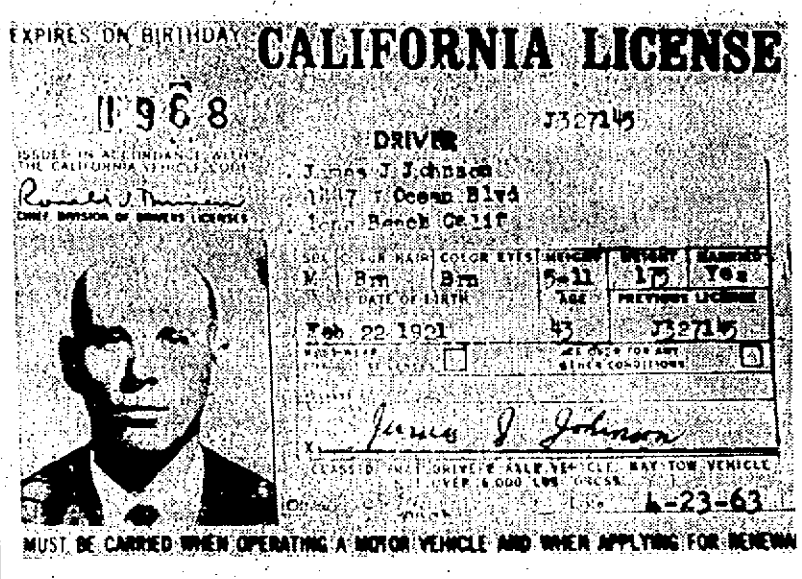

And now you recall what the San Diego policeman said.

* * * *

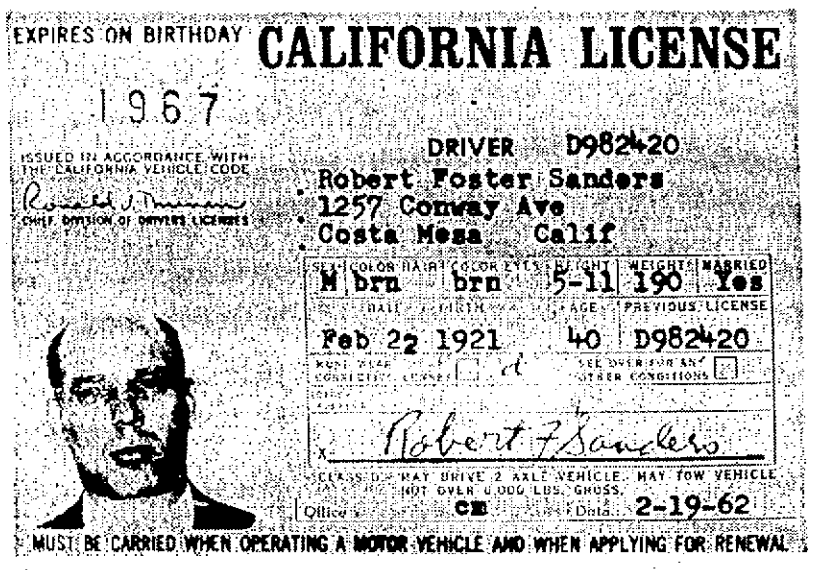

"TWO YEARS ago," he told you, "you could buy these things (driver's licenses and Selective Service cards) on any street corner. But we (the Mexican police and his department) got the guy that used to print them over by the Jai Alai Palace. He's out of business now. You're out of luck."

Now it occurs to you the place you made the arrangements at 1026 Avenida Revolucion is less than a half block from the Jai Alai Palace.

It's a small world.

7 Ways to Spot Phony Licenses

Fake driver licenses—easy to come by in Tijuana, Mexico—are beginning to show up in the United States and are used as "identification" by bad-check passers.

Leavitt Tudor, assistant office manager of the Long Beach Department of Motor Vehicles, said the fake license can be distinguished from the real thing from the following.

(1) The California licenses are printed on a dexagraph machine in Sacramento and are very distinct. No gray, all black and white. The fake is gray.

(2) Each office of the DMV has a set of key letters to designate where each license is issued. Long Beach is Lg Bch and is always followed by a number, which is the number of the typist that typed it.

(3) On the back of legitimate licenses there is always the stamp of the state of California and the issue date stamped in red. The seal also is in red.

(4) Since Sept. 20, 1963 all licenses have a class number, like 1, 2, 3. Prior to that they had letters like a, b, c.. That space is blank on the fake.

(5) Pictures on good license always have absolutely white background. The fake has a grey. Also you can see where the picture is pasted on the license before the picture is taken on the fake. On the legitimate license you can't see this line.

(6) On the fake, the signature must be small enough, since it is pasted on the license before the photostat is made, to fit inside the lines surrounding it. On the real license you can, and most people do, go over the lines, particularly on letters below the line.

(7) One thing to watch: if the person has glasses on in the picture, the box marked "must wear glasses" is almost always checked. On Mexican licenses it is not unless the buyer so specifies.

Girl Lives 22 Hours in Sea; 4 Feared Lost

JERSEY, Channel Islands (AP)—A 20-year-old girl staggered exhausted out of the storm-swept English Channel Saturday, the sole known survivor of a shipwreck feared to have claimed four lives.

She came ashore clinging to a piece of wreckage after battling huge waves for 22 hours.

Alison Mitchell of Jersey told rescuers how the pleasure cruise off Brittany of the 50-foot motor yacht Maricelia came to grief Friday night as the little vessel nosed in toward its Jersey anchorage.

* * * *

WHEN THE storm broke and the yacht started to founder, she was caught below decks. With water rushing into the cabin, she broke a porthole and scrambled through. "When I surfaced, the entire superstructure of the boat had gone and nobody was left on board," she said.

Miss Mitchell said she grabbed a piece of wreckage and started swimming. "The sea was whipping itself into a frenzy with waves 40 feet high and it soon got very dark. I don't know how I hung on."

* * * *

SHE SIGHTED land Saturday and paddled toward it —"I didn't know whether it was France or Jersey." Reaching the shore, she scrambled up a cliff and found help at a farmhouse. Saturday night, she was in a hospital recovering from the ordeal.

Queuing Begins for Met Opener Monday Night

NEW YORK (AP) — People have already started lining up to buy standing-room tickets for Monday night's opening of the 1964-65 Metropolitan Opera season, and the box office doesn't open until Monday morning.

First in the 20-person line Saturday was a 19-year-old Bayonne, N.J., girl, Linda Wolf, who said she had only 11 cents in her pocket, far from enough to buy a ticket.

She said she was expecting a friend to bring money before Monday, "otherwise I'll have been waiting for nothing."

Triplets Make It 22 —Dad Unemployed

LEWES, Del. (AP) — The 36-year-old wife of an unemployed fish-plant worker, who previously had given birth to 19 children including two sets of twins, now has a set of triplets.

The mother, Mrs. Emily Sneed, and the triplets, born Friday, were reported "doing fine" Saturday in Beebe Hospital. Seventeen of Mrs. Sneed's 22 children are living.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Top Issue: Who Pulls Nuclear Trigger?

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

The question, who should pull the nuclear weapons trigger—the President or a field commander? — looked last week as the major election campaign issue.

Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater built new fires under it by restating his proposal that, if elected, he would share triggering authority with the NATO alliance commander in Europe.

President Johnson and other Democratic orators warned voters throughout the land that this could lead to a nuclear holocast by miscalculation.

* * * *

GOLDWATER shot back that there was sound evidence that Johnson himself had already delegated such authority and was not being truthful with the people.

The dispute caused a schism of sorts in the GOP hierarchy. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, though supporting Goldwater, deplored the fact that nuclear weapons startegy had become an election issue.

"I don't think it's in the best interests of the country to make public details of how we will defend the United States," he told a press conference.

His statement referred to a Goldwater task force report on "The Defense Role of Nuclear Weapons." The task force was headed by Eisenhower's one time defense secretary, Neil H. McElroy.

THE REPORT among other things called on Johnson to tell the people that the NATO commander could use such weapons under predetermined circumstances and that he name persons who could issue such orders in case of presidential disability.

Eisenhower praised the task for "getting at the facts." But he refused to endorse any of its conclusions on grounds no President should be told "what he should do or say."

McElroy also backed away from the conclusions, as published by the Republican National Committee.

Johnson commended Eisenhower for his "right and patriotic" stand.

* * * *

GOLDWATER urged a convention of UPI editors and publishers in Washington to look closely at the question of nuclear controls. "This administration," he said, "has attempted to create a fear complex out of it . . . delegation of authority is needed to assure that NATO is not stranded because of putting control solely in the very mortal hands of one man. . ."

Diplomatic sources in Washington said meantime that Red China had hinted to neutral government in Asia and Africa that it plans to set off its first nuclear blast in a few weeks. This had been predicted previously by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The presidential candidates, their running mates, and wives, sons and daughters stepped up the tempo of the campaign with swings into almost every region of the country.

Goldwater continued drumming on alleged administration corruption and military policy in Communist-embattled South Viet Nam. He said that if elected he would ask Gen. Eisenhower to head a mission to Saigon to study and report to him on the crisis. Eisenhower had no immediate comment.

* * * *

JOHNSON told a Chicago audience that Goldwater represents "a radical departure from the historic and basic current of American thought and action."

The President made his first invasion of the South and joined Mrs. Johnson's Southern whistle-stop campaign tour at New Orleans.

Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara emerged as two of the biggest guns in Johnson's campaign arsenal. He authorized both to fire back when foreign or defense policy is attacked.

McNamara, for example, charged that Goldwater's claim that U.S. nuclear power is declining "is so completely misleading and so damaging to our national security that it cannot be allowed to stand on the record."

Rusk declared that the Democrats inherited the Cuban problem from Eisenhower. He said it was "more difficult to cure than it would have been to prevent it." He also denied Goldwater's assertions that Johnson is concealing the true state of affairs in Viet Nam.

In other news spheres, the Supreme Court heard arguments in two cases testing the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act. Involved are an Atlanta motel and a Birmingham restaurant. The bench indicated there may be an early bellwether decision.

THE FBI announced the arrest of 10 white men in connection with the recent bombing of Negro homes near McComb, Miss. State officals cooperated. FBI agents seized hand grenades, 15 bombs, carbines, blackjacks and powder. One of the accused, son of a wealthy Mississippian, also was charged with bank robbery.

In Caracas, Venezuela, pro-Castra terrorists kidnaped U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Smolen, 45, Chandler, Ariz. Smolen is deputy chief of the Air Force mission in Venezuela. Last Nov. 27 a U.S. Army colonel also was kidnaped, but was released after nine days in captivity.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said the United States will demand that Russia forfeit its vote in the United Nations General Assembly next month unless it pays its overdue U.N. bills. Moscow said the challenge would be accepted.

RUSSIAN secret police burst into the hotel rooms of three U.S. Embassy attaches and a British official in Vladivostok, Siberia, searched their luggage and seized cameras, film and a radio. The men were en route from Moscow to Japan. The State Department protested sharply, charging violation of diplomatic immunity. Moscow rejected the protest and charged the men were spies. The officials returned to Moscow, not knowing whether they would be expelled.

The Internal Revenue Bureau unveiled a new and "simpler" income tax form. It said it will be easier to fill out than past forms, but cautioned all citizens to read accompanying instructions carefully for guidance.

Fears Voiced for Queen's Safety

By United Press International

Queen Elizabeth's visit to Canada, the American presidential campaign and an abortive spy trial in New York drew comment last week from European newspapers.

While the queen's visit to Canada continued to make front page news in Britain, there still were fears voiced about her safety. But no paper suggested she should not have made the trip.

"For (Canadian Prime Minister) Lester Pearson to have canceled the visit would have been to bow to terrorism," the London Daily Mail said.

The London Daily Sketch suggested Elizabeth's advisors had blundered in having her land at Wolfe's Cove, Quebec, thus rubbing in the defeat of the French many years ago.

In West Berlin, the newspaper Telegraf suggested Rep. William Miller and Sen. Barry Goldwater were responsible for the vehemence of the American presidential election.

FORECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Evaluate various trends, conditions. Don't commit yourself to definite course of action. Remain alert, open-minded. If you are receptive . . . you can receive the "answer." Be aware.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You now have much on your side. Those who attempt to undermine you make light of your assets. Have faith in your convictions. Be patient, confident. Attend church of choice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be prepared for pressures, questions, doubts. Rely upon past experience. Try to remember similar situation. You can come out on top—if you are perceptive, reflective.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Finish projects. Hold off on new enterprises. Be moderate. Strive to erase antagonisms. Make your meanings clear. Apologies especially to dealing with fellow workers.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Be independent in thought, action. State needs, desires, beliefs. Be definite. No day for beating around the bush. You could make valuable discovery. Seek—and you will find!

VIRGO (August 23-Sept. 22): Be wary, cautious. You can avoid major which would create added costs, delay. Look behind the scenes. Remember key events. Apply past experiences to current questions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be curious, versatile. Don't settle for only one solution. Check various sources, but make your own judgment! You could make valuable discovery. Key is persistence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be definite where details, money matters are concerned. Necessary to review investments, hopes, plans for future. Your security may be at stake. Key is thoroughness.

SAGITARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle remains high. But you must decide on definite course of action. Make constructive changes. Do heed to unusual surprises by member of opposite sex.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Associate process for decision. Find out "why the rush." Need inner feelings. Family member has key to dilemma. What you seek is close at hand . . . best to act accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Make new social contacts. Be open to ideas, suggestions. You can apply unique methods to greater advantage. Refuse to follow "the mob." Remember—individuality pays off!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): One in authority due to request your opinion. Maintain dignity. Give thoughtful reply. Cycle features opportunity to succeed. Forget red tape. Perceive overall situation.

* * * *

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you have keen sense of justice, are intuitive—and you respond extremely well during emergency situations.

* * *

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Libra: Combine practicality with sense of humor. You can impress higher-ups.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be selective. Includes the company you keep, the plans you make. Important people watch with interest. Prove your ability. Exercise sense of discrimination. Judge carefully.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be confident where far-reaching plans are concerned. State your needs. Then fulfill desires. Time when you can get what you go after. But be ready to present all the facts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Key is completion. Finish what you start. Overcome tendencies to procrastinate. News limit finally adds up to money. Be specific. Avoid extravagance. Utilize creative abilities to their fullest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Absorb knowledge. Be wary regarding associate who urges short-cut methods. Realize thoroughness pays off. One close to you may express concern over finances. Be sympathetic.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Express beliefs in calm, sensible manner. Careless remarks will create embarrassing situations. Many around you are hyperactive. Strive for maturity. Be considerate, understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Plan for creative pursuits. Stress change, variety. Be open to new ideas. Member of opposite sex due to be impressed, will express admiration. Be gracious. Avoid pompous stance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't become engulfed in maze of details. Concentrate on "end product." Keep mind set on overall project. May not be easy . . . but this kind of "vision" pays extraordinary dividends!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Key to successful day is mental activity. Express ideas . . . follow through on hunches. Consult newspaper, authorities, library. You are "on the trail" of discovery. Follow through!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Concentrate on financial questions. You are due a chance to enhance income possibilities. Key is obtaining harmony at home. Then you can "go forth" with clear mind—and conscience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Cycle high. You can now succeed through contacts. Express yourself. Dress up and be seen! No time for being shy. Come out of emotional shell. Be aggressive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Realize you require some privacy—and that some matters are confidential. Be discreet—others will be intrigued. Maintain aura of glamor. Don't tell all! This will work in your favor.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Maintain sense of balance. Emotional "kinks" are to be avoided. Don't feel the grass is always greener far away. Appreciate loved ones. Close friend imparts valuable information.

* * *

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are intrigued with humor, ways of pleasing people. Domestic adjustment made this year works to your advantage.

Candidates Set for Hard Drive Toward Finish

With just over three weeks until election day, and with adjournment of Congress, the heretofore invisible grass-roots campaign of Long Beach-area candidates are at last moving into the public arena.

Incumbent Republican Congressman Craig Hosmer has a jam-packed speaking schedule. And Democratic challenger Michael Cullen gains two consecutive days of exposure—today with President Johnson and Monday when U.S. Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii visits Long Beach.

Hosmer's schedule includes these stops: "A Washington Report" at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Long Beach Shrine Club in Pacific Coast Club; a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter, California Society of Professional Engineers, Tuesday in Lakewood Country Club; a talk before the Long Beach Postal Union at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the third-floor Star Room at Morgan Hall, 835 Locust Ave., open to the public.

* * * *

HOSMER will address North Long Beach Republican Women Federated at their 13th anniversary meeting at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 19 in Houghton Park Clubhouse. Long Beach Young Republicans have booked Hosmer for 8 p.m. Oct. 21 for a public meeting in the Lafayette Hotel.

Cullen, an old friend of Inouye, will appear with the senator at a $50 fund-raising reception 5 to 7 p.m. Monday in the Cafe Lafayette at the Lafayette Hotel, according to attorneys Joseph E. Madden, area cochairman for the Johnson-Humphrey campaign, and James A. Ackerman, event coordinator. Cullen also will appear with Inouye at a Monday luncheon in Los Angeles of 150 members of the Japanese-Americans for Johnson Committee.

Cullen, at 11 a.m. Wednesday, will address a public forum in Long Beach City College Auditorium, sponsored by the college Young Democrats Club.

* * * *

HASTINGS-CULLEN FETE

Willard Hastings, Democratic nominee for Assembly in the East Long Beach-Signal Hill 39th District, will be honored with Cullen at a reception today, 3 to 5 p.m. at the Virginia Waters residence, 1485 La Perla Ave., Park Estates, also honoring 200 volunteer precinct workers of the district.

YOUTH FOR BARRY

A group of high school and college students have opened a Youth for Goldwater-Miller Headquarters at 350 E. First St., under management of Jim Vail, Ray Sterling and Larry Veeder, Cal State Long Beach students. It will be open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday with campaign materials from bumper strips to the soft-drink "Gold Water." Students wishing to take part may call at headquarters.

Nixon Visiting L.A. This Week, 5 Other States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will make political appearances this week in California, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Florida.

The Republican National Committee announced the schedule for the third week of Nixon's 25,000-mile campain trip in behalf of the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

Monday, he will visit San Francisco, Claremont, Pomona, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Workshop Books Talk by Consumer Counsel

HELEN E. NELSON
To Address Writers

Mrs. Helen E. Nelson, California Consumer Counsel, will head a consumer-evaluation panel at the morning session of Long Beach City College's third annual technical writing workshop on the business and technology campus Oct. 24.

Panelists will evaluate literature that accompanies consumer hard and soft goods. Mrs. Nelson's particular subtopic is labeling.

On the panel are L. G. Merritt, general supervisor of the division of purchasing at Space and Information Systems Division, North American Aviation; Mrs. Kay Marquardt, homemaker and home economics graduate, and James Phelan, contributing writer for the Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Eva Lampson, work-education coordinator for the Long Beach Unified School District, will be the moderator.

The third annual symposium in technical communication opens Oct. 23, with registration from noon until 1 p.m. and the opening session at 1:15 p.m. in the gymnasium.

THE LADIES ARE PRUDENT

They Use Their Credit but They Also Use Their Heads

By CHARLES SUTTON

Brace yourselves, men! This may come as something of a shock.

But the little lady in your life—the gal who darns your socks and raises your kids—is not quite the spendthrift you may have thought she was.

As a matter of fact, considering all the credit cards and charge-a-plates at her disposal, she's really a pretty prudent spender.

* * * *

AND THE fact that four females say so doesn't detract from the statement, either—because all four are credit managers in their respective businesses.

The four are Mrs. Barbara Boland of Modesto, Mrs. Edythe Falconer of San Diego, and Mrs. Esselyne Driscoll and Mrs. Marie Anderson of Long Beach. They met in the Lafayette Hotel to map plans for an education seminar which their organization, District 11 of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club, will sponsor at the hotel next month. The club, they explained, is dedicated to the betterment of credit collection work.

Mrs. Boland is president of District 11, which includes California, Nevada, Australia and Hawaii; Mrs. Falconer is seminar chairman, and Mrs. Driscoll and Mrs. Anderson are local chairmen of the forthcoming event.

* * * *

ALL FOUR agreed that, by and large, the American housewife uses her credit cards wisely. There are exceptions, of course, but the exceptions comprise only a small fraction of the overall number, they added.

If the exceptions were to be catalogued, though, chances are they'd include a lot of young brides.

"Couples in their late teens and early twenties tend to forget themselves," explained Mrs. Falconer. "You find this true among many young Navy couples. They have no conception of what credit means."

A lot of young people, moreover, have a tendency to think they merit the same good things in life that their seniors have. They don't realize they have to work up to them, she said.

* * * *

HOW DO you tell a prudent couple?

Well, for one thing, the women said, a wise couple always makes certain its income for the month well exceeds its accumulated obligations for the period.

It's always important, too, they said, for a husband and wife to make allowances for unseen contingencies—such as illness.

The smart couple also avoids lots of little bills. Little bills have a curious tendency to mushroom beyond control, they agreed.

But if they were to wrap up their advice in three little words, they admitted, they'd simply say: Use your head.

CREDIT MANAGERS Marie Anderson and Barbara Boland testify that wives are not the spendthrifts husbands may think they are.

MacArthur Estate Over $2 Million

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The personal estate of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has been appraised at more than $2 million.

The amount does not include joint ownership stocks, bonds and securities or insurance payable to beneficiaries.

The inventory and appraisal filed in the clerk's office of Norfolk Corporation Court this week shows MacArthur's personal estate to be worth $2,131,941.89.

MacArthur died April 6 and was buried in the MacArthur Memorial in Norfolk April 11.

His will was probated June 1 and a four-man commission was appointed by the court to inventory and appraise the personal estate.

The bulk of the estate was in bonds and securities. The largest single bond holding was $176,295 in the Los Angeles Metropolitan Trust Authority, with an accrued interest of $874. The general also held a sizable amount in bonds on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. These amounted to $114,712.50, with an accrued interest of $1,576.46.

MacArthur's largest single stockholding was in General Motors Corp. He had 2,205 shares of common stock at a value of $180,258.75.

He also had 1,903 shares of common stock in Sperry Rand Corp. at a value of $34,254.

MacArthur and his wife had $36,216.64 in joint accounts in the First National City Bank of New York and State National Bank of Stamford, Conn.

Mrs. MacArthur was named sole heir in the general's will, with provisions made for his son, Arthur.

The inventory showed that MacArthur had Congressional Medal of Honor stipends dated March 3, 1964 and April 5, 1964, payable to himself and his wife in the amounts of $100 each.

The tangible personal property of MacArthur, which consisted of furniture and mementoes, was given a value of $5,601.

Trains Collide

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Two passenger trains collided at an exit of Belgrade station Saturday, killing one person and injuring 17.

6 New Unified School Districts OKd by State

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State Board of Education Saturday approved the formation of six unified school districts, rejected one proposal and deferred action on two others.

Approved were the following unified school districts in:

—Modoc County, comprising the Modoc Union High School District and a portion of Madeline School area of Lassen County.

—Monterey County, comprising the King City Joint Union High School District.

—Monterey County, comprising the Gonzales Union High School District.

—San Luis Obispo County, comprising the San Luis Obispo Union High School District.

—Ventura County, comprising the Ventura High School District.

—Yolo County, comprising the Woodland Joint Union High School District.

The board rejected, by a vote of 8-0, the proposal of forming two unified school districts from the Monterey Union High School area.

* * * *

IN REJECTING this proposal, the board requested the Monterey committee to reconsider its plans with an eye towards a unified district that would be larger than the existing Monterey Union High School District.

Since the area covered in a Salinas proposal of forming a unified district comprising the Salinas Union High School area lies near the rejected Monterey area, the board voted to continue without prejudice until December the Salinas proposal.

The proposal of a unified district comprising Vacaville Union High School District was deferred until November on legal grounds. No details were immediately available.

* * * *

A SPOKESMAN for the state board said that the chief reason for the rejection of the Monterey High School District proposal was that its division of an existing high school district was contrary to the Unruh School Act of 1964.

The spokesman said that board members Dorman Commons, of Fullerton, and William Norris, of Pasadena, termed the split proposal one of the weakest to reach the State Board of Education.

Lecture Slated by Phelan

James R. Phelan, free-lance writer for national magazines and former Independent, Press-Telegram columnist, will discuss his recent research on certain California organizations at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Boyd High School auditorium, 8th Street and Locust Avenue.

Second speaker in the current Long Beach City College series "Behind the Headlines with a Reporter," Phelan will outline some of the findings soon to be fully presented in a Saturday Evening Post article.

Also scheduled Monday evening is a new illustrated lecture series on "The Golden State," starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Jordan High School choral room, 6500 Atlantic Avenue. Speaker is Margaret Forsythe, Compton school psychologist. Her topic is "Down the Byways."

WITHHOLDING TAX CON GAME STILL WITH US—DUPUY

"There are indications that the governor will ask for State Withholding Tax again in 1965," charged Reg Dupuy, 44th District Candidate for the State Assembly. "Incumbent Joe Kennick and ten other legislators kept the Withholding Tax Bill alive and rushed it to the Senate, where it was defeated," reminded Dupuy.

"In his budget measure," Candidate Dupuy explains, "the governor says personal income tax amounts to only 13.2% of State Revenue, and only about half of that is derived from wage earners."

According to Dupuy, the administration alleges that each year thousands of new California citizens require immediate services, and that the State should withhold personal income tax immediately to catch up on the services cost. Dupuy states that each new citizen begins to pay his own way as soon as he enters the State, with gasoline taxes (19.6% of State Revenue), cigarette taxes (2.5% of State Revenue) and sales taxes on general merchandise (29.4% of State Revenue). So, says Dupuy, our new citizen pays his share of more than half of the State's revenue as soon as he's here!

Reg Dupuy, if elected, will oppose withholding tax as another cumbersome, bureaucratic gimmick that is neither needed nor wanted.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Surgeon General Inspects Ft. Ord

FT. ORD (AP)—The Army's surgeon general inspected conditions at meningitis-wracked Ft. Ord Saturday preparatory to meeting today with Gov. Brown in Los Angeles.

Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton arrived at the sprawling Monterey County training base in midafternoon from Washington after first stopping in San Francisco to pick up Col. John Harris, 6th Army surgeon.

Heaton's decision to personally inspect conditions at the base came in the midst of mounting criticism by state political leaders of the Army's refusal to either close or quarantine Ft. Ord.

Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., said he will go over the Secretary of the Army's head direct to the White House if the Army has not quarantined Ft. Ord by Monday.

Sisk said he has had numerous letters, telephone calls and personal contact from parents whose sons are scheduled to be inducted into the Army and sent to Ft. Ord for basic training on Thursday. He said there was "almost panic among the people" because of the outbreak of meningitis at the huge training base.

Cairo Meet Hits U.S. on Cuba

CAIRO (UPI)—Heads of state at the second Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Nations Saturday night signed a strongly anti-Western final declaration which included a demand that the United States withdraw from the Guantanamo Bay base in Cuba.

The contents of the declaration were to be formally announced at noon today, but most of its points already were known. They previously had been approved by the foreign ministers of the non-aligned nations.

Forty-seven nations signed the declaration.

Optimism Grows for GM Peace

DETROIT (UPI)—An acceleration in the number of local agreements Saturday cast a rosy glow on current contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and strike-bound General Motors.

General Motors has been idled by a strike for 16 days. The UAW, which has already negotiated three-year contracts with Ford and Chrysler, has settled terms with GM on a master contract covering economic issues. But the strike remains in force until the 130 local bargaining units spread throughout the nation agree on non-economic local issues.

LBJ Names Job Corps Director

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson appointed a Southern educator Saturday to direct the Job Corps, the major youth program in the "War on Poverty."

Named to the post was Dr. Otis A. Singletary, 44-year-old chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The Job Corps will provide basic education, work and training for young men and women. About 40,000 will be enrolled the first year and 100,000 in the second.

Exports Planes Despite Ban

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas exporter says he sold 15 military planes to the embattled Haitian government, but the U.S. State Department refused to license the deal, the Dallas Times Herald reported Saturday.

The worldwide exporter, who the newspaper said asked not to be identified, was quoted as saying he has sold 57 planes to Mexico within the past 90 days.

Johnson Romping in Poll

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—President Johnson is favored by 71% of the persons surveyed in the Minnesota Poll's latest survey of presidential support.

The poll, conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune, asked 1,000 Minnesotans last weekend their preferences of presidential candidates.

Berserk, Nude, Cuts 5, Is Slain

ATLANTA (UPI)—A 26-year-old man shed his clothes on his front porch and ran naked through the neighborhood with a butcher knife Saturday, stabbing five persons before police shot him to death.

Authorities said Patrolman J. R. Spence shot Arlin Eugene Pinnell three times when Pinnell lunged at him with a butcher knife.

Police said Pinnell, who lived with his parents, grabbed up a butcher knife, slapped his father and tried to stab him.

Then he ran from the house, stripped off all his clothes on the front porch and dashed haphazardly through the neighborhood brandishing the knife.

HE STABBED Mrs. Lelia Spencer, 32, her two children, Morde, 8, and Deborah, 7, and Elalia Haney, 74. All were hospitalized in fair condition.

WANTED

30 EXECUTIVES

$10,000 to $50,000

PER YEAR

Today's dynamic job market is loaded with opportunity for the ambitious man currently earning $10,000 to $50,000 per year. Individuals interested in securing increased responsibilities, growth potential and primarily pay will initiate activities to explore, investigate and capitalize on today's opportunities. Some will make discreet inquiries with a few select agencies; plant seeds with their friends; answer a few blind ads . . . and then sit and wait.

In most cases, nothing will happen. Time will go by and today's opportunities will go to others. To the "sit and wait" people, success is based primarily on luck, timing or friends. They will continue on in their present position and patiently wait for the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to suddenly appear. The more knowledgeable executive will investigate our unique organization and will progress accordingly.

As Professional Executive Career Managers we specialize in people like you. Our tried and proven and productive concepts are utilized to secure job offers, promotions and increased compensation. Results are produced 3 to 6 times faster than historical averages and usually carry a substantial increase in pay (one case history for example, shows a two day time factor and a 75% increase!). We are limited by the hours of the day however and can work only with a few select individuals.

To present your qualifications and correlate our services to your needs, a personal interview is required (we prefer people not resumes) and may be arranged by calling our office. An appointment will be set without cost or obligation and your confidence will be respected.

OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY TIL 9:00 • OTHER DAYS 9:30-5:30

WHAT HAPPENED? It's no secret that the immediate traffic buildup on the newly opened segment of the San Diego Freeway through Long Beach far exceeded official expectations.

In many other cases of freeway section openings, it has taken the drivers some time to find the thing.

In fact, the San Diego Freeway section immediately west of that recently opened two or three years ago looked almost deserted for the first couple of weeks after the barricades came down.

But things went wild on the Atlantic Ave.-Bolsa Chica segment right off the hat. The first horrendous jam may have resulted in part from curiosity driving on the route, but traffic has since held up remarkably and there are peak-hour jams every working day on the east (south) end.

HIGHWAY officials and traffic experts I've talked to aren't quite sure why motorists "found" the new section so quickly.

The opening had about the normal amount of advance publicity. There's nothing especially different about the physical layout of this section as compared with other new freeway sections. It's true it runs through a heavily developed area where people have watched with interest as it grew up, but that's normal for Southern California.

About the only conclusion one can reach is that this freeway answers a tremendous need. Thousands of drivers who could beneficially use it have just been waiting for its availability, and were ready at the moment.

THE EAST-END jam-ups are primarily caused by the fact four fast lanes of traffic are compressed into two ,out there where freeway traffic merges with that coming in from Garden Grove Blvd. (E. Seventh St.)

Unhappily, there's no immediate prospect for relief out there. It will come when contracts on the overpass and other features of that complex are completed some time hence. But even then, the problem area will just move south and east to the next uncompleted contract.

There's always congestion at the point where one completed freeway segment ends. But this one, I suspect, is worse than usual because the end is at a point where there's a complex of connecting roads, some big traffic carriers. You can't build a whole freeway at once, but in this case, perhaps, it would have been wise to have timed all parts of the job clear through Bolsa Chica Rd. for simultaneous completions.

Too late, now. For motorists who find it insufferable, there are alternate routes, the old ones they were using anyhow just two weeks ago.

DRIFTWOOD — A while back Hank Dunn, local insurance man, quipped at a service club meeting that someone ought to put out a bumper sticker reading PIERRE GO HOME as a jibe at Senate candidate Pierre Salinger. Republican Gladys O'Connell heard him, had a bunch of them printed up. They're showing up around town. . . . There are girl teamster union members. Office workers in this category have been out on the picket line in the food strike. Couple of local housewives who saw several there remonstrated with them for helping to cut off food from babes, etc. The girls explained they were union members and were on duty. Leaving, the housewives stopped a passerby and asked him if those gentle-looking girls really were truck drivers. . . . Look for the roll-out of the first DC-9, Douglas' new medium jet that a lot of our folk are working on, sometime in early 1965.

State's IA Students

They Master Machines

By GEORGE ERES

The college man — or woman—who knows which end of a wrench to use can just about pick his teaching spot as soon as he's qualified to pick up his diploma and teaching credential.

Industrial arts — along with physics and mathematics—today is the most critical area of teaching shortage in the nation.

And it will become more critical because of changes in our economy continue to emphasize the needs for mechanical skills as well as brain power.

The State College Board of Trustees, recognizing the need in this area, has designated California State College at Long Beach as one of the 15 state colleges to emphasize this phase of teaching preparation.

DR. C. THOMAS DEAN, chairman of the Cal-State's division of Applied Arts and Sciences, has lived with the program since its beginnings in 1950. At that time, there were two instructors and 12 students headquartered in a single classroom in a temporary building on the lower campus. Shop facilities were "borrowed" from Long Beach Unified School District schools.

Today the Industrial Arts department, in the division headed by Dr. Dean, has 18 instructors, headed by Chairman Floyd Grainge, and has an enrollment of about 300 students —135 of them working for their masters degree in industrial arts. The plant, one of the most modern in the nation, covers 65,000 square feet and has facilities and up-to-date equipment for woodwork, metal work, electronics, drafting, graphic arts, automotive and industrial crafts, and photography.

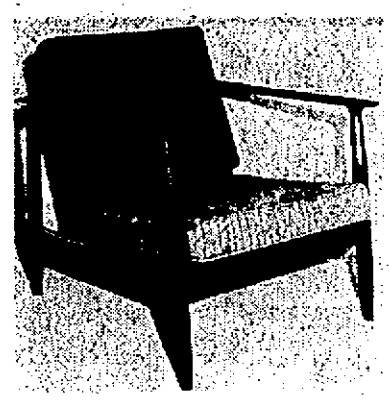

The department is recognized by the U. S. Office of Education as one of the top five schools in the nation in the number of students majoring in the field and is among the top three in the country on the basis of numbers working for masters degrees, said Grainge.

According to Dr. Dean, the state supplies only 50 per cent of the required number of teachers for California schools in the industrial arts.

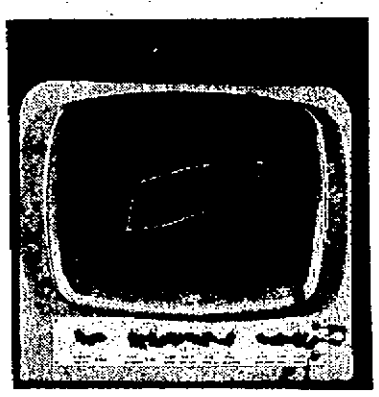

"The others come from other states or return to teaching from industry," he said. "We don't have the number of qualified persons to fill all the jobs that are open. I could have placed 50 to 75 teachers in these jobs in September. There are between 250 and 300 jobs for industrial arts teachers in California alone each year."

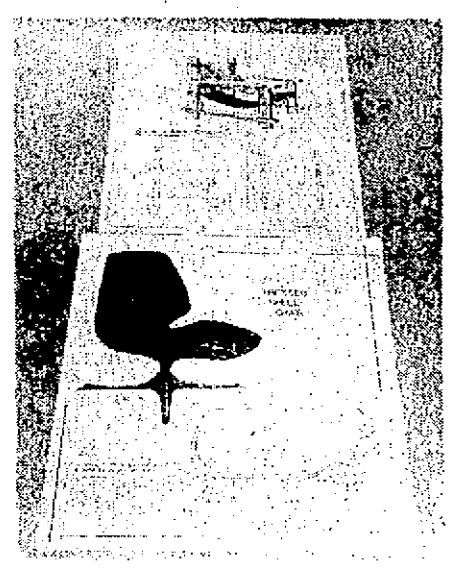

Filling these jobs has a direct bearing on the "dropout" problem, said Grainge. Qualified teachers can keep pupils interested in acquiring these skills and in addition students who drop out realize they can't find jobs without skills and return to schools to acquire the necessary "tools."

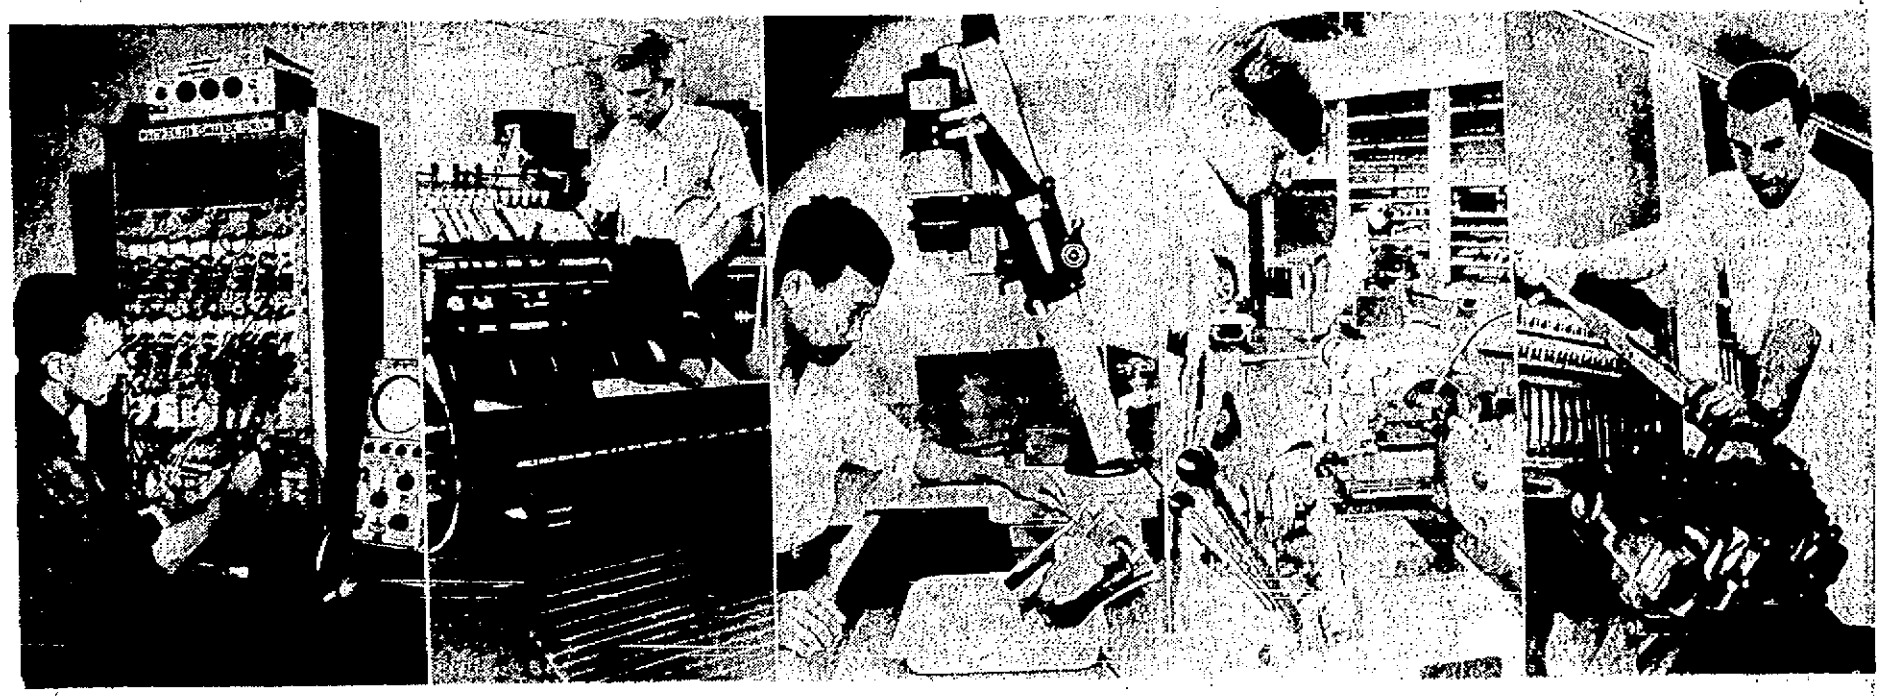

SOMEONE so liked a chair like the one shown (top left) that he just "walked off" with it when it was exhibited with other work done by students at Cal - State's Industrial Arts department. Other items made by students are a metal goblets; cut-away gasoline engine to be used as a teaching aid; oscillator —converted from old TV set—which flashes wave pictures on screen as electronic circuit test; and designs for lawn chair and pressed shell chair.

GIRLS ARE few—there are only two in the Industrial Arts department. Rosemary Schiesl, elementary education major, takes woodwork class.

Varied fields of study at State College's Industrial Arts department are illustrated in above series of photographs (from left): Steve Brubns works at machine used to teach students how to set up problems for computer; Jim Reidy operates printing press and Che Yong of Cambodia develops photograph in the Graphic Arts division; machine shop activities show Rodney Brown at turret lathe and David Bouchey working on automobile engine.

Showdown With the Deadbeats

AT LAST THE UNITED STATES is headed for a showdown with the deadbeats and free-riders—principally the Russians—who enjoy the honors and privileges of United Nations membership without paying their share of the cost.

When the U.N. General Assembly comes to order on Nov. 10, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will demand that the Soviet Union and other delinquents pay their back dues or lose their voting privileges.

THE SOVIETS, ALONE, owe $55 million in assessments for U.N. operations in the Middle East and the Congo. Thirteen other nations also would lose their voting privileges if Article 19 of the U.N. Charter were invoked.

Article 19 reads:

"A member which is in arrears in the payments of its financial contributions shall have no vote if the amount of its arrears equals or exceeds the amount of the contributions due from it for the preceding two full years. The General Assembly may, nevertheless, permit such a member to vote if it is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the member."

Russia is able to pay but refuses to do so because she doesn't like the way the money is spent. This might be compared with the refusal of a citizen to pay his income tax because he disagrees with government policy.

While Russia has played the deadbeat, the United States has held the financial structure of the U.N. together by making special voluntary contributions in addition to the regular assessments. Ironically, nonpaying Russia has three votes in the Assembly, counting the seats allocated to Byelorrussia and the Ukraine, and the United States has but one.

THE FREE RIDE MUST come to an end. Ambassador Stevenson has behind him the full strength of the House of Representatives, which passed a resolution last August by unanimous vote, urging President Johnson to take steps to deprive the Soviet Union and others of their votes if they do not pay their U.N. debts.

This showdown is necessary not only as a matter of principle, but also as a practical matter of U.N. survival. U.N. Secretary General U. Thant observes that the policy of financial drift and improvisation "and reliance on the generosity of the few rather than the collective responsibility of all, cannot much longer endure."

Russia has hinted she might walk out of the U.N. if the United States continues to make its "unfriendly" demand. This is the chance that must be taken. If members don't pay their dues, there won't be any United Nations for them to walk out of.

Newspaper Week

THIS IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK. It is your week as well as ours.

Some persons look upon freedom of the press as a concept for which the press, alone, is responsible. This is not true; it is not possible. Freedom of the press cannot be isolated from other freedoms of American citizenship.

Article I of the Constitution covers freedom of religion, right of assembly, free speech and a free press. All these are bound together in a single sentence. If part of the total concept of that sentence is assaulted and destroyed, the remainder is subject to assault and destruction.

National Newspaper Week, the celebration of the free press, is everybody's event, and will be as long as the Constitution is everybody's Constitution.

California Politicos Think Ahead

I, P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—There's a strategy cult that holds that a winning team plays 'em one at a time.

But somebody forgot to tip off California politicians.

They're already squaring off for the 1966 gubernatorial campaign—even before the final gun has sounded on the 1964 ballot returns. In California's capital, it's the day after tomorrow that really counts.

And though no one knows yet whether Gov. Brown will run for a third term, a federal cabinet post or a Supreme Court appointment, such uncertainties haven't dampened other gubernatorial ambitions.

McCAULEY

On the Republican side, Assemblyman Alan Pattee, champion of a private lottery plan to solve the state's fiscal problems, already has indicated he is a likely candidate for governor.

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, has pointedly refused to allow himself to be put in a position where he would have to declare his intentions. In other words, he is leaving the door open and is polishing up a new image as a political moderate.

A bloc of Northern California moderate lawmakers are hoping to induce Sen. Thomas Kuchel of Anaheim to seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination. They were closeted with Kuchel repeatedly during the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

If presidential nominee Barry Goldwater is dumped by a large margin Nov. 3, they figure that Kuchel will lead a campaign to restore GOP control in California to moderates.

"A chance, not a choice," will be the slogan, according to one GOP assemblyman. That is a turnabout of the "Choice, Not an Echo" slogan now making the Republican rounds.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC side, Gov. Brown isn't likely to face any serious primary opposition if he decides to seek re-election. There is no limit on a third, fourth or fifth term for a California governor.

The key question: Will Brown stay in the governor's mansion?

Brown, now in his second term, might ultimately be receptive to the right federal appointment. Attorney general and a number of other posts are up for grabs. And as the ballot-box victor over both Richard Nixon and William Knowland, Brown has few political worlds left to conquer. Nor could he head an administration that would be likely to make a bigger splash in the state history pages than did the Brown administration for its California Water Plan program.

Among the strong Democratic contenders if Brown bows out: Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson, State Finance Director Hale Champion, Senate President Pro Tempore Hugh Burns, State Controller Alan Cranston and Rep. James Roosevelt.

There have been ripples of speculation periodically that Gov. Brown might even accept a federal appointment before his second term runs out.

That would put Lt. Gov. Anderson in the governor's mansion, and possibly give him an advantage in jockeying for the 1966 nomination. Another possibility: a double Brown and Anderson appointment to different federal offices, clearing the way for Sen. Burns to become acting governor.

MEANWHILE, both Republicans and Democrats try to put up the posture of presenting a united front in California politics. Behind the scene, they're busy slashing throats within their own party.

Family rows often are more bitter than squabbles outside the family between mere acquaintances. In the same vein, the inner-party jealousies also cut deeper.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Demagogy Rides Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON—Each of the two presidential candidates evidently thinks that his opponent is running under false colors. It is hard enough for the public to understand the confusing slogans and characterizations which are emerging on the stump these days, but it appears even more difficult for the candidates to understand each other.

LAWRENCE

President Johnson, for example, said in Indiana he is not sure that "there is a real Republican candidate" running against him. Sen. Goldwater, on the same day in Texas, said he wishes the Democrats would re-name themselves the "Socialist Party" as he argues that the Johnson administration favors big-government controls that breed "socialism."

The truth of the matter is that both the candidates are concentrating on a form of campaigning which is based on a fallacy—namely, that the general public doesn't understand issues and that these can be misrepresented and votes gained just the same.

An old campaign trick is to give the impression that the opposing candidate is lacking in integrity. Another "gimmick" is to use innuendoes and inferences which imply that the opposing candidate lacks brains or the capacity to hold the office for which he is running.

But what makes the whole thing so puzzling is that this is the assumption of well-educated men, high up in political organizations, who are familiar with the trends of American thought but who have come to the conclusion that the bulk of the voters can be swayed by passions and prejudices as well as by epithets and sweeping denunciations.

All four nominees—for the presidency and the vice presidency on both tickets—are making the same kind of campaign. They rely on charges and countercharges. The speeches have a strange sameness about them, irrespective of the side from which they come.

Evidently the whole strategy on both sides rests on the belief that the people can be influenced in their votes primarily by emotional appeals and that they do not care to delve into the pros and cons and the basic facts of controversial questions.

Perhaps one of the most surprising tactics is the introduction of campaign trips by the wives of the candidates. Presumably this is done to draw crowds and to appeal to women voters. But it is not a realistic approach. Women often resent the idea that their votes can be won by the utterances of the female members of the family of a presidential or vice presidential nominee. Many women voters, in campaign after campaign, have used their own intuition about candidates without being swayed by the speeches.

Another phase of the campaign that is disquieting is the emphasis being placed on fear of war. The argument has been made that one of the candidates is "irresponsible" or "reckless," and that the choice of a President should be on the basis of whose finger would be "on the trigger"—as if the problem of war or peace can be simplified in that way. The Johnson campaign, of course, is supposed to have won a good many converts because of the charge that the Republican nominee would get the country into a nuclear war. This report has been spread so widely that the Republicans are well aware of the inroads it has made.

What isn't realized perhaps is the danger resulting from the image given to the Soviet Union and to the world in general that the United States is willing to accept "peace at any price." This in itself could cause a misunderstanding on the part of the Communists and lead them to take bold steps in Berlin or Western Europe in the belief that the United States would not resist. Thus, in the end, a war could be forced because of a miscalculation growing out of the issues emphasized in the 1964 presidential campaign in this country.

Perhaps no campaign in the last half-century has been full of such demagoguery as is manifest today. The mystery is why the top men in the higher echelons in the camps of both Sen. Goldwater and President Johnson have allowed the candidates to become involved in this type of political battle. It can only be inferred that these strategists think, as the late Vice President Curtis once said in a campaign speech, "The people are too damn dumb to understand."

Both Parties to Stand Poll Watch for Voting Frauds

I, P-T Political Editor

IF YOU'RE DEAD, it's quite illegal for you to vote. And just as ghoulish and illegal is borrowing the good name of the deceased to cast a ballot.

On Nov. 3 when the precincts are filled with fresh, clean ballots and dirty suspicion, somebody's bound to say, "Aha!" Then there's going to be a nasty scene with name-calling and oath-taking. It's a game called "Challenge."

HOUSER

Goldwater Republicans have formalized their version of the game into an "Operation Eagle Eye." Democrats say they'll have counterparts and both parties will have attorneys to help protect against hanky-panky.

The 1963 State Legislature changed challenge procedure because of some overzealous poll watching in recent elections. Certain challengers were challenging every voter who entered polling places in an area of Mexican-Americans. It amounted to harrassment and the practice apparently kept the more timid voters from voting.

New law prohibits direct challenges. The challenging party must submit his challenge to a member of the election board at the polling place and the board member makes the challenge. Poll watchers have the right to observe, but they can't harrass.

VOTING THE DEAD is virtually impossible, according to County Registrar Ben Hite and Assistant Registrar James Allison. In the first place, the Registrar is regularly provided with city and county obituary lists and removes names of the deceased from registration rolls. In the second place, signatures of the voter are compared with the original signature on his affidavit of registration.

This latter practice also should prevent voting by a person posing as someone else.

Main grounds for challenge are that the voter: is not the person whose name appears on the register; has not lived in the state one year; is not a naturalized citizen for 90 days before the election; has not lived in the county for 90 days or the precinct for 54 days; has already voted once; has been convicted of an infamous crime or of embezzlement or misappropriation of public money.

Most of these matters may be disposed of by a simple oath administered by a precinct board member to the challenged voter.

IF BOARD MEMBERS decide that there is a concerted effort being made by poll watchers to harrass voters of the opposite party they may simply refuse to make the challenge asked for.

What about going back to your old precinct polling place if you have recently moved? If you moved out of your precinct before last Sep. 10, you may not go back to your old voting place. You should have re-registered in your new precinct before the Sept. 10 deadline.

However, if you moved from your precinct after Sept. 10, you may go back to the old precinct to cast your ballot.

At the Nov. 3 election you are entitled to vote—if otherwise qualified—without regard to the name of your political party and even if you omitted or declined to state your party preference on your registration.

Penal provisions are on the law books for forging returns, tampering with ballots, altering returns, fraudulent voting or attempted fraudulent voting (one to two years), and intimidating or influencing voters, among other offenses.

For and Against Proposition 15

EDITOR:

It is too bad that it is California which will face the shame of being the first state to have an anti-American-way proposition on its ballot. If Californians would take the time to investigate Proposition 15 more closely they would find out several items of interest. First of all, if passed it would legally ban a form of our precious free enterprise system. Secondly, the initiative is not sponsored by regular television, but by the large theatre interests. Pay-TV would not replace regular-TV but supplement it with shows of special interest. Every true American in California must vote NO on 15. They must protect their rights of free choice.

G. FRANKLIN NELSON
6868 White Ave.

AFTER reading your editorial on Pay TV, I was led to surmise that you might have "a piece of the action," as the saying goes. Subscription television, if for no other reason, than it is not to be controlled by the FCC, should be voted against. You say there will be more people working as a result of pay TV, yet not more than two weeks ago in your newspaper I read an article where 173 people were out of jobs due to subscription television. Those with money keep making money with their schemes to take over those privileges we now enjoy for free.

MARJORIE NYHAGEN
3452 Snowden Ave.

MANY voters appear to be confused about the merits of Proposition 15, the television measure. They have been subjected to a great blast of misleading and completely false propaganda urging them to vote for it. Who are the people sponsoring Proposition 15? Who are those so afraid of pay TV that they have spent a fortune trying to brainwash and panic the public into believing that pay TV will drive out "free" TV? The brainwashers are the theatre owners and the big TV networks. They are desperately fearful of pay TV because pay TV will be so good that people will not buy high-priced theatre tickets when for a smaller charge they can stay home and watch a really fine TV program. The networks are afraid that their advertising profits will suffer if people prefer to watch an excellent non-commercial TV program, instead of a mediocre one sponsored by some advertiser.

Pay TV will not abolish "free" TV; anyone who wishes may continue to watch the "free" programs. No one will have to subscribe to pay TV, unless he wishes to avail himself of the opportunity. But Proposition 15 would certainly take away everyone's freedom to choose between a "free" program or a pay program.

Pine Ave. Called Panhandle Alley

EDITOR:

Question: Should we change the name of Pine Avenue to Panhandlers Alley? You can't come downtown shopping anymore without some crackpots shoving either religious or political pamphlets in your face. You stop for a moment to window shop and either a pickpocket, panhandler or what have you, will approach and insult you.

No wonder nobody wants to work when you can make a better living on Pine Avenue; whether it's for charity or booze dough.

That New Model?

DREW PEARSON

Girls, Booze in Background of Hoffa Trial

WASHINGTON—Some new angles have developed in the Justice Department's trial of Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa.

This column has recently reported the attempts of certain congressmen, notably Mike Feighan, the Cleveland Democrat who received substantial renomination support from the Teamsters, to get a resolution passed by the House Judiciary Committee to investigate Bobby Kennedy for his conduct of the Hoffa trial.

PEARSON

A substantial number of congressmen were opposed to the resolution on the grounds that matters still before the courts should not be investigated by Congress. They argued that if a labor union or business group or any powerful individual could get Congress to pressure the courts and the Justice Department while a matter was still in litigation, it upset the even-handed balance of justice.

Those who have read this column know that I agree with this. However, evidence has now turned up indicating that the hands of justice were weighted by the Justice Department. I have been a strong critic of Jimmy Hoffa's in the past, but it's only fair to give the facts regarding the Justice Department's operation.

The evidence shows that Bobby Kennedy, when attorney general, deliberately planted a story with Life Magazine regarding Hoffa timed to break before his trial in Nashville.

It also shows that at the subsequent trial in Chattanooga for jury tampering, the Justice Department surrounded the jurors with a group of rowdy U. S. Marshals who indulged in heavy drinking and made the floor of the hotel where they were locked up a virtual night-club. Various bell-hops and elevator operators at the house, where the jury stayed, testify to this.

* * * *

JOHNNIE BROWN, an elevator operator at the hotel, states under oath: "During the time that the Hoffa jury stayed at the hotel I was on duty between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. operating the elevator. During this time I carried the jury up many times. I remember one particular night the bellboy sent a large tray of glasses, set-ups and ice which I delivered to the tenth floor. On several occasions I could hear the jury having a gay time and they were out in the halls where I could hear and see them."

Ezell Ervone, a porter at the hotel, also states under oath: "On one occasion I received a call from a marshal and he wanted me to get a girl for him. I finally called a girl and got him a room on the third floor. This was Room 352 and was a sample room. I let the marshal and the girl use the room.

"On another occasion I recall that one of the marshals ordered a pint of Old Hickory whiskey which I delivered to the tenth floor. Almost every night I would take up chasers, ice, glasses and things for mixing drinks."

Another bellman at the hotel, Virgil Culpepper, has made this statement: "On several occasions I had the pleasure of carrying the jury up to the tenth floor which was reserved for the jury and the marshals.

"On about three or four occasions I remember the name of Mr. Hoffa being mentioned . . .

"On several occasions when I was on duty I know there was considerable whiskey taken up by the service elevator."

THE MOST interesting affidavit comes from Treyce Dean, a girl who met some of the U. S. Marshals at a dance at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club. She formed a friendship which continued over a period of time and went out frequently with the marshals.

"Following the VFW party several marshals and another girl and I were taken to the tenth floor of the hotel. There was plenty of intoxicating beverages for everyone to drink, and the hall was full of 7-Up and other chaser bottles. When we got off the elevator we turned left and walked into a room where there was a lot of radio equipment and a man sitting there with earphones on, and he was introduced as 'The Bug.'"

It was reported that the phones of Hoffa's attorney were tapped at Chattanooga.

Practical Political Scientist Reviews How System Works

(Capt. R. F. Rife, Master Mariner (ret), is former field representative to 32nd District Congressman Craig Hosmer. Rife, long a student of American politics, in this article provides a non-partisan, ABC review of the world's most fascinating political system.)

CAPT. R. F. RIFE
Ex-Hosmer Aide

AS THE GREAT American political show of 1964 has unfolded people around the globe have watched with amazement and puzzlement the workings of a most complicated system.

Sometimes the amazed and the puzzled are Americans, themselves.

Perhaps a brief review of the salient features of this system are in order.

Let's talk about political parties.

The U. S. Constitution does not provide for political parties. President Washington opposed the idea because he believed they would lead to corruption and oppression. But during his term of office, the realities of life led to the development of the party system. The system has survived a number of parties.

During our history numerous parties have sprung up, for various reasons. A handful of minor parties exist today. Most parties have dissolved or merged into other parties.

Since our Civil War the Democratic and Republican parties have dominated the scene. Neither party always controls both executive and legislative branches at the same time. In its curious wisdom, the electorate will on occasions instill one party in the executive position and at the same time give the other party a majority in the legislative branch.

* * * *

EACH PARTY holds a quadrennial national convention, during which the party's presidential and vice presidential candidates are selected. Each party says its presidential ticket will win the election, but the voters of the nation are the final judges by electing the presidential ticket of one or the other of the tickets — not both. Even the losing side can be thankful for the settlement to last four years while they lick their wounds and regain strength.

The parties at their national conventions adopt platforms upon which their candidates are supposed to run. The presidential candidate, in his acceptance of nomination speech at the convention usually says in essence, "I accept your nomination and your platform."

Then he goes to the campaign trail and says what he thinks will get him elected.

The platform committee thinks all candidates for all seats in the Congress ought to support the platform and national ticket. But for a number of good reasons, many give lip service only.

ate. Each congressional district within each state selects and elects its own members to the House of Representatives in Congress. Thus they are local candidates answering to their own local constituents.

The platform of a senatorial candidate must be tailored to the complexion of his own state first and with due regard to the national platform.

The platform of a candidate for the House of Representatives must be tailored to the complexion of his own local district primarily, and secondarily to the national platform of his party and its national ticket, because his success depends upon the favor of his own district only, while the national administration's success depends upon the favor of the entire population of the country.

A new candidate can attack the incumbent's record. The new man has no record to be attacked.

He can make "way out promises" with the sincerity of inexperience.

Good looks help with the ladies.

He can try riding the coattails of his national ticket.

He can try to get attention by challenging the incumbent to debates.

He is at a disadvantage in raising funds.

An incumbent Representative running for re-election must of course, run on his own record in office.

In planning his campaign he must consider: His opponent's strong and weak points; the voter registration ratio between the parties; the overall character of his district; the employment and business conditions, local and national; which party holds the Presidency; state of affairs local and national and foreign; impact of Presidential and other campaigns on public; financial support required in campaign.

* * * *

IS OUR government worth all this fuss?

It is a great deal of fuss and expense. But the great strength of our government lies in the confidence of the people that, if the winners get arrogant and corrupt, they can throw the "bad guys" out and put the "good guys" in.

Twain School Has 24 Twins, Three Triplets

By EARL GRISWOLD

Twins aren't a problem at Twain school in Lakewood Village.

For never the twins shall meet at Twain—at least not in classrooms at the elementary school.

And that's a boon for teachers. For there are 24 twins at Twain. There's also a set of triplets.

"Twins are never put together in the same classroom," explains Principal Joseph Butler.

"It's school district policy, and it's good sense. At home, twins have each other for playmates and form strong bonds. At school they're separated, reducing feelings of academic competition. It allows each child to develop his own individual abilities. In the same class, one twin can easily become dependent on the other."

* * * *

THE TRIPLETS at Twain, 10-year-old Brad, Dean and Stephen Upton, come home with three different stories of their daily classroom experiences to tell their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Upton of 4915 Hersholt Ave., Lakewood.

Some of the twins, like first graders Patricia and Victoria James, are identical twins and could fool any teacher who had them in the same classroom.

Another set of first graders, however, never could fool any teacher on their identities. They're Michael and Michele Patton, twin brother and sister.

There's only one set of twin kindergarteners at Twain: Shawna and Shelly Skeen, who aren't identical but look alike as peas in a pod when you see them the first time with the same hair styles and in identical dresses.

TRIPLETS, (top to bottom) are Dean, Brad, and Stephen Upton, the only such set of three in the Lakewood Mark Twain School. The triplets are in separate classes during the week, but play football together on weekends.

Of the 12 sets of twins at Twain, four are brother-sister twins, four are sisters and four are brothers.

The second and sixth grades are the only ones without a set of twins.

In grades 3 through 5 there are nine sets of twins who respond in separate classrooms when the roll is called each day:

Barry and Brain Alboltin, David and Michael Bissell, Mike and Pat Gomez, Mark and Robert Schindler, Donna and Doris Lawson, Maureen and Kathleen Oliver, Gail and Dale Finks, Chris and Nancy Lewis, and Jan and Jon Sunofsky.

* * * *

MOTHERS and fathers of the twins seem to go along wholeheartedly with the school's separation policy.

Mrs. William S. Skeen of 4450 Greenbrier Road, mother of kindergarteners Shawna and Sheely, says she is in complete agreement.

"Both Shawna and Shelly are extroverted and friendly, and don't rely on each other," she said. "But they could become dependent on each other if they were in the classroom."

One mother says her twin daughters are quite different. One girl wants to be a singer, one a dancer. One likes peas, the other likes carrots.

But they share one identical ambition: each has picked out the same boy she wants to grow up and marry.

BUILDING-CODE CHANGES

11 Earthquake Safeguards Urged

By GEORGE WEEKS

Eleven amendments to safeguard Southern California buildings against earthquakes are proposed in a report just issued by a committee of five structural experts who inspected the Alaskan damage shortly after the quake there last March 27.

Committee members recommend that the changes be made a part of the Uniform Building Code, now in effect in most cities of this area.

Because the amendments will not be considered until next year by the International Conference of Building Officials, sponsor of the uniform code, Long Beach building officials will submit them to the City Council earlier for incorporation in the Municipal Code.

* * * *

THE LONG BEACH ordinance generally follows the uniform code but is not identical with it.

Most of the amendments are technical and detailed. These relate to structural materials and construction methods, correcting deficiencies found in the Alaskan ruins. Some would strengthen prefabricated and lift-slab construction standards.

Item 1, however, would require in future apartment, commercial and public buildings a standby approved emergency lighting system that would function when other power sources are interrupted.

Another on the nontechnical side would require the placing of three recording accelerographs in future buildings over six stories high with an aggregate area of more than 60,000 square feet and in all buildings of more than 10 stories.

* * * *

THE ACCELEROGRAPH is an instrument that records the movements of buildings during earthquake and thus serves as a guide to future corrective structural regulations.

Still another change would limit to two feet the maximum spacing of wall steel in certain masonry construction. The Uniform Building Code now allows a four-foot spacing, although the Long Beach ordinance provides for the two-foot maximum.

One of the committee members signing the report is Edward M. O'Connor, Long Beach city superintendent of building. Others are Vincent Bush of Vernon, Max Strauss of Beverly Hills, William Trude of Santa Monica and Walter Brugger of Los Angeles. All are also municipal building officials.

Big Cities' School Chiefs Will Confer

School superintendents of the largest cities in the United States and Canada will wrestle with educational problems in a four-day Long Beach meeting which starts Wednesday.

Francis Keppel, U.S. commissioner of education, will be a guest at the semi-annual session of the Superintendents of Large Cities of the United States and Canada.

The organization is composed of school superintendents of cities over 300,000 population.

Among superintendents here for the Lafayette Hotel conference will be those of the three largest cities in the nation.

* * * *

THEY ARE Calvin E. Gross of New York, Benjamin Willis of Chicago and Jack Crowther of Los Angeles.

The conference, consisting of round-table discussions, will be closed to the public. The superintendents will arrive Wednesday afternoon and leave Saturday noon.

The school officials will discuss de facto segregation in school districts and the educational provisions of the federal poverty bill, plus school finance, administration, district organization, instruction and personnel.

* * * *

W. ODIE WRIGHT, superintendent of the Long Beach Unified School District, will welcome the superintendents at a Thursday luncheon. They will tour Long Beach school facilities in the afternoon.

Among officials present will be Dr. Kenneth Oberholtzer, former Long Beach superintendent who now holds the same post in Denver.

ALAMITOS BAY YACHT CLUB

C. R. Conn Installed New Commodore

C. Roy Conn was installed commodore of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club Saturday night at the club's 38th annual dinner and trophy presentation at its new clubhouse, 7201 E. Ocean Blvd.

Other officers inducted were Llewellyn Bixby IV, vice commodore; Edgar H. Kimball Jr., rear commodore; Gerald Desmond, junior rear commodore; Ralph E. Lautmann, secretary; Raymond W. Klein, treasurer; Bernard W. Fowle, port captain; and Dr. Arthur Beland, fleet surgeon.

The new commodore and Mrs. Conn, who live at 5464 Oleta St., Park Estates, are parents of three sons, all active in sailboat racing; Eric, 19, Tracy, 17, and Bruce, 11.

Eric is a former commodore of Leeway Sailing Club and Tracy was first commodore of Junior Leeway club.

Outgoing commodore John M. Davis presided, and Richard L. Russell, a past commodore, served as master of ceremonies. Perpetual trophies were awarded by Stephen B. Mulhollen.

Special service awards were made to Thomas F. Knight Jr., chairman of arrangements for the Olympic sailing trials hosted by ABYC in July and August, and to his chairmen, Albert Vignolo Jr., for the Dragon class, and Richard Russell for the Finn class.

Serving on the board of directors this year in addition to Conn, Bixby, Jensen and Davis will be Theodore C. Matson, Sidney T. Exley Jr. and George Lounsberry.

IT MAY NOT BE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL BED IN THE WORLD, BUT IT SURE WORKS.

This Abbey Rents' hospital bed may not thrill an interior decorator. But it sure does wonders to help a patient at home get well faster. It adjusts to all sorts of different angles and positions to help the patient rest comfortably and speed his recovery. We also have the finest of medically approved wheelchairs, as well as oxygen units, walkers, patient lifts, traction and fracture equipment, and dozens of other professional items.

The rates are quite low and, if you wish, you have the option of buying the equipment at special sale prices. We deliver anywhere at any time of day or night. We hope you never need any of our sickroom equipment, but if you do, you know who to call—us.

Who helps patients get well faster? You and Abbey Rents, of course!

Deadlines for Yule Mailing

The Long Beach post office has issued a timetable of deadlines for mailing Christmas parcels to foreign countries.

To insure arrival of packages by Christmas, officials said, persons sending packages to civilians by surface mail should observe the following deadlines for mailing to foreign areas:

Far East, Oct. 15; Near East and Africa, Nov. 1; Europe, Nov. 10, and South and Central America, Nov. 10.

* * * *

AIR-MAIL deadlines are Dec. 10 for all areas except Europe, where the deadline is Dec. 15. Items to all areas sent through military mail should be sent by Nov. 10 for surface delivery and Dec. 10 for air mail.

Salinger, Hosmer Due at Air Show

Displays of aerospace quipment and historic and modern aircraft will highlight the 25th annual "Wings Over the World" air show to be presented Oct. 24-25 by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Displays will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. There will be programs at 1:30 p.m.

Rep. Craig Hosmer will speak Oct. 24. Sen. Pierre Salinger will be the speaker Oct. 25.

George Murphy, Republican senatorial candidate, will address the Mayor's Banquet Oct. 24 at the Edgewater Inn Hotel.

DUANE ROWENHORST
Died After Run

Rowenhorst Rites Slated for Monday

Funeral service for Duane Rowenhorst, 17, who died Friday after collapsing Tuesday as he finished a cross-country run, will be Monday at 10 a.m. in Parkview Reformed Church.

The Santa Ana High School athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rowenhorst of 1001 E. Santa Clara Ave., Santa Ana, was president of the church's Christian Endeavor Union.

The Rev. Jay R. Weener, pastor of the church, will officiate at the rite. Burial will be in Fairhaven Cemetery.

* * * *

ROWENHORST and other cross-country runners were on a conditioning exercise when he collapsed, regained his feet and ran ahead, only to collapse again.

An autopsy was conducted late Friday by Dr. Walter Fischer, but findings were put under study. Reportedly, the postmortem showed that Duane's overexertion brought on a collapse. After he was taken to a hospital, he responded to treatment, but complained of a severe headache and lapsed into a coma Thursday night.

Hard of Hearing?

It is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, we have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else. Many who have tried this new and proven method are overjoyed. Just like magic in certain cases, they are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple and painless, and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition, a special treatment is given. If the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given.

If you have a hearing loss no matter how slight or how bad, it may be helped. Why not find out?

We are one of the busiest offices in Southern California, so if we cannot help you, be assured that we will not take your case.

The total charge is $3.00 for the first treatment and the examination. And if you see no improvement from the first treatment, you are under no obligation to return. Assure your appointment by calling 591-1305, 3067 Atlantic Ave., L.B. Dr. H. L. Hutchings, D.C., director.

Newspapers make a BIG DIFFERENCE in people's lives . . . every day

When strife erupts in some far-off trouble spot, or death strikes — caused by nature's ravages or by man's hand, or a close friend's oldest daughter is married . . . you want and deserve to know the complete story. Flash facts are not enough. Your newspaper assumes the important responsibility of meeting that need. This is a job done by men and women who have the experience and the know-how needed to report and edit the news, to produce and distribute an informative, entertaining and all-new product each day—your newspaper. Because your newspaper brings you and other readers "far, far more," it makes a BIG DIFFERENCE in people's lives—in your life—every day.

TV SHOWS MAKE MOVIES

Movie of 'Burke's Law'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A few years ago, a television star couldn't get himself arrested around a movie studio, says Gene Burke's Law Barry. "It's different now," says Barry.

He cites the current success of the movie version of "McHale's Navy," a movie made with the same cast and format as the weekly television series.

"Everybody predicted it would fall flat on its face. It's one of the big money-makers at Universal. It proves that people will pay to see someone they see free weekly. Just give them entertainment.

"We're going to make a movie out of 'Burke's Law.' We've had thousands of letters from men, saying they want to see all these beautiful girls on our show in color and wide screen."

Rossmoor Sets Spain Travel Film

"Fabulous Spain," newest of the Burton Holmes travel films, will play at the Rossmoor Theater Oct. 20 and 21.

Academy Award winning photographer Andre de la Varre filmed the color picture last summer. Robert Mallett narrates film, based on a more than 15,000 mile trip to obtain footage.

TEAMED AS HUSBAND and wife in Universal's "Send Me No Flowers" are Doris Day and Rock Hudson. Co-starring are Tony Randall, Clint Walker.

FILM PREVIEWS

Trio of New Films Due

Fred MacMurray and Polly Bergen in "Kisses for My President;" Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall in "Send Me No Flowers," and Glenn Ford, Nancy Kwan and Rod Taylor in "Fate is the Hunter" are new films opening Wednesday in Long Beach theaters.

"Kisses for My President" is the story of what might happen, according to Warner Bros., if a woman (Polly Bergen) were to be elected President of the United States.

Her husband is played by MacMurray, a bit unhappy at being "The First Man." Others in the cast are Arlene Dahl, Edward Andrews and Eli Wallach.

Everything turns out fine for MacMurray, because Madame President resigns when she finds she is going to become a mother.

ROCK HUDSON and Doris Day team with Tony Randall in the comedy "Send Me No Flowers"—the story of a hypochondriac who overhears a doctor discussing a terminal case and believes the victim is himself.

Hudson plays the hypochondriac and Doris Day his wife. Hudson goes about setting his house in order so that everything will go smoothly for Doris after he is gone—even to picking out his successor.

Randall is Hudson's pal and advisor and Clint Walker is the man picked as the husband to succeed Hudson. It's based on the Broadway play by Norman Barasch and Carroll Moore.

AS A HELPFUL MATE, Fred MacMurray passes telephones to Polly Bergen who plays the first lady President of the U. S. in "Kisses for My President."

"FATE IS The Hunter," is a mystery drama built around baffling circumstances surrounding a tragic airplane crash.

Glenn Ford plays the man ordered to investigate the causes of the jet airliner disaster, of which the only survivor is the plane's stewardess, Suzanne Pleshette. Rod Taylor is the pilot and Nancy Kwan his wife.

In the cast are Wally Cox, Nehemia Persoff and Mark Stevens. Jan Russell appears in a cameo role as an actress who entertains the troops in World War II.

The script is based on Ernest K. Gann's book of the same name.

Claire Bloom--- Seldom Home

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Get out the atlas . . . we're visiting Claire Bloom.

From her pink house in pleasant, leafy Brooklyn Heights, the British beauty will soon be leaving for Dublin — and Munich and Amsterdam—to star with Richard Burton in "The Spy Who Came Out of the Cold."

"But before I go," she says, "I hope to have a little time in the pink house with Rod" . . . her husband Rod Steiger who's been off in Hollywood filming "The Loved Ones," about the burial business.

"We try to get together whenever we can, but . . .

* * * *

"WE MAKE a point of not seeing each other when we're actually acting," Claire told me the other day at the Americana La Ronde Room when she had come "into town."

"It's too personal. Rod could tell by my mannerisms if I'm nervous and probably make me more nervous. You can hide things from some people but not from your husband."

But there's no reason for not visiting each other without watching some filming . . . and so Rod drove to New Mexico to see her during the filming of "The Outrage."

* * * *

"ROD had lunch with me and then drove off. There was a terrific fog and he heard a terrible explosion. Suddenly a lot of police swarmed around him demanding to know what he was doing there.

"He said, 'I'm Rod Steiger and I'm looking for Pacific Highway 101.' They had just shot off a rocket there and they thought he might have been some kind of spy."

Rod took their daughter, Anna, with him to visit Claire last Christmas while she was on location in the Arizona desert, and it didn't seem to be right to be in the desert at Christmas time.

"So we went up on a mountain — up to Mt. Lemmon—and had our own family Christmas party."

Claire'll probably take Anna with her to Europe to do "The Spy" . . . Rod'll be Heaven knows where. But some time . . . some of these days . . . they'll all be home together . . . in Brooklyn Heights, U.S.A.

It's Character Roles for Ann

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ann Sothern has returned to movies as a character actress whose roles as a shattered woman contrast starkly with the glamorous characters she once played.

For years, on television and in movies, Miss Sothern played beautiful leading women or a semi-dizzy blonde. She had an important movie career until she decided to make a television series.

Miss Sothern made one hit series and followed that up with another show. Both efforts kept her off the movie screens for almost 10 years.

Ann came back to movies last year, playing a dramatic part in "Lady in the Cage." It was a role which was to determine what her possibilities might be for another movie career.

ANN SOTHERN
Plays Anything

* * * *

"I WAS so frightened that the critics wouldn't accept me," said Miss Sothern, exhibiting the concern held by most professionals.

"But it's been unbelievable. I've had outstanding notices."

Since her work in "Cage," Miss Sothern has been offered other roles. She accepted the part of a downbeat, social castaway in "Sylvia" with George Maharis and Carroll Baker.

"It was only on television that I stayed with comedy," said Ann.

* * * *

"I GOT TIRED of the comedy," she said. "An actress needs stimulation if she's going to be an interesting actress.

"When I finished the series in 1961 I went to live in New York with my daughter who was going to college. I studied acting with Stella Adler and it really stimulated me."

The renaissance in Miss Sothern's career is similar to that of Bette Davis, Olivia DeHavilland and Joan Crawford. All of them are film-land veterans who have watched the emergence of other actresses who took leading lady roles.

Now they're all coming back.

* * * *

"WHEN I WENT to acting school my friends said 'What are you doing, you've been acting for years.' An actress should remain versatile. You can't buy experience."

Despite her past career as a glamorous actress who wouldn't dare show a wrinkle or grey hair on screen, Ann is happy to accept character parts.

"I don't care," she said. "I think it's wonderful. I'll play anything that interests me, old ladies, drunks. If it's a good part I don't care if I'm 80."

I instead of whistles, Ann would prefer professional compliments.

"The greatest compliment somebody can give me is not that 'she's pretty,' Miss Sothern said. "The greatest compliment is, 'She's a great actress.'"

'Heavenly Weekend' Is Way Out There--Minus Fuel

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

If heavenly weekends are any bit as dreary, predictable or "sticky" as John Pimpley's original play which opened at Torrance's Chapel Theater Friday night, then my advice, earth people, is "stay just where you are, live it up and never call the one you love 'a stick.'"

Ray beam scientist Professor Chippin (Dick Miller) — a Galileo with sex-glandular problems—blunders into calling his secretary, Victoria Holley (Jacqueline Smalley) just that—"a stick." This compels playwright Pimpley to "rub them together" (his term, not mine) in some preposterous scientific test. However, before a platonic pregnancy or a countdown could be notched up, a bonfire of a romance was lit.

Don't you know, just like the Boy Scouts accomplish by rubbing two compatible sticks together?

* * * *

UNFORTUNATELY, it takes more than the rubbing of sticks compatible or otherwise, together, to make or light a full-length play. "Heavenly Weekend" lacks sufficient fuel potential to last for more than one act of a sex comedy jamboree.

That act is the third in which Pimpley shows some signs—not overwhelming to be true—of comedy writing talent and know-how.

Scientist Chippin is commissioned by the government too invent a ray beam rendering astronauts temporarily desexed. We have no earthly idea why — except that astronauts seem to go for heavenly weekends.

Anyhow, since his experiments work with rabbits, Tippin decides to test it on humans. A suddenly turned lecherous friend, Maury List (Austin Rheingold) aids him.

Since sex, like charity, begins at home, Chippin starts with his secretary who works in his office-home combo. The secretary symbolically asks for an extra teaspoon of sugar for her coffee—and away they go.

* * * *

PREPARE yourself for a riotous ride to Project Love Doves, barks the play's program synopsis. Well we were prepared — even for Judgment Day — but things never got off the ground. Except the two sequestered lovers who flew the coop — surprised?—by jumping through their bedroom "prison" window and getting married. That was okay, but why come back to bore us with the predictable details — and in front of children?

The teen-agers in this production are so arch — except student-voiced Judy Matte (Beverly Chippin) and Tom Sangil (Bob Hops) — with "my passion-wracked body" that they should all be sentenced to adulthood on weekends — heavenly or earthly — with hard labor.

Truth is, that the middle-aged men in the play are also rather sticky — especially that ray beam nut, Chippin (Dick Miller). They speak of sex as if it was the mustard of life!

LBCC 27-6 Winner Over Bakersfield

By GARY RAUSCH
I. P-T Staff Writer

BAKERSFIELD — Long Beach City College enjoyed its finest hour here in many years Saturday night by grinding out a hard-fought 27-6 victory over what was the nation's No. 1 ranked football team, Bakersfield. A crowd of 18,151 watched the contest.

It was only the Vikings third win in their last seven appearances in this Kern County metropolis of football fanaticism. It also gave them a share of the Metropolitan Conference lead.

In the end, it was Greg Barton's passing, the pass catching of split end Ron Drake, the explosive running of Marv Motley and a staunch defense that made the difference.

Barton, the classy field general from Millikan High, connected on 13 of 23 passes for 90 yards and two touchdowns, both to Drake.

Motley kept the fans on their feet most of the night with his fantastic breakaway running. In 12 carries the former all-CIF flash, and the Vikings top rusher by a wide margin, gobbled up 156 yards, including a spectacular 96-yard sprint for the game's final touchdown.

Leading 14-6, Long Beach's defense came to the fore to halt the surging Cades early in the third quarter, taking the last bit of energy from the once-proud Renegades.

With a first-and-10 on the Vikings 48, Leon Stevens, the 'Gades top running back, cracked over right tackle and was met head on by Don Sam. Stevens coughed up the ball and Jack Harris recovered at the LBCC 49.

ELWOOD Stewart and Motley picked up consecutive first downs with scampers of 11 and 15 yards and Earl McCullouch added five to the Gades' 20. Barton followed with a pass intended for Motley, but Tim Ginn tackled Marv before the ball arrived and Bakersfield was socked for interference on its two.

Three dives gained only one yard, but Pat Cashman leaped over the wedge blocks of center Bill Zings and guards Jack Frost and Fred Convertini to score, making it 21-6, with 3:25 left in the third stanza.

Bakersfield roared back on the passing of Jerry Frith and Milt Jackson and was resting on the Vikings seven early in the fourth period from where the LBCC defense turned in its finest four-down series of the season.

Chuck Merino, Steve Swanson and Tom Ammirato all came in to make crucial tackles and Gary Smith averted a TD by knocking down Frith's fourth-down pass to 6-6 end Dave Wetzell.

On the very next play, from the four, Motley spun off right tackle, shook loose from three Renegades at the 10 and was home free on his 96-yard romp.

Long Beach scored first in the second period when Bar-

AN AZTEC WHO WON'T BE STOPPED
San Diego State's powerful Jim Allison carries Long Beach State defenders along for first down in opening quarter Saturday night. Halfback Bob Maynard (11) rides Allison's back while Dennis Benedetti (34) tries to trip him up. Linebacker Ken Tsurusato (66) moves in from left to help out.

Aztecs Deal L.B. 1st Loss

By AL LARSON

The scouts weren't kidding when they said San Diego State would try to rim Jim Allison down your throat until you cry uncle.

The nation's No. 2 ranked so-called small college power threw Allison, quarterback Rod Dowhower, and everyone else wearing cleats at the 49ers and sent Long Beach spinning out of the unbeaten ranks, 45-8, Saturday night.

With 11,761 looking on at fog-shrouded Veterans Stadium, San Diego moved to the front of the CCAA race with its second conference victory and fourth overall.

* * * *

BRANDISHING a fearsome ground game to go with Dowhower's passing attack, San Diego scored twice in the first period and once in the third. Coach Don Reed's troops never knew what hit them the final 15 minutes as the Aztecs tallied four touchdowns.

Long Beach's ERA suffered something fierce and fumbles set up four scores. Only the first and fifth TDs were bona fide drives.

But the mark of a good team is one that capitalizes on mistakes and the Aztecs are that and more.

Probably the best summation of the night was offered by Reed:

* * * *

"CORYELL substituted all night and never sacrificed a thing. They were just too big, too strong and we made too many errors," the disheartened 49er coach said afterward.

Allison was the roughest customer to handle, ripping off 105 yards on 18 carries, but he had plenty of help.

Running behind a fierce charging line, Dowhower fired two touchdown passes and scored one. Reserve fullback John Butler hit paydirt twice while nine different backs carried the ball.

* * * *

OVERALL, the Aztecs gained 307 rushing and 117 passing for a total offense of 424. They entered the game with the best total in the country—540 per game.

L.B.'s leading ground gainer was Willie Martin who pecked off 75 yards in 13 carries.

Jerry Otterson, who had had only one pass intercepted in three games, saw two thefted by SD's alert defense. One was a crucial steal on the Aztec goal line in the second period.

Les Shy, who scored Long Beach's only TD, gained 40 yards in seven cracks. Dick Degen punched for 37 yards on nine carries while Bob Boozell netted 17 yards on four tries.

FIRST PERIOD

San Diego took the opening kickoff and behind Allison's brute strength, moved 67 yards in 12 plays. Allison bulled over from the 5 to give the Aztecs a 6-0 lead with 6:35 elapsed. A fumble ruined the PAT try.

Late in the period, quarterback Rod Dowhower spotted end Leon Standridge streaking down the middle of the field and lofted a 27-yard TD pass. Standridge made a finger-tip catch with Rudy Duarte and Rudy Perez trying to defend. Allison's slam over tackle for the two-point conversion was stopped short with 14:40 showing on the clock.

SECOND PERIOD

After Les Shy rumbled 28 yards and Bob Boozell added 11, Larry Hilliard took a pass away from Pat Brosnan in the end zone to finish the

Yanks Lead Series on Mantle's HR

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle has broken Babe Ruth's World Series home run record, and even though it came at the conclusion of a 162-game season Ford Frick will put no asterisk behind this mark.

Mantle drove Barney Schultz's first pitch of the ninth inning off the facade of the third deck at Yankee Stadium Saturday to give gutty Jim Bouton a 2-1 victory and the Yankees a 2-1 lead in this best-of-seven fall festival.

For Mantle, playing in his 12th series, it was his 18th home run or one more than achieved by Ruth in his 10 classic appearances.

"Several years from now," said Maintle, "the World Series record will mean a great deal to me. But as I was running around the bases I was only thrilled that we had won the game."

Some 67,101 fans crowded into the storied stadium to watch the 25-year-old Bouton and the 35-year-old former whiz kid, Curt Simmons, match serves on a cold, gray afternoon which was warmed by the radiant pitching duel.

Bouton, mixing a rising fast ball with a tantalizing change-up, allowed only six hits while Simmons, the crafty southpaw who counts 14 years of major league experience, allowed just four before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the ninth when manager Johnny Keane bid for the jackpot.

Bouton, however, let the Cards fall where they may and courageously stifled the third St. Louis threat of the day. Keane was then forced to his bullpen and the 38-year-old Schultz, the Cinderella of the Redbirds' pennant drive, was asked to pitch the ninth.

Simmons threw 111 pitches for no decision. Schultz threw one for the defeat.

"I told Mickey when he went to the bat rack that he was going to hit a home run, and then I stood by the runway ready to race to the clubhouse," said Yogi Berra, the manager.

"I was expecting a knuckle-ball and I got it," said Mantle. "I guess it wasn't a very good one. I knew the ball was out but I was afraid it might blow foul."

The foul wind which blows off Broadway into the eyes of Keane and his Cardinals favors the Yankees at 18-5 to win the series and 7-5 to win today's fourth game which matches Al Downing and Ray Sadecki, winner of the opener.

Downing replaces Whitey Ford, who may be out for the series. The Yankee ace reinjured a late-season heel injury at St. Louis and told Berra to go with Downing. Ford is not even a probable for Monday.

"You've got to feel good after a win like this," said Berra, despite the apparent loss of Ford. "It's the type of win that can do a great deal to establish momentum."

"It doesn't matter how many games you win with homers during the season," said Mantle. "They just can't compare with a World Series homer.

"I had to hit this one," continued Mantle. "If I hadn't, I'd have been wearing the goat horns, for Jimmy (Bouton) should have been in the clubhouse with a 1-0 victory."

It was Mantle's fifth-inning error which provided the Cards with their lone run and set the stage for his final frame dramatics.

By the time Bouton reached the clubhouse he'd long forgotten Mick's miscue.

"This has to be one of my greatest thrills," said Bouton, who has allowed just one earned run in 18 innings of World Series competition.

"When Mantle hit that ball I was delirious," smiled Bouton. "He's the greatest player in either league. Every time he comes to the plate I'm on the edge of my seat. Every time I looked up during the second half of the season he was on base."

GARRETT LEADS PARADE

Trojans Rip Texas A&M, 31-7

By DAVE LEWIS

Rocked back on their heels in the opening seconds of play when an interception led to an Aggie touchdown, the Southern California Trojans came storming back to register a convincing 31-7 victory over Texas A&M Saturday night in the Coliseum before 42,295 fans.

The Trojans recovered quickly from this unexpected "uppercut" and completely dominated the rest of the game in posting their third win in four starts and serving notice they are ready to regain a ranking among the nation's top 10 teams.

Troy quickly discovered the Aggies had a "soft underbelly" and poured a bevy of hard-running backs through gaping holes in the Texans' line to turn the game into a rout.

The brilliant running of Mike Garrett in particular broke the game open for USC. He personally set up Troy's first touchdown as well as Dick Brownell's field goal in the second quarter for a 10-7 halftime lead. Garrett then scored the next two TD's himself in moving for 121 yards on 24 carries.

Other offensive heroes were Craig Fertig, who scored the Trojans' initial touchdown and then hurled some effective passes to John Thomas and Dave Moton as the game progressed; Rod Sherman, who came through with some key runs, and Fred Hill, who drew two pass interference calls . . . the second setting up USC's final touchdown, which was scored with only 1:57 left to play by Ron Heller on a four-yard plunge.

Meanwhile, the Trojans' great defensive unit headed by Long Beach's Mike Giers and Jeff Smith completely stymied the Aggies after their early score following Mike Pitman's 33-yard run to the USC seven after his interception on the second play of the game.

The Texans recorded only one first down the rest of the half and were unable to get out past their own 31 as USC assumed command.

The Aggies made only two more first downs in the third quarter as the Trojans picked up momentum.

In fact, their only "serious threat" came late in the period after getting the ball on USC's 49 after Fertig's punt only carried 14 yards. They were only able to pick up 10 yards to the 39 before being forced to kick.

And with only 39 seconds left, the Aggies got the ball on a fumble at the Trojan 26 . . . but Giers quickly got the ball back on an interception.

The Aggies netted only 37 yards on the ground and 99 more yards with desperate passing in the final minutes against the rugged USC defense.

Next stop for the Trojan express is Columbus next Saturday against the undefeated Buckeyes of Ohio State in the week's national TV game.

Olympic Mark for U.S.

Ilman Swims 100m. in 54.0

TOKYO (UPI)—Gary Ilman, 21-year-old San Jose, Calif., student, bettered the Olympic record for the 100-meter freestyle swim today when he was clocked in 54 seconds flat in winning the first preliminary heat.

John Devitt of Australia set the previous mark of 55.2 during the Rome Olympics in 1960.

A total of 12 events were scheduled on the opening program, but only one gold medal was to be decided — in bantamweight weightlifting, where a Japanese was expeteed to give the host nation a victory that undoubtedly would cause national rejoicing in the host nation.

The powerful United States basketball team, favored to uphold the tradition that no American team ever has lost even a single Olympic basketball game, was scheduled to meet Australia in the last of eight court games today.

The tournament opened with Finland defeating shorter but scrappy South Korea, 80-72.

Patsy Willard of Mesa, Ariz., took the lead after the first round of Olympic women's springboard diving competition.

The 23-year-old Arizona State University student compiled 39.54 points after three required dives.

In the first heat of the first rowing event, the fours with coxswain, a U.S. team finished second behind a German team. Winners only advanced to the final, but the U.S. team would get another chance to qualify for the finals in a "repechage" heat.

Series Heroes New Breed

Most significant thing about this World Series (other than the terrible condition of St. Louis' playing field) has been the prominence of minor league graduates through the first two contests.

Three men, all of whom weren't even in the majors last July, stood out in those initial two games.

In the Cardinals' winning first game, their stars were Mike Shannon and Barney Schultz. At the July All-Star break Shannon and Schultz would have meant nothing more to the fan than a vaudeville team. An Irish-German song-and-dance routine probably would have created less enthusiasm than Barry Goldwater in Johnson City, Texas.

MEL STOTTLEMYRE
A New Breed

However, this was good. It did something for Joe Fan's heart to have such as Shannon and Schultz as World Series heroes. Mantle, Maris, Ford, Flood, the Boyers and most of the others had received their plaudits all season long.

Shannon and Schultz indeed were refreshing. They were the "little guys" who came into their own.

Then, next day, on the heels of Shannon and Schultz came along another "little guy" who was down on the farm last July himself. The name was Mel Stottlemyre and you could have been excused for not recognizing the handle. He was known only in Richmond and Yakima, his current residence.

Mel put on the famed Yankee pin stripes Aug. 11 and notched nine important victories before the regular season concluded.

Subtract those nine victories and you know where the Yankees would be right now — directly in front of their TV sets, watching the White Sox frolic.

THE YANKEES remain the best team in baseball—in my humble estimation—for their uncanny ability to pluck someone like Stottlemyre from their farm basket nearly every season.

Oh, I respect the National League as being superior to the Yankees' circuit, but I still consider the Yanks the best of all when the real racing starts . . . as they say at the horse tracks.

Anyway, back to 22-year-old Stottlemyre, whose complete game victory Thursday was a World Series masterpiece for a rookie.

YANKEE COACH Jim Hegan likens Stottlemyre to Bob Lemon, the Long Beach taxpayer who concocted 20-game triumphs in seven different seasons during his fabled career.

"I caught Lemon at Cleveland . . . but I don't want anyone to say I'm actually comparing Lemon with Stottlemyre," declared Hegan during the regular season. "Mel has a way to go yet to reach Lemon's heights."

Hegan explained:

"I'm saying simply that the sinker Stottlemyre hurls is the same as the one that Lemon had. Stottlemyre throws his sinker ball overhand, just like Lem.

"Now, that IS unusual.

"Most sinker ball pitchers throw the ball sidearm or three-quarters. The ones who throw overhand are rare. Strangely, Mel and Lem throw the same way."

Not so strangely, both are experts at their craft.

MY WORLD SERIES prediction—the Yankees in six—took one reader by surprise. Ted Plonas, 4222 Pixie Ave., Lakewood, had this reaction:

"Shame on you! You double-crossed me by tabbing the Yanks for the flag that they meekly surrendered to the Dodgers last year.

"Since you share my opinion that the National League is the stronger loop, surely you must have realized that any of four teams could have brought glory to the senior circuit.

"You seem to be ignoring the fact that the Cardinals' batting average was nearly 20 points higher than the mighty Yanks. And who was in the tougher league?"

The Cardinals, sir, as mentioned above . . . but I won't change my selection. ((It's still the Yankees and this is being composed BEFORE Saturday's game because of deadline situations.)

IN CONCLUSION, it is a highly refreshing change to have the "S-S-S" men as the early heroic storm-troopers of this World Series.

Baseball needs a new breed . . . and it couldn't arrive at a better time than the World Series!

From Greece to Tokyo...Wow!

Modern Olympics Far Cry From Ancient Spectacle

By JOHN DIXON
I. P-T Staff Writer

TOKYO — By plane, train, boat, bus, automobile, bicycle and foot the great amateur athletes of the world are descending on Tokyo for the Olympic Games.

They will add a new chapter to the record book that had its first entry from the ancient Greeks, was closed by decree of a Roman emperor, and after a lapse of 15 centuries was revived as the inspiration of a Frenchman.

It's a great international spectacle—it ranks right at the top with girl watching, the Japanese say — and the unbelievable Tokyo pedestrian traffic is international in character.

If you're a true track nut, one of those fellows who thinks a tenth of a second is a millennium and a quarter of an inch is as big as Recreation Park, why you never had it so good.

The NBC network (channel 4) has scheduled 19 taped telecasts. They'll be presented each evening, rushed to your screen as fresh as Japanese hostesses in a Ginza bottle parlor.

Class, come to order:

Since the Olympics originated almost 3,000 years ago, there have been a few changes.

The shotput has replaced rock throwing, the runners wear scanties instead of goose bumps, and the 1,800-meter relay is held in place of chariot racing.

Races shorter than 800 meters (twice around the track) are run in lanes. In longer events it is every man for himself, and sometimes there are more elbows flying on a curve than at the roller games.

Weights and measures follow the metric system; meters are a bit longer than yards.

—100 meters is 109.36 yards.

—1,500 meters is 1,640.42 yards—add 17 seconds to determine a comparable time for a mile run.

—5,000 meters is 3 miles, 188 yards.

—110 meter hurdles is 120.30 yards.

—3,000 meter steeplechase is 1 mile, 1,520 yards.

The finish is not the tape, but a white line on the ground. The tape is stretched four feet above the line to assist the board of judges, who will sit in the stands parallel to the finish.

The order of finish is determined by the order in which competitors bodies (torso, not head, arms or feet) reach the line.

The hammer throw, a favorite European event, dates back centuries before the Christian era. When Cuhulian became the first great champion in 5,099 B.C., he threw a rock with wooden handles.

Hal Connolly, the current great thrower, uses a lead head with piano wire handle and a loop at the end for the hands.

At one time there was a craze for a smaller hammer head which would have less resistance. Gold was considered best —a 16-pounder costs $8,960.00, plus price of the piano wire — but there were no buyers.

Stone putting was the favorite sport in early Olympiads. First mention of the sport was at the Tailtin Games in Ireland, 3,370 B.C. Scotland was a prolific nursery of noted stone putters.

In 1860 the shot was ruled spheriscal, 16 pounds in weight and composed of any hard metal. Watch carefully when Dallas Long steps onto the concrete throwing circle. He's so strong that when he squeezes the iron ball it leaves his hand box shaped.

The pole ridden in the vault may be of any material, but all the best navigators use implements composed of fibre glass and rubber bands. A heavy man will weight down a pole so that one end almost touches the other.

In the high hurdles, there are 10 obstacles placed at 10-yard intervals. They are 42 inches high and so designed that a force of eight pounds of foot thrust is required to send one topsy-turvy. A formful hurdler such as Hayes Jones skims so closely he can trim his toenails on the hurdle.

The barriers are 36 inches high in the 400 meter hurdles, and there are 10 to conquer. The strenuous steeplechase presents four 36-inch dilemmas in addition to an ankle straining water jump.

In viewing the Games, television buffs, keep in mind the Olympic creed:

"The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning but taking part. The essential thing in life is not conquering but fighting well."

RANCHO GOLF PRO SHOT

A 62-year-old golf pro was being held Saturday on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder following a shooting of another pro at Rancho Golf Course.

James Grant was accused of shooting Jimmy E. Thompson, 45, after Thompson allegedly fired him during an argument concerning salaries.

Thompson was reported in good condition at Temple Hospital with a .25 caliber bullet wound in the chest.

49ers' march early in the quarter.

LBSC came back again, moving from its own 37 to SD's 33 before running out of downs. Jerry Otterson's fourth down pass to Mike Anderson fell two yards short of the necessary yardage and the visitors took over on their own 33. San Diego failed to threaten during this period.

THIRD PERIOD

San Diego forged ahead 18-0 when Gary Garrison pulled in a 40-yard touchdown pass from Dowhower early in the period. The former Millikan High ace who had caught 22 passes coming into the game pulled this one in on L.B.'s 20 and by cutting back, he simply outran Bob Maynard for his fifth TD of the season. Tony Clark caught Dowhower's PAT pass to make it 20-0.

Long Beach then rose up and smashed 60 yards in 10 plays to become the first team to score on the Aztecs in a second half this year.

Les Shy rammed over left guard from the 6 inch line. Otterson, from the spread formation, passed to fullback Dick Degen for the conversion and L.B. trailed 20-8.

Blades Shade Leafs Again for 2nd Win

6-3 Triumph Sets Up L.A. Skaters for Road Swing

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

The Los Angeles Blades registered a convincing 6-3 victory over Victoria before 6,081 fans at the L.A. Sports Arena Saturday night.

It was the second weekend win over last season's Western Hockey League champions, and from the looks of it the Blades will be tough to handle this year.

Although they started slowly Saturday, the Blades picked up momentum, and by the end they were as smooth as they had been Friday night.

FIRST PERIOD

The Blades started as if they were getting credit for their surplus Friday goals. Neither team threatened seriously in the opening 12 minutes, but the main reason the Blades didn't score was because of their poor shooting rather than Victoria defense.

The first score came shortly after the Blades' unruly defenseman Howie Young was sent to the penalty box for elbowing. A minute and 14 seconds later (at 15:15) the Maple Leafs lit the red light as Milan Marcetta scored from in front of the net.

Evidentally, this jostled the Blades just enough because they stormed back quickly. Leo LeBine bounced the puck off Leaf goalie Al Millar, Norm Johnson took a rapid swing and the count was even 1-1.

SECOND PERIOD

Now this was more like it. Los Angeles rammed home three goals to take a commanding 4-1 edge.

At 4:52 of the stanza LaBine, standing alone about 10 feet from the net, pounced on the loose puck and sailed it past Millar to put the Blades in front.

It stayed that way until midway in the period when penalties cost Victoria two men. That was all the Blades needed. In a span of 41 seconds they added two more goals to just about put the game on ice.

LaBine scored from a scramble in front of the net for the third point, and Young smashed home a sensational 20-footer for the next goal.

THIRD PERIOD

Victoria tried, but the Blades met the challenge.

Marcetta slipped a slapshot past Jack Norris at 3:03 into the period, but the Blades' Lloyd Habbon got back the point 3:18 later on a 15-footer after some tricky maneuvering.

The teams traded points a little later as Larry Keenan scored on a 12-footer from a fast break, and L. A.'s Harold White collected on an eight-footer. The Blades held their own the rest of the way.

Bakersfield came back to cut the margin to 7-6 on 42-yard drive set up on a short (8 yards) punt by Long Beach. Seven plays later, Stevens stormed over from the four. He had carried the final 37 yards. The kick failed.

With 3:23 left in the half, the Vikings boosted the count to 14-6 when Barton and Drake again teamed on a pay-off pitch. This one of eight yards climaxed a 73-yard march highlighted by Stewart's run of 27 yards and a 20-yard Barton to Bob Stiles aerial. Reich again converted.

Stanford Rally Rips Rice

STANFORD (UPI) — Underdog Stanford, making a shambles out of Rice's passing game in the last half, came up with five interceptions to rout the Owls, 34-7, in an intersectional clash Saturday.

Linebacker Jack Chapple provided the tie-breaking touchdown late in the third period when he blocked a pass by Owl quarterback Walt McReynolds, grabbed the ball in the air and thundered 39 yards for the score.

In addition to providing the go-ahead touchdown, the 220-pound Chapple also spent a busy day smashing Rice plays.

The Indians then added two more touchdowns plus a pair of field goals during the wild fourth quarter with intercepted passes setting up every tally.

The snake-bit McReynolds had another pass boomerang on him when Guy Rounsaville picked off one of his tosses from 22 yards out and ran it back for Stanford's fourth touchdown.

Ronnie Waldo, McReynolds' understudy, threw two interceptions himself which paved the way for a 20-yard field goal by Braden Beck and a 10-yard touchdown pass from Terry DeSylvia to John Wilbur.

Beck closed out the Stanford scoring with a 31-yard field goal after Roger Clay had intercepted a pass by McReynolds.

Rice was a two touchdown favorite and entered the contest without having allowed a touchdown in its first two games.

Beavers Shock Huskies

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Specialist Steve Clark booted a 22-yard field goal with five seconds left in the first half and underdog Oregon State made it stand up for a 9-7 Pacific Athletic Conference football victory over Washington's mistake-plagued Huskies Saturday.

Oregon State, playing its first Conference game in six seasons, ran its season record to 3-1 and dealt a crushing blow to Washington's hopes of returning to the Rose Bowl for a second straight year.

Linebacker Dick Ruhl wrecked Washington's last hope with 1:20 to play by intercepting a Washington pass and returning it 23 yards to the Husky 32.

Oregon State tailback Charlie Shaw, who outshone Washington's touted Junior Coffey, scored the Beaver touchdown in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge.

Washington got back into the ball game in the same period on a 38-yard touchdown sprint by halfback Charlie Browning. Ron Medved's conversion put the Huskies ahead 7-6.

The Oregon State touchdown came on a 39-yard drive after halfback Danny Espalin intercepted a Bill Douglas pass.

Man to Man

WYNN — COVELLI

By JERRY WYNN

Out to spear a medal in the Olympics at Tokyo this week is Frank Covelli of Long Beach.

The 27-year-old engineering draftsman at Douglas Aircraft is America's top hope in the javelin, the spear-throwing event which dates back to the caveman and which still can be practiced occasionally on the late, late show.

Covelli attended Wilson High and Arizona State College, but it wasn't until he completed a service hitch that the sturdy bachelor began a romance with the javelin. He has captured the NCAA and AAU championships and first places in the U.S.-Russian meet and Olympic Trials.

Is this your first trip to the Far East, Frank?

"Yes, and I'm really looking forward to it. The Olympics are not only sport, but an education. I know I will enjoy the trip whatever I do in the Games."

You have traveled throughout Europe competing for the U.S. Which is your favorite city?

"Oslo, Norway. It's a great place to compete. The conditions are real good and the people up there are avid track fans. The javelin is one of the most popular events."

Why isn't the javelin more popular in the United States?

"We don't have the facilities and most of our javelin throwers don't get started until college. You need a long, dirt runway to throw properly and very few of our stadiums have them. School officials are afraid of ruining their football fields."

Some school officials have claimed the javelin is too dangerous. Do you agree?

"It can be very dangerous if not policed properly. But it's no different than driving a car. If you don't act intelligently, anything is dangerous."

Why did you choose the javelin over other events?

"I used to high jump and pole vault at Wilson High. But when I tried the javelin, I enjoyed the violent motion of throwing for distance. It's the same kind of feeling you get in bowling when you let loose the ball and watch it strike the pins and see them go flying out of the alley. It is a great feeling."

Were you satisfied with the training program of the U.S. team at Pomona?

"I thought it was real good. You can't ask for a better field event coach than Payton Jordan. He's the best."

How far do you think you will have to throw to win a medal at Tokyo?

"My goal is to hit 275 feet. If I can do it, it will get me in there real well."

Who are the men you will have to beat?

"Sidlo of Poland figures to win with Iusis of Russia very close. Pederson of Finland just set the world record of 300-10¼, but he's not consistent."

What has been your greatest thrill?

"Winning in Germany last year was very satisfying. They were favored and I won with my longest throw, 264-9½. To win a medal in the Olympic would be the greatest thrill."

Long Beach will be rooting for Frank Covelli, its space-age spear-thrower.

Ohio State Surprises Illinois, 26-0

Strategy Switch Spoils Illini's No. 2 Rated Spot

By JERRY WYNN
L. P-T Staff Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Powerful Ohio State crumbled Illinois' Rose Bowl champions, 26-0, before 71-227 disenchanted homecoming fans at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

As improbable as the Beatles switching to butch haircuts, Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes ditched his famed "four yards and a cloud of dust" offense for a razzle-dazzle attack which included 19 passes, spreads, and tackle-eligible pattern.

It left Illinois' No. 2 ranking in a cloud of dust.

The smash victory was the third without defeat for Ohio State, which will play host to USC next Saturday. And John McKay, take note: these Buckeyes are tough and talented.

Ram scouts, who were here to watch four Illinois linemen — Dick Butkus, Archie Sutton, Bill Minor and Gregg Schumacher — left the premises mightily impressed with such Buckeye battlers as Dwight Kelley, Bill Ridder and Jim Davidson.

The Ohio State game plan was to keep the play away from Butkus, the All-America middle linebacker, and Buckeye quarterback Don Unverferth executed it masterfully with passes and rollouts.

In what was supposed to be a collision of Big 10 giants, Ohio State reduced Illinois to pint size. The Buckeyes scored with four minutes gone and controlled the game thereafter. Quick and alert, they intercepted three passes and recovered two fumbles.

OHIO STATE scored on its first play from scrimmage after a pass interception on the Illinois 24. Unverferth, a straight-A pre-medical student, rolled out around end for the touchdown.

The Buckeyes stormed 84 yards in 10 plays to make the score 13-0 in the second quarter. The big play was a 49-yard pass from Unverferth to Bock Stock, Fullback Willard Sander scored on a smash from the 1.

Syracuse Snow Job Buries Bruins, 39-0!

By JEROME HALL
L. P-T Staff Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — In weather better suited for the Winter Olympics, the UCLA Bruins tried to play football here Saturday but were never quite successful.

Snow, sleet, rain, wind and a bulky bunch of fellows in Orange helmets from Syracuse University combined to smack the Bruins with their first loss of the season and tumble them from the ranks of the ranked.

The score was 39-0, which was a lot higher than the temperature.

The frigid elements are not offered as an excuse, merely as an explanation for the total collapse of the team that carried a No. 9 national rating.

But the collapse was complete. The Bruins, who never really threatened to score, rolled up a total of minus four yards on the ground and amassed 45 yards through the air.

UCLA quarterback Larry Zeno, who entered the afternoon as the nation's total offense champion with an average of better than 200 yards per game, made a total of nine yards and threw as many interceptions (two) as completions.

A crowd of about 35,000 that nearly filled ancient Archbold Stadium was fortified with anti-freeze and seemed unbothered by the snow or the temperature which stayed in the 30s all day.

The victory pushed Syracuse into the No. 1 spot on the Eastern snowboard. The Orangemen have a 3-1 record, the loss to Boston College. UCLA, which travels to Notre Dame next weekend, also has a 3-1 record.

"Our defense played a pretty good game," said Bruin coach Bill Barnes, "but our offense was horrible. Syracuse is a fine team. The cold did not affect the game—only our mistakes did. We've got a lot of work to do and not much time to do it in before we go to South Bend."

Syracuse fullback Jim Nance was the day's star. He gained 148 yards in 22 carries. Syracuse sophomore halfback Floyd Little, the new Jim Brown for the Orange, turned in the day's best play, a 90-yard punt runback. QB Walley Mahle ran the team with authority.

UCLA got off to a horrendous start, almost presenting the Orange with a six-point gift on the Bruins' first scrimmage play. The Bruins had a net offense of eight yards for the first quarter, which as it turned out was their best quarter.

That near gift touchdown on the Bruins first play was on a pass into the flat by Zeno, intended for fullback Paul Horgan but directly into the arms of defensive end Herb Stecker who trotted the dozen yards to the end zone, but Stecker himself was guilty of offsides on the play.

Near the end of the first period the Orangemen drove 35 yards in six plays after getting field position when the Bruins were forced to punt from deep ground. Nance got the major gain, a 20-yarder on which he'd have gone all the way for 34 yards if he hadn't slipped in the clear.

The touchdown was scored on a one-foot sneak by Mahle. The conversion snapback was fumbled.

UCLA got a wealth of good breaks through the first half but couldn't make any points out of them. Syracuse, for instance, lost the ball on fumbles four of the first six times it got it, then gave it up on an interception the seventh time.

Syracuse took a 14-0 lead into the warming rooms at intermission when Little came through with his 90-yard punt return.

The Orangemen scored again in the opening seconds of the second half when Zeno, standing on his 25, threw a pass toward the flank that was five yards short of intended receiver Melvin Farr. Unfortunately, linebacker Murray Johnson was standing five yards closer to Zeno than was Farr.

The Syracuse linebacker intercepted the ball on the UCLA 35 and was not touched to the end zone.

The Orange next drove 57 yards in seven plays midway through the third period to make it 26-0. The score came on an 18-yard burst up the middle by Nance.

Fourth-period touchdowns were scored in a snowstorm that made identification a bit uncertain. It was probably Nance who tallied from the two at the end of a 50-yard slush with six minutes remaining.

Then it probably was a defensive halfback named Charley Brown from Massillon, Ohio, who tallied on a 54-yard run with a Steve Sindell pass that floated far off course in the wind.

That made it 39-0 and a long toboggan ride home.

CHICAGO SELLOUT TODAY

Wounded Bears Loom Dangerous for Rams

By JERRY WYNN
L. P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO—By George, it looks like an ambush.

In this city of Robin and the 7 hoods and Kennedy and the 12 coaches, the Rams today are braced for Halas and the 22 henchmen.

For just as a wounded grizzly, Papa Bear George Halas and the Chicago Bears are expected to attack the Rams before a sellout crowd of 48,000 at Wrigley Field.

Uneasy is the head that wears the crown, and it didn't take long for Chicago's 1964 world champions to find this out. In four games, the Bears have been wounded by the Packers, 23-12; butchered by the Colts, 52-0, and salted by the 49ers, 31-21, in between a 34-24 snack over the Vikings.

Instead of champions of the world, they are being lambasted as cheeseburgers of the North Side.

Thus it should be an angry, aroused band of Bears, who will make their home debut today. Ominously (for the Rams) they are 3½-point favorites.

"I feel sorry for the Rams," says Johnny Morris. "They're meeting us on a bad day for them. We have to win this game."

Chicago has virtually the same cast which lost one of 15 games last season, but it had its morale jolted by the deaths of Willie Galimore and John Farrington and its physical stock depleted by a rash of injuries. All the casualties, except for Larry Morris, are healthy today.

Quarterback Bill Wade has the league's two top receivers in Morris (27 catches) and all-pro Mike Ditka (24). Assigned to guard Morris today will be rookie Jerry Richardson, and the last time the Bears' Long Beach flash met up with a rookie (George Rose of Minnesota) he caught 10 passes.

The Rams also feel this is a "must" game. Confident they have the personnel and desire to win, their unspoken concern is for the "funny bounces" which have become traditional against them at Wrigley Field where they have won only once (1959) in 11 years.

Dick Bass returns to the lineup to give the offense a big lift. He will start at fullback with Ben Wilson at halfback and rookie sensation Bill Munson at quarterback.

The Rams will keep a wary eye on an old friend, Jon Arnett, who will be an enemy for the first time.

Browns Surprised by Steelers, 23-7

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Fullback John Henry Johnson blazed over for three touchdowns to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 23-7 upset victory over the Cleveland Browns Saturday night in a National Football League game.

Johnson, 10-year veteran of the NFL, scored on runs of 33, 45 and 5 yards as he slipped out of the grasp of would-be tacklers time after time. He carried the ball 30 times and finished with a total of 200 yards as he set a club rushing record and turned in the best performance by any NFL runner this season.

SOPH PACES 17-10 WIN

Unbeaten Wolverines Rally to Tumble MSU

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore Rick Sygar caught one touchdown pass and threw another Saturday to lead unbeaten Michigan to a 17-10, come - from - behind victory over inter-state rival Michigan State.

The victory, Michigan's first over State under the guidance of coach Bump Elliott, left the fourth-ranked Wolverines with a perfect 3-0 record, while 12th-ranked Michigan State lost its second game in three starts. It was the first Big Ten game for both teams.

State held a 7-3 halftime advantage and early in the final period, Larry Lukasik kicked a 26-yard field goal to give the Spartans a seven-point lead, 10-3. Then, Michigan came to life and pulled the game out to preserve its record and rating.

After the field goal the Wolverines marched 80 yards to score and pull within one point, quarterback Bob Timberlake hit Sygar with a five-yard toss for the six points. Then halfback Mel Anthony tried for the two-point conversion, but was tackled one inch short of the end zone.

After stopping State, Michigan took over on the Spartans' 31, following a punt with 4:13 to play. The Wolverines drove to the 31, then Sygar took a pitchout, raced to his right and heaved a high toss to end John Henderson.

Henderson leaped and caught the ball at the five and carried a defender into the end zone for the game-winning touchdown. Timberlake hit Steve Smith with a two-point conversion pass to give the Wolverines their seven-point victory margin.

The game was played before 78,234 fans a new Spartans Stadium record and marked Elliott's first victory over Duffy Daugherty in six tries.

State trailed in everything on the halftime statistical sheet except the score. A recovered fumble early in the game led to the Spartans' only touchdown.

Aided by Fumbles, Iowa Nips Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—Indiana threw a fourth-period scare at Iowa but fumbles cost the Hoosiers a victory opportunity and the Hawkeyes held on for a 21-20 Big Ten win Saturday.

Indiana was dealt its third straight Conference defeat in frustrating fashion, all too common to Hoosier football fortunes.

The gallant Hoosiers were on the Iowa 10-yard line when the game ended. For Iowa, the victory was its first in Big Ten play after opening the season with wins over Idaho and Washington.

The game was an aerial duel between Iowa's Gary Snook and Indiana's Rich Badar. Snook threw 40 passes, completing 18 for 263 yards.

Two Indiana fumbles nullified Tom Nowatzke's fine running in the first half. Iowa scored twice on Hoosier mistakes.

Purdue Bolts by Badgers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue mixed sharp passing, hard running and a sticky pass defense Saturday for an unexpectedly easy 28-7 football victory over Wisconsin in the Big Ten opener for both teams.

Gordon Teter, 180-pound junior halfback, rammed over two touchdowns on short runs, young quarterback Bob Griese passed seven yards to Bob Hadrick for another and guard Bill Howard wrapped it up on a 23-yard dash with an intercepted pass.

Purdue grabbed three Wisconsin passes in the last quarter as the Badgers realized they had no chance on the ground against the massive Boilermaker defensive platoon.

Wisconsin made only 48 yards net by rushing and had many long losses as end Harold Bell and other Purdue defenders infiltrated the Badgers backfield. Wisconsin sophomore halfback Tom Jankowski's personal statistics were better than his team's, with 54 yards gained in 16 carries.

Purdue ran for 193 yards, with Teter and Randy Minnicar doing most of the damage. Teter gained 99 yards in 20 carries, Minnicar 81 in 13.

NBC's Bid for Jets Turned Down

Those who wondered why NBC officials didn't scream "foul" when CBS purchased the New York Yankees recently, it was because the National Broadcasting Company earlier had made an unsuccessful attempt to buy a professional sports team itself—the New York Jets of the American Football League.

NBC's attempts to buy the Jets reportedly came several months ago prior to the fantastic session during which the three TV networks bid for the rights to the National Football League games this season and next.

NBC ran a poor last in the bidding as CBS edged out ABC with a bid of $28.2 million for two years, netting each of the 14 clubs a fraction over $1 million a season.

A few days later, NBC surprised the sports world by announcing it had given the American Football League $36 million for its TV rights for five years beginning in 1965.

This amounts to $7.2 million per year to the league . . . or $900,000 to each team. The AFL's present contract with ABC produces only around $225,000 annually for the various clubs.

It gave the AFL new life. The league was staggering under $10 million in losses over its first four years.

It also was obvious that it was no spur-of-the-moment move by NBC, but a well-thought-out plan to create its own first-class product as competition among the networks over football air rights became increasingly intense.

And NBC lost no time in revealing plans to enter the player development field by subsidizing AFL clubs.

EVEN THOUGH THE DEAL with the AFL does not start until next September, Carl Lindemann, NBC vice president, reveals "we will make advance payments available to all eight clubs who need it to sign players after the December draft."

Although the sum will be deducted from the first year's payments, it nevertheless gives the AFL needed money in which to bid against the NFL for talent.

Lindemann frankly disclosed that NBC could have acquired the rights to AFL games for "considerably less money, but we wanted to give each team enough money so they could compete dollar for dollar with the NFL."

The bidding is expected to become so fierce between the two leagues that the Canadian League, which in past years has offered some fabulous contracts to U.S. stars, decided in the future to forget about trying to get players from the major schools and concentrate on the small college ranks for their main American imports.

So far, the AFL has been a "nuisance" rather than a dangerous threat to the National League in the talent war. It has "hurt" the older league in only a dozen or so cases. Just a handful of players in the American League could make important contributions to NFL teams.

WITH NBC THROWING its money into the talent war, the December drafts by the two leagues take on added significance.

Dick Butkus, Illinois' great linebacker, generally has been regarded as the most likely man to be the No. 1 pick in the NFL draft. Some sources insist it will be Joe Namath, Alabama quarterback, while a top professional source says it will be Tommy Myers, Northwestern's passing wizard.

They rate among the top five at this stage along with Larry Elkins, Baylor's outstanding pass receiver, and Gale Sayers, Kansas' bruising runner.

No less than 70 of the 280 drafted last December by NFL clubs were "futures" set for delivery in 1965.

Some of the cream of the '64 crop was skimmed off early in this manner . . . like Oregon's brilliant quarterback, Bob Berry, who has led the Webfoots to three straight victories so far this season. He was drafted as a 'future' by Philadelphia and his rights given to Minnesota in a trade.

THE ST. LOUIS CARDINALS picked "futures" on the 3rd, 4th and 6th rounds and came up with three excellent prospects in Rem Prudhomme, LSU's outstanding 236-pound tackle; Charles Brooks, 230-pound Memphis State end, and Jerry Lamb, highly-rated Arkansas back.

The Giants picked up Penn State tackle John Deibert in advance. Dallas tabbed Bob Hayes, the great sprint champion in track as well as a fine football player at Florida A&M. The Chicago Bears got Pat Crain, Clemson's top-rated back, and UCLA tackle Kent Francisco.

The Rams chose nine "futures," including Ken Henson, 6-6, 250-pound TCU center; Herman Johnson, 6-4, 210-pound defensive back from Michigan State, and Bill Dawson, 220-pound end from Florida State.

Texas Flexes Muscles Late for 28-7 Win

DALLAS (UPI)—Fleet Phil Harris and bulldozing Harold Philipp shook national champion Texas out of its fumble-ridden lethargy Saturday to propel the Longhorns to a 28-7 victory over Oklahoma with a patented second-half comeback.

The Longhorns, fought off their feet by a raging Oklahoma defense for almost three quarters, shocked the Sooners with three touchdowns in a 13-minute span late in the third and fourth periods and rang up their 15th consecutive victory and seventh in a row over Oklahoma in the 59-game rivalry that dates back to 1900.

Harris broke open a 7-7 deadlock with a 15-yard broken field scamper after a pass interception. Then Philipp bulled his way 30 yards to set up his own one-yard scoring burst a few minutes later to make it 21-7.

The Texas defense, which featured linebackers Tommy Nobis and Timmy Doerr and tackles Diron Talbert and Clayton Lacy, set the stage for an added touchdown a few minutes later and end Pete Lammons got that one on a 14-yard toss from quarterback Marvin Kristynik.

Okla. State Gambles to Beat Buffs

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) Oklahoma State made a daring gamble pay off and then stopped a last-ditch surge by Colorado to take a hard-fought 14-10 Big Eight Conference victory Saturday.

Sophomore quarterback Hale Irwin had put Colorado ahead for the first time, 10-7, when he burst over from the one-yard line in the third quarter to cap a 57-yard drive. It was at this point that Oklahoma State, its offense sputtering at times, came alive and charged to the winning touchdown.

NAMATH HURT, 21-0

Sub Sparks Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) —Second-string quarterback Steve Sloan, passing and running like a thoroughbred, directed Alabama to a 21-0 victory over North Carolina State Saturday in a battle of unbeatens.

Sloan, called on to replace Joe Namath when the Crimson Tide star twisted his knee in the second quarter, answered the challenge by scoring one touchdown and passing for another.

It was the fourth straight victory for thrid-ranked Alabama and its third straight over North Carolina State.

Namath did not play in the second half, but the Alabama offense didn't need him. Sloan sent a host of hard-running backs through the State line and when resistance stiffened there, he went into the air.

His favorite target, end Tommy Tolleson, caught eight passes, a record for Alabama. The old record of seven was held jointly by Al Lary, Dixie Walker and Butch Wilson.

North Carolina State, stifled by the Alabama defense most of the afternoon, threatened twice. The first thrust ended in a missed field goal and the second was thwarted by a series of penalties.

Defensive halfback Allen Trammell shared the spotlight with Spurriere as he ran a punt back 62 yards for a touchdown, intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble.

Trammell's run put Florida ahead 17-7 in the third period and then Spurrier iced the cake with two touchdown passes in the final period.

Penn State Thwarts Late Army Drive, 6-2

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Penn State marched 62 yards for its only touchdown Saturday, then came up with a tremendous goal line stand in the dying minutes to upset Army, 6-2.

The fired-up Nittany Lions, fater losing their first three games, stopped the Black Knights dead on the Penn State two-yard line with less than two minutes to play.

Four plays later, Penn State punter Frank Hershey allowed himself to be tackled in the end zone, giving the Cadets their only two points, a safety.

The strategy paid off. Hershey kicked off after the safety and guard John Runnells intercepted an army pass on the Penn State 24 as the final gun sounded.

Kentucky No Match for Fla. St., 48-6

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida State University took complete command of fifth-ranked Kentucky Saturday, scored in every quarter and waltzed to a 48-6 victory.

Kentucky averted a shutout in the final 30 seconds when Frank Antonini bulled over from the five and got the first touchdown off Florida State this season.

Steven Teni, Florida State's 6-foot-5 quarterback, passed for two touchdowns to his favorite target, Fred Biletnikoff, and halfback Phil Spooner broke through for two more as FSU made a strong bid for national rankings.

The Wildcats were watching the Tensi-to-Biletnikoff combination, so Tensi frequently threw to Spooner and fullback Lee Narramore.

Kentucky's highly rated halfback, Rodger Bird, rolled up considerable yardage.

Duke Trips Terps, 24-17

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Duke converted a fumble and a pass interception into touchdowns Saturday for a 24-17 victory that just about knocked Maryland out of contention for the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship.

Duke, fought to a standstill in the first half by the surprising Terrapins, had to come from behind, and it was a recovery of a Maryland fumble by third team end Sonny Morris and a pass interception by senior fullback Mike Curtis that set the stage.

Falcons Fall to Irish

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo (UPI) — Fifth-ranked Notre Dame outclassed Air Force, 34-7, Saturday in the first meeting of the two schools before a record crowd of 44,384 in Falcon Stadium.

The Irish, who had already crushed two Big Ten teams, outplayed the Falcons at their specialty—defense.

Notre Dame intercepted three passes and turned them into touchdowns. The Irish's big line, which outweighed the Air Force by 10 pounds a man, also throttled the Falcons' running backs, limiting them to 38 yards on the ground.

The Air Force started as if it were going to pull another of its patented upsets. A Ken Jaggers punt put the Irish into a hole on their 6. Three plays later, Jeff Jarvis picked off a John Huarte pass on the 25 and scored untouched with just under five minutes gone in the first period.

Notre Dame's go-ahead score came with three minutes left when the Irish took the ball on their own 38 after a punt. After 13 plays and an offside penalty which moved the ball to the 1, Huarte faked neatly and sneaked over.

In the third period, Notre Dame scored on a 19-yard Huarte-to-Bill Wolski pass.

For the final touchdown, another errant Murphy pass was intercepted by Nick Rassas. He returned the theft 23 yards to the 8. After a yard loss, Huarte hit Jack Snow from nine yards out.

Huarte ended the game hitting seven out of 15 passes for 93 yards.

Missouri Struggles to Win Over K-St.

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) —The Missouri Tigers, unable to mount a sustained offense against stubborn Kansas State, relied on their defense Saturday to post a 7-0 Big Eight Conference victory over the Wildcats.

Kansas State dominated play in the first half but failed to get a first down and could penetrate no further than its own 39 in the second half.

Missouri took advantage of a muffed punt midway through the first quarter to score its only touchdown.

Halfback Doug Dusenbery, the nation's leading punter with a 47.9-yard average going into the game, bobbled the snap from center on his own 33 and was swarmed under by Tiger linemen.

Johnny Roland sliced off tackle from the one on a fourth down play with 5:03 left in the quarter to give Missouri the touchdown.

Kentucky's Late Surge Nips Boston College, 16-14

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Art Galiffa rallied Tennessee for a 16-14 come-from-behind victory over Boston College Saturday in an intersectional football game.

Midway in the last stanza, Tennessee linebacker Tom Fisher intercepted quarterback Ed Foley's pass on the Bc 22 and dashed in for what proved to be the game-winning TD.

The game was in doubt until the final whistle as Foley riddled Tennessee's secondary with passes. The junior field general from Woburn, Mass., completed 16 of 33 passes for 222 yards.

Sidle Hurt in Auburn Win

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy Sidle, trying to pull Auburn from behind despite the pain of a pulled shoulder muscle, tore the other shoulder loose Saturday but the Tigers went on without him to defeat Chattanooga, 33-12.

It was a costly victory for the fumbling Tigers, whose 20-0 loss to Kentucky last week dropped them from the nation's top 10.

Sidle went out with a dislocated left shoulder and trainer Kenny Howard said he will be laid up for perhaps three weeks.

Sophomore quarterback Joe Campbell and veteran tailback Tucker Frederickson touched off a second-half scoring explosion to lead Auburn to its win.

The Tigers, trailing 6-0 at intermission, tallied three times within six minutes in the third period and added two touchdowns in the final period.

Bouton Regrets Musial's Absence

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK — They asked Saturday's hero, Jim Bouton, if he was sorry Stan Musial wasn't still with the Cardinals.

"I sure am," Bouton said. "Someday my kid is gonna ask me, 'Dad, did you ever pitch against Stan Musial?' and I'll say, 'No, son, I never did.' And he'll say, 'Aaah, ya bum.'"

Bouton revealed that as a youth he was a Giants fan.

"Sal Maglie was my favorite," Bouton said, "I finally got to meet him at a banquet last winter and he looked just like I pictured him. He needed a shave."

* * * *

CARDINALS catcher Tim McCarver finally realized what the series is all about.

"They play this thing for prestige only," moaned McCarver. "You certainly can't come out ahead. I've already spent my share on meals and motel rooms for my relatives."

* * * *

"THE THING I don't like about the World Series," said Yogi Berra, "is that you have to get up too early. During the season I sleep all day."

CARDINALS owner August Busch flew the players' wives to New York and pitcher Bob Gibson warned his teammates:

"Don't get excited, boys, you have to keep your old roomies.. the wives are rooming together."

* * * *

LINDA BIRD Johnson viewed Saturday's game from near the Yankee dugout, Linda Bird is no relation to the Redbirds.

* * * *

JOHNNY Pesky and Bob Turley are among the lobby dwellers looking for jobs. Pesky may be ticketed for the Milwaukee organization while Turley has asked Angel general manager Fred Haney for a position. If he can't land a baseball job, Turley will move his family to Los Angeles this winter and continue working for Continental Bakery Co. Another coaching switch (the I. P-T tabbed the Minnesotta turnover to a T last Sunday) will find Charlie Metro replacing Johnny Cooney on the White Sox' staff.

* * * *

MEL ALLEN, until this year an integral part of the World Series, may not return to the Yankees' mike. They say Joe Garagiola or George Keil are the probable replacements.

* * * *

MICKEY Mantle's teammates will tell you there was only one reason for the Mick's error which led to St. Louis' run Saturday.

"Those crippled legs just wouldn't allow him to bend over in time," confided one Yankee.

* * * *

JIM BOUTON once had an explosive temper and his mates called him: "Bouton, Bouton, the water fountain."

Yanks Lead Series on Mantle's HR

jam, Bouton dispensed the Cards with the bases loaded in the sixth and retired Simmons, Curt Flood and Lou Brock in order after Dal Maxvill doubled to open the seventh. He fanned only two but his brilliant change-up prevented sluggers Bill White and Ken Boyer from taking a toehold.

"It's really a palm ball," said Bouton. "Pete Mikkelson taught it to me about five years ago."

Bouton hasn't pitched in nearly a week and he revealed it took a lot of "mental gymnastics" to prepare himself for this effort.

"We have a one-year-old boy and he'd been sleeping all night up until, you guessed it, last night. He woke up about two and cried so long that I finally put him out in the back yard. It really wasn't that cold out."

Bouton was asked the name of his boy.

"It's Michael George, but I'm thinking of changing it to Mickey George," he laughed.

Mickey Mantle was holding his own baby, the homer ball had bounced off the facade into the Yankee bullpen where it was retrieved by Ford.

"It's a lot nicer holding the ball than the horns," laughed Mantle.

* * * *

TIM MCCARVER ripped a single to right to open the tainted fifth and Mantle allowed the ball to bounce between his legs as the Cards' catcher wheeled into second. Two outs late McCarver had moved to third and Simmons brought him home with a vicious shot which the diving Clete Boyer knocked down but was unable to play.

"I've got no excuse for missing it," said Mantle. "Normally I would have trapped that ball, but with the track team they've got by the time you get on one knee they're on second base."

That tally tied the game, for the Yankees had scored in the second on a single by Elston Howard, a two-out walk to Joe Pepitone and Boyer's double down the leftfield line.

Simmons did not allow another hit until Bobby Richardson singled with one out in the sixth. With two outs, Mantle doubled and Simmons was forced to walk Howard intentionally, filling the bases.

Tom Tresh popped to first baseman Bill White and Simmons retired six more in order before Keane reached his fateful ninth-inning decision.

McCarver again ignited this rally and again a Yankee error was involved. Shortstop Phil Linz allowed McCarver's grounder to bounce through his legs. Mike Shannon's sacrifice moved McCarver to second and after a walk to Carl Warwick, batting for Maxvill, Keane called Simmons back and went for broke with Bob Skinner.

The ex-Pirate flied deep to center as McCarver took third and Bouton then got Flood on a "hold-your-breath" liner to right which Mantle gloved.

"We had a shot at winning it and John (Keane) took it," said Simmons. "That's the way to play this game. Schultz has done a great job for us and Mantle has hit homers off a lot of other guys. Who knows, it might have been me out there serving it up."

"In that situation you have to play to win," said Keane. "I had decided before the inning started that if we got a man in scoring position I'd lift Curt. Bolton pitched a fine game. Simmons pitched a superb one."

It was Schultz who didn't 'knuckle' down.

Schaus Expects Four-Team Race

By DOUG IVES

Can the Lakers rebound from their dreadful third-place finish to a place of eminence in the NBA's Western Division this season?

The answer is a definite yes, according to Fred Schaus, but just like any freeway at five o'clock in the afternoon, there's going to be a traffic jam at the head of the stretch. Only Detroit will lag.

"Baltimore is a young team on the move, St. Louis has been tough for as long is I've been in this league, and, of course, San Francisco is the defending champion," says Schaus. "I know we can challenge, so I guess that makes it pretty tight at the top."

Many others don't share Fred's views that Baltimore can keep pace with the Hawks, Warriors, or Lakers, but the Bullets, bolstered by acquisitions Bailey Howell and Don Ohl from Detroit, can't be overlooked either.

San Francisco's chances of repeating are diminished daily as its big center, Wilt Chamberlain, reclines in a hospital bed with an unknown stomach ailment. He definitely won't be ready for the season opener this week.

* * * *

IF THE Warriors fall behind early, it could leave the Lakers and Hawks in the best position. St. Louis' big problem is that Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan aren't getting any younger.

The "if" for the Lakers is Elgin Baylor. He won't play as much this year, and it will be up to LeRoy Ellis and rookie Cotton Nash to take up the slack. Newcomer Walt Hazzard's ability as a playmaking guard could be vital, too.

The Eastern Division is more predictable where Boston and Cincinnati should battle for top honors. The Celtics retired four veterans, but they're still favored to win their ninth division title and seventh NBA title in a row.

Can the Lakers beat the Celtics? "We'll worry about that bridge if and when we get there," concluded Schaus.

West, Baylor Duo Nets 58, Lakers Romp

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Guard Jerry West scored 31 points and forward Elgin Baylor had 27 to lead the Lakers to a 111-98 victory over the San Francisco Warriors in a National Basketball Association exhibition game Saturday night.

The Lakers led most of the first half and had a narrow 55-54 advantage during intermission. Their big lead came in the third quarter when they outscored the Warriors by 11 points.

Top scorer for San Francisco was center Nate Thurmond, who got 21 points. He led the game in rebounds with 23.

The Lakers hit 43.6% of their tries and the Warriors 36.6. The two teams play another exhibition tonight in Portland.

Junior Football League to Open Season Today

With all four teams having a shot at the championship, the Long Beach Junior Football League begins play today.

Belmont's Bears travel to Lakewood to tangle with the Lakewood Cougars at Lakewood High while the Los Altos Rebels, figured to be much improved, travel to Jordan High for a tussle with the always tough North Long Beach Bulldogs.

Each game will start at 12:30 with the B squad game preceding the A contest.

The season will continue for six more weeks with games each Sunday afternoon.

Top gas eliminator — George Bolthoff (Reseda), 134.80 mph and 8.43 elapsed time.
Top speed—Yeakel Plymouth Special, 200 mph.
Low elapsed time — Frank Cannon (Compton), 8.01.

POLY BACK'S 293 YARDS CITY RECORD

Poly High halfback Al Nichols set a city single-game rushing record Friday night when he galloped through Santa Barbara's defenses for 293 net yards. He carried the ball 21 times, gaining 295 yards, losing 2. He scored three times.

The sensational effort by the 5-11, 170-pound senior eclipsed the old mark of 240 yards by Poly's Joe Pearson against Lakewood in 1961. Willie Brown and Dee Andrews, former Poly stars, had identical best games of 222 yards.

"He was simply fantastic," said Poly coach Al Matz. "They (Santa Barbara) set their defense to stop our outside running game and Al just stayed inside the tackles. I've never seen a boy run any harder."

MANTLE THE DIFFERENCE
Yankees' Mickey Mantle and third base coach Frank Crosetti joyously jog past Cardinal third baseman Ken Boyer after Mantle's ninth-inning home run gave New York 2-1 win Saturday. Mantle's 16th Series homer was record.

Palmer at Peak in World Match Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer bludgeoned old Burma Road — Wentworth's demanding 6,936-yard west course—into abject submission Saturday and marched over it into the final of the first World Match Play golf tournament.

The 35-year-old U.S. Masters champion from Latrobe, Pa., smashed down little Gary Player of South Africa, an old rival, 8 and 6 in their 36-hole semi-final match.

PALMER

England's match play champion, Neil Coles, defeated Bruce Devlin of Australia 2 and 1 in the other semifinal and will meet Palmer today in the 36-hole final for the $14,000 first prize money.

Palmer, playing his first match play tournament since he won the U.S. Amateur championship 10 years ago, was simply unbeatable. He started slowly and was one down after nine holes. Then he fairly exploded and treated the tree-lined par-74 course like a Tom Thumb layout.

He shot the first six holes—2,103 yards of a tree-lined hazardous course, in 19 strokes, five under par.

* * * *

IN BEATING Peter Butler Friday and Player Saturday, Palmer shot 66 holes on the tough Burma Road course 12 under par. Against Player he racked up 10 3s and a 2.

Rookie Pace Retains Lead by One Shot

ROCKLIN, Calif. (UPI) — Roy Pace, the rookie surprise from Longview, Tex., maintained his one-stroke lead in the $25,000 Sunset-Camellia Open Saturday by firing an even-par 71.

That gave the 23-year-old studious-looking mechanical engineer a 209 for 54 holes—four under par.

But he had to scramble to weather a challenge from adopted hometown favorite Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., who also carded an even par 35-36—71 for a three-round total of 210.

* * * *

PACE, who never finished higher than 35th in a PGA tournament and has won only $484.92, was all over the Sunset Oaks Country Club course, parlaying three birdies, a bogey and a double bogey into nines of 34-37.

He hit balls into two traps, a lake and up to one of the Sierra foothills. But he tapped in birdie putts of 20 and 10 feet for his par round.

"My chipping and my putting saved me today," he said.

Third-round leaders:

Roy Pace	69-69-71—209

How NBA Quintets Look

WESTERN DIVISION

LAKERS

Veterans—Center Gene Wiley (4.3); forwards Elgin Baylor (25.4), Rudy LaRusso (12.4), LeRoy Ellis (6.6), Don Nelson (5.2); guards Jerry West (28.7), Dick Barnett (16.4), Jim King (3.9); newcomer—Center Darrall Imhoff (4.3 in 58 games for Detroit).

Rookies—Cotton Nash (Kentucky), John Savage (NC), Texas St. Jerry Groza (Loyola), Walt Hazzard (UCLA).

1963-64 record—42-38, 3rd. Lost 3-2 to St. Louis in playoffs.

Coach—Fred Schaus, 5th year.

Season Outlook—With Baylor given proper rest and assuming injuries don't plague as last year, Lakers should be back on top . . . Wiley has added weight, Ellis has improved at forward and improved his rebound . . . Improvement of King and Hazzard's speed and playmaking complement West's style of play . . . Nash, Hazzard best prospects.

ST. LOUIS HAWKS

Veterans—Center Zelmo Beaty (11.1); forwards Bob Pettit (27.4), Cliff Hagan (18.4), Bill Bridges (3.5), Mike Farmer (5.6); guards Len Wilkens (17.0), John Barnhill (6.4), Charley Vaughn (3.6), Richie Guerin (13.1).

Rookies—Jeff Mullins (Duke), Paul Silas (Creighton), John Tresvant (Seattle).

1963-64 record—46-36, 2nd. Beat Lakers 3-2, lost to San Francisco 4-3 in playoffs.

Coach—Harry Gallatin, 3rd year.

Season Outlook—Pettit and Hagan aren't getting any younger but Beaty, Bridges and Wilkens are better . . . Outside accuracy can do all in backcourt . . . Hawks figure to be better, but won't beat out a healthy Lakers . . . Rookies Silas and Mullins best prospects.

SAN FRANCISCO WARRIORS

Veterans—Center Wilt Chamberlain (36.9), Ken Sears (3.3); forwards Wayne Hightower (12.2), George Lee (3.2), Tom Meschery (13.5), Nate Thurmond (7.8); guards Al Attles (10.5), Guy Rodgers (11.5), Paul Phillips (10.0), Guy Rodgers (11.0).

Rookies—Barry Kramer (NYU), Bud Koper (Oklahoma City), McCoy McLemore (Drake).

1963-64 record—48-32, 1st. Beat St. Louis 4-3, lost to Boston 4-1 in playoffs.

Coach—Alex Hannum, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—With Chamberlain ill and out to slow start. Team has been rebounding in league with Wilt, Thurmond and Hightower, but no scoring punch from outside . . . Rodgers great playmaker but aging . . . Rookies Kramer and Koper outside scoring threats but need year or two to acclimate to NBA.

BALTIMORE BULLETS

Veterans—Center Walt Bellamy (27.0); forwards Gus Johnson (17.3), Barney Cable (3.7), Charlie Hargett (4.4); guards Kevin Loughery (9.1), Sid Green (10.2). Newcomers—Don Ohl (17.3) Bailey Howell (21.6), Bob Ferry (10.6), all acquired from Detroit.

Rookies—Gary Bradds (Ohio State), Les Hunter (Loyola), Wally Jones (Villanova).

1963-64 record—31-49, 4th.

Coach—Buddy Jeannette, 1st year.

Season Outlook—The Bullets will battle the leaders for half the season, then probably fade . . . Talented up front with Bellamy, Johnson and rookies Hunter and Bradds, but hurting in backcourt . . . Ohl good shooter, not quick enough. Acquisition of Howell should shore up front line . . . Definitely most improved club in either division.

DETROIT PISTONS

Veterans—Center Reggie Harding (11.0); forwards Jackie Moreland (9.1), Ray Scott (17.6), Dave DeBusschere (8.8); guards Dennis Butcher (7.2), Bob Duffy (4.8), Eddie Miles (5.4). Newcomers—Terry Dischinger (20.8), Don Kojis (6.3), Rod Thorn (14.5), all acquired from Baltimore; Hub Reed (1.4), acquired from Lakers.

Rookies—Joe Caldwell (Arizona St.), Jim Davis (Colorado), Ray Walford (Toledo), Larry Phillips (Rice), Jerry Jackson (Ohio), Ratoh Telken (Rockhurst, Sr.).

1963-64 record—23-57, 5th.

Coach—Charley Wolf, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Acquisition of Dischinger for Howell is even up swap, so Pistons only gained youth advantage; same with Thorn-for-Ohl trade . . . Still no consistent scorer and rebounder except Ray Scott . . . Added experience of Harding and talent of rookie Caldwell could win Pistons a few more games, but not many more.

EASTERN DIVISION

BOSTON CELTICS

Veterans—Centers Bill Russell (15.0), Bob Nordman (acquired from New York); forwards Willie Naulls (9.8), Tom Heinsohn (16.5), Tom Sanders (11.4); guards Sam Jones (19.4), K. C. Jones (8.2), John Havlicek (19.9), Larry Siegfried (3.3).

BILL RUSSELL
Leads Champion Celtics

Rookies—Wel Counts (Oregon St.), Ron Benham (Cincinnati), John Thompson (Providence), Levern Tart (Bradley), Jeff Blue (Butler), Rich Falk (Northwestern).

1963-64 record—59-21, won division. Beat Cincinnati 4-1 and San Francisco 4-1 for NBA title.

Coach—Red Auerbach, 19th year (15th with Celtics).

Season Outlook—Will be as strong as last year, depending on Havlicek, who had knee operation this summer . . . Lost four veterans, Clyde Lovellette, Frank Ramsey, Jim Loscutoff and John McCarthy, so experience is minor problem . . . good speed, great rebounding with Russell and, as usual, great offensive firepower . . . Counts best-looking prospect.

CINCINNATI ROYALS

Veterans—Center Wayne Embry (17.3); forwards Jack Twyman (17.9), Jerry Lucas (17.7), Jay Arnette (2.8), Tom Hawkins (8.6), Larry Staverman (4.4); guards Arlen Rockhorn (8.3), Oscar Robertson (31.4), Bud Olsen (4.1), Adrian Smith (9.2), Tom Thacker (2.8).

Rookies—George Wilson (Cincinnati), Harold Halyston (NYU), George Kirk (Memphis St.), Bill Chmielewski (Dayton), Jerry Lucas.

1963-64 record—55-25, 2nd. Beat Philadelphia, 3-2, lost to Boston 4-1 in playoffs.

Coach—Jack McMahon, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Royals think they'll be better, but with entire league strengthened, it'll be hard to improve on last year's 55 wins . . . Robertson and Lucas still getting better, if that's possible . . . Ace catching up with Twyman . . . Royals need back-up help for Embry and guard who can both handle ball and shoot to join Robertson. Best prospect is forward George Wilson.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

Veterans—Centers John Kerr (16.8), Connie Dierking (6.5); forwards Lee Shaffer (13.1), Chet Walker (17.3), Bev Warley (3.2), Dave Gambee (11.0); guards Larry Costello (11.8), Al Bianchi (8.0), Hal Greer (23.3), Paul Neumann (11.6).

Rookies—Lucious Jackson (Pan-American), Ira Harge (New Mexico).

1963-64 record—34-46, 3rd place. Lost to Cincinnati 3-2 in playoffs.

Coach—Dolph Schayes, 2nd year.

Season Outlook—Despite rash of injuries last year, team played well and almost upset Cincy in playoffs . . . Club was 25 games out of first, 21 out of second, but will be much closer this time . . . Rookies Jackson and Harge can excell early. Kerr . . . Walker coming into own as top scorer . . . Greer one of top three guards in league, and entire backcourt is talented . . . Front line spotty but has potential.

NEW YORK KNICKS

Veterans—Centers Bill McGill (15.1), Tom Hoover (4.8); forwards Len Chappell (17.1), Bob Boozer (14.9), John Green (14.5), John Rudometkin (7.4), Dave Budd (4.7); guards Johnny Egan (13.0), Art Heyman (15.4), Tom Gola (9.1), Al Butler (8.7).

Rookies—Jim Barnes (Texxas Western), Willis Reed (Grambling), Howard Komives (Bowling Green).

1963-64 record—21-59, 4th.

Coach—Eddie Donovan, 4th year.

Season Outlook—The Knicks never seem to get much better despite always having first choice in draft, and same goes for this year . . . They still need strong center both in scoring and rebounding, more rebounding and speed from forwards, more scoring from backcourt and higher defense . . . Johnny Egan has speed, Gola is a defensive giant and Boozer and Chappell shoot well outside. Reed (6-10) and Barnes (6-8) could solve center woes.

British Amateurs Win World Title as U.S. Routed

ROME (AP) — A quartet of British amateur golfers who wouldn't let themselves be disturbed by a third straight day of driving rains and gusty winds outclassed players from 32 other nations Saturday and won the fourth World Amateur Golf team championship.

The Britons thoroughly outclassed the defending American team, which wound up in fourth place, 13 strokes back, after once having been only one stroke behind Britain.

Min-Nam Hsieh, a 120-pound Chinese airman from Formosa, was the individual low scorer with 294 for 72 holes. He fired a 73 on the final round after two 72s and a 77. Raul Travieso, 24, of Argentina was second with a final 75 for 295.

Active Campaign Against Litter

One club in the Southland is trying to do something to stop the littering of our highways and streets. The Isaac Walton League of San Pedro may not get far with its campaign, but its efforts are worth mentioning. The club is cleaning large grease cans, painting each one green and lettering these words in white: "Litter Can, Every Litter Bit Hurts, San Pedro Izaak Walton League."

The cans are placed in easy-to-see places in gasoline service stations, and the operators of such establishments seem happy to cooperate with the league.

Kenneth Malloy, president of the SPIWL, said that the psychological effect is to make the motorist more conscious about littering and perhaps cause him to put a litter bag in his vehicle.

A recent estimate by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads said that 20 million cubic yards of litter will be dumped on the nation's highways this year. Keep America Beautiful, Inc., translated that into meaningful words, as follows:

"That amount of rubbish, if concentrated, would bury Route 66 from San Francisco to New York (3,000 miles) a foot deep in paper, metal, and plastic wastes. The annual cleanup bill costs the American taxpayers more than $100 million, or about 69 cents per bushel, the same price as oats."

THAT KLAMATH RIVER SALMON run is still the hottest item in the fishing news, with plenty of fish being taken daily from Iron Gate Dam all the way down the river. Bill Bucknam writes that it isn't necessary to battle that crazy line of anglers at the mouth, nor to stand shoulder to shoulder with other fishermen at the mouths of such rivers as Shasta, Scott and Beaver Creek.

"Every hole on the river seems to be a resting place for salmon," he writes. My boys and the Bigfoot Ranch Lodge guide, Bud Clyburn, have been taking plenty of fish from the hole right in front of the ledge."

Steelhead fishing, meanwhile, is picking up along the Upper Klamath. Gil Pipkin, owner of the store at the mouth of the Scott River, reported that he weighed in a 20-pound steelhead last week. That, by far, is the largest reported this season.

Siskiyou County, continuing its program of airport development, has started building a 2,000-foot strip within one mile of Bigfoot Ranch Lodge. It should be in use sometime in November and will handle five-place planes.

That county is trying to build air strips at all available sites where there is sufficient recreation. Airplanes are being used more and more to get sportsmen into the prime fishing and hunting country.

EATON BAILEY, FISHERIES SUPERVISOR for the Department of Fish and Game in the northern part of the state, sends word that salmon are running in the Trinity River all the way to Lewiston. He adds that fish arriving at the Trinity Hatchery are in far better condition than ever before—nice fish with firm flesh. And there are twice as many as there were in 1963.

The Klamath and Trinity king salmon run starts in the summer, with a peak in September or October. The steelhead usually move in behind the salmon, but a DFG authority says, "there are always some salmon and steelhead in the rivers, especially the Klamath."

The Sacramento River also is producing numbers of salmon, particularly around the mouths of the tributaries, such as the American River. Associated Press writer Jerry Harrell says that he went fishing with a friend off the American River mouth last week and his host landed a 20-pounder. Jerry's luck wasn't that good."

Harrell says that old adage of "fish are where you find them" certainly held true for two of his friends fishing the Trinity above Junction City. One went after a steelhead in a riffle with a bucktail fly. The other tried for salmon in a pool below the riffle, using a wobbling lure.

The steelhead angler caught a salmon in the riffle; the salmon fisherman got a steelhead in the pool. Both were nice fish in the four-pound class.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS — The Long Beach Power Squadron is hosting a fall conference at the Edgewater Inn next Saturday, starting at 8 a.m. Sixteen other Southern California U.S. Power Squadrons will take part, and the LBPS has issued a blanket invitation to all California squadrons to attend.

There will be educational seminars throughout the day. Those will provide information on piloting, seamanship, advanced piloting, navigation, marine electronics, engine maintenance, sailing and weather. Appropriate activities have been planned for the wives, says Frank C. Irvine, public relations officer for LBPS.

Those two Fresno hunters who tried to bring 394 doves into California from Arizona Sept. 2 finally forfeited $400 bail each rather than appear in Winterhaven Justice Court. It's too bad that the judge didn't have the opportunity of barring them from any hunting for about 10 years.

Incidentally, 679 persons paid $15,506.80 in fines for fish and game violations in September, with angling without a license (349 cases) leading the list of offenses.

McLaren Wins Pole in Riverside Prix

By JIM McCORMACK

RIVERSIDE — New Zealand's Bruce McLaren combined his knowledge as a driver and automotive engineer Saturday to win the pole position in today's Grand Prix for sports cars at International Raceway.

In his own McLaren Special, the racing veteran ran away with the 20-lap qualifying race, finishing more than half a turn ahead of Walt Hansgen of Bedminster, N.J.

McLaren traveled the 52-mile distance in 30 minutes, 55 seconds for an average speed of 100.196 miles per hour, for better than last year's record-setting 96.192 mph by the late Dave MacDonald.

Results of the race were delayed several hours when the event had to be postponed and rescheduled after Bob Bondurant's Cooper-Ford spun out and dumped oil over the track.

To add to the excitement, a helicopter was brought in to help blow the cement dust, used to soak up the oil, and the Copter crashed.

The pilot, Bill Scott of Montebello, was not injured.

Third position in the big-car race went to Scotland's Jimmy Clark. The defending world champion, Clark rates the favorite's edge in today's 200-mile dash.

In the under-two-liter class, Hugh P. K. Didbley of London came home first in a Brabham BT8. He was timed in 33:27.5 for an average speed of 93.2.

Another of the favorites, Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, failed to qualify after leading the first seven laps. His engine went out and he left the track. He will have an opportunity to qualify today in a consolation dash.

The two top Americans, Houston's A. J. Foyt and Torrance's Parnelli Jones, both finished well and will be near the front for today's race.

Most of the top-name drivers who have traveled from far and wide to race here escaped the jinx which each year has caught at least one or two of them.

The field, which now has 30 of the 40 cars to be raced, stands as the best in the seven-year history of the event. Ten more cars will be added this morning in the 20-lap consolation race.

Narrow Win by 'Skipper in Fast Time

By ERNIE MASON

Clearview Stable's Meadow Skipper flashed his vaunted speed in the featured $7,500 Pasadena Pace at Hollywood Park Saturday and swept home a narrow half-length winner over Pole Adios in the mile and one-sixteenth fixture witnessed by a crowd of 18,611 fans.

A virtual wire-to-wire winner, under the able handling of Earle Avery, Meadow Skipper stopped the electric timer in 2:04⅗, second fastest mile and one-sixteenth in harness racing history and only four-fifths off Adios Butler's 2:03⅖ mark set at Hollywood Park in 1961.

Meadow Skipper, owned by Norman Woolworth, also owns the second fastest one-mile race record in history, a 1:55⅕ effort set last year at Lexington. It is bettered only by Adios Harry's 1:55 mark.

★ ★ ★ ★

CHASING Meadow Skipper and Pole Adios across the finish line in the Pasadena Pace were Star Gem, Mr. Budlong and Andy Adius in that order. Only five horses started.

Going off as a 2-5 favorite, the son of Dale Frost and younger half brother to Countess Adios paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board.

RACING ROUNDUP

Big Wins for Longden, Shoe

Compiled from Wire Reports

Johnny Longden pushed Maker's Mark into command on the far turn Saturday, lost his lead briefly in the stretch but regained the advantage to win the $15,000 San Francisco Handicap of the Tanforan-at-Bay Meadows meeting.

Poona Khan finished second in the field of 10 for the mile and one sixteenth outing and Bell Anick came in third.

Lngden, who claimed his 5,892nd win, also survived a foul claim lodged by Alex Maese, aboard Poona Khan, but the stewards disallowed it after viewing films of the race.

Maker's Mark paid $5.80 with a time 1:43-4/5 in taking the fourth triumph in his last five starts.

Wheatley Stable's Queen Empress stretched her speed over a mile for the first time Saturday and won the $124,375 Frizette Stakes by a length at Aqueduct in New York.

There was a disqualification in the race, but Queen Empress, who seldom charts a straight course in a race, stayed out of trouble. Marshua finished second but was disqualified and placed third, giving the second spot to Money To Burn.

In her last start, Queen Empress, the leading 2-year-old of the year, finished first in the Astarita Stakes but was disqualified.

Willie Shoemaker rode the daughter of Bold Ruler and reserved her off the pace until the field neared the start of the stretch. The jockey then gunned the bay filly to the front and she took command in the straightaway.

The crowd of 40,450 made Queen Empress a strong favorite. She paid $3.80, $2.40 and $2.20.

Money To Burn, an invader from Chicago where she won two stakes, paid $8.30 and $3.70 while Marshua returned $3.10.

Turbo Jet 2nd, an outstanding grass performer in his own right, saved the day for the form players at Atlantic City when he won the $29,450 Boardwalk Handicap by a length and one-half.

Mongo once again failed to display the form which made him the grass champion of 1963 and finished fourth. Mongo now may be withdrawn from racing and sent to stud. He has failed in his last four races.

Howard Grant rode Turbo Jet 2nd and booted him home in 1:44-4/5 to take the winner's purse of $19,142. He paid $3.40, $2.20 and $2.20. Cool Prince returned $3.60 and $2.20 and Indoctrinate paid $2.20.

It was the final day of racing at Atlantic City. The sport resumes in New Jersey on Monday at Garden State Park.

Penance for Pennants...Mets

The limousine to Kennedy Airport passed Shea Stadium and at least one passenger fancied he could hear peals of boyish laughter through an open window. Nobody had to identify the merrymakers. They would be George Weiss and Casey Stengel, fired by the Yankees, Bing Devine and Eddie Stanky, heaved out by the Cardinals.

They are all Mets today, and as a rule life isn't comical to the Mets. But these guys have to be laughing during the World Series.

Weiss and Stengel have been doubled up since Saturday when their Yankee team won its fifth straight pennant. Devine and Stanky have been in stitches since the team they got canned for putting together brought St. Louis its first championship in 18 years.

They are laughing at Dan Topping and Del Webb and, loudest of all, at Gussie Busch.

It's going to get funnier still. It will be downright hilarious this winter when Bing Devine is elected by acclamation as the Major League Executive of the Year. As he must be. The Cardinals, cutting and slashing from 11 games back to win in that frantic four-horse finish, are his handiwork and his alone.

* * * *

WEISS and Stengel were nudged out by the Yankees four years ago because they were too old. For years Weiss had funnelled into Yankee Stadium the finest baseball talent in the world, first as farm director and then as general manager.

Every man on the club was his man, dug up by his scouts and brought along through the minor league system like Mickey Mantle or wheedled away from another big league club as Roger Maris was.

Every man was also Casey Stengel's man, coaxed or bullied, criticized and counselled, until he learned to "execute" according to the maestro's dictates.

Most of those men are still there — Mantle and Maris and Ford and Howard and Richardson and Kubek and Boyer and the others. They hardly ever lost under Weiss and Stengel. They haven't lost at all since Weiss and Stengel departed.

There have been, to be sure, a few changes since Roy Hamey succeeded Weiss and was succeeded by Ralph Houk, since Houk inherited Stengel's job and handed it on to Yogi Berra. Someday, no doubt, it will be the team of Dr. Frank Stanton and William Paley. But not the one that goes into its regular autumn exercises today.

It wasn't age that forced Devine out of St. Louis, unless it was Branch Rickey's age. (The story going around is that Bing was bounced by the ancient mariner who is "special consultant" to Busch.) When Devine announced his "resignation" as vice president and general manager, he said it was on account of Gussie's disappointment with the team.

Devine's stamp is even clearer on the Cardinals than the Weiss-Stengel brand on the Yankees. He was responsible for every soul on the club except Butch Yatkeman, maitre de clubhouse.

Just before the May trading deadline, when the Cardinals were in a slump after a good start, Bing moved with what looked like reckless boldness. With Stan Musial retired, the outfield was in sorry straits, so he let Ernie Broglio, an 18-game winner last year, go to the Cubs for Lou Brock.

It was suspected at the time that Devine was dealing from panic, for Broglio was an established star who had pitched 21 victories in 1960 and Brock had shown only traces of his real potential.

The deal decided the pennant race. Brock batted around .340 after coming to St. Louis and finished second in the league in stolen bases.

This is the deal they're talking about now, but it isn't the only one to Bing's credit. A year earlier he sweet-talked the Pirates out of Dick Groat, the shortstop, who batted .319, led the league in doubles, was second in total hits, ran just behind Sandy Koufax for most-valuable-player distinction and completed a four-man infield that started the All-Star game as a unit.

Evidently Gussie didn't remember, or else he couldn't wait. Now Bing's team has won a pennant for him, but Bing doesn't live here anymore. Gussie's years of disappointment are over, and everybody's laughing.

THE SCORE IS LOVE!

Falcons Take on Undefeated Rhinos

By TOM QUINTANA

First place in the Western Football League race is on the line today when the Long Beach Falcons host undefeated Orange County in a 1:30 encounter at Millikan High.

Winners of their last three games, the Falcons are the hottest team in the league and stand a good chance of upending the Rhinos, who are unscored upon in three league contests.

In league play Orange County has defeated San Diego, 30-0; Costa Mesa, 61-0, and San Pedro, 40-0. The Rhinos defeated Long Beach during the exhibition season, 37-0; Chino, 34-0, and fell to Santa Clara, 21-0.

Last time out the Falcons routed San Pedro, 27-0, having two of their TDs called back and three other scoring opportunities fall short.

The defense squad, headed by linebacker Chuck Hammond, held San Pedro to 59 yards rushing while allowing 58 via the airlanes.

* * * *

FALCON defensive tackle Eugene Avery also stood out as he recovered a blocked Marauder punt in the end zone for a TD.

Halfback Wesley Wade was the leading ground gainer for Long Beach, making 97 yards in eight carries. Wade is also averaging 38 yards per punt return to lead the squad.

Heading the list of stars on the Rhino squad are halfbacks Pat Collier, end Phil Hoover and tackle Rod Humenuik.

Collier was an all-America at Citrus J.C. and played ball at the University of Texas.

Hoover, a two-year all-America at Pasadena JC, performed as a starter for USC's 1962 national championship squad.

Humenuik, after gaining A-A in high school, went to Pierce JC where he duplicated the feat by being named to the national team. Humenuik is now a coach at Long Beach Poly High. The lineups:

L.B. City League Title Up Today

The Long Beach City League baseball championship will be decided today when the Douglas Jets meet the Embassy Club at 11 a.m. at Blair Field.

The contest will be followed by an exhibition game between the Long Beach Rockets and Miller's Playtimers at 2 p.m. The Playtimers are young prospects of the Chicago White Sox.

Casey Cox and Terry Richards will toe the rubber for the Rockets.

The Winter League will open play next Sunday.

Braves Face Suit

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Chairman Eugene Grobschmidt of the Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors said Saturday the county will sue the Malwaukee Braves for breach of contract if they attempt to shift their National League franchise.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Slight Volume Increase Aids Modest Mart Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored a modest gain last week and although volume increased slightly, trading continued to be featureless.

The week opened with a gain of 4.50 in the Dow-Jones Industrials, but this was nearly wiped out in the next two sessions. Prices showed only minor improvement Thursday, but managed to do a bit better in the final sessions.

With General Motors and the United Auto Workers reaching an agreement on a nationwide contract and turning the rest of the negotiations over to the local bargaining agents, Wall Street began to turn its attention to other factors influencing the trend.

* * * *

THROUGHOUT the week, the main stream of thought revolved around the problems of inflation and speculation over the possibility of a tight money policy in the near future.

Federal Reserve Board chairman, William McChesney Martin, already has said the problem of whether to pull in the reins on credit will have to be decided within the next six weeks and Wall Streeters second-guess the board.

Until the decision comes there undoubtedly will be a good deal of statistics checking and analyzing of statements made by board members and top economists, creating an atmosphere of caution on the part of traders and investors.

Despite worries over the credit purse strings, most brokers believe the market will continue to rise at least through the first half of 1965.

* * * *

THEY SEE little on the economic front to prevent further advance or to curtail the bull market. Projections on early sales of 1965 auto models lead the experts to believe that an eight million unit-sales year is entirely possible and view the downturns in some sectors of the economy as either inconsequential or temporary.

As for the market's present condition, most observers feel that it is merely consolidating its gains and that the slowdown in the rise of the popular averages is caused more by a spreading out of interest than a lack of enthusiasm.

The technicians, those who look for clues to future market performance in its internal action, now expect a stronger market in view of the breakthrough to a new record high in the Dow-Jones Rail Average. The long awaited move is considered a bullish indicator since it confirms the action of the industrials.

Dow-Jones Industrial average moved up 5.43 on the week to a new peak of 878.08 and rails advanced 4.02 to a new high of 222.12, topping the previous high of 220.98 set July 17. Utilities tacked on 083 at 154.20. Standard & Poor's more inclusive 500 stock index gained 0.86 at 85.22.

* * * *

VOLUME rose to 25,107,870 shares from 23,449,745 shares a week before and 23,699,060 shares in the same week last year. Gains outnumbered losses by nearly 2-to-1 as 865 issues advanced while only 486 declined. Of the 1,526 issues traded, 202 touched new 1964 highs while only 34 hit new lows.

Ford topped the most active list with a gain of 3⅛ at 61¼ on 571,700 shares after touching a new all-time high of 62¼ during the week.

Chrysler was second with a loss of ⅝ at 61⅜ on 547,200 shares. General Motors was further down in the active roster with a gain of 2⅝ at 101⅞.

Texas Gulf Sulphur was third with a gain of 1⅛ at 63⅛ on 438,200 shares. RCA was fourth, rising 1¾ to 33¾ on 364,700 shares on earnings news.

Sunshine Mining was also among the most active. It dropped 1 to 31⅜ on 310,200 shares. Towards the end of the week it was announced there was a proxy fight shaping up in the company.

* * * *

STEELS were generally fractions higher, but Copperweld and Lukens were exceptions with gains of 3½ and 1 respectively. Eastman Kodak lost 1⅛ despite a favorable third quarter earnings statement. Du Pont rose 1, but Union Carbide lost the same amount.

IBM shed 2, but Control Data rose 1⅛, Litton 1 and Texas Instruments ⅞. Honeywell rose 2¾ after directors proposed a 2-for-1 stock split. Foxboro rose 3½. Magnavox and Zenith gained 2⅝.

A number of strong spots appeared in the oils including Amerada up 3⅛, Cities Service ¼, Mission Corp. 5¼, Royal Dutch 2⅝ and Sinclair 2½.

Coppers gained some support from speculation over a possible domestic price increase for the metal in the wake of Chile's 2½ cents a pound boost on exports. Cerro soared 5⅞, Inspiration Consolidated rose 2½ and Anaconda picked up 1½.

* * * *

PENNSYLVANIA Railroad advanced 3⅝ in fairly active trading. Friday, the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the road's plan to divest itself of its holdings in Norfolk & Western. New York Central, which is planning to merge with the Pennsy, gained 4½.

Financial Federation and First Charter Financial eased after the Federal Home Loan Bank sent a bill asking for tighter regulation of savings and loan holding companies to Congress.

Douglas Aircraft rose 3, Piper 3⅝ and Cessna 2. Comsat rose 3¼ apparently in response to a successful television broadcast from Japan via the Syncom satellite. Polaroid rose 3¼. Hoover Ball Bearing gained 4⅜. Sherwin Williams jumped 4¼.

Spain, Cuba Culture Relations Growing

MADRID (AP)—The director of the Institute of Hispanic Culture, Gregorio Maranon, told a news conference Spain's cultural relations with Cuba have improved substantially. In the latest development, he said, the Spanish government at Cuban suggestion had agreed to organize a week of Cuban film showing in Spain and a week of Spanish movies in Havana.

Red China Orders 2 Ships From France

PARIS (AP)—Red China has ordered two 15,500-ton cargo ships built in France, shipping sources report, for delivery in 1965.

FPC Pushes Hard for Gas Rate Refunds

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Power Commission is quietly but firmly cracking the whip in its new natural gas rate refund policy even though it has no force in law.

Its objective is to compel producers, interstate pipeline companies and within-state distributors to rebate all overcharges to household and commercial consumers. This requires the cooperation of all those in the distribution chain. But in the absence of any law making it compulsory, all can buck legally if they desire.

The commission thinks, however, that it has found a way to win their cooperation, willing or unwilling.

* * * *

IN A POLICY declaration last July 8 it began a test case involving Humble Oil & Refining Co., Houston, and 20 of its interstate pipeline customers which serve almost every state in the union.

First, it settled a rate case in which Humble agreed to refund $8.9 million to the pipelines and cut its rates by $3.5 million a year.

Second—and this is where its new policy came into being—it ordered Humble to impound all the refund money, until the pipelines each report whether they intend to keep the refund money—and why—or whether they would flow it through to their own within-state customers. The latter would, in turn, be expected to rebate to their consumers.

The commission kept an ace in the hole. It said flatly that it would not direct Humble to release the money until the FPC was satisfied that it would flow through to the within-state distributors and —hopefully—their customers. If the pipelines insist without a reasonable explanation on keeping the money, the commission itself will determine "relative rights" to the funds.

* * * *

THE COMMISSION said if it was not deciding as of July 8 that the pipelines or their customers were not entitled to keep all or part of the money. But on the same premise it said that even though there is no law making refunds compulsory there also is no law allowing them to keep the money.

The FPC demonstrated it means business by imposing the same conditions in a Sun Oil Co. case Oct. 2. Sun agreed to refund $4,250,000 and cut its rates by $1.4 million a year. But Sun will put the refund money in escrow until its customers have reported on what they plan to do with it.

The commission first turned the spotlight on the refund problem last year with the first of a series of checks on whether interstate pipelines and their intrastate customers were keeping refunds or flowing them through to consumers.

The survey aroused a storm of protest on grounds it did not accurately reflect the rebate situation. But the commission refused to be disuaded. It currently is getting ready to take a second plunge which can be calculated to stir up as much fuss as the first one.

* * * *

THE HUMBLE test case is still in the mill. Humble was given 45 days to submit to the commission and each of its affected customers a detailed report on who purchased its gas and how much, the period covered and the amount of refund to which each is entitled. The commission said that within 10 days after it gets Humble's report, it would require he pipelines to submit their own reports. These are to state whether they intend to keep the money or pass it on, plus the names of their customers and how much a rebate each is supposed to get.

The combined reports will give the commission a double check against any refund shenanigans. In cases where all sides have been honest, the commission will order Humble to release the rebate money unless, in some instances, a state regulatory authority requests a delay.

Realtor of the Week

Marguerite Waters

Operating under the fictitious firm name of Dominguez Realty, Marguerite Waters has been a member of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors since 1950. As the business name indicates, her office is in Dominguez where she has lived for the past 30 years. During the years, she has been a member of a number of Board committees including Multiple Listing, Special Activities, a past chairman of Publications and is presently on the Finance Committee and Speakers Bureau. For five years, she was recording secretary for the Society of Residential Appraisers.

A past president of the Dominguez Chamber of Commerce, Realette Toastmistress Club and the Dominguez Women's Club, she is currently on the Board of Directors of the Dominguez Chamber of Commerce and Women's Club. Prior to real estate, she was editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper in the Dominguez area. Mixing business and pleasure, she alternates between classes for a "Certificate of Real Estate" or Art. Her hobbies are painting, swimming and bowling. The mother of three married sons, she adores her four grandsons and Ann Marguerite, her granddaughter. A four-year-old grandson was overheard recently telling a playmate, "My grandmother will give me anything"—and he just about hit the nail on the head!

The Safety Signs for Vacation Motoring Pleasure
- Be sure your car is safe: fix or trade it.
- Courtesy — It takes but a moment, and makes you feel so good.
- Traffic Rules — Heed them: they're made for you.
- Break — Pull off the road, relax, refresh.
- Be Tolerant — Don't lose your temper: have fun.
- Alert — Driving is a full-time job: make sure you're ready for any emergency.
- Unknown — Sudden weather changes: adjust quickly to any hazard.
- Home Safe — You followed the guides for a safe trip.

EL CERRITO

The Happy Hospital

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

For 10 long years Mrs. J. G. (those are not her real initials) had been bedfast, victim of a stroke.

And speechless. Her affliction had also left her unable to talk.

Then she was transferred to Long Beach El Cerrito Hospital, the city's new county-operated rehabilitation facility.

She quickly discovered that El Cerrito, the old Seaside Hospital at 1401 Chestnut Ave., was not just another hospital.

* * * *

MANY OF the patients there call it the "happy hospital."

Why? Because El Cerrito has a rule that emphasizes the personal factor.

"We accept people as individuals here," explains Dr. Dirk M. teGroen, medical director. "Our patients are not numbers or case reports. They're people."

* * * *

THANKS to this concept, Mrs. J. G. is now El Cerrito's pride and joy.

She has demonstrated how personal attention pays off.

Attendants there quickly got her out of bed for outdoor trips in a wheelchair.

On one of these trips someone's pet cat scurried across the sidewalk in front of Mrs. J. G. and a nursing aide.

Said the aide: "Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?"

Suddenly for the first time in 10 years, speech came for Mrs. J. G.

Said she: "I've been to London to visit the queen."

* * * *

YOU COULD almost call it a swinging hospital.

Reports one nurse: "On the way to the dining hall the other evening, I saw a lady patient waltzing down the corridor. No kidding. She was dancing."

Is this any way to run a hospital?

You bet it is, El Cerrito officials say.

* * * *

SINCE EL CERRITO opened its doors for the first time last January, 156 of 435 patients assigned there have been discharged.

Time was when many of these patients would have remained in a county hospital until they died.

Forty-two of the 156 went home or went to a relative's home or to a hotel, discloses Neil McLaughlin, El Cerrito's administrator.

Forty-nine went to a nursing home or to a board-and-care home.

Still others went to other county facilities or were able to go to a private institution under the Medical Aid to the Aged program.

* * * *

MRS. EVELYN SPEES, R.N., director of nursing, says, "We have been amazed at the progress many of these patients have made. The patients have been surpised that we're surprised.

"We of the nursing service try to motivate the patients, to give them a spark. Many are depressed when they arrive here. Our job is to show them that we care."

The key to the program, she adds, is treatment of each individual as a person.

* * * *

OCCASIONALLY the motivation concept works too well.

A 97-year-old male patient not yet ready for discharge slipped out of the hospital one day with the intention of riding a bus to downtown Los Angeles.

Dr. teGroen caught up with him at the bus-stop bench on Pacific Avenue.

The elderly man insisted he was going to make the trip.

"In that case," Dr. teGroen said, "I'll have to fire the security officer. (The medical director knew the two were close friends.)

Hearing that the patient quickly returned to the hospital.

* * * *

ADMINISTRATOR McLaughlin likes to point out to visitors that nursing stations usually are unmanned.

"That means the head nurse is with the patients," he explains.

Highly popular with the patients is what McLaughlin calls the Swedish meal plan.

Patients get five meals a day.

At 7 a.m., coffee and toast are served in bed—even before faces are washed.

At 10 a.m. there's breakfast—pancakes, bacon and eggs, cereals.

At 1 p.m. a snack-pudding and cookies, for example—is served.

Dinner, the big meal of the big meal of the day, comes at 4 p.m.

At 8 p.m. there's another snack, usually sandwiches or milk or hot chocolate.

* * * *

McLAUGHLIN says the plan breaks up the day for the patients and reduces food waste as well. And the nursing director reports that the evening snack cuts down requests for sleeping pills.

Dr. teGroen says that El Cerrito is not just an old people's hospital.

"We have patients over 100 but our youngest is 18," he says. "Only one-third of our patients are over 65."

NEIL McLAUGHLIN
Administrator

* * * *

EL CERRITO, now operating at 252 beds with an annual budget of $2,443,360, has three type of patients:

1. A small number of terminal patients who are given supportive care.

2. Young accident victims—amputees or persons with broken limbs. These are rehabilitated for return to the community.

3. The major group consists of disabled persons whom the hospital attempts to teach self-help procedures. Many of these are returned to the community.

"We attempt to restore human dignity," Dr. teGroen says.

* * * *

PREDOMINATING are ailments such as arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries, diabetes with complications, multiple sclerosis and related ailments, arthritis, strokes, and parkinsonism (shaking palsy). Many patients are what the hospital calls "freeway casualties."

The staff includes five full-time physicians and 100 nurses and attendants. An othopedic surgeon and a foot specialist (podiatrist) visit the hospital weekly. A dental clinic is now being set up, and equipment for eye care now is being installed.

The hospital has no operating suite or emergency room, but it does have a pharmacy, diagnostic X-ray department, clinical laboratory and physical therapy and occupational therapy departments.

A vocational counseling program now is being arranged with Community Rehabilitation Industries and Goodwill Industries.

The occupational therapy department is equipped with all sorts of self-help devices and a training kitchen to help patients to prepare for return to their homes.

* * * *

THE HOSPITAL'S volunteer program is booming.

A woman volunteer appears often to play the piano.

A man in retirement visits the hospital regularly to play cribbage with patients.

A string quartet and an accordionist representing the musicians' union entertain frequently, strolling through the wards.

School choral groups stage performances.

Hairdressers volunteer their services to operate the hospital's beauty shop.

Church groups and sororities are "adopting" wards for upcoming holiday parties.

Two chaplains serve the hospital—the Rev. Fred C. Crumb for the Protestants and the Rev. Terrence Halloran for the Catholics.

* * * *

NEXT AUGUST, El Cerrito hopes to open an additional 31 beds on its fourth floor. A budgetary cutback prevented expansion of patient population this year, McLaughlin says.

No one is admitted directly to El Cerritos, the administrator says. Patients are assigned from other county-operated hospitals, particularly Los Angeles General Hospital and Harbor General Hospital.

El Cerrito's original patient load was transferred from from Rancho Los Amigos Hospital.

"We like to call ourseves 'the hospital with a heart,'" McLaughlin says. "We're proud of that but it does have a disadvantage. We don't want people beating down the doors trying to get in, because we just can't have direct admissions to our hospital."

BETWEEN MEAL snacks, fruit and drink, are wheeled to patients by Helen Staley.

PATIENT VIRGINIA WELSH works at hand loom in the hospital's physical therapy section.

HUNT JAPANESE ON GUAM

Two Don't Know the War's Over

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—For six weeks Americans and Japanese have been searching in the matted jungles of northern Guam for two Japanese soldiers of World War II who apparently don't know the war has ended.

The search started when a Guamanian truck driver reported seeing the stragglers at the end of August. Since then, searchers have moved back and forth around the area near a Navy garbage dump where the sighting was reported to have occurred.

Authorities have called out the Marines, brought in police reserves and used helicopters, a tug boat and airplanes in the hunt.

About 25 Japanese reporters, photographers, cameramen and commentators have flown here from Japan to cover the story, which has become international in scope and involves the Japanese and American governments.

* * * *

BUNZO Minagawa and Musashi Ito—two Japanese stragglers who lived in the Guamanian jungles for 16 years before being found two years ago—were imported to help in the search.

The Japanese Ministry of Health and Welfare sent a three-man team to assist, too.

On Sept. 29, Minagawa found two field packs hidden in a cave. The packs contained shirts, pants, leggings, caps with gold anchor insignia, medicine packets, Japanese newspapers, a diary, home-made calendars and religious charms from the Tsuruoka Hachiman shrine in Kamakura.

The diary mentioned the foods its authors had eaten including breadfruit and iguanas, large tropical lizards.

* * * *

ONE OF THE PACKS bore the name Shunui Suzuki. The other had the name Hiroshi Kawashima, a civil worker for the now defunct Japanese imperial navy. His papers said he was born in 1906 and worked at the naval factory in Yokosuka Harbor.

The last date marked in the home-made calendar was December 1944.

It was difficult to tell whether this equipment belonged to the two reported stragglers or had been abanboned by other wartime occupants of the island.

Other than that, there have been no signs of the men. Helicopters with loudspeakers have hovered over the area at treetop level with a Japanese spokesman pleading for the men to come out.

* * * *

PLANES HAVE dropped about 5,000 leaflets showing a picture of Prime Minister Ikeda on one side and a copy of the Aug. 17, 1945, surrender proclamation of the emperor on the other.

The Navy's tug boat has cruised below the perpendicular cliffs with other loudspeakers manned by pleading Japanese who beg the stragglers to give up. The Marines combed the ground and the police kept up a constant patrol in the areas, but in the International game of hide and seek the seekers still haven't a clue as to the whereabouts or existence of the stragglers.

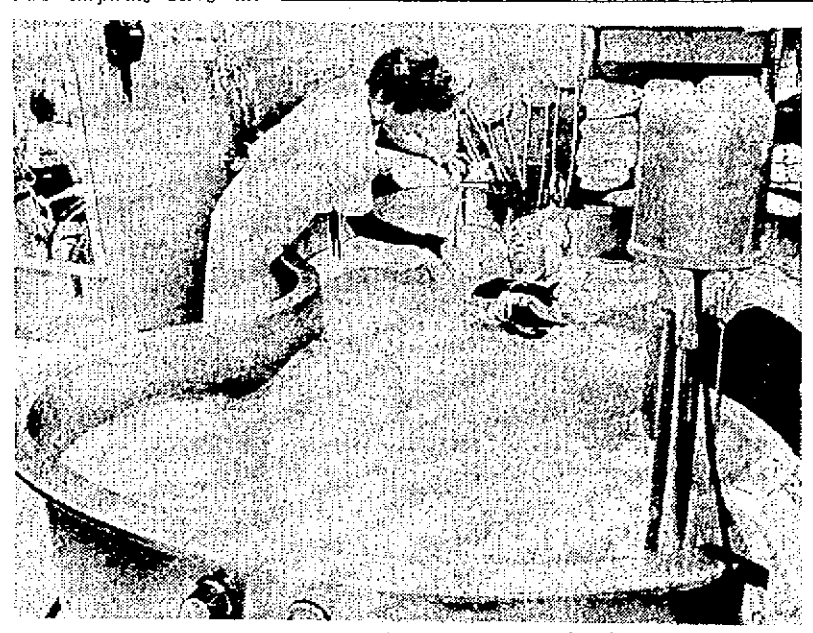

Whereas the Japanese press has set up headquarters at a swank air-conditioned airtel (airport hotel), the Ministry of Health and Welfare team has its command post in tents on the edge of the jungles where its members make daily patrols spreading leaflets, setting out plastic bags filled with food and doggedly searching for evidence of the World War II veterans.

* * * *

NAVY CIVILIAN employe Edward Tsutsui of Honolulu has been guiding the American teams, writing pamphlets and making broadcasts and acting as interpreter and general liaison man in the search.

The big question on Guam now is how to stop the search. The Budget Department is pointing with alarm at the $200 a day being spent by the Department of Public Safety for its unbudgeted part in the search.

The Navy is fretting over the security violations of having scores of unauthorized people tramping over forbidden territory and the American State Department is concerned on how to politely tell the Japanese that maybe they should call it quits without appearing as calloused, brutal-souled bureaucrats.

La Mirada Plant Precasts Fireplaces in Single Units

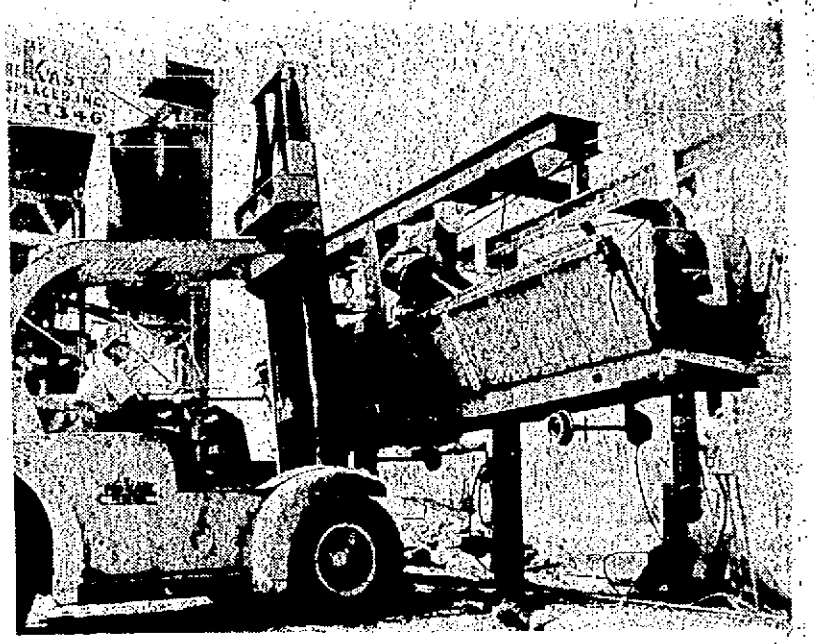

ALL IN ONE PIECE
General view of PreKast Fireplace Corp. plant at La Mirada shows how huge forms are used to mold unified fireboxes and chimneys which can be moved to building sites and erected speedily. Forms run on tracks. Steel and a special mix of aggregate go into construction of the fireplaces.

Ready-Made Fireplaces Go Up Fast at Home Site

Rome, 'tis said, was not built in a day; but in these days of high-gear construction it's possible to have a ready-made fireplace installed in a matter of minutes.

Making this their business are Sidney Hendricks and James Harkey, owners of PreKast Fireplace Mfg. Co. in La Mirada.

PreKast has been fully approved by Uniformed Building Code (UBC), FHA, VA, and area city and county building departments.

No on-the-spot inspections are required. This saves possible delays. Such installations also eliminate much of the 'mess' and cleanup costs involved in building of fireplaces at the house site, Hendricks and Harkey say.

* * * *

THEIR PRODUCTION plant is located at 14372 Firestone Blvd. They build one-piece precast concrete fireplaces, with simulated brick, stucco and stone exteriors. They also provide plain concrete fireplaces which the owner can finish as he desires.

Installation of these fireplaces at a 200 home tract could be completed in about four days; and they can be installed at any phase of construction suitable to the builder.

The plant employs a crew of about 20 men and produces around 20 fireplaces daily. Plans are to increase production soon.

* * * *

HENDRICKS AND HARKEY were partners in concrete construction work at Las Vegas prior to opening the La Mirada plant.

Their plant superintendent is Don Rez, who helped build the Disneyland monorail system.

It took five years to develop equipment and methods used in precasting the fireplaces, which are made of steel and fire-resistant aggretate tested to stand pressure up to 2,000 pounds per square inch, twice the pressure resistance of the standard brick. They also are designed to be earthquake proof.

Mounting State Compensation System Costs Become Alarming

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The sharp rise in the cost of the Workmen's Compensation System in California is causing grave concern among businessmen and many state legislators. Ray Duncan of the editorial staff of the Pasadena Independent, Star-News explored the reasons for the increase and sought answers as to what might be done to solve this critical problem. Here is the first of a series of three articles he prepared.)

By RAY DUNCAN

The Workmen's Compensation Insurance system in California is like a marriage that threatens to break up while the partners are celebrating their Golden Wedding day.

The compensation program has been undergoing the worst crisis in its history during the past year. This is exactly 50 years since the passage of the state's first mandatory law to provide medical care and los pay compensation for workers injured on the job.

This is California's oldest piece of social legislation, and it has long been considered the most effective. But many people fear it may now be in danger of being wrecked, or of being taken over by federal agencies.

* * * *

THE RISING COST of supporting the program has caused deep concern in many high places, and in several lower places, too. Most of the complaints are coming, naturally, from the state's employers who are now paying upwards of $300,000,000 a year to support the program through an insurance premium based on their payrolls.

They are especially critical of the sudden steep increases of the last few years, particularly since 1959. Taking 1959 as an index year, an employer who paid $1 per $100 of payroll then, as his cost for supporting the WC program, is paying $1.63 per $100 today.

Many employers feel there is a connection between this sharp rise and the fact that the administration of Gov. Edmund G. Brown took over in 1959. Many feel that Brown's regime has exercised a "recklessly liberal and expensive influence" on the administration of the law.

The compensation crisis has inspired a large-scale investigation by the State Legislature. This inquiry will be conducted by a so-called "blue-ribbon commission."

This seven-member Workmen's Compensation Study Commission is being assembled to find out whether the system is working as intended—or whether, in the language of the Senate, the system may not have become "so uncertain, discriminatory, expensive and full of delay" that it no longer serves its purpose.

The Study Commission may take a year or two to complete its work. Its findings could result in drastic changes in the law.

* * * *

THE COMPENSATION CRISIS, meanwhile, has increased the circulation of several astonishing case histories, by employers to illustrate the effect of what they call liberalizing influences on the law. One of these stories is about a traveling salesman, but it is not a joke. It is a true story, and a tragic one.

The salesman, while on a trip representing his firm, occupied a hotel room with a woman companion who was falsely registered as his wife. They had been drinking. Careless smoking by one or the other caused a fire which resulted in the salesman's death. The question that came up later was this: was the salesman covered by Workmen's compensation insurance in this activity, and was his widow at home entitled to compensation benefits amounting to several thousand dollars, as a result of his death on the job?

The answer turned out to be yes. The money was paid.

A referee decided this at a hearing before the California Industrial Accident Commission—the supervising agency which controls workmen's compensation matters under the Department of Industrial Relations. The referee cited the well-established rule that a commercial traveler is regarded as acting within the course of his employment during the period he is away, including all his activities in traveling and in procuring food and seeking shelter.

The occupancy of the room was part of his employment, regardless of whether or not he had a companion. The reason was immaterial, said the referee. Her presence did not alter the basic purpose for his being in his room, which was to seek shelter.

If the accident had occurred in her room, it might have been another matter.

This kind of decision, though an unusual instance,

READY TO DEDICATE FIRST PHASE OF COMPLEX
Grand opening and dedication ceremonies will be held Wednesday, 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., for the first phase of $2¼ million multi-building office complex at 1477 S. Manchester Ave., Anaheim. Building is shown at left above in architect's rendering. High rise at center will be built later. Casualty Insurance Co. of California is the builder, and its offices will occupy second floor of 'Phase I' building. Freeway frontage complex will include restaurant.

L.B. Apartment House Association to Expand

Leaders of the Long Beach Apartment House Association have kicked off an intensive "Fall '64 Campaign" for hundreds of new members.

Announcement that the drive is under way by the local association, already one of the largest and most vigorous apartment owner-operator organizations in California and the nation, came Saturday from President Arnold Berg.

* * * *

"WE ARE engaged in an all-out campaign to have every apartment owner in this area become a member in order that the association will be even stronger and the most effective such group anywhere," Berg said.

Forrest O. Wilson, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Lyman B. Sutter, committee vice chairman, together with the other directors, officers and many members, are busy pushing the drive.

"Our association here already represents some 4,000 members who are owners or operators of apartments in the Long Beach area and we are endeavoring to enlist 1,000 additional members in this "Fall '64 Campaign," Wilson said.

* * * *

BERG emphasized the apartment business is one of the major industries here, in the state and in the nation, in regard to the millions of dollars invested and taxes paid.

"Every apartment owner or operator in our area should become a member of the association to make it ever more effective in providing every one engaged in the industry better representation and service to meet the steadily increasing problems and challenges to our industry," Berg added.

Vet Home Loan Totals Revealed

A total of 65,107 qualified California war veterans in Los Angeles County have borrowed $630,316,000 for homes and farms under the distinctive Cal-Vet Farm and Home Purchase Program since it was started in 1922. Most of the loans—all but 25—were made for homes.

Of this total, according to H. J. Johnson, manager of the Division of Farm and Home Purchases, California Department of Veterans Affairs, there are 35,611 active home contracts representing an investment of $401,781,900 and with a loan balance of $346,674,141.

Robinson Next Head of CREA

David N. Robinson of Berkeley was elected president of the 45,000-member California Real Estate Association for 1965 at a recent meeting of the association's board of directors, at the close of its 60th annual convention in San Francisco. He will succeed Art S. Leitch of San Diego, and will be installed in office at a meeting of the association in San Francisco early in January.

The election of officers for the association climaxed a five-day convention attended by the 5,000 members, who represent 173 real estate boards throughout the state.

Robinson began his real estate career in 1946, and is the president of the David N. Robinson Realty Co., with two offices in Berkeley, and one in Walnut Creek.

* * * *

CARL W. NEWPORT of Sherman Oaks was re-elected treasurer of the CREA, and H. Jackson Pontius of Arcadia was relected executive vice president and state secretary for the 10th consecutive year.

Elected honorary CREA directors-for-life were: Joseph B. Carnahan, Northridge; Mitchell E. Cutler, San Francisco; William S. Reid, Santa Monica; Reed Robbins, Stockton; L. Van Stelle, San Diego; R. D. Van Vleck, San Jose.

Regional vice presidents for 1965 include:

Robert C. Allen, Palos Verdes Estates; Melvin Mould, Long Beach; John C. Hart, La Habra; David R. Snyder, San Diego.

New Bank Post Filled

James F. Naughton of Whittier, Bank of America vice president, has been selected as the senior representative of the bank's headquarters for its branches in the southern Los Angeles County area, according to Chairman of the Board Jesse W. Tapp.

J. F. NAUGHTON

"This is a new position in our bank," Tapp said, "created to shorten lines of communication, thus assuring that day to day operating decisions may be made more promptly in the field."

He stated that Naughton, with offices in Long Beach, will carry out certain of the responsibilities formerly performed by officers at the bank's Los Angeles Headquarters.

Naughton, whose area of responsibility extends from Playa del Rey to Whittier and includes the harbor area, has been with Bank of America for more than 25 years.

Until his present appointment he was vice president in charge of Business Development in downtown Los Angeles, the Central Manufacturing District, and Pasadena-Arcadia.

Stanton Firm Gets Another Oregon Job

STANTON — Paul Hardeman Inc. of Stanton, already building the Green Peter Dam on Oregon's Middle Santiam River, was low bidder last week on another dam project.

The firm bid $9,948,978 for construction of Foster Dam seven miles downstream from Green Peter. Government estimate for the work was $12,020,588.

State Compensation System Faces Crises

seems to many employers to illustrate a general tendency to abandon common sense in compensation cases.

* * * *

A SIMILAR CASE, involving a California game warden and a woman companion, is equally celebrated. Both were asphyxiated by exhaust fumes from his official car, while they reclined scantily clad on the back seat late at night on a lonely mountain road. That case, too, was decided in favor of the worker. The warden's wife had been widowed, the referee ruled, by an on-the-job accident.

"We used to collect scare-cases like that," says Mort L. Clopton, a Los Angeles attorney who represents employers in compensation cases. "But they're becoming too common, too routine. And what worries us most is not those exotic cases, but the general everyday shift in basic policy which affects thousands of ordinary cases each month."

Almost all employers say they favor a reasonable and generous workmen's compensation law, as it was originally intended—but not as it is now being abused. Many say that the program is being increasingly twisted into a tool for creating "a hidden system of socialized medicine for everyone who has a job."

Employers claim there is an increasing tendency for referees to blame the job for injuries which are not clearly shown to be connected with the job. Controversy has especially increased over claims covering back strains, hearing loss, heart difficulties, and other symptoms which employers say are not necessarily job-caused, but may be the result of the normal process of aging and of the wear-and-tear of daily living.

But criticism is not coming exclusively from the employers. Labor groups are attacking certain other points in the law and its costs and its administration, but of course from a different standpoint.

* * * *

FROM NEUTRAL GROUND the professors of economics and of business administration have also found much to question in the California law. Earl F. Cheit of the University of California, an authority of national renown in the field, once asked "whether or not workmen's compensation, by its own performance, is bringing on its own ignominious end." He feels the California law may now need overhauling.

Several contradictions have been discovered in the recent workings of the law. For example:

1—The law was originally intended to minimize controversy between employers and workers in injury cases.

But today the WC program is more bitterly and widely debated than ever before, with employer groups and unions squared off for a showdown fight over proposed amendments at each session of the Legislature. And endless debate has also developed over questions like this: Is a worker entitled to compensation benefits if he injures himself in a foot-race at the annual employe's picnic held at a place away from the work premises? (Answer, in at least one contested case: He is).

2—The law was originally intended to simplify relations between employer and worker in injury matters.

But the much-amended law, and its multitude of fine-point interpretations and precedents, now constitute one of the largest and most complicated legislative tangles in the land. Its intricacies were described recently by an expert in the field as "a web of perplexities leading into a quagmire of guesswork."

3—The law was originally intended to eliminate or minimize the need for legal action in injury cases.

* * * *

BUT THE FIELD is now known as "a lawyer's paradise." Several Los Angeles law firms, for example, are thriving today on compensation cases as their almost-exclusive specialty. More than 4,000 lawyers registered for a recent series of lectures on "How to Handle Workmen's Compensation Cases." A lawyer urged his colleagues to get into the growing compensation field, pointing uot that 40,000 new cases are now being filed each year, that some benefit awards go well up into the six-figure bracket, that average fees are more than $280 per case, and that a modest two-man law firm might count on compensation-case fees totalling more than $60,000 a year.

The criticism of compensation practices is not confined to California. All 50 states have similar laws, though they vary widely in benefits and other details Most of the large industrial states are now undergoing similar struggles over liberalizing influences on their laws

In Michigan, for example, a celebrated case involving a General Motors worker is often cited at a horrible example of this dangerous new direction.

The worker was awarded $863 in medical expense, and $36 a week in disability benefits for an extended period, after he suffered a nervous breakdown. His breakdown occurred because a foreman criticized the quality of his work. The worker had a history of mental illness before he took the job. But the ruling was that job pressure had increased his anxiety to the breakdown point.

California employers report that their own anxieties rise over decisions like that

"If this compensation law," says one of them, "is going to be the back door where socialized medicine slips in, then I think we should all know about it. If socialized medicine is what we want, let's have it But let's call it that, and let's all bear the cost of it. Let's not charge it to the employers only, and call it Workmen's Compensation!"

BIG PUSH BY APARTMENT GROUP

More members are being enlisted by the Long Beach Apartment House Association in an intensive fall drive which was launched last week. Pictured at the association's office are Forrest O. SIRIS OPENS SECOND STORE ON LONG BEACH BLVD.

New 'Century Shops' Store Opened by Siris

Richard Siris, president of Siris Furniture Co., located at 1235 Long Beach Blvd., has announced the opening of a second store, directly across the street from the main store at 1252 Long Beach Blvd.

R. SHAPIRO

This new addition to the Siris Furniture business will be known as "The Century Shop" and will feature 18th century and Early American as well as Victorian style furniture.

To assure Long Beach buyers of Early American and Period furniture, the finest selection and a complete knowledge of the business, Richard Siris has appointed Richard Shapiro as manager of "The Century Shop."

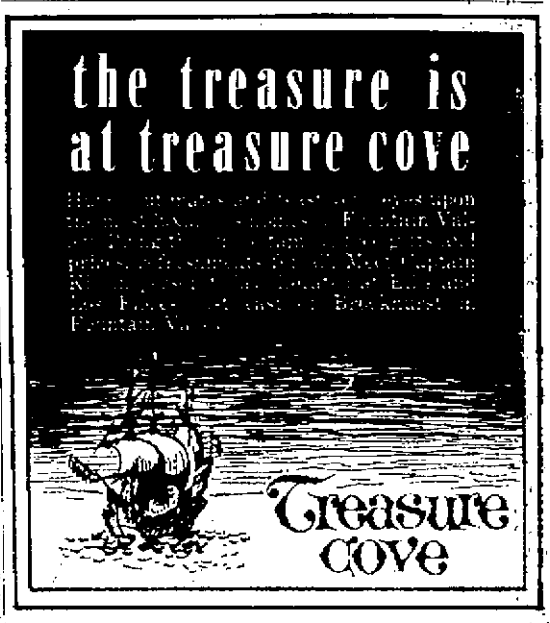

He is reputed to be one of the ablest and best experienced men in this field in Southern California.

Another feature of "The Century Shop" will be the second floor, which will be devoted entirely to "Trade-In" furniture.

This is furniture that has been traded in on newer and different styled furniture and is much too good to be thrown away but can be purchased for just a fraction of its original cost.

Time to Alter Patio

If you have nothing over your patio but sky, how many times during the summer did the sun make it too hot to sit out there? Now is the time to investigate the different types of patio covers available so that you can enjoy your patio to the full next year, says Martin Vasas, outdoor living specialist.

Lynwood Firm Involved in Moon Rocket Program

The Heavy Machinery Division of Western Gear Corp. of Lynwood has established a field office on Merritt Island, Fla.—center of America's man-to-the-moon program.

According to William B. Caswell, HMD division manager, a 40-foot office trailer has been located on Complex 39 to direct the division's construction activities on the Vertical Assembly Building, which currently is being erected.

HMD is supplying the drive machinery for the work platforms located inside of the building. It also has contracts to supply the drive machinery, steel fabrication and erection of the building's giant doors.

The Vertical Assembly Building, one of the largest in the world, will be used to prepare the 7.5 million-pound thrust Saturn V launch vehicle and the Apollo space craft for future lunar flights.

Banking Group to Meet in Florida

The Fifty-third Annual Convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America will be held Nov. 29-Dec. 4 in Hollywood, Fla., David J. Harris, IBA president and Partner of Bache & Co., Chicago, has announced.

Convention sessions will be held at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, and delegates will be accommodated there and also at The Diplomat, a nearby hotel in Hollywood.

The various national IBA committees will hold meetings during the week and most of them will submit reports to the delegates. New officers will be installed Dec. 3.

Basis for Optimism

Business writers continue to express amazement that Americans have spent only half of the extra income they have received from the Federal tax cut last spring. Meanwhile, with debt repayments high, credit continues good.

New Office Building Begun in Wilmington

Construction of a new professional building is under way in Wilmington at 927-929 Avalon Blvd. to house the law firm of Charles W. Gorman and Richard M. Wonder and the local office of Southern Counties Gas Co.

The 3,800-square-foot, one-story building is scheduled for completion in December.

The gas company will occupy 1,000 square feet of the structure, while the remainder will house the attorneys and their staff.

* * * *

ARCHITECT Dell M. Williams, partner in the Corona del Mar firm of Murton H. Willson & Associates, AIA, who designed the building, states that privacy, comfort, and efficiency were prime requisites of the owners.

Gas year-round air conditioning will add to the built-in "comfort factors" of the new building, Williams added.

The gas company offices will include space for display of the latest in appliances, as well as complete facilities for bill payment and customer orders. The present office complement, under Mrs. Marian McGee, cashier in charge, will staff the new Southern Counties office.

The building will feature a front wall of modular red brick, with glass entries, and will be topped by a fascia of pre-cast concrete. D. J. O'Connis general contractor.

DESIGN MEETS WITH THEIR APPROVAL

Plans for new downtown office building in Wilmington, to house offices of the law firm of Charles W. Gorham and Richard M. Wonder and the Wilmington customer office of Southern Counties Gas Co., are approved by (left to right) Richard M. Wonder, gas company Harbor Division manager; E. B. Patterson, gas company customers department manager; T. R. Turner, and architect Dell M. Williams, of the firm of Murton H. Willson & Associates, AIA, who designed the structure.

Insurance Trust to Be Discussed

Marven E. Howard, CLU, advanced underwriting consultant for Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. in Los Angeles, will be featured speaker at the Estate Planning and Trust Council meeting Thursday noon at the Petroleum Club.

Howard will present a talk entitled "The Life and Times of a Life Insurance Trust."

Members of the Trust Council include life underwriters, C.P.A.s, bank trust officers and attorneys from the Long Beach and Los Angeles areas.

Insurance Firm Promotes Parr

Daniel E. Parr has been appointed assistant manager of the New York Life Insurance Companys Long Beach general office, according to Orville A. Rundle, general manager.

DANIEL PARR

Parr joined the New York Life in Long Beach in July, 1962, as a field underwriter. As an agent, his sales record qualified him for the company's Star Club.

A native of Long Beach, Parr is a graduate of University of Santa Clara. He is active in Junior Chamber of Commerce and National Association of Life Underwriters.

Deane Brothers Name Fuglie Finance Chief

Lloyd Fuglie has been appointed vice president in charge of finance for Deane Brothers, builders-developers of Huntington Beach, Ben C. Deane, president, has announced.

Fuglie, 50, has had more than 20 years experience in responsible financial posts with various large firms in the building industry.

Born and reared in North Dakota, Fuglie served for three years in the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II and saw duty in Guadalcanal and the Philippines. He lives in Arcadia.

Deane Brothers, major Southern California developers and builders of residential communities, currently is developing Diamond Point, a 650-home project in Diamond Bar, and Pacific Sands Imperial, residential-recreational community in Huntington Beach.

NATIONAL POST

Kenneth H. Kerr, on the controllers staff of the Long Beach Division of Douglas Aircraft, has been elected to a two-year term as a national director of the National Association of Accountants. He has been with Douglas for 11 years and previously served as vice president, treasurer and director of the Long Beach chapter.

3 Knotty Issues Cited by Goodrich Economist

Although the business outlook is good for 1965, the nation will have to face up to three major unsolved economic problems next year, a leading business economist declared at a recent meeting in Washington.

Dr. A. J. Ashe, associate director of corporate planning of the B. F. Goodrich Co., told a meeting of the Washington Rubber Group of the American Chemical Society that "the dark hour is drawing nearer" in the United States' balance of payments situation.

* * * *

HE SAID unemployment and inflation are also in the forefront of the nation's economic problems.

"The deficit in our international transactions showed improvement during the latter part of 1963 and early this year, but has deteriorated substantially in recent months," Dr. Ashe said. "Unfortunately, there is little, if any, evidence that corrective measures taken to date are of any significant and permanent value."

The economist said unemployment, especially among young people, continues "abnormally high and may worsen during 1965."

Next year about 3.7 million persons will become 18 years old, about 1 million more than in 1964, he reported.

* * * *

"IT APPEARS doubtful that our economy will expand sufficiently during the next 12 months to provide productive employment for the large increase in teenagers who will be seeking jobs," he said.

The rubber industry outlook for 1965 he termed bright. Tire shipments (including passenger, truck-bus, farm, industrial and airplane) are expected to total nearly 160 million units, up slightly from the high being established this year.

Fullerton Due to Get New Bank

FULLERTON — The state comptroller of the currency has approved application of the University National Bank, Fullerton, which will be located at 2565 E. Chapman Ave., in the vicinity of the California State College at Fullerton.

The directors of the bank are: Dean O. Bowman, William G. Fort, William J. Haney, William M. Harrison, William B. Langsdorf, Lester Lev, Henry E. North, Stanley E. Roberts and Philip S. Twombley.

Other principals are: Walter Beeson, Casper Breuer, Bee Campbell, Lloyd Carnahan, Dorman Commons, Ralph Diedrich, Edward Erickson, John Hagn, Charles Kohlenberger, Cleve Leonard, William McGarvey, Harold Miller, Elaine Mittleman, Harold Muckenthaler, Earl G. Parsons, John C. Schmidt, Jack Stearman, Harold Williams, Glenn Walters and Duane Winters.

The bank is tentatively scheduled to open early next year. A chief executive officer has not as yet been named.

'Solid' 1965 Slated for Construction

The construction industry as a whole, which accounts for approximately 15% of the Gross National Product and 10% of the nation's employment, appears likely in 1965 to maintain its current high level, says the Monthly Letter of Goodbody & Co., a leading New York Stock Exchange member firm.

Residential building is expected to continue to slow down; but industrial, institutional and public outlays should bring next year's overall construction activity to about the level estimated for 1964, the research indicates.

* * * *

WHILE OVER-ALL industry profits next year may only equal or, at least, slightly exceed those of 1964, the industry is in a much stronger position to avoid a sharp decline in earnings than it was during 1960 business readjustment, it was said.

Over the long term, demand for more and better housing should expand significantly, in view of rising incomes, a higher rate of family formations in the second half of the 1960s, the growing number of vacation homes, and the rising trend toward establishment of separate households by individuals and by couples who previously doubled up.

Employment Agencies Unit Installs Officers

New officers for the South Coast Chapter of California Employment Agencies Association were installed last week at a dinner meeting in the Hawaiian restauront in Long Beach.

Installed by Margot Young of Studio City, director of the state association, were:

President, George Amey of the George Amey Agency, Hawthorne, for another term; vice president, James Hackfield of Lawndale Employment Agency in Lawndale, succeeding Joseph Filing, J & M Agency, Long Beach; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Gaylord, of the Gaylord Employment and Nurses Registry, Long Beach, succeeding herself; and secretary, Lyndon McClennon of Bellflower, succeeding Laura Glascock of Always Employment Agency, Long Beach.

On the new board of directors are Flo Bailey, Laura Glascock, Ray Cohn and Claire Carmody.

Amey said his plans for the new year included efforts to improve standards of the private employment agencies.

New 3-Dimension Screen Patented

A revolutionary projection screen that creates three-dimensional effects without viewing aids or special production equipment has been patented by an industrial film producer at Schenectady, N.Y.

The screen is made up of multiple layers of non-textured translucent sheets of cellulose acetate all of which reflect the projected image simultaneously. This, combined with the fact that the screen material is invisible when an image is projected onto it, is what is said to give the 3-D effect.

The inventor is Dale E. Wretlind, who has written, directed, and produced some 65 motion pictures for General Electric's advertising and sales promotion department.

New Suburbia Townhouses Alter Huntington Beach Scene

Townhouse living comes to Huntington Beach! Suburbia Townhouses, elegant two and three bedroom development, is holding its grand opening this weekend.

The exclusive 36-unit development was designed by Dorius & Ball of Corona Del Mar and built by Hercules Construction Co.

Offering the advantage of home ownership without the burden of exterior maintenance and upkeep, the two-story units are priced from $15,950 to $16,950. Excellent terms are available with as little as 10% down and 28 year financing.

* * * *

THE TOWNHOUSES feature 12 handsome exteriors and four exciting activity-zoned floor plans.

Norm Williams, Hercules vice president, said Suburbia Townhouses is the smallest development ever built by the firm. "We did it," he said, "to achieve the proper air of exclusiveness necessary in this resort setting."

The Gold Medallion homes feature built-in Hotpoint electric ovens, range with hooded exhaust fan, built-in dishwasher and disposal, luxurious carpeting and private, enclosed courtyard.

Also, marble-topped pullmans in each bath, exquisite lighting fixtures, laundry areas, full-size enclosed garages and Gold Medallion electric heating. Two of the plans include fireplaces.

* * * *

FOR LEISURE living, Suburbia Townhouses provide a sky-blue heated pool and cabanas. All utilities are underground, which adds to the general refinement.

Smartly decorated models are open daily from 10 a. m. to dusk. Suburbia Townhouses sales agent is Edith Jensen. From downtown Huntington Beach, drive north on Main Street to Clay Avenue. Turn right on Clay and proceed to Delaware Street. Models are located at Delaware and 17th streets.

Gordon Takes Fullerton Post

Appointment of Walter E. Gordon as controller for the Heliport and Special Projects divisions of Beckman Instruments, Inc., was announced last week by Robert A. Lineberger, corporate controller for the Fullerton firm.

Gordon will direct financial planning and control programs for the two Beckman divisions located at the company's Fullerton headquarters site. He succeeds James E. Shelton Jr., formerly of Fullerton, who was named to Gordon's prior position as controller for Beckman's Spinco Division of Palo Alto.

Rural Homes Aided

Low-income rural families used $132,537,000 in loans from the Farmers Home Administration during fiscal 1964 for improved housing facilities, reports Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

West Gets East L.B. Phone Post

Rollo D. West, southern area commercial administrator for General Telephone Co., has become East Long Beach division manager, according to an announcement by Herbert W. Frahm, southern area general manager.

West succeeds Marvin L. Myrick, recently promoted to the position of assistant to W. Roy Jarmon, vice president - revenue requirements for GT&E Service Corp., with offices in New York City, Frahm said.

ROLLO D. WEST
Division Manager

MARVIN MYRICK
To New York City

* * * *

A NATIVE of Holton, Kan., West came to California with his parents in 1936. He attended Anaheim high school and Fullerton Junior College, where he received an associate of arts degree in engineering. West then continued his education at UCLA.

West joined General Telephone as a draftsman. He rapidly advanced to Southern Area staff administrator in Long Beach. He subsequently held positions as data operations manager in Santa Monica, Orange Division manager in Huntington Beach, southern area commercial administrator in Long Beach and now East Long Beach division manager.

* * * *

MYRICK, a business administration graduate of Montana State University in 1943, also holds a master's degree in business administration for the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He joined General Telephone Co. of the Northwest in Spokane, Wash., in 1948.

He transferred to General Telephone Co. of California in 1960 and held such positions as division manager in Long Beach, Downey and East Long Beach, until his present appointment to GT&E Service Corp.

1,100 Oil Wells Inside City Limits

KILGORE, Tex. (UPI)—The East Texas town of Kilgore has approximately 1,100 oil wells within its limits.

The chamber of commerce says the forest of derricks in the downtown section and other areas of the town rises over the world's greatest concentration of oil wells.

Sales Show 15% Gain

J. C. Penney Co. has reported that September sales rose 15.2% over the same month in 1963 as strong back-to-school business proved to be the major factor for the second straight month.

September volume amounted to an all-time high of $169,096,981 against $146,850,262 a year ago, an increase of $22,246,719 in the 18th straight month of record sales.

President William M. Batten noted in New York City that both the Company's store and catalog operations performed strongly during a month with a late Labor Day which pushed much of the back-to-school buying into September.

* * * *

MOST OF THIS BUYING took place in August last year, when Labor Day fell on Sept. 2 as opposed to this year's Sept. 7.

Another factor in the September performance, Batten said, was a strong promotional program featuring home furnishings and the department store chain's new hard lines.

President John T. Webster of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors has announced that speakers at the 57th annual National Association of Real Estate Boards convention Nov. 8-12 in Los Angeles will be as varied as the subjects, which run the gamut from "Management of Small Properties" to "Opportunities for International Investment."

Speakers will range from Dr. George E. Mueller, head of the manned space flight program for the National Aeronautics and Space Adminitsration, to Abigail Van Buren, author of the nationally syndicated "Dear Abby" column.

Starting things off Nov. 8 will be NAREB's open session on license laws featuring the latest ideas on subjects as diverse as Colorado's solution to subdivision abuses and legislative innovations.

* * * *

SPEAKERS for the session include Dr. David T. Rowlands, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania, and Benjamin T. Shuman, general counsel for the Florida Real Estate Commission.

The Board Presidents' and Executives' Conference, with NAREB President Ed Mendenhall and Executive Vice-President Eugene P. Conser as speakers, will be held on the same day.

The schedule for Monday, Nov. 9, contains over 10 separate educational sessions, including the Executive Officers Council program on multiple listing and the NAREB Build America Better Committee meeting on the subject "What is Happening to the Housing Inventory of America."

The NAREB Committee on Real Estate Economics and Research panel, also set for Monday, will discuss the "Real Estate Market Outlook." In addition, the Institute of Real Estate Management will sponsor morning and afternoon educational programs on "Management of Small Properties" and Development Around Airports."

* * * *

THE WOMEN'S Council educational program on Monday is an all-day session marking the 25th anniversary of the Council, which met for the first time at the 1939 NAREB convention. The American Chapter, International Real Estate Federation, will hold an open session Monday morning on "Opportunities for International Investment."

The National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers also will have a morning and afternoon general session. Featured speaker for the afternoon session will be Charles Thomas, president of the Irvine Company, Irvine, who will discuss land planning development.

* * * *

TO CONCLUDE the day, Lynn Townsend, president of Chrysler Corporation, will speak at the Society of Industrial Realtors annual Industrialist of the Year award dinner after receiving the bronze award trophy.

The Rev. Tom Haggai, well-known radio commentator who has declared that "no nation is ever murdered; a nation that falls commits suicide," will ask "Will America Be Spared?" in his major address at the first NAREB general session Nov. 10.

Other open sessions on Tuesday will be sponsored by the Brokers Institute and the Executive Officers Council. The American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers and the Managers will hold open educational sessions, and the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will have early morning round tables.

* * * *

HOWARD BERTSCH, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, will be the speaker for the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers general session, Nov. 11, and NAREB will conduct another general session which will explore such timely subjects as re-housing the elderly, nursing home opportunities, and low-income conversions.

Guest speaker for the Women's Council luncheon on Wednesday will be Mrs. Van Buren. Also scheduled for Wednesday are an Appraisers open education session, a Brokers round table, and a Brokers' Traders Club round table.

On Nov. 12, the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will hold final round tables.

NAREB general sessions in the morning and afternoon emphasize important business matters, including the election of new officers and the presentation of awards for advance registration.

* * * *

THE CLOSING address will be given by Dr. George E. Mueller, who will tell of "Our Preparation for the Space Age."

It won't all be work. Special events have been planned for all Realtors to get together for entertainment. First, on Sunday, Nov. 8, is the Omega Tau Rho party at the Hollywood Palladium with music by Lawrence Welk.

On Tuesday night a special trip for Realtors only has been arranged to Disneyland. There's the apraisers' annual banquet, open to all delegates, at the Cocoanut Grove, and the brokers' dinner dance at the Biltmore Bowl on Wednesday night. On Thursday, immediately after the final general session, is the NAREB president's reception.

LAW IN THE NEWS

Bar Offers Financial and Legal Checklist

Is your family protection really what you think it is? Or have you missed something?

Has anything happened recently to threaten its security? Have you updated your will? Are there any gaps in your legal affairs?

Maybe it's time you had a financial and a legal checkup, says the State Bar of California. Much can happen in a year. For example:

Has your income changed much? Have you a new job? Have you married? Taken on any new financial burdens?

Has there been a marriage, birth, death, or separation in your family which could affect your family's welfare?

* * * *

TO FIND HOW much you are worth, add up your social security, life insurance, pension plans, savings, your home and other assets. Subtract your debts and the like. Then figure out how much your family can live on without you. Food, clothing, mortgage or rent payments, costs of educating children, what income your wife should have and the protection your family needs against sickness.

As a result of your checkup you should know your strength and weakness. You can then answer: Will your program do what you want it to? Your lawyer can help you here.

Do you have a will? If not, do you know how the state would split up your estate among your wife and children? Is this the way you'd want it?

Have you had a child since you drafted your will? Have you moved to another state?

Do you have a little business on the side? Would it be hurt if you are not around to run it?

* * * *

YOUR LAWYER will want to know where you keep your important papers — deeds, mortgages, insurance papers. If you inform him well, says the bar, he'll do what's needed to make easy the legal transferring to your family the security you've put aside for them.

Here are a few things about your will:

Don't write it yourself. Get a lawyer.

Don't scratch out, write over, or add to your will. Ask your lawyer to change it if that's what you want.

Sign one copy only.

For the most part use percentages, and don't mention specific sums in your will. Your fortunes may change.

Choose an executor of good sense and integrity.

Your fortunes may change; and so review your will now and then to see that it expresses your wishes.

Check your will when you go to another state. Laws vary.

Don't put off writing your will.

New Space Job for Victor White

Victor White of Palos Verdes Estates has been appointed assistant director for digital systems in the satellite control office of Aerospace Corp.'s El Segundo Technical Operations. This office is responsible for the general systems engineering and technical direction of the Air Force's worldwide satellite command and control network.

White will have responsibility for the digital systems engineering for the Satellite Control Facility including development of computer programs and digital equipment as well as the tracking data reduction system.

Before joining Aerospace in 1962, White was general manager of Logican, Inc., of Redondo Beach.

1964 Merger Trend to Unrelated Lines

The merger pattern in 1964 differs from earlier corporate "marriages," in that the merged firms are unrelated and noncompetitive.

Dolly Madison, purchaser of Huntingburg, is an ice cream manufacturer. Magnavox, which bought Kent-Coffey, makes television sets and radios. Futorian went in with Mohasco, floor covering giant.

But the Kroehler take-over of Murphy-Miller represented the joining together of two firms with common interests.

Stop Wall Marks

To avoid unsightly marks on wallpaper or walls caused by chairs and toys rubbing against them, paste a piece of felt on the backs of chairs, and along the sides of wagons and baby buggies, advises the United Wallpaper Co.

What Happened to 'Extra' Money From Tax Cut?

Ever since Congress voted to cut income taxes in 1964 economists and businessmen have been debating about what happened to the extra money on the paycheck. But nothing ever has been decided.

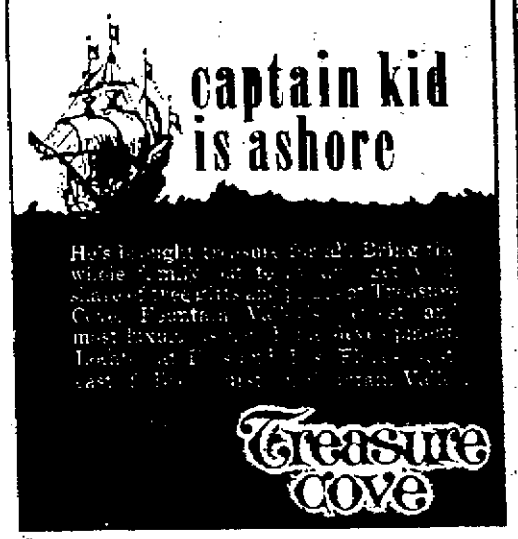

Most people, the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center reports, just didn't feel they had enough extra money resulting from the tax cut to do any real buying. Some other evidence seemed to indicate that taxpayers were using the extra cash to pay for things they had bought before the tax cut. In other words, to cut down their debts.

But, whatever the taxpayer has been doing with the extra money, the Internal Revenue Service has issued a word of warning. The present withholding rates are too low and in April, 1965, most Americans are going to need money to pay what they owe above their withheld taxes, the Service says.

West Gets East L.B. Phone Post

Rollo D. West, southern area commercial administrator for General Telephone Co., has become East Long Beach division manager, according to an announcement by Herbert W. Frahm, southern area general manager.

West succeeds Marvin L. Myrick, recently promoted to the position of assistant to W. Roy Jarmon, vice president - revenue requirements for GT&E Service Corp., with offices in New York City, Frahm said.

ROLLO D. WEST
Division Manager

MARVIN MYRICK
To New York City

* * * *

A NATIVE of Holton, Kan., West came to California with his parents in 1936. He attended Anaheim high school and Fullerton Junior College, where he received an associate of arts degree in engineering. West then continued his education at UCLA.

West joined General Telephone as a draftsman. He rapidly advanced to Southern Area staff administrator in Long Beach. He subsequently held positions as data operations manager in Santa Monica, Orange Division manager in Huntington Beach, southern area commercial administrator in Long Beach and now East Long Beach division manager.

* * * *

MYRICK, a business administration graduate of Montana State University in 1943, also holds a master's degree in business administration for the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He joined General Telephone Co. of the Northwest in Spokane, Wash., in 1948.

He transferred to General Telephone Co. of California in 1960 and held such positions as division manager in Long Beach, Downey and East Long Beach, until his present appointment to GT&E Service Corp.

1,100 Oil Wells Inside City Limits

KILGORE, Tex. (UPI)—The East Texas town of Kilgore has approximately 1,100 oil wells within its limits.

The chamber of commerce says the forest of derricks in the downtown section and other areas of the town rises over the world's greatest concentration of oil wells.

Sales Show 15% Gain

J. C. Penney Co. has reported that September sales rose 15.2% over the same month in 1963 as strong back-to-school business proved to be the major factor for the second straight month.

September volume amounted to an all-time high of $169,096,981 against $146,850,262 a year ago, an increase of $22,246,719 in the 18th straight month of record sales.

President William M. Batten noted in New York City that both the Company's store and catalog operations performed strongly during a month with a late Labor Day which pushed much of the back-to-school buying into September.

* * * *

MOST OF THIS BUYING took place in August last year, when Labor Day fell on Sept. 2 as opposed to this year's Sept. 7.

Another factor in the September performance, Batten said, was a strong promotional program featuring home furnishings and the department store chain's new hard lines.

Space Expert, 'Dear Abby' Among Variety of NAREB Session Speakers

President John T. Webster of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors has announced that speakers at the 57th annual National Association of Real Estate Boards convention Nov. 8-12 in Los Angeles will be as varied as the subjects, which run the gamut from "Management of Small Properties" to "Opportunities for International Investment."

Speakers will range from Dr. George E. Mueller, head of the manned space flight program for the National Aeronautics and Space Adminitsration, to Abigail Van Buren, author of the nationally syndicated "Dear Abby" column.

Starting things off Nov. 8 will be NAREB's open session on license laws featuring the latest ideas on subjects as diverse as Colorado's solution to subdivision abuses and legislative innovations.

* * * *

SPEAKERS for the session include Dr. David T. Rowlands, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania, and Benjamin T. Shuman, general counsel for the Florida Real Estate Commission.

The Board Presidents' and Executives' Conference, with NAREB President Ed Mendenhall and Executive Vice-President Eugene P. Conser as speakers, will be held on the same day.

The schedule for Monday, Nov. 9, contains over 10 separate educational sessions, including the Executive Officers Council program on multiple listing and the NAREB Build America Better Committee meeting on the subject "What is Happening to the Housing Inventory of America."

The NAREB Commiittee on Real Estate Economics and Research panel, also set for Monday, will discuss the "Real Estate Market Outlook." In addition, the Institute of Real Estate Management will sponsor morning and afternoon educational programs on "Management of Small Properties" and Development Around Airports."

* * * *

THE WOMEN'S Council educational program on Monday is an all-day session marking the 25th anniversary of the Council, which met for the first time at the 1939 NAREB convention. The American Chapter, International Real Estate Federation, will hold an open session Monday morning on "Opportunities for International Investment."

The National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers also will have a morning and afternoon general session. Featured speaker for the afternoon session will be Charles Thomas, president of the Irvine Company, Irvine, who will discuss land planning development.

* * * *

TO CONCLUDE the day, Lynn Townsend, president of Chrysler Corporation, will speak at the Society of Industrial Realtors annual Industrialist of the Year award dinner after receiving the bronze award trophy.

The Rev. Tom Haggai, well-known radio commentator who has declared that "no nation is ever murdered; a nation that falls commits suicide," will ask "Will America Be Spared?" in his major address at the first NAREB general session Nov. 10.

Other open sessions on Tuesday will be sponsored by the Brokers Institute and the Executive Officers Council. The American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers and the Managers will hold open educational sessions, and the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will have early morning round tables.

* * * *

HOWARD BERTSCH, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, will be the speaker for the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers general session, Nov. 11, and NAREB will conduct another general session which will explore such timely subjects as re-housing the elderly, nursing home opportunities, and low-income conversions.

Guest speaker for the Women's Council luncheon on Wednesday will be Mrs. Van Buren. Also scheduled for Wednesday are an Appraisers open education session, a Brokers round table, and a Brokers' Traders Club round table.

On Nov. 12, the Brokers and the Brokers' Traders Club will hold final round tables.

NAREB general sessions in the morning and afternoon emphasize important business matters, including the election of new officers and the presentation of awards for advance registration.

* * * *

THE CLOSING address will be given by Dr. George E. Mueller, who will tell of "Our Preparation for the Space Age."

It won't all be work. Special events have been planned for all Realtors to get together for entertainment. First, on Sunday, Nov. 8, is the Omega Tau Rho party at the Hollywood Palladium with music by Lawrence Welk.

On Tuesday night a special trip for Realtors only has been arranged to Disneyland. There's the apraisers' annual banquet, open to all delegates, at the Cocoanut Grove, and the brokers' dinner dance at the Billmore Bowl on Wednesday night. On Thursday, immediately after the final general session, is the NAREB president's reception.

LAW IN THE NEWS

Bar Offers Financial and Legal Checklist

Is your family protection really what you think it is? Or have you missed something?

Has anything happened recently to threaten its security? Have you updated your will? Are there any gaps in your legal affairs?

Maybe it's time you had a financial and a legal checkup, says the State Bar of California. Much can happen in a year. For example:

Has your income changed much? Have you a new job? Have you married? Taken on any new financial burdens?

Has there been a marriage, birth, death, or separation in your family which could affect your family's welfare?

* * * *

TO FIND HOW much you are worth, add up your social security, life insurance, pension plans, savings, your home and other assets. Subtract your debts and the like. Then figure out how much your family can live on without you. Food, clothing, mortgage or rent payments, costs of educating children, what income your wife should have and the protection your family needs against sickness.

As a result of your checkup you should know your strength and weakness. You can then answer: Will your program do what you want it to? Your lawyer can help you here.

Forum Designed to Aid Salesmen

The Thursday breakfast meeting of the North Long Beach Realty Club will highlight an open forum led by Hursell "Red" Johnson of Johnson Realty.

This type of program, which has proved popular at the club, is designed especially this time to help salesmen, who are urged to submit questions and problems.

Newly installed President Ginnie Bemis of Bemis Realty will introduce the speaker. The club meets at 8 a.m. in the Crown Bowl, 1301 Artesia Blvd.

Garden Park Estates Notable in Concept

A home today must provide more than just shelter. It should fulfill the aesthetic needs of man, which includes an attractive floor plan, and easy - to - live - with color scheme.

Garden Park Estates in Garden Grove were designed by top Southern California architects, David Freedman and William A. Bray. They created dwellings that combine beauty with functionality. All interiors were professionally color coordinated.

* * * *

STUNNING DESIGNS are available in one and two stories with three, four and five bedrooms and two baths. Interior space provides "entertaining" space, plus areas for families to find necessary privacy and quiet.

Garden Park Estates is one of the most successful residential communities in the Southland and the officials credit this to well conceived floor plans and convenient location. Included in the choice are eight basic designs.

All necessary community services are within easy reach, including good schools, shopping, churches, fine restaurants and transportation.

* * * *

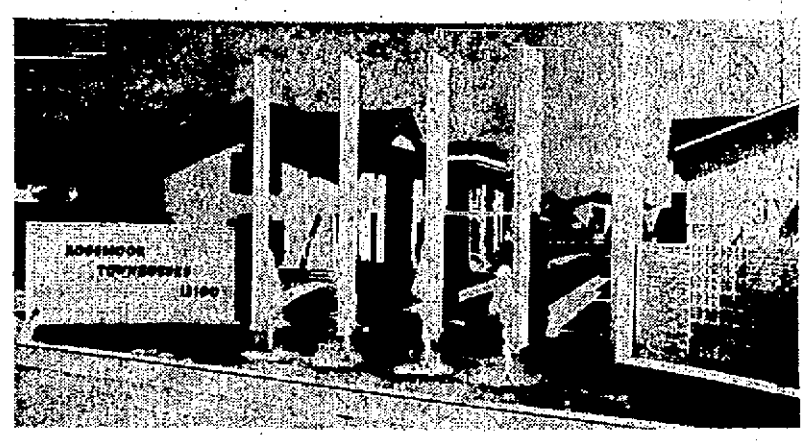

INTERIORS have genuine lath and plaster walls, gas forced air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch, built-in gas range and oven, pullman lavatory cabinets with "marble like" top and splash and "Mr. and Mrs." medicine cabinets.

Priced from $20,950 to $27,900 full price, veterans can purchase a Garden Park Estates' home with nothing down, except costs and impounds. Monthly payments start from $115.73, including principal and interest.

The homes are located at the corner of Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway in Garden Grove.

Rossmoor Townhouses Find Favor With Luxury-Minded

FOUNTAINS PLAY AT ENTRANCE
Looking through fountain entrance, group of Rossmoor Townhouses is seen with recreation area in background. A 40% sell-out has been reported.

Within three weeks following the preview showing and grand opening announcements, success of Rossmoor Townhouses is evident. 40% of the homes now sold. The sales pace continues to be brisk at the $4 million luxury development within the walled community of the original Rossmoor.

Rossmoor Townhouses, conceived and created as an outstanding sub-community of in-town residences, was designed for carefree, Southern California living by the entire family. The development offers model displays of expertly designed townhouse homes amidst the splendor of a country club setting.

* * * *

PRICED from $19,500, these two, three and four-bedroom units provide a grant deed and full home-ownership tax advantages. Luxury touches to enhance any home include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting; an all-electric Medalion kitchen with built-in oven and range, dishwasher, disposal and washer-dryer combination; private concrete patio; two car garage; and absolute privacy (no common walls.)

The project is located within the Rossmoor business center and is within walking distance of banks, shops, library, theatre and department stores, according to Bill Ballon and Bernie Solomon, developers.

* * * *

A FORMAL FOUNTAIN entrance keynotes the elegant setting, with ample guest parking provided.

Each Rossemoor homeowner will have virtually at his door step recreational facilities geared to every member of the family, including a huge swimming pool, a jacuzzi whirl-pool, a children's wading pool, a private clubhouse, putting greens, and shuffleboard courts.

In keeping with the planned community of Rossmoor, a single-residence appearance is achieved through the unique design of the structures, each contain four separate homes. The two-story townhouses are individually secluded, with double walls, fortified with rockwool and acoustical sound proofing for complete noise cut-off.

* * * *

UTILITIES are underground, with hidden roof TV antennas. The 15-acre development is lushly landscaped with unusual split-level terrain treatment.

Rossmoor Townhouses may be reached from Los Angeles via the Long Beach Harbor freeways to the San Diego Freeway; south to Los Alamitos north exit; turn left five blocks on Los Alamitos Boulevard to Rossmoor Center. From Long Beach, 7th Street to Los Alamitos Boulevard is recommended. The sales office is open from 10 a.m. till 8 p.m.

Winners to Be Named in Architectural Contest

Mt. Olympus, a $110 million mountain-top development of custom home sites in Hollywood, will receive world wide attention Monday when winners of a $50,000 international architectural contest are announced at a reception to be held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Russ Vincent, developer of the Mt. Olympus project, says the competition, sponsored by the Mt. Olympus Division of the Russ Vincent Realty Co., in Hollywood, has drawn more than 22,000 inquiries from 75 countries.

* * * *

"THE ENTRIES represent about $55 million in architectural man hours alone", said Vincent, who conceived the competition as a means of producing home designs for the sites on the mountain, contoured by bulldozers and earthmovers now for two years.

When this project is complete, says Vincent, he will have sites for 700 custom homes, costing up to $500,000 in an area other builders classified as "goat land" and impossible to develop.

Vincent's project has brought architectural entries from Iron Curtain countries, Europe, Africa, Asia, South America, Australia and the United States.

* * * *

THE AWARD MONEY will be divided as follows: first prize, three design categories, $10,000 each, with an additional $5,000 Grand Prize for the best of three; second prize, three design categories; $2,500 each; third prize, three design categories, $1000 each; fourth prize, two winners in each design category, $500 each, and 5th prize, 5 winners in each design category, $100 each.

EVENT FOR NOVEMBER

Death Valley Sets 15th Encampment

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

One of the best known and perhaps the most colorful of all annual events held in the Southwest desert is the Death Valley Encampment in Death Valley National Monument—a trackless wasteland of sand and death-dealing sun that spelled disaster for many immigrants plodding their way toward the Pacific to open the West.

Death Valley '49ers, Inc., a group formed in 1949 at the centennial commemoration marking the successful exodus of the Jayhawker Manly Party from the Valley after being separated from the wagon train, plans a program that should attract hundreds of visitors from all over the Southwest for the 15th annual encampment, Nov. 5-8 in Death Valley.

Exhibits, special breakfasts, evening camp fires, guided tours, daily events and programs, and the opening of the ghost town of Ballarat in Panamint Valley will feature this year's crowded program dedicated to the memory of Ralph P. Merritt, past president of the '49ers who died last year.

* * * *

THE ENCAMPMENT'S opening day program begins at 7:30 p.m. with a camp fire and community sing at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel, dancing at the hotel and a naturalist talk at the Death Valley Museum and Visitor's Center Auditorium.

The second day begins with an 8 a.m. annual author's breakfast ($1.75) at the Furnace Creek Golf Course. At 2:30 a dedication of the 1964 Encampment in honor of Merritt will be held in the museum. Meanwhile, riders of the third annual Death Valley Trail Ride are scheduled to arrive after a 6-day, 150-mile ride from Boron—the route followed by the famed 20 Mule Team Borax Wagons.

Another feature of the morning program will be a conducted tour (in your car) of Ubehebe Crater, Death Valley, Scotty's Castle and other points, starting from the museum. Evening programs will include a naturalist talk, a camp fire and dance.

* * * *

A CHUCKWAGON lunch and Burro Flapjack Sweepstakes at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel will highlight Saturday's (Nov. 7) program. Two outstanding photography programs are also scheduled, the first at 8 a.m. with a breakfast on Furnace Creek Golf Course, the other at 7:30 p.m. with a photographic show in color near Furnace Creek Ranch.

Another feature of the busy Saturday calendar will be the first annual Old Fashioned Fiddlers' Contest, to be held following the photographic show. Outstanding fiddlers from throughout the West will participate. The day's festivities close with a dance at 9:30 at Furnace Creek Ranch.

Protestant church services will be held at 7 a.m. Sunday in Desolation Canyon. Catholic Mass will be said in the museum at 7:30 a.m.

* * * *

TECHNIQUES of desert painting will be discussed by outstanding Western artists at the annual Artists' Breakfast ($1.75) at 8:30 a.m. at Furnace Creek Golf Course. There will be conducted tours during the day and the Encampment will close with a 7:30 p.m. talk by Park Naturalist Dwight Warren in the museum.

Special exhibits all four days at Furnace Creek Ranch will include, in addition to art, Indian artifacts, weapons of the '49ers—pistols, rifles, Bowie knives, relics of Wells Fargo Stagecoach days—gold, gems and minerals.

Those who plan to attend the Encampment should come prepared for fun, but also against their own discomfort. The nights probably will be chilly. If you have a trailer, camp with the trailer crowd. Bring your own duffle, and a wood supply if you camp out. Ample bedding is a must. Bring stools for the various evening activities.

* * * *

MEALS ARE available at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel, Furnace Creek Ranch and Inn, Scotty's Castle, Wild Rose Station, Panamint Springs, Death Valley Junction and Beatty. If you hope to get a room during the event, reservations should be sought at once at Furnace Creek Ranch and Inn (Fred Harvey Co., 530 W. 6th St., Los Angeles 14); Stove Pipe Wells Hotel (412 W. 6th St., Los Angeles), or Scotty's Castle (1462 N. Stanley Ave., Hollywood 46).

Magnificent Mermaid

MORE than the usual number of travelers are returning home with snapshots of Copenhagen's Little Mermaid, the famous bronze statue inspired by the fairytales of Hans Christian Anderson. Long a celebrity, she received an added, and mournful, renown last winter when her head was lost to a vandal's hacksaw. The act brought forth indignant comment from all over the world, and later, universal expressions of relief when the Danes were able to recast the head from the original mold and faithfully restore their little lady.

The mermaid is a prime example of what has been called symbolic statuary—a sculptured work that captures and comes to represent the spirit of an entire city or nation. She illustrates the affection, even reverence, that this kind of art often commands.

OTHER notable examples of statuary that have taken on this symbolic character, the power to stand as a kind of sentimental trademark, are the Statue of Liberty, the heroic David of Florence, the Sphinx in the Nile Valley, the mischievous Manneckin Pis in Brussels, and—newest on the list—Puerto Rico's El Pescador.

A note on El Pescador is timely, since hundreds of thousands of Americans from the mainland will be getting their first view of this dramatic work of art during the coming winter tourist season to Puerto Rico. Striding across a terrace overlooking a beach in San Juan, the gaunt bronze El Pescador, sculpture of an attenuated fisherman, seems to capture perfectly the strength of a people who have won world fame for their recovery program called Operation Bootstrap.

Miss Liberty, probaby the most famous statue in North America, was a gift from France to the people of the United States more than 75 years ago. The statue weighs 220 tons and stands 151 feet tall on a pedestal base of another 89 feet.

DENMARK'S Little Mermaid, just larger than lifesize and a miniature compared to Miss Liberty, is loved by the citizens of Copenhagen almost as if she were human. In the cold winter of 1962 someone covered her icy shoulders with a fur coat. College students fill her lap with bouquets in the spring, and sailors salute her for good luck. She has perched atop her rock in Copenhagen's harbor since 1913.

The small bronze statue caled Mannekin Pis is known to all Belgium's population as the "oldest citizen of Brussels." The impudent little fountain decoration has existed for centuries, but careful research has not uncovered its origin.

Michelangelo's beautiful David, symbol of the Italian Renaissance city of Florence, is said to have been conceived as a marble eulogy to Lorenzo de Medici and the city he dreamed Florence would become. Today the statue bears eloquent testimony to the magnificence of that era.

RIO DE JANEIRO'S famed figure of Christ the Redeemer, which stretches its arms high above the harbor from Corcovado Peak, is one of the world's largest statues. Built of reinforced concrete with funds collected over 10 years from the people of Brazil, the statue stands 125 feet high and weighs 1,145 tons, including the pedestal.

An immense bronze buddha, the Daibutsu (Great Buddha) at Kamakura is Japan's best known statuary. Called "one of the most beautiful images in existence," it represents the Amida Buddha, or Lord of Boundless Light. Seated on lotus petals in a temple plaza, with palms upward and eyes half closed, the Daibutsu expresses the ideal repose and calm sought by the Buddhist religion. It was created in 1252.

OLDEST and probably best known of the world's statuary monuments is the Great Sphinx of Giza, a lion's body with human head carved of limestone. Dating from the 26th Century, B. C., the Sphinx bears some of the features of King Khafre, the pharoah who built the second pyramid at Giza.

For the traveler, these unique statues—whether in Egypt, Puerto Rico or wherever—take on the quality of a trademark, symbolizing always the place or country where they were seen.

Plan a Trip Into Pacific?

A comprehensive 1965 Pacific Explorer's Kit, with advice on all subjects of travel in the Pacific, is ready for those planning a trip into the sunset during the coming year.

The kit contains a new color map of the Pacific, a "trip planner" map so that you can sketch your own route, and individual folders with details about the history, climate, sightseeing, folkways, hotel and travel accommodations and amusements of each of the 22 Pacific countries. A currency converter also is included.

To obtain an "Explorer's Kit," send $1 to Department PD, Pacific Area Travel Association, 442 Post St., San Francisco, Calif. 94102.

Hotels Thrive

The Berlin Tourist Office reports that hotel business in the city rose 31% during the first three months of 1964 as compared to last year. Some 400,000 overnights were booked; in addition, about 50,000 overnights were recorded in private homes.

Around the World With

DELAPLANE

"We will spend some time in Europe and would like advice on a place to spend the winter. . . ."

BETTER get as far south as you can. Europe has a cold that cuts right through you in the winter. And while many countries say everything is centrally heated, this just isn't so. The ski resorts and Scandinavian countries are equipped to heat their houses but not the others.

I've also found that heat (when you find it) is regulated to 60 degrees or even less. The only warm place I ever found in Europe is down on the southern coast of Spain. Say around Malaga. South of Portugal should be warm too. And there are new hotels there.

"How would you handle money on an extended stay? Traveler's checks?"

IN ENGLAND, I opened a pound account with a London Branch of Bank of America. When I was moving around, I bought dollar travelers checks from them.

"What would be the cheapest country to use as a base?"

Spain, Ireland or Austria. Spain is warmest. In Ireland you don't have a language problem. Austria has the best fond of the three.

"Should we buy foreign currency in the U.S. before we go?"

NO POINT in it. Exchange is just as good there as here. Change at banks or money changers, though. Hotels take a slice. And over a long haul, this can be quite a bit.

"We are both healthy. Can we work in foreign countries?"

REQUIRES an awful lot of red tape and usually you can't. Most countries follow rule: the employer must prove you are so expert that he cannot find a local citizen to do the job. It's not impossible. But I wouldn't count on it.

"If we travel, what is the cheapest way?"

BUS IS cheapest. But if you are moving a lot, you might get the Eurailpass. You must buy it through a travel agent here. For a little over $100 you get on any train in Europe anywhere, anytime and have thousands of miles of transportation. More than you can use.

"What are the most expensive things we will have to buy and how can we avoid paying too much."

AMERICAN cigarettes will cost 50 cents in most countries (except Spain were they will be 35). Seventy cents in England, $1 in Greece. Go local or quit smoking. If you have your own car, gasoline will run 60 to 80 cents a gallon. But the little European cars do not use much. Tissues like Kleenex are high.

"I want to see all of Mexico... close-up ...and for less money

"That's why I'm taking a Greyhound Escorted Tour of MEXICO!"

Really see the beauty and charm of Mexico on a fun-packed Greyhound Escorted Tour. Ride through the heart of the country, within touching distance of the sights...within hearing distance of the sounds. See things you can't see from a railroad track or a high-flying plane. What's more, by Greyhound you ride in your own private air-conditioned luxury coach...a bilingual escort explains all points of interest... you stay at first-class hotels every night. And remember, Greyhound gives you more Mexico for your money than planes, trains or driving yourself.

SEE IT ALL: 15 different Mexican states...scores of towns and villages off the beaten track... places tourists seldom go! Plus Mexico City, Taxco, Chihuahua, Guadalajara, Mazatlan, and much more! All transportation included.

Rossmoor Leisure World Reports Luxury Manors Over Half Taken

More than 60% of the 502 luxury membership ownership manors have subscribed in the 15th and final unit nearing completion at Ross W. Cortese's pilot "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World, at Seal Beach.

C. Robert Moon, vice president of New Horizons, Inc., handling national sales for Leisure World communities, said: "Very soon the last available land at this popular community will be fully sold. Some have two-story manors, the first to be constructed there, in order to make full use of the land."

"The San Diego Freeway now serves the community to the site, making nearby Long Beach, Orange County towns and Los Angeles only minutes away."

* * * *

FIRST RESIDENTS of Unit 15 already have moved in their luxury manors which are larger in size than those in the completed portion of the bustling community of nearly 11,000.

Leisure World is located just the "right" distance from the ocean and the boating marinas and all recreational facilities are completed and in use. The community contains an excellent golf course, three luxury clubhouses, an amphitheater and a $710,000 medical center — all bubbling with activity from dawn to dusk.

One-bedroom manors are priced from $12,595 to $12,995. Two-bedroom Unit 15 manors run $14,395 to $16,495.

The average monthly payment is $145, subject to modification. All loans are insured FHA at 5¼% interest.

Monthly payments take care of principal, interest, taxes, insurance and many other things.

The three clubhouses contain private dining rooms for large family parties and pot-luck dinners. These are also card rooms, classrooms for adult education conducted by instructors from Orange Coast and Long Beach State Colleges, a lawn bowling green, shuffleboard and roque courts; cards and billiards rooms, large dancing areas; wood-porking, ceramic-making and lapidary shops, fully equipped sewing and art rooms and various other facilities to house the 84 clubs and social organizations thriving in the community.

* * * *

MONTHLY payment also includes use of the golf course, the heated swimming and therapeutic pools, the intracommunity transportation system to all areas, including the 12-acre shopping center; a 24-hour security guard; exterior maintenance for all manors, maintenance of streets, gardens and community buildings.

Also included in the payment is 80% of the retail value of medical costs, including in-home nurse calls, calls to the doctor's office at the community's Medical Center, complete diagnostic facilities, minor surgery at the Medical Center and services of all specialist, ambulance service and prescription drugs.

An all-electric kitchen composed of General Electric range, oven, refrigerator and garbage disposal; complete the domestic picture. Future replacements are made when necessary.

Down-payments for one-bedroom manors range from $1,059 to $1,085, and two-bedroom garden manors range from $1,175 to $1,309. A portion of the down-payment — $381 to $393 for one-bedroom units, and $435 to $498 for two bedroom units — is used in the purchase of a share of stock in a Seal Beach Mutual Corp., entitling the buyer to occupy the manor of his choice in purchase upon execution of an occupancy agreement.

No physical examination is required prior to purchase.

Leisure World's western boundary is the Long Beach city line at Los Alamitos Boulevard. Frequent service public transportation makes Los Angeles and surrounding towns immediately accessible.

STRIKE UP THE BAND!
All three clubhouses at Ross W. Cortese's pilot "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World at Seal Beach, usually are booming with dance music on Saturday nights. Dance classes also are popular during weekdays.

Beach Fans Drawn to Ballerina Homes

Several families who came to the beach area during the summer to rent beach cabins and apartments ended up making a permanent move to the beach area, it was reported by Jack Hanscom, general manager of Mesa Realty, sales agents for Ballerina Homes.

"After several summers of frantic shopping for weekly rentals, they decided it would be convenient to live near the beach all year," he indicated.

Ballerina Homes, built by Oka Brothers-Buchanan-Hudson Development Co., are satisfying the needs of families who want to be near the ocean, but at the same time within easy driving distance to work in Orange and Los Angeles counties, Hanscom said.

* * * *

THE HOMES are offered in three floor plans with 13 distinctive exteriors. The floor plans include planned traffic patterns, laundry-hobby rooms, pantries, central halls, and breakfast areas, as well as sun decks.

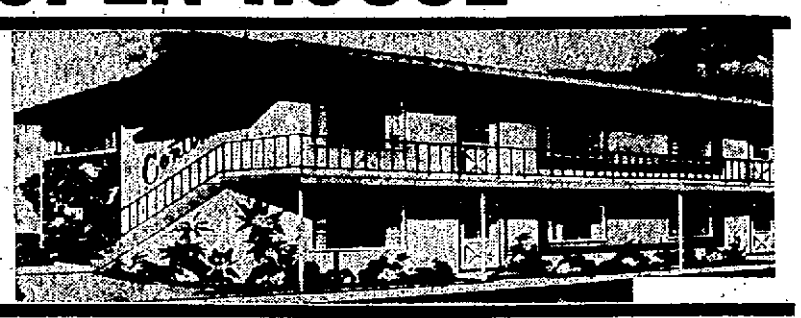

The spacious rooms are fully livable and designed with varying family taste and furniture placement in mind. Family-sized living rooms are high-lighted with handsome stone or brick fireplaces.

Bedrooms, too, are spacious, with huge wardrobe closets. Master bedrooms boast dressing rooms and private, double pullman baths.

In commenting on the unusual low starting price of $23,900, Ted Hudson, partner in the building firm, said, "People think moving to the beach area is expensive, especially when they get luxury features such as carpeting and fencing. Lots of our buyers have expressed their pleasure at being proved wrong."

Ballerina Homes are reached by driving south on Brookhurst Street and turning west, or down Beach Boulevard and taking a turn to the east.

Premier Homes Opening Exhibition Continues This Week at Huntington

Premier Homes in Huntington Beach will continue its grand opening celebration through the coming week, according to Frank H. McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks, sales agents.

The realtor reports that last Sunday's initial showing of the new Premier Homes subdivision drew a large number of visitors from the Long Beach area and eastern Los Angeles County.

"There can be no doubt that the extension of the San Diego Freeway to Bolsa Chica Road in Huntington Beach is generating tremendous new interest in Huntington Beach as a residential area," McFarland said.

* * * *

PREMIER HOMES are offered on a "4 Ways Better" approach to design, construction and features. Most important of the "4 Ways" to visiting homemakers, McFarland reports, is the "Total Convenience" kitchen package. Kitchens are all-electric and are equipped with name brand built-ins. A double oven with independent controls, range, range hood and dishwasher are included.

A surface-mounted food preparation center, including a blender and mixer, is a standard item in every Premier kitchen. Counter tops are ceramic tile and furniture-finished cabinets are featured.

* * * *

THE HOMES offer custom extras such as an atrium-type tiled entry, roof guttering all around, and a fully finished Premium area, with plumbing roughed in for future bath as and when desired by the homeowner.

The homes are available in three and four-bedroom, two-bath models, all with a family room. Rear yards are completely fenced, with an access gate. Front yard landscaping is included.

Priced from $23,400, Premier Homes are offered on VA no down and FHA minimum down terms; 29 and 35-year loans are available, and there are no second trust deeds.

* * * *

"HOMEBUYERS who want to have their home purchase consolidated into one convenient monthly payment especially appreciate the Premier financing plans," McFarland said.

Visitors can reach the site via the San Diego Freeway, turning off on Bolsa Chica Road and driving south to Warner. Turn left on Warner to Premier Homes model showcase.

Visitors taking the Santa Ana Freeway turn off on Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) and drive south to Warner, turning right on Warner.

Lakewood's Sunshine Homes Selling 2 a Day

Families have been selecting homes at Sunshine Homes-Lakewood at the rate of two a day since the planned development opened, reports Wally Dalzell, community manager for S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, the builder-developer.

"Almost 60 of the 132 homes have gone," Dalzell said, "and when the two entrance bridges are completed, the remaining residences are expected to be reserved in a matter of weeks."

The one and two-story houses, available in five floor plans, are finished in 15 exterior stylings, and have three or four bedrooms with two baths, said Dalzell.

* * * *

FORMAL living rooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms, convertible dens, garden courts and oversize double garages are community features. In addition to front yard landscaping and rear yard fencing, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting and custom living room, traverse draperies are included in prices ranging from $22,995 to $26,195 with minimum down on conventional terms, Dalzell added.

Other extras include custom light fixtures, custom wallpapers, thermostatically-controlled forced air heating, full wall wardrobes, copper plumbing and double linen storage.

* * * *

WALK-THROUGH kitchens have a built-in double door gas oven, cooktop, range hood with light and fan, automatic dishwasher, disposer, double sinks and pantry, plus an outside entrance to service areas.

Situated on large level lots, each Sunshine Home carries a written one-year warranty on defects in materials or workmanship, provided by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, one of the largest residential builders in the United States and a wholly owned subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum Corp.

* * * *

LOCATED near Centralia Street and Pioneer Boulevard in the newly annexed portion of the City of Lakewood, Sunshine Homes-Lakewood are close to schools, churches and shopping centers.

Furnished models are open daily from 10 a. m. to dusk and may be reached via the Artesia Boulevard off ramp from Long Beach Freeway, east to Pioneer Boulevard, right to Centralia Road and right again to Gridley Road.

Val Sage Back in Role He's Made His Own

By ELISE EMERY

When Val Sage goes on stage Thursday night at the Concert Hall, lavishly arrayed as the King of Siam, he will be playing the role in "The King and I" for the 121st time.

"I never tire of it," he said.

"'The King and I' has every element — a strong story, lovely score, great dance sequences and a ballet, gorgeous scenery and costumes.

"Most important, it's timely. It mirrors the basic clash of East and West and it teaches that each has something to give the other."

Long Beach playgoers obviously agree.

"We have had more requests to repeat this show than any we have ever done," reported Harvey Waggoner, general manager of Long Beach Civic Light Opera which will perform the Rodgers and Hammerstein hit Thursday through next Sunday and Oct. 21 through 25. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Matinees are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. next Sunday and Saturday, Oct. 24.

Sage first became King in Orange Coast College's production in August, 1960. Actor and singer with top bands and major night clubs, he had long been an admirer of "The King and I."

During a rehearsal break, wearing walking shorts, tennis shoes and white T-shirt, he talked about the role.

"My friends urged me to try out for the

Models Janet Bohne, left, and Vicki Hobbs give football a zany try—agree game's a ball.

If You Know Gamesmanship:

Football's a Real Kick

By MARY NETH

For the girl who likes to tackle new ideas—football can be a real kick, a ball.

Believe it or not, some girls really follow the games; know what's going on. But, for many a girl (most we think) the football season means huddling in dejection while the better half (or boy friend) gives the huddling teams (not her) his attention.

It's these girls who need to know that football CAN be a ball—that to make the best of the game they need only play a game—that a bit of pretense can turn them into armchair pros.

So what if you're one of the feminine many who profess to hate the scrambly sport: to detest weekends built around a blaring TV, to look upon trips to drafty stadiums with nothing but repugnance. All the better.

That's a sure sign you're ready to kick off with "the feminine football offensive"—and score a real goal.

THE LINE-UP for this top secret play consists of a dash of Steven Potter wit (he, as you might remember, is author of such invaluable books as "Gamesmanship" and "Lifemanship") combined with just a little knowledge—not a bit dangerous in this case.

It seems that football fan-atics are terribly easy to fool and twice as easy to impress. (So busy watching the game, you know.)

And wouldn't you like to do just that?

Wouldn't you like, just for once, to say the devastatingly right thing? For instance when hubby shouts, "Touchdown!" wouldn't it be nice to answer "Sorry dear, they're calling it back—backfield in motion, you know?"

Well, you can.

And learning how doesn't have to take up a lot of time, either.

FIRST, ACT enthusiastic (hard, but try). Second, don't, whatever you do, fumble and ask male fan what's going on—it's like asking him to teach you how to drive the car (you know what that's like).

Here a book will help. We suggest skimming through one of the following: "How the Pros Play Football," (Buffums' Book Store); "Do You Know Your Football?" (Long Beach Public Library); or "Football Fundamentals for Feminine Fans," a booklet written for women by a woman (Mrs. Charlie Conerly)—send 35 cents to the Sporting News, St. Louis, Mo.

ALL RIGHT, you've read one and find you're still lost somewhere between a touchback, punt, 20 yard line, and a down.

Don't despair. It's possible, by taking advantage of the next few tips, (culled from Mrs. Conerly's book) to give the appearance of having lots more knowledge than you possess.

"Take five or six minutes first of all," she advises, "and memorize all the referees signals."

It's not necessary to understand what they mean as far as the game goes. The important thing is to be able to scoop the announcer by shouting quickly before those around you can hear: "Incomplete Pass"—or whatever.

This done, check the scoreboard and mumble "second and eight"—whatever it says—that's the number of the down and the amount of yardage needed—it'll sound real great coming from you particularly if tossed-off in an off-hand manner.

Also, before the game begins—check the sports section of the newspaper—reading the advance writeup of the game.

YOU CAN USE the opinions of the experts as to outstanding players, who's apt to win, etc., as pretty effective half time gossip. Don't say too much—a haughty, rather supercilious attitude helps win points here.

A bit of subtle name-dropping is permissible, too. Try something like: "I see where Tom Jones is leading in interceptions: hope he does well today."

And, of course, when your fan-friend leaps to his feet and shouts—leap to yours and shout too.

And when he pounds his fist against his forehead—moan right along with him.

But, NEVER, NEVER console him with such a remark as "Don't get upset dear, it's just a game." It's doubtful, he's ever figured that out.

See, football can be fun. It can be an exercise in sharpening a gal's wit.

Football is a game of physical and mental skill and wholesome deception played by two teams of 11 men on a grassy field 100 yards long, 53⅓ yards wide. If you don't want hubby to be 'misunderstood,' pretend you understand it.

Mexican Fete for Bosses

A Mexican fiesta is planned by Long Beach Chapter of Executives' Secretaries, Inc., for Thursday with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club. The event will honor executives of member firms.

Sra. Consuelo Costello De Bonzo of Casa La Golondrina in Olivera Street will attend the party. Musicians, singers and dancers from the restaurant will present a Mexican serenade. Program chairman is Helen Harshaw.

Kathleen Shea, president, has announced that Mexican costumes are optional. Many members will wear Spanish combs and mantillas.

OLE!

Feted at Bridal Showers

Barbara Nishkian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nishkian of Long Beach, bride-elect of Edward E. Halligan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Halligan of San Marino, has been the inspiration for a series of pre-nuptial parties. The wedding will be an event of next Saturday.

Mrs. L. L. Bendiger was the hostess at a luncheon kitchen and linen shower at her home, 744 Santiago Ave.

The Reef Restaurant was chosen by Mrs. David Smith for a luncheon kitchen and linen shower.

Mrs. Edward Hall of Santa Ana honored the bride-to-be at luncheon with a crystal and linen shower at the Stuft Shirt Restaurant in Newport Beach.

A miscellaneous shower and tea was hostessed by Mrs. Sheldon Medall at her Palos Verdes residence, with Virginia Halligan and Mrs. Fred Schmidt as co-hostesses.

Senior Citizens

National League of Senior Citizens will meet Monday at noon at Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave., for dessert luncheon with a program following at 1:30 p.m.

Music Club Year to Open

Mrs. Oliver S. Benediktson will begin her term as president of Woman's Music Club Wednesday.

Following the musical program (Ebell Auditorium, 1:30 p.m.) there will be a president's guest day reception and tea in Ebell patio. Members and guests are invited.

Mrs. Benediktson has been active in the creative section of the club since becoming a member in 1951, three years after arrival here from North Dakota.

She received formal education in piano and dramatics and at one time traveled with the Fairfield Play Production Company.

TODAY, Mrs. Benediktson is affiliated with LuValian Poetry Club, California Federation of Chaparrel Poets (where she has won several poetry festival awards) is a past worthy priestess of Nazareth White Shrine; a member of Bettina Chapter, Eastern Star, and member of Daughters of the Nile, where she sings in Supreme White Shrine and Nile choirs.

She also is a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church choir and president of its women's organization; holds membership in Patrons of City College and the Friday Morning Discussion and Presidents Clubs.

Mrs. Robert P. West has arranged Wednesdays musical program which will include Greig and Chopin played by Dorothy Judy Klein, concert pianist. Mrs. Richard M. Le Rossignol is in charge of the reception.

Community Players Plan Dinner to Award Ethels

Nineteen years ago the annual awarding of Mrs. Walter Case trophies to best players of the year at Long Beach Community Playhouse was introduced.

The annual awards dinner will be held this year on Oct. 18 at the Petroleum Club with a 6:30 p.m. reception preceding dinner at 7.

Announcement of the winners, a closely guarded secret, and awarding the statuettes, popularly called "Ethels," will provide the highlights of the evening.

* * * *

NOMINEES of the year, from which winners have been selected, are Jess May, Lee Rhoads, Claudene Atkinson, Carolyn Conwell, Lorrie Richards, Jerry Brady, Ken Harkey, Ralph Richmond, Hal Slatton, Dennis Wheeler, Frankie Brady, Darlene Chaffee, Marilyn Herman, Ethyl Arntzen, Katheryn Offill, Mark Atkinson and Anita Slatton.

Under the direction of Harry J. Moore, president, awards will be presented by last year's winners: Dan Baurac and Mary Lou Grubb, leading man and woman; Gil De Rush and Katheryn Offill, supporting man and woman; Frank Keith, bit part; and Pat Shimpock, juvenile.

The most popular play of the past year will be chosen by popular vote.

Greg Killingsworth, director-producer of Virginia Country Theater, will present his teen-age players in a satire on opening night and selections from musical productions. His cast will include Pam Conatser, leading lady of "Green Grow the Lilacs," and Pegi Boucher, star in "Miss Pell is Missing," current production at Community Playhouse.

* * * *

FEATURED in the decor will be enlargement of pictures from the seven plays of the 1963-64 season.

Robert O. Baker served as chairman and Mrs. Edwin W. Hyka as secretary, of the committee which selected nominees for awards following each play and cast a secret ballot for the winners.

John McNamara, playhouse director, and Elaine Herman, chairman of workshops, will be presented.

ENJOYING A REVIEW of scrapbook pictures of the annual presentation of Mrs. Walter Case trophies to best players of the year are Robert O. Baker, chairman and Mrs. Edwin W. Hyka, secretary, of the 1963-64 awards committee. Former member of the little theater group may make reservations for this year's awards dinner to be held Oct. 18 at Petroleum Club by telephoning the playhouse.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Rubber Band Will Hold Scarf Snugly in Place

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—To make a pretty and snug headband, take a small silk or chiffon neckerchief-size scarf and fold into a rectangle. Tie the ends to a rubber band. It will fit the head snugly and really stay in place. They are are easy to put on. You can have several by using old scarves that are no longer used for their original purpose.—D.M.

DEAR POLLY—A package of children's modeling clay is an important item in my emergency drawer. I use it often and for many things. It will temporarily stop a leak until help comes or you can fix it. A generous lump trust on a pencil or toothpick will hold the note that you leave for your family when away. The same will hold place cards or favors at a child's party. If modeled in bird, animal or other chosen forms, the favors can be most attractive.—MRS. R. B.

DEAR POLLY—Two invaluable articles for "batching" college men are a telephone book and a flannel "cap" for a broom. The telephone book will supply most of the addresses of friends and the flannel cap on the end of the broom takes the place of a dust mop. This saves the expense of buying a mop. The can works best if an elastic band is sewed around the top to secure it to the broom. When the caps get dirty just throw them in the washing machine.—D. D. B.

DEAR POLLY—Recently I bought some soiled white candles at an end-of-the-year sale knowing I could clean them. A tissue or cotton ball saturated with rubbing alcohol compound does this beautifully. Nail polish remover will also clean them but I like the gloss left after using the rubbing alcohol.—MRS. H. C. A.

GIRLS — This is a good trick to know as spring house cleaning time rolls around, for candles get dingy and dirty just standing around in their holders. I, too, like the alcohol treatment better.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — When I fried bacon and then eggs in the electric frying pan, the bacon left a residue causing the eggs to stick. Now I line the pan with foil for the bacon frying, slide it out, letting the fat slip off into the skillet ready for the eggs. Both fry beautifully and no more sticking.—MRS. W. R. M.

GIRLS—Bacon is delicious when cooked on top of the foil, crisp without being so brittle that it is easily broken but it does take a bit longer than when cooked directly in the pan. I started the cooking with a cold pan, cold foil and bacon. Eggs do not stick so I, for one, have permanently adopted the method.—POLLY.

Second Bixby Tour Slated

CALIFORNIA ROOTS—One of ranch's two giant rubber trees, second oldest of their species in the state.

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

If you were one of hundreds pushed aside by the thundering herd that quietly and reverently stampeded Bixby Ranch during the recent Women's Architectural League Home Tour, you'll have another go at it.

The famed hacienda on the hill will be opened for an encore tour next Sunday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Arthur V.Hoyer, WAL president. president.

"When WAL announced the historic landmark would be opened to the public for the first time as one of the houses on our annual Home Tour, we were besieged with requests for tickets," Mrs. Hoyer said.

The day of the tour, Long Beach turned out en masse—3,800 strong—to see the famed ranch, oldest residential landmark in the vicinity of Long Beach.

"Many people had to be turned away, others could not wait in the long lines," Mrs. Hoyer pointed out.

SPURRED ON by the overwhelming interest in their family abode, surviving Bixbys (all live elsewhere) offered to open the home—now manned by a staff of caretakers—for a second time.

The tour again will be sponsored by the Women's Architectural League. There will be a donation charge of $1 for adults, 50 cents for children to cover insurance and other costs.

Tickets will be available at the ranch next Sunday, Mrs. Hoyer said. There will be no preliminary sale.

The historic domain on the hilltop off E. Seventh Street was for almost a century—more years than Long Beach has been a city—the home, the livelihood, the life of the Bixby family.

Officially known as Rancho Los Alamitos, it was first part of a vast Spanish land grant (26,600 acres), owned by Don Manuel Nieto. It was he who, in 1784, built the original adobe structure, now the front portion of the 19-room ranch house.

To stroll through the rambling structure, to view the deserted barns, the now-idle farm machinery, to amble through the gardens that surround the house is to relive the romance of early-day California.

For here are some of the Golden West's deepest roots. The beholder can not escape the spell—the magic union of man and nature that is California..

Mrs. Gray Serves in Heart Spotlight

Mrs. Brewster Gray, prominent local civic leader, was appointed this week as president of the Women's Heart League of the Long Beach Heart Association.

Announcement was made by Dr. Oscar Shadle, president of the Long Beach Heart Association.

* * * *

THE TASK of coordinating such activities of the league as the annual Heart Fund Tea, Heart Brunch and Heart Sunday Drive is of deep interest to Mrs. Gray, for several members of her family have suffered from heart ailments.

Serving with her will be Mrs. Harvey Hartzel, vice president and chairman of Heart Sunday drive for the women's group; Mrs. Robert Lintz, chairman of Heart tea and Mrs. Leon Wiltse, chairman of Heart Brunch.

Reep-Sauve Names Joined in Ceremony

After a wedding trip to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., Canada, Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. Roger F. Reep (Lea Rae Sauve) will be at home later this month in San Diego, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Navy.

Their wedding took place Saturday at 1 p.m. in St. Barnabas Catholic Church, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Sauve, 3629 Cerritos Ave., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Reep of Mt. Vernon, Wash.

White Swiss organza with Portuguese bell sleeves, sheath front and chapel train formed the bridal gown.

* * * *

MRS. THOMAS Crowther, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Other attendants, who wore floor length coral gowns, were Mrs. Joel French, Mrs. Jack Myers, Ruth Protze and Lois Williams.

Ray T. Reep, Jr. was best man for his brother. Seating the guests were Lt. (j.g.) John Komes, Lt. (j.g.) Joel French, Thomas Crowther and Ed Sauve.

The new Mrs. Reep was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended LBCC where she was an Entre Nous.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pacific Lutheran University, Tacoma, Wash.

Our Girl in New York Enjoys Fun and Food

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.P-T Food Editor

NEW YORK—Whether it's New York (I love this city), or whether it's the profound fondness you feel for those with whom you've hurried a whole week from the hors d'oeuvres to the snails bourguignonne, to the cheespeperoni brochettes and the cafe diable, the grand finale of our 22nd annual food editors' conference brings with it a feeling of loneliness and nostalgia.

It's been quite the busiest conference, but the best ever. And we haven't cooked a thing.

There have been high spots aplenty, but one soiree given by the United States Brewers Assn. was one of the most unusual. It was a gay, rollicking, fun-filled occasion, called Beer Party/U. S. A.

UNDER THE gilded canopies and silent profiles of the many sphinxes which dominate the decor at Sheapherd's in the Drake Hotel, we learned why dances such as the mashed potato, the hully gully and the bug have become a part of how America entertains itself, not only at some of the most dignified clubs in the country but at home as well. Demonstrations were given of these and other dance crazes which have become so popular with adults of all ages.

The gay atmosphere and humorous exhibition introduced the editors to the newest rave in home parties—beer party discotheque. Discotheque, in case you think it's an expensive fringed dress or a French library, is simply a happy phrase to describe music on discs.

Yes, it was a fun party, but let ye food editor remind you, when you entertain at a beer party discotheque . . . don't forget the beer.

ONE OF THE most intriguing invitations we received was from General Foods, It requested the pleasure of our attendance on a tour of Lincoln Center at 7:30 p. m. at the ballet performance, 8:15 p. m. at the New York State Theater, and an after-theater supper at Philharmonic Hall.

The tour of Lincoln Center was spectacular. Not only were the finished buildings such as Philharmonic Hall and the New York State Theater seen in detail, but the plans for the future center seemed to come to life before our very eyes: the wonderful new Metropolitan Opera House, which will open in 1966, the Vivian Beaumont Repertory Theater, to be ready next year, and the ambitious Juilliard School scheduled for completion later.

Here in reality is the dream of every American lover of the arts come true, in beautiful surroundings such as befit the beauty that will be seen, heard and studied.

THE AFTER-THEATER supper featured several new General Foods products. According to Herbert M. Cleaves, senior vice president, five made their official national debut at this supper—all products we'll be sharing with you upon our return. In the interim, our menu follows:

Champagne
Hors d'Oeuvres
Celery Olives
Sliced Sirloin of Beef Sauce Bearnaise
Peas and Celery
Assorted Hot Rolls
Neapolitan Salad
Low Calorie Italian Dressing
Assorted Pastries
Chocolate Angels Maple Honey Flan
Tropical Tarts
Chocolate Banana Cream Triangles
Coffee Tea Sanka Coffee
Mints

ANOTHER HIGH SPOT of the conference was seeing "Funny Girl."

After one of the receptions which lasted until 8 p. m., our itinerary indicated "free evening." So, not being used to being "free" we went to the theater.

At the very last event of the conference, we were wafted right out of this world and into Denmark—but in a very special way—an exhilarating hydrofoil ride. That's the boat that skims over the top of the water on sort of water skis. What a farewell party it was!

AS GUESTS of the Danish bacon factories' export association, the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Federation of Danish Dairy Assns., we were hosted at the Danish pavilion at the World's Fair.

It was a "wow" of a menu, too. And, amazingly enough, on that last-day at the very last event foods can still be appetizing, tasty and glamorous. Whether it's courage, whether we've all reached that "hellish" stage of indifference, or whether the taste buds have just ceased to function, we didn't miss a thing!

The Danish people are very exacting, very traditional, and the menu was the same. It read like this:

APPETIZERS
Danish Savory Tartelletter
Mushroom Souffle
Ham Coronettes
Danish Koldtbord
Pindesmad (Open Sandwiches), Danish Shrimp, Salmon
Herring and Ham
Cherry Tomatoes
Akvavit

DINNER:
Danish Vineyard Snails With Special Sauce
Agurkesuppe Glace
(Cold Cucumber Soup)
Roast Danish Duckling
Danish Ham Birds
Loin Bacon Enbrochette
Garland of Danish Vegetables
Danish Bread and Fruit
Cheeses
Havarit, Esrom, Sansore, Enmental, Danish Blue
Wedding Cake
(In honor of Princess Anne Marie and King Constantine)

We'll return home next week, and to the good old Metrecal.

Leaf Propagation Demonstration Due

A demonstration of leaf propagation will be given when the Long Beach African Violet Society meets Thursday in Woman's City Club, 1309 E. Third St. A social hour and plant sale will take place from 11 a.m. to noon.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Gwen Vaillant, president of Tri-City African Violet Society. In addition to the demonstration she will tell of the fourth conference and second show of the Northern California Council of African Violet Societies which took place recently in the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley.

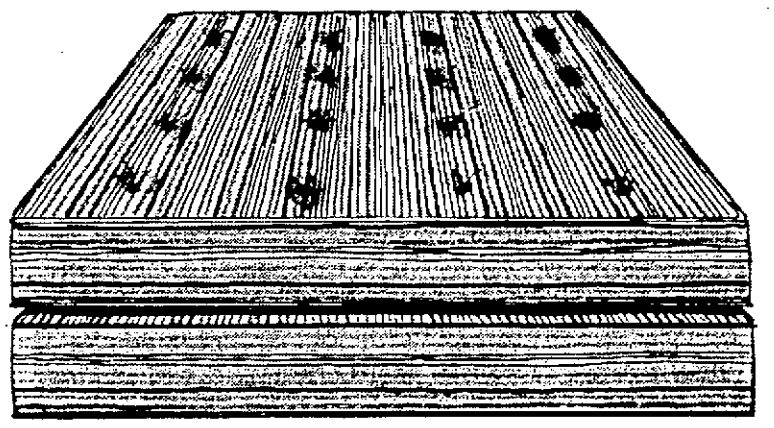

Mrs. Ellen Caldon will preside. Visitors are invited.

Art Lectures Resume

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

"The Orient and Its Expanding Horizons" is the theme of the art lecture series which Long Beach Museum of Art and the American Association of University Women co-sponsor at the museum, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

As in the past, the lectures are open to the public without charge. The first, a brief survey of the great eras in Oriental art and "Aspects of Chinese Art," will be given Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. by George Kuwyama, curator of Oriental art at Los Angeles County Museum. The lecture will be illustrated.

Frederick Black, director of LBMA, will comment on the current museum exhibits, Art by Japanese School Children and the Art Rental Show.

The lectures will continue through June on the second Tuesday of each month.

FIRST exhibit of the season at Pavilion Gallery, Newport, will be the Karel Appel show presented by the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor.

Patrons and their guests will attend a preview reception and lecture by James Elliot, director of fine arts at Los Angeles Museum of Art, next Sunday afternoon. The exhibit will be open to the public from Oct. 21 through Nov. 29, Wednesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Appel was born in Amsterdam in 1921 and studied and painted there until he moved to his present home in Paris in 1950. Among his many prizes is the Guggenheim International award.

Oils, crayon drawings and lithographs are included in the Pavilion show. Largest piece is "Impressions of the United States," a 17-foot oil painting given to Los Angeles County Museum by Tony Curtis. This will be the first time the work will be seen publicly.

ANSEL ADAMS' photographic exhibit, "The Eloquent Light," recently exhibited at Long Beach Museum of Art, is on view at Fullerton Junior College Art Gallery through Oct. 30. Hours are Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

* * * *

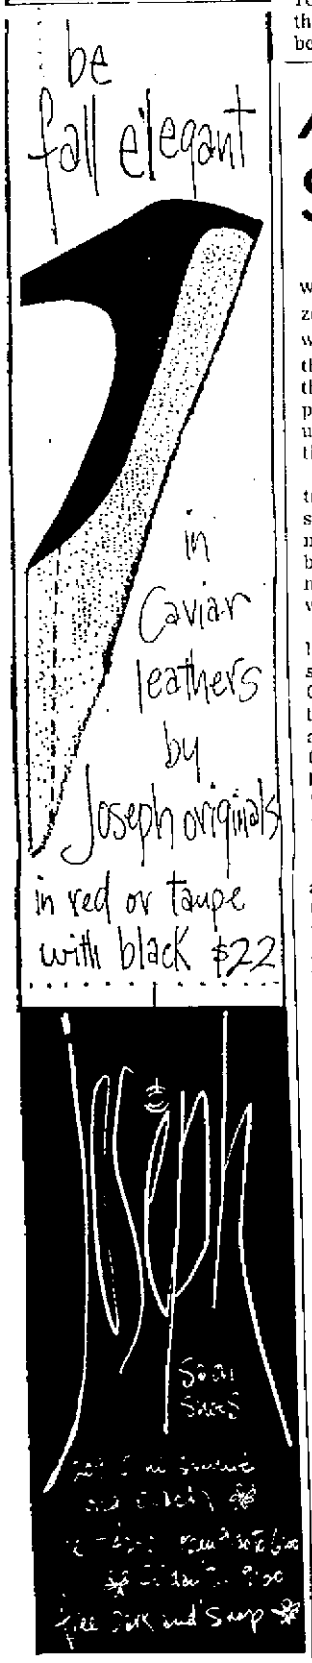

FROM Monday through Saturday the "Stars for Freedom Art Exhibit," will hang at the Feigen-Palmer Gallery, 515 N. La Cienega Blvd., Los Angeles.

Oil paintings, watercolors, drawings, graphics, sculpture, constructions and other art works by outstanding American and European artists and collectors will be on view. The selections committee was headed by Walter Hopps, director of the Pasadena Art Museum.

Donations of $1 per person will benefit the United Civil Rights Committee to defeat Proposition No. 14.

ROBERT Cremean has recent sculpture on exhibit at the Esther Robles Gallery, 665 N. La Cienega Blvd.

Amusing Operas Share CC Stage

Imagine a medieval town whose status-seeking citizens are so envious of a well-to-do poet that, though they mock and scorn him, they imitate his outlandish preference for such pets as unicorns, gorgons and manticores.

Then, picture an 18th century setting in which a saucy maid-servant outmaneuvers her master to become mistress of the manor — and his wife as well.

These situations come to life next Sunday evening on stage of Long Beach City College auditorium in a twin-bill operatic performance, "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" by Gian-Carlo Menotti, and "La Serva Padrona" by Giovanni Pergolesi.

* * * *

THE CHAMBER operas are being produced by the Camerata dei Musici and will be guest conducted by Lauris Jones, conductor of the Long Beach Symphony.

Admission is free for the 8:15 p.m. performance, and the concert-going public is invited.

Both works are colorful, fully staged productions by a local non-profit organization dedicated to presenting all types of chamber music to the community as a public service.

Camerata dei Musici, composed of local professional and amateur musicians, has provided other public concerts of a more conventional type in the past. Costs are borne entirely by the organization through various fund raising projects.

* * * *

"LA SERVA Padrona" is a set of operatic interludes in the 18th Century buffa style whose cast includes the maid, the master and a mute servant. Delightful string orchestra accompaniment completes the setting.

In striking contrast, "The Unicorn" employs larger forces on stage and is presented in the form of a masque. A choral group narrates the story and provides voices for the main characters and townspeople who are dancing and acting in pantomime.

A chamber ensemble of woodwinds and strings contrasts the choral a cappella singind and gives support to the dancers.

Both productions are sung in English. "Unicorn" is directed by Rex Waggoner, and "La Serva" is directed by John Noschese.

Chappell to Play in Downey

Downey Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Mario Cajati, will present the music of Tschaikowsky in its first concert of the 1964-65 season at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Warren High School gymnasium. There is no admission charge.

Gloria Chappell, violinist, will appear as guest artist. She is concertmaster of the Beverly Hills Symphony Orchestra and Downey Symphony Orchestra and will play the famed Stradivarius violin owned by her longtime friend, Jack Benny.

The program will consist of Tschaikowsky's "Overture from Hamlet," "Concerto in D" and "Symphony No. 5."

On Stage---

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Miss Nell Is Missing," 7:15 p.m. Thursdays, 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, through Oct. 31.
MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2490 Magnolia Ave., "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," 8 p.m. Thursday, Sunday; 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through Oct. 25.
OFF-BROADWAY THEATER, 211 Lime Ave., "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Sunday, through Oct. 17.
THEATER UPSTAIRS, 835 Locust Ave., "Arms and the Man," 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday, through Oct. 17.

SHOW PIECES

Taizo Miake, new director of art galleries at California State College, Long Beach, admires sculpture from the Faculty Show opening tonight at the college. Dr. Howard Hitchcock created the tiered tower; Thomas Ferriera, the head; and Dr. Ward Youry, the pot.

CSLB Faculty Show Exciting and Original

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The Faculty Show opens the year at the Art Galleries, California State College, Long Beach, 6105 E. Seventh St. today. A preview reception for the artists from 7 to 9:30 this evening is open to the public. The exhibit will continue until Nov. 20.

To many, this annual show is one of the most exciting in the area. The quality of the fine arts (drawing, painting, printmaking, and sculpture) and the originality of the crafts (ceramics, jewelry, industrial and advertising design, etc.) in this year's show continue the department's tradition of experimentation and serious involvement in the various art forms.

* * * *

THE DIVERSITY in the department is crystallized by the three potters. Thomas Ferreira, just back from a Sabbatical in Spain, is doing ceramic sculpture, including a rather magnificant cruciform floor pot. Richness of decoration within limits of thoughtful control characterizes Ward Youry's classic pots, while Bob Ramsey builds massive vessels from great, honest slabs of clay.

Sculptor Stephan Werlick, winner of the coveted Prix de Rome, is represented by several bronze works. Here the human form is recognizable and the approach expressive and Baroque. His "Sacrifice" is four figures interwoven with atmosphere in the form of metal sheets.

* * * *

HOWARD HITCHCOCK is pursuing a new vein in small bronze castings of winsome figures placed in suggestions of environments. His "God Save the King" is a marvelous four-tiered tower.

Richard Oden explores human creatures enigmatically. There is a quality of intimate but impersonal inquisitiveness both in his elegant drawings from cadavers and his strangely luminous, powerful oil paintings.

Among the many fine drawings are John Lincoln's "Crane," Herbert Tymauer's "Somebody Else's Aunt," and Donald Dame's "Female Figure." Tymauer is also the creator of a chair to encompass a corporate body.

* * * *

DAVID BORDER'S large metallic purple relief painting called "No. 1 September" is monolithically awesome. Herman Graff suggests inexpressible horror in "Sacrifice," a surrealistic painting of devils, beasts, and humanoids.

The installation is the first here by Taizo Miake, new director of the galleries, and assistant professor of design at the college. A graduate of Pratt Institute, he has been curator of the Museum and Galleries at Florida State University.

Lakewood Fairy Tale Tryouts Set

Auditions for "Hansel and Gretel", forthcoming production of Lakewood Philharmonic Assn., will take place this week at Mayfair Park recreation building, corner of Clark Ave. and South St. Lakewood. Auditions are open to children, teenagers and adults.

Dancers will be auditioned Tuesday at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Oct., 18, at 3 p.m.

Singers will be heard Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct., 18, at 1 p.m.

DANCE SEQUENCES and choreography will be staged by John Dougherty, identified closely with dance in the Los Angeles area. This is the first time he has agreed to take part in staging a local production.

Dougherty invites dancers qualified for either technical or classical roles to try out for roles of dance doubles to the solo singers. An angel ballet and forest ballet are featured in the production.

Producer is Norman Kreitzer, and musical direction will be by J. DeWitt Schwab, for the past 12 years organist and choral director of St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Lakewood.

Foretaste of Grand Opera

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

Major and Minor Notes

Grand opera in Long Beach has often been discussed in this column. And now we are actually going to have a grand opera performance in Long Beach presented by the American Opera Company's Opera Studio, which, if not actually in the grand manner of the San Francisco Opera productions, will be at least a foretaste of what grand opera is like, and I hope will whet the appetite of our musical citizenry for many grand opera productions.

Temple Sinai is sponsoring the American Opera Company in an appearance at Millikan High School auditorium Saturday at 8:15 p.m. "Andrea Chenier" by Giodrano, a thrilling opera about the reign of terror during the French Revolution.

* * * *

THE MUSIC IS beautiful and the three principal singers are well-known in Southern California for out standing performances with the Los Angels Opera Company, Laguna Beach Festival of Opera and other companies. They are Maria Martino, soprano; Baldo dal Ponte, tenor, and Mario Farrar, baritone. The artistic director and conductor is James Low. The full opera will be presented, including costumes, scenery, full cast and chorus and with a duo-piano accompaniment.

* * * *

A NON-PROFIT artistic association, the American Opera Company was founded in 1962. Its objective is to provide Southland music lovers with the great music from the world of opera presented by noted local professional singers, conductors, directors and artists. In the winter season the American Opera Company presents opera with full orchestra and last spring, performances of "Madame Butterfuly," with Marilyn Niska in the title role, were sold out at the Wilshire Ebell Theater in Los Angeles; with many turned away. (It is my sincere hope the Long Beach may hear this "Madame Butterfly" at an early date).

* * * *

ALTHOUGH I personally have not heard the American Opera Company, reports of its performance of "Andrea Chenier" recently given in Los Angeles are most laudatory and I look forward eagerly to hearing it here Saturday.

Tickets may be purchased at Millikan High School the night of the performance and at Temple Sinai, Seventh St. and Molino Ave.

Bert Lahr to Star in 'Yankees'

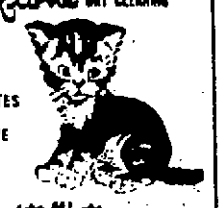

Bert Lahr, America's king of clowns, will step to bat in the starring role of "Damn Yankees" at Melodyland, Anaheim, Tuesday evening.

Allen Case will play the middle-aged baseball fanatic who does business with Saint Nick and becomes the young baseball hero. Kit Smythe will be seen as the beautiful young witch, Lola —whose song, "Whatever Lola Wants" made musical comedy history on Broadway.

* * * *

ADDITIONAL fun and excitement will be furnished by the Katzenjamer Kids of baseballdom, Dean Chance and Bo Belinsky.

The two talented horsehide hurlers will don uniforms and grease paint to "trod the thespic" board as —a couple of ball players.

Children's Concerts Saturday

Students from first grade to high school age are being invited to the first in a series of free concerts presented by the Long Beach Symphony Assn. on Saturday at 10 a.m. in Long Beach City College auditorium.

Rhythmic ballet music from Tchaikowsky's "Swan Lake" will be played by the symphony.

Two pianists will then join the orchestra to perform "Carnival of Animals", one of Saint-Saen's most entertaining and popular compositions.

Written by the composer for his own family's amusement, Saint Saens would not permit its performance for the public during his lifetime. It was only after his death that the lively animal characterizations could be presented on the concert stage.

Children will readily recognize the lion, elephants, and other animal friends, plus turtles and fish in the music.

* * * *

PIANISTS in "Carnival" will be Ladd Thomas who has appeared in concert throughout the country, and Robert Prichard, who studied with John Crown at USC.

Secondary school students will have an opportunity at 11 a.m. to see the production "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore", a production of the Camerata dei Musici scheduled for adult audiences on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Jones is the opera's music director. Singers, dancers will be costumed in medieval style.

Adults accompanying children are invited to stay for the performance. Further information may be obtained by calling the Long Beach Symphony office, 1935 E. 7th St.

'Knife in the Water' at CSLB

Intense emotions explode within the confines of a small boat on a weekend outing in "Knife in the Water," a 1962 Polish film to be shown today by Long Beach Film Society.

The screenings will take place at 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. at California State College, Long Beach, Little Theater. A companion short, "Moment of Happiness," will also be shown.

The film, directed by Roman Polanski, won the Venice Film Festival's critic award. It is the second film in the society's fall series.

HENRY TEMIANKA . . . 'A Challenging Assignment'

Henri Temianki on Music Staff

Klemperer, Monteux, Szell, Reiner, Barbirolli, Mitropoulos, Steinberg, Scherchen—violinist Henri Temianka has played with them all.

"Among the great concert artists of our day," Yehudi Menuhin wrote, "only a few are able to impart to their generation the great musical traditions of the past their own personal achievements. Henri Temianka is one of these."

Temianka this school semester joined the music department faculty at California State College at Long Beach as full professor—an assignment which has led to a certain amount of involvement in the musical life of the community which he welcomes.

He will bring his California Chamber Symphony Orchestra to the State College Little Theater stage for a concert at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. He will be guest conductor with the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra in December.

* * * *

BESIDES his prowess as one of the world's outstanding violinists, Temianka has long heen an advocate of chamber groups, founding his first chamber orchestra in London in 1936. He was co-fnunder in 1946 and first violin in the famed Paganini Quartet, awarded the prize in 1948 for the best recording of the year. One of the original Paganini Quartet recordings, the Debussy Quartet, was a smash—as far as classical record sales go.

HE IS THE only remaining original member of the Paganini Quartet, which recently recorded the Brahams Quintet for piano and strings, Opus 34, with Ralph Votapek, winner of the first Van Cliburn International Competition. He has recorded for RCA, HMV, Decca Gold Label and Kapp.

His musical activities are varied. In addition to his concertizing as soloist and his work with the Paganini Quartet, he recently recorded the Columbia album "A Percussion Spectacular" conducting the Los Angeles Percussion Ensemble in Alberto Ginastera's "Cantata Para America Magica" with Raquel Adonaylo, soprano; and Carlos Chavez' "Tocatta for Percussion Instruments."

* * * *

WHILE HE has championed contemporary music, he has a leaning toward the music of Mozart and the California Chamber Symphony Orchestra which he founded and conducts and includes a full Mozartean complement of winds and strings.

* * * *

BUT HIS main concern in Long Beach will be with music students at Cal State, where he will work with the large orchestra, a baroque orchestra, teach the conducting and advanced string classes.

"My principal objective here is to build a fine orchestra," he said. "The quality of the string program in the Long Beach Unified School program is nationally recognized. But something happens to the players after leaving the school district. They don't come to Cal State."

It is the hope of the college that by bringing Temianka to State, many of the Long Beach string players will be attracted to the institution.

"I HOPE," said Temianka, "that these fine young musicians will continue their studies at State. I hope to create one of the finest orchestras in the country here. We have the talent."

"It is in many ways a challenging assignment. After having spent most of my life on the concert stage, I have a desire to share my experience and background with young people. I think any musician with a sense of responsibility and idealism would want to share such experience."

'The King and I' to Open Thursday

part at OCC and not just because I shave my head — I did that long before Yul Brynner did.

"The show was a success and the next year, 1961, I played the King with Long Beach Civic Light Opera. This company is wonderful, more professional than many companies that claim the professional label, and I told director Jim Brittain, 'I'll do a show with you again anytime, any place.'

"Then I was cast in the role in two stock companies in the East and Midwest.

"This summer I had just returned from New York to my home in San Francisco when I got a phone call from Long Beach, Would I do the King again? Here I am!"

The well-known story of "The King and I" opens in 1862 when Anna, an English widow played by Patricia Zieg, arrives in Bangkok, Siam, to teach the many children of the king. The splendor of the court, the strange customs, the differing philosophies amaze her. There is a basic clash between the dynamic king of the East and the strong-willed school teacher of the West.

Each is changed by the other, a rapprochement grows and a real love develops between the two.

"The King is fun to play," said Sage. "He is a bundle of contradictions. He is very wise and very immature. He wants to modernize his country, but at the same time he is weighted down by his immutable, cultural heritage.

"IT'S EASY to identify with him, for there's a bit of the childish and a bit of the mature in all of us."

Sage profoundly believes in the central theme of the musical, the oneness of mankind.

Fourteen years ago, when he was 18, he discovered the faith which is the greatest influence in his life, Baha'i.

"Baha'i teaches that man is created to know and worship God, his creator, but that God cannot be defined nor described. It teaches that in his bounty to man, God has revealed his laws and truth through great spiritual beings through the ages. We revere Buddha, Christ, Krishna and all great religious leaders who have made God's truth manifest.

"WE BELIEVE that Baha'u'llah, who founded Baha'i in Persia in 1863, was one of these great teachers. The faith is now established in 260 countries.

"The principal tenet of Baha'i is the oneness of mankind. It appreciates the differences that make the human family great and teaches unity in diversity.

"But no matter how perfect law and truth are, they cannot work until there is a change in the human heart. Equal civil rights must take place now, but to change the human heart will take more time.

"Perhaps I like 'The King and I' so much because it draws into conflict two opposing philosophies and each influences and modifies the other. There is unity in diversity.

"BAHA'ISTS also believe that man must develop his innate intellectual and spiritual capacities that make him unique. If he does not, he has failed. If he fails, he is lower than a man, truly not a man."

That is why Sage himself might have created the lines the King pens to Anna on his death bed:

"It occurs to me that there shall be nothing wrong that men shall die, for all that shall matter about man is that he shall have tried his utmost best."

'Fabulous Japan' on Film Series

WILLIS BUTLER

"Fabulous Japan," first film-lecture of Long Beach City College's 1964-65 International Film Series, will be presented at five high school auditoriums this week.

Opening at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wilson auditorium, the program will be repeated Tuesday at Jordan, Wednesday at Lakewoud, Thursday at Polytechnic and Friday at Millikan High School. Season tickets will be available at the box office each evening.

* * * *

NARRATOR will be Willis Butler, a film-lecturer and producer of documentary motion pictures since 1940.

"Fabulous Japan" opens with a flight from Seattle to Tokyo's Haneda Airport. After exploring the world's largest city, the film includes sequences on Japanese industry, culture and family life, and scenic side-trips to such tourist attractions at Mt. Fujiyama, the world-famous gardens of Kyoto and the "Floating Shrine" of Itsukishima.

Butler's film presents the curious blend of East and West, ancient and modern, which will be seen by thousands of travelers now attending the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Fall Fashions You Can Bank On

. small price tags with high (style) dividends

By Mary Ellis Carlton
I, P-T Fashion Editor

High style clothes with minimal price tags will be featured during a fashion show and breakfast being sponsored by Ladies Oriental Shrine today, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Lakewood Country Club. Included in the unique style revue, presented by Sears, will be children's wear, teenage fashions, regular sizes and half sizes, men's and boys' suits and sports outfits, furs and fur-trimmed coats, evening dresses and daytime dresses.

Modeling the latest in fall finery will be members of the Ladies Oriental Shrine and graduates of Sears' Beverlee Kelley Charm School, some of whom are pictured here. Open to the public, the show is being coordinated by Janice Mutz, director of the store's charm school, and is designed to prove exactly what she teaches in class—that fashion is a look, not a price.

MAKING SIMPLE ARITHMETIC of school wardrobe, sixth grader Cynthia Hocott balances fashion ledger with plaid-elegant skirt, coordinated forest green sweater and (the pure 1964-ism) matching green knee socks.

DOUBLE SPARKING fall fashion trend, Janice Mutz, director of Sears charm school, wears pink and white wool dress that's easy on the waist and easy on budget, tops it with pink suede coat for smart costume look.

FOR EXTRA FASHION MILEAGE, Simone Miller and Martha Barker (driver's seat) go very this-year's model . . . Simone in black-and-white plaid slack suit (newest way to follow pants fad) and Martha in suede billed cap and fleece-lined car coat, all with minimal price tags.

A SMALL CHECK covers lots of fashion ground here, doubled and redoubled in three-piece costume with matching hat. The model: Toni Frank, a high school junior.

Fred J. Wards Honored at Surprise Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Ward, 521 Chestnut Ave., were honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday.

The surprise party, a champagne supper, took place in Panorama Room, Lafayette Hotel, with the couple's son, William J. Ward of San Bernardino, as host.

The Fred Wards were married in Long Beach Oct. 7, 1914. Ward, a native of Springfield, Mo., came here in 1908. His wife, who was born in Alliance, Neb., in 1900.

Recently retired, Ward worked for many years in the heating and sheet metal contracting business. In addition to their son and his wife, the couple has three grandchildren.

Composer's Wife on Salon Series at VCC

Dorothy Rodgers

Edna Lillich Davidson will open her seventh series of luncheon salons Thursday at Virginia Country Club. The program of reviews of books, plays and music will continue monthly through May.

Guest author speaker will be Dorothy Rodgers, wife of the famous composer Richard Rodgers, whose book, "My Favorite Things," is being published this month.

Mrs. Rodgers, whose home is in New York, is a woman of great talent, charm and taste. Her interests in travel, theater, sculpture, painting and interior design make her book an exciting stage for the exchange of ideas, and in making a home a haven of comfort and beauty.

Pride in her home and her way of life inspired her to write her book.

* * * *

THEME OF the day will be "Springboard for the Future." Among books Mrs. Davidson will review at 1 p.m. are "Sixpence in Her Shoe," by Phyllis McGinley; "This Rough Magic" by Mary Stewart; "Armadeggon" by Leon Uris and "You Only Live Twice" by Ian Fleming.

Also "Credos and Quips" by Virginia Cary Hudson; "The Pond" by Robert Murphy; "The Rector of Justin" by Louis Auchincloss; "First Lady" as told to Patrick Dennis; "Things As They Are" by Paul Horgan; "The American Heritage Cookbook"; "Selected Letters of Robert Frost," and "Day's at the Morn" by Samuel Chotzinoff.

TABLE hostesses will be Mmes. Mary Beery, George Cottle, Francis Hertzog, Edward McMahon, George Montgomery, Glenn Scott and Lyman Vaughan. Members and guests will assemble at 11:30 a.m. for a social half hour, and luncheon will be served at noon.

Accepting reservations are Grace Hahn, 219 Esperanza Ave., and Myrtle McCauley, 1633 E. First St.

Lakewood Grads Wed

Lakewood High School graduates Barbara Lorene Robinson and Lawrence Clifford Browning exchanged wedding vows Saturday at St. Pancratius Catholic Church.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Barbara Klug of Bellflower, Robert C. Robinson, Gardena, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen K. Browning, Lakewood.

The bride wore an ankle length gown of peau de soie with a lace jacket and chapel train. Linda Evelyn Coon was her maid of honor. Thomas Serruta served the bridegroom as best man.

* * * *

OTHER members of the bridal entourage included Gerrie Kay Robinson, Mrs. Kenneth Gonzales, Donna Howland, Diana Browning, James Klug, Tom Howland, Clifford DeYoung and Robert Browning.

Following a honeymoon at Tulare, the couple will reside in Newhall.

WIGS

Our big Autumn sale of fine wigs is now in progress. Beautiful wigs of 100 per cent pure European human hair and created by the world's proudest and most experienced wigmakers are now on special sale at probably the lowest prices at which genuine Charles Jeffries wigs can ever again be offered. There is already a shortage of human hair in Europe available for making wigs and a shortage of trained wigmakers and the shortage is getting worse as the demand for wigs increases which means that costs and prices are almost certain to go up so it is suggested that you save money by getting your wig now while the following low prices are still available.

DELUXE QUALITY (World's Finest Weft-Wigs) $89.95

These wigs are made in Germany by the oldest firm of wigmakers on the continent and there are no finer wigs anywhere at any price. The regular price for these deluxe wigs everywhere is $165.00 but on this special sale you may have one for only $89.95 which means you will save $75.05.

SNIDER WEFT WIGS $79.50

Made by Snider in Germany. Very fine and beautiful wigs. All colors and sizes. These lovely Snider wigs retail for $135.00 but during this special sale you may have one for only $79.50 which means you will save $55.50.

JEROT WEFT WIGS $79.50

Made by Jerot in France. The finest wigs made in France. Beautiful and constructed to last a lifetime. The regular price for these Jerot wigs is $135.00 but you may have one during this sale for only $79.50 giving you a saving of $55.50

TURBAN WIGS (as shown on "Queen For A Day") $49.95

Beautifully styled. All colors. Complete with head form and carrying case. All for only $49.95. They sell everywhere for $69.95 so you save $20.00.

My wigs are shown only in my home in Bellflower and only by definite appointment made in advance by telephone. Make your appointment without delay while all colors and sizes are still available at these low Fall sale prices. All Weft Wigs available for try on.

You may have an appointment without any obligation whatsoever by simply telephoning me.

Find Pressures Too Much for Students

'Capable of Doing Better' Push Can Have Serious Consequences

(Editor's Note—Heart attacks, ulcers, nervous breakdowns, even suicides among school children. It's a result, say educators, of the severe pressures on pupils to excel in studies, to get into college, and to stay. And it's a serious problem in the modern world.)

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Editor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Grace was 17 years old, on the serious side and a junior in high school. She committed suicide.

George was the son of a successful and wealthy doctor. He went to jail for stealing money he didn't need.

Shirley was a cute little tyke who suddenly "went stupid." She flatly refused to learn, and calmly accepted failure after failure in school.

Roy worked hard all through high school and won a scholarship to a top private school. He stayed one semester, said "To hell with it," and went to work as a dishwasher.

* * *

THESE FOUR youngsters had one thing in common—they cracked under the pressure applied by well-meaning adults.

They were not isolated cases.

The New Jersey Department of Education reported that at least 41 school children in that state committed suicide between Sept. 1960 and June 1963. Possibly 738 others attempted suicide, and thousands more threatened to.

How many of those 41 children—and others in other states—took their own lives because of the spirit-crushing demands of parents, teachers, and the community? No one will ever know.

There are the pressures of intelligence tests and aptitude tests; tests given at various ages and stages of a child's school development; tests that may determine what kind of school a child will go to, how he will be treated in his class, at what speed he will advance—tests, the results of which follow him throughout his educational development.

* * *

THE PRESSURES come in many ways and from many sources.

Half in jest, educators say some parents who laugh at the bumblings and fumblings of their own youth, have decreed an 11th Commandment for their children: "Thou shalt not fail."

But the New Jersey report included these words:

"There was an almost unanimous evaluation of each child by his parents and teachers as one who was capable of doing better."

"Doing better" can be a noble goal. Many educators, however, believe it all too often becomes push-push-push exploitation of youth by status-seeking adults.

They point out the pressures can start as early as kindergarten; build up during the grade school years; reach a peak in high school, and subside only slightly in college.

PRESSURE ON the child to learn to read before he is able—pressure to choose a life's work by 7th grade—pressure to pick a high school program to fit that future career—pressure, pressure, pressure to go to college, particularly the "right" one—pressure to be a "success," as an older generation defines success.

High schools, and high school teachers, are sometimes rated by their production of national scholarship winners.

Some students load their high school programs with science, math, foreign languages and extra-curricular activities, thinking this will ensure college admission.

Some businesses require a high school diploma for even the simplest job.

Of themselves, and in moderation, none of these pressures is necessarily bad, educators point out. Combined, and applied with great force, they push the warning needle deep into the danger area.

PROF. RONALD C. Doll of Hunter College says "Extreme pressures on school children are driving them toward heart attacks and nervous breakdowns."

Dr. Kenneth Zike, head of the pediatrics department, Harbor General Hospital, Los Angeles, says at least half the children referred to the neurological clinic there with learning problems are "the victims of pressure—pressure to do a task they have not the maturity to do."

Prof. Doris Lee of Portland (Ore.) State College, tells of a father she knows:

"He has two fine teen-age daughters, both in high school. He was so pleased with their high grades, their many extra-curricular activities.

"Then a note of worry crept into his voice and he said, 'The other day Karen's vision sort of blanked out on one side. The doctor said it was the beginning of migraine. Then Ann came down with an upset stomach and an examination showed an ulcer starting'."

* * *

THE REAL pressure does not come when a child is asked to do "his best." It comes when he is expected to be "the best."

By definition, half the children in any group must be only average or below.

Not all children can learn to read in kindergarten, or even the first or second grade. Not all youngsters can excel in science and math or become doctors or physicists. Not all high school graduates can go on to Harvard, Yale or Stanford. Not all college students can make Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. William C. Kvaraceus of Tufts University, an authority on youth problems, said recently:

"The forgotten youth in America today is the middle-class youngster slipping downward toward a lower-class way of life, the youngster unable to keep up with the pack, unable to succeed in high school and go on to college.

"This is a fate that many middle-class parents consider a disgrace to the family name.

"The pressures and conflicts such a youth is subjected to often result in delinquent behavior—destroying property, stealing cars, staying out all night, drinking. This is his way of striking back."

STUDIES HAVE shown some young people become adept at resisting adult pressure.

For instance they devise elaborate strategies for pleasing the teacher without really doing their work, they plod along, seemingly content with school, until they reach the legal age for quitting, and suddenly they quit; they deliberately flunk out of their freshman year at college, knowing their chances of being accepted elsewhere are virtually non-existent.

One of the most drastic ways of resisting is to just quit learning.

John Holt, in a new book, "How Children Fail," says:

"Children who depend heavily on adult approval may decide that if they can't have total success, their next-best bet is to have total failure . . .

"Perhaps children find, or try to find, in hopeless incompetence the kind of refuge that an alcoholic finds in liquor."

HOLT BELIEVES that some children fail "because they are afraid, bored and confused.

"They are afraid, above all else, of failure, of disappointing or displeasing the many anxious adults around them whose limitless hopes and expectations for them hang over them like a cloud."

And sometimes the reaction sets in, and a brave youngster will tell his father, "Dad, even if I did learn to read, I couldn't learn well enough to please you. So, why bother."

Last month the Moline, Ill., school board expelled eight high school students.

Dr. Dwight Davis, school superintendent, told the board that all eight had higher than average intelligence, but all had flunked three courses. Expulsion followed lengthy counseling sessions, conferences with parents, and a period of probation.

"They are capable of doing good work, and they are not doing it," Dr. Davis said.

EVEN THOSE who most deplore the crushing pressures on youth see no solution to the problem. It's just part of the present pressure-packed world.

Parents will continue to want their children to go to college. Colleges will continue to raise their admission standards. Inevitably, preparation for college will begin earlier and earlier.

"If we continue the way we are going," says Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, "the nursery school soon will be a kind of advanced placement program for 3-and-4-year-olds going to Harvard."

Advanced college placement, Taylor said, is no longer a plan to provide a bright high school youth with a better education, but a design to speed him through his required courses and out into the world.

The same is true, he said, for year-round college plans such as the trimester, which try to cover the same ground in shorter time.

"WHAT IS the rush?" Taylor asked in a recent issue of the U.S. Labor Department's "Occupation Outlook Quarterly." "Where are we going in such a hurry? What is education for?"

Taylor said, "There is little enough time in school and college years to learn even a small part of what there is to be known and what one needs to know to live a full life . . .

"Students need time to learn. They need the experience of reading books of their own choosing, they need to attend concerts, talk to their friends, write stories, write papers which have depth and are not merely obligatory tests, enjoy the community life of the college, join political organizations, and grow into their intellectual maturity by having a chance to be themselves without pressure of constant social and academic obligations.

"This is what being a student really means."

Altrusans in Gay 'Sip 'n' Dip' Mood

Ah, sweet charity! What fun is had in thy name!

So saying, Altrusa Club of Long Beach announces plans for its third annual California Fine Wines Festival from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Friday in the Supper Room of Lafayette Hotel.

Ten major California wineries will be represented at the "sip and dip" affair, with party proceeds going to Altrusa (classified women's service club) philanthropies including Long Beach Juvenile Hall, Community Rehabilitation Industries, job clinics and scholarships for women. Organ music will be played throughout the evening by Janice Whitlock.

Reservations are available with Helen Smith, 155 Granada Ave.

Club Lead Mandatory for East

It was one of those free-wheeling rubber bridge games.

With 14 high card points, North refused to be shut out by West's three heart bid and doubled.

After East passed, Ted Von Greyerz of Dayton, Ohio, jumped right to six spades.

West opened the jack of diamonds and Ted was a little disappointed when he saw the dummy. It appeared to him that there was no way to make the contract unless diamonds broke 3-3.

He won the first diamond with dummy's ace and played the jack of spades. West showed out but this didn't worry Ted too much and he proceeded to play four more rounds of trumps. West discarded four hearts and a club. Dummy discarded two clubs and a heart.

NOW TED led a diamond to dummy's king. East held on to his queen, so Ted played a heart to his ace and threw East in with his last diamond.

East had to lead a club. He had no other cards in his hand. Ted played a low club and West had to come up with the king. Ted was in dummy with the ace and was able to discard his losing heart on dummy's fourth diamond.

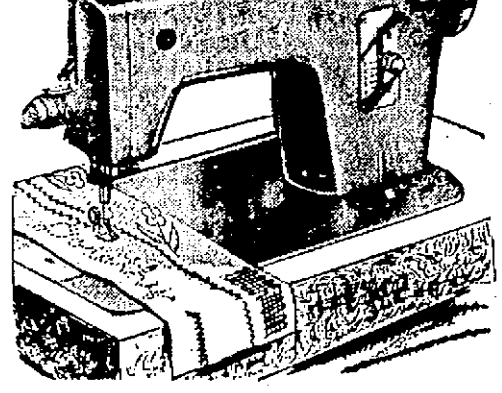

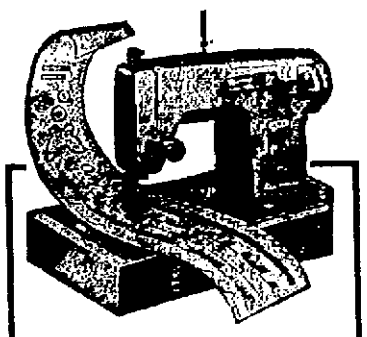

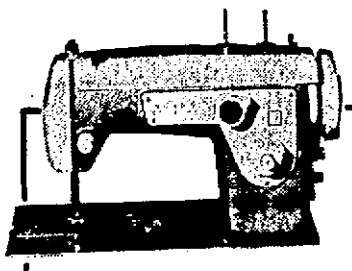

If East had thrown his queen of diamonds away, Ted would not have cashed the ace of hearts but would have thrown West in with the third diamond, whereupon West would be forced to lead away from one of his kings.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Three Groans for Gramps

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy. I live with my mother and grandparents. Tonight at the dinner table, I said "navel." My grandfather said he didn't want to hear any more dirty or sexy talk out of me. Believe me, Abby, I don't see anything dirty or sexy about a navel. My mother is on my side and she is getting tired of my grandfather saying to me, "You're talking dirty." This happens all the time. Any suggestions?—T.T.

ABBY

DEAR T: I'm afraid the "dirt" (if there is any) is in your grandfather's mind, but let your mother handle grandpa and provoke as few complaints as you can.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: We parents are properly concerned about the safety of our children as they walk to and from school, and visit friends outside their immediate neighborhoods. A relative in Omaha, Nebraska, told me of a plan now being successfully implemented through their PTA. It is called the "BLOCK PLAN." A home-made sign, "BLOCK HOME," is prominently displayed in the window of one home in every block. Children have been instructed that this home is an island of safety where they will be welcome should they become sick, or injured, or besieged by molesters, bullies or dogs. (Each house must be approved by the PTA, of course.) The plan costs nothing, requiring only the cooperation of good people who are interested in the safety of their children. If you see the merit of this plan, I hope you will print it in your column where it will get nationwide publicity, and move other communities to copy it. Sincerely, LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR ABBY: Our apartment building is so close to another apartment building that you can reach out and almost touch it. Directly across from us are three ladies (all over 40) and their kitchen window is right across from ours. Well, those three women walk around making their breakfasts without their blouses on (just their bras). And they sit down and eat breakfast that way. They can see us having our breakfast at our kitchen table, and they don't make any effort to cover themselves up. They look over at us and go right on eating. We can't help watching the show. It's too hot to pull our shade down. I've never seen anything like it. And neither has my husband, and he's been in the service and has lived in Arkansas. He always says, "My, what if we had company?" My mother and father are coming to visit us soon, and they would die if they ever saw a scene like that. Should we try to get the message to these ladies before my parents get here?—EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: You should give the message, but they probably wouldn't cover up for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. Pull your shades down and get an air-conditioning unit.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a heated discussion on spanking children. I say a child should be spanked on his bottom. My husband insists that a slap in the face is much more effective. He said his mother used to slap him in the face and it did him more good than if she slapped him on the bottom. I say that nobody, not even a child, should be slapped in the face.—THINK I'M RIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bentley

Reception Slated for Goldenweds

A reception at Houghton Park Clubhouse will be held from 2 to 5 this afternoon honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Bentley on their golden wedding anniversary.

Host and hostesses at the reception will be their son, daughters and their spouses. They are Messrs. and Mmes. Richard Soukup, James Hickman, Ronald Bentley of Long Beach and William Ferrier of Compton.

Also attending will be their ten grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley were married Oct. 14, 1914 in Stettler, Alberta, Canada. They moved to Long Beach in July, 1923, when they built and moved into their present home at 27 E. 55th St.

* * * *

AN ACTIVE member of Long Beach Board of Realtors, Bentley is secretary of North Long Beach Commercial Club and Kiwanis Club of Uptown Long Beach of which he is a charter member with a perfect attendance record of 17 years.

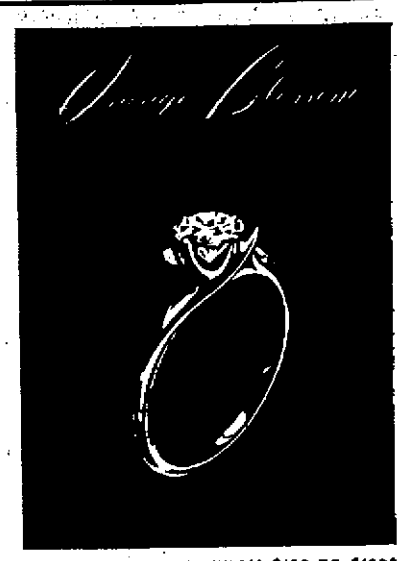

Mrs. Bentley is a member of North Long Beach Women's Club and past president of American War Mothers, 61.

Designer Pattern

A MARVELOUS SHAPED WAIST highlights Printed Pattern M280—result of seams that travel at angles in front and back. Ardanti tops off this gliding line with a collar that buttons on or off at the whim of a moment. Wear it buttoned in front, back or at one side — the effects are all different, all smart. This is truly a dress with fashion impact — sew it in wool, worsted and silk, faille or crepe. Be sure to line your version in order to maintain the shape.

Printed Pattern M280 is available in Misses' Sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards 54-inch fabric.

Send ONE DOLLAR for Printed Pattern M280 to Independent, Press-Telegram, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N.Y. (Add 15c for each pattern for first class mailing and special handling.) Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Decorating Job Appeals at Walkers

Recently completed for the 31st anniversary sale this month of Walker's downtown Long Beach, is the redecoration of the second floor.

Oyster white walls, pale beige carpets and lowered lighting replace the former dark-tone walls and carpets.

Flourescent light fixtures throughout the floor give a pleasant sunny daylight effect, no matter what the weather outside.

* * * *

FANCIFUL floral designs, hand painted by Dorothy Everett of the store's advertising staff, call attention to the turquoise lettering of the various sections on the floor.

In addition to expanded sections for customer convenience, existing fitting rooms have been recarpeted and painted, and several more fitting rooms added.

Flower Arranger on Guild Slate

"The Shape of Things Still Undiscovered" will be the subject of a lecture-demonstration by Don Bumbaugh, floral arranger, at a meeting of the Orange County Floral Arts Guild Monday at 10 a.m. at the Santa Ana Woman's Club.

Information concerning the guild may be obtained from Mrs. A. J. Antosik, 149 Prospect Ave., or Mary Lillibridge, 169 Nieto Ave.

GRAND OPENING

LIVE ELEGANTLY IN NEWPORT'S BACK BAY!

Custom Living Cape-Style

In the prestigious Back Bay residential area, the South Oaks Corporation has created The Cape Series, a charming, planned community of professionally designed homes for gracious living, distinctive in architecture, quality and value. The Cape Series is now open.

The charm and simplicity of New England's Cape Cod prevail throughout. Professionally landscaped—and maintained—lawns and gardens separate the homes, admitting sunlight and Pacific breezes. Privacy for the entire residential area and for the individual owner is part of the plan.

The Cape Series offers to the mature family only 35 exceptional homes and a carefree mode of living, relinquishing maintenance and gardening care to professional services. The cost is considerably less than the rent and upkeep for a comparable home in a less attractive setting. Convenience is the keynote of your Cape Series home!

Some of the outstanding features of the Cape Series, which will be of continuing delight to residents are the charming hand split cedar shake roofs, large windows on all sides, quaint shutters, traditional dormer windows and enclosed double car garages.

Interior highlights which point to the quality and fine planning which make the Cape Series unique in Southern California include extra storage area in large wall-to-wall wardrobe closets, genuine raised panel ash kitchen cabinets in rich tones of fruitwood and pecan and many other custom touches provided for years of pleasure and service.

The Cape Series homes, ranging in price from $22,700 to $24,975, present you with a choice of six distinctive plans on one level or two stories with 2 or 3 bedrooms, all with 2 baths...plans designed to suit varying individual requirements.

The developers' objective was "custom living in a planned development." They have created a cloistered community, set in the heart of Newport Harbor's exclusive Back Bay area, with every phase of comfortable, care free living carefully provided. A new, rich life of ease and pleasure awaits you now at the Cape Series.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Goes Out to Dine

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Medical-science editor Ben Zinser can't cook, but he does love food, which he may have to give up some of these days because he has learned that calories do count. Anyway, here are some of his views on food.)

By BEN ZINSER
I. P-T Medical Science Editor

One thing I've learned about good dining — and it didn't come from the medical journals — is this:

Never eat in a place boasting signs such as "Good Eats" or "Mom's Place." Or in a place with this sign hanging over the cash register: "The Credit Man Is Out Collecting."

Also beware of the place where the man behind the cash register wears a felt hat and carries a flyswatter.

But if the waiter inquires, "Avez-vous bon appetit?" then you know you're in the right place.

* * * *

Actually, I would much rather the waiter would say, "Tiene Vd. buen apetito?" ("Have you a good appetite?"), because Mexican food is what I prefer.

I'm an enchilada man myself. Used to go for chili, but in my opinion there are no good chili joints west of Phoenix, and I would rather go clear to Texas if I had my druthers. There is no chili like Texas chili.

(Incidentally, you don't dare overdo this chili bit or you may wind up with a Billroth 1. See your nearest medical dictionary; I don't have time to explain now.)

* * * *

A doctor friend of mine is a great admirer of Mexican food, and he told me long ago never to order iced coffee with a Mexican meal.

He did once, in a border-town cafe, and learned the hard way.

"Cafe with ice?" the Mexican waitress inquired incredulously.

"Certainly," he said. "Iced coffee."

Moments later the waitress placed at plateside a conventional coffee mug.

Containing coffee, of course. But hot coffee.

And in the coffee something was floating.

It was:

An ice cube.

CAREER CALENDAR

Installations Spotlighted

Credit Women

Eva G. Miner will be installed as president of Long Beach Credit Women's Breakfast Club Wednesday in the French Room of Lafayette Hotel.

The mother of four, Mrs. Miner is a native daughter, winner of the Outstanding Business and Professional Women of the Year award, past president of Southern California State Dental Assistants, Harbor District Dental Assistants and Millikan High School PTA.

She is now serving as president of Pilot Club of Long Beach and secretary-treasurer of International Consumer Credit Association of district 11.

A social hour at 7 p.m. will precede the banquet and installation ceremony. Husbands and bosses have been invited.

Sybel Plehn, junior past president of district 11, will be installing officer. Completing the slate are Agnes Chaires, Millie White, Virginia Cluver, Joan Weaver, Harriet Bower, Verneil Carver and Alice Owens. Esselyne Driscoll will preside.

A Running Start Toward Delinquency

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a son 15, the oldest of five. He has lived with his maternal grandparents until last February.

Since he has been with us he has skipped school and was brought before the juvenile board. He was discharged with a warning. During the summer, I gave him bus-and-lunch money thinking he was going to summer school—he was not. At home, he quarrels constantly with the children and is very rude and defiant with me. He's always in trouble.

I love him and don't want to see him in an institution, but my problem is also with his father. He is completely unconcerned about the whole thing.

I (and others) think my husband is afraid of his son. I love my husband, too, but I can't seem to get through to him that the kid needs his supervision and guidance.—HELP

DEAR HELP:

If something isn't done and soon, you are going to have REAL trouble! Your son has a running start as a juvenile delinquent.

It is obvious that neither you nor your husband can handle him so I strongly suggest you get outside help. Do it for his sake as well as your own. Since he has been before the juvenile board, talk to the members and/or a family counselor. They are familiar with this sort of thing and best able to advise you.

Of course you don't want him "in an institution," but unless you get professional help, that is just where he is going to be—or worse. —M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My mother says I'm no good, nothing but a parasite. Whenever anyone comes to our house she tells them how bad I am.

I have a so-called "wonderful" 25-year-old brother who hasn't held a regular job for two years, but she is always telling everyone what a grand person he is.

I'm plain sick and tired of being constantly condemned. Even though I've only been around 17 years, I have yet to hear a kind word from my mother to my father or me or my two sisters.

What would you do?—TEEN-AGE PARASITE

DEAR PARASITE:

Your mother is unnatural, to say the least. She seems to care so much about the older brother and so little about her husband and the other children it doesn't fit. Something must have happened somewhere along the line to cause this. Your father should make her realize how unfair she is, how she is hurting you and the girls.

There isn't much you can do except be a good boy and do the best you can. Don't let her bitterness sour you (most mothers aren't like that): I suspect that for some unknown reason she is very unhappy, but she is wrong to let it affect her relationship with you children.

Bear with her for a few more years. Perhaps someday she will realize her mistakes in worshiping her oldest son who isn't so "wonderful" after all.—M.M.

* * * *

DEA RMRS. MAYFIELD:

I am 15 and going with a boy the same age. He is getting too serious and I want to break it off, but he says he'll kill himself if I do.

I wouldn't ordinarily pay much attention to such a threat but he drinks, and I'm afraid some night when he is "high" he might do something drastic.

What can I do? —TOO YOUNG

DEAR TOO YOUNG:

My advice is to "break it off" at once. You are right—you are both too young. And WHERE does he get the stuff to drink? He's off to a flying start—drinking at 15!

Don't worry about what he "might do"—I seriously doubt that he would do anything and even if he did, blame the one who furnishes the drinks, not yourself.—M.M.

Association Publication Wins Award

Announcement has been made by Delores Vincent, president of the Long Beach Medical Assistants Association that "The Quill," monthly publication of the local chapter has again won top state honors.

Miss Vincent recently returned from a board of trustees meeting of the California Medical Assistants' Association in Richardson Springs.

The publication will now be in competition at the national convention to be held in Oklahoma City Oct. 13 through 18.

OCTOBER dinner meeting of LBMAA will be held Monday at 6 p.m. at the Crown Bowl, 1303 E. Artesia Blvd. N. B. Kurnick, M.D., will address the group on the subject of genetics.

Hostesses for the event are Alice Schofield, Clara Kennedy, Helen Moyer and Lucille Minniear.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Oct. 12-16:

MONDAY: Lasagna, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered whole kernel corn, chocolate pudding, raisin bread square and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hamburger on bun, potato salad, strawberry sauce, pickle chips and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, tossed green salad, sliced peaches, homemade peanut butter cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna - Noodle casserole, buttered green beans, cantaloupe wedge, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL MENU

MONDAY: Cheese enchilada, buttered frozen peas, fruit cup supreme, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad, strawberry - rhubarb sauce, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, frozen corn, sliced peaches, coconut cookie and milk.

THURSDAY: Neapolitan macarroni, buttered green beans, spicy applesauce, hot buttered cornbread and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish with oven browned potatoes or beef-vegetable casserole. Hawaiian Coleslaw, cantaloupe wedge, whole wheat bread with butter and milk.

Something Fishy About Don

(See Page 4)

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

She Computes

NOW YOU TAKE a real, live woman and make a robot and what've you got? You've got an emotional problem, that's what.

Or, rather a lack-of-emotion problem.

Julie Newmar is a real, live woman who has the natural proportions many women go shopping for.

She is also a bundle of emotion.

She is also a robot in CBS-TV's Sunday night "My Living Doll" series, co-starring Robert Cummings.

"Emotion," said Julie, "is a great deal of life. It's like putting your hand on a motor and feeling the warmth of it."

As robot Rhoda, Julie isn't supposed to get her emotional motor started.

"It's like being born two weeks ago," she said. "It's hard not to show emotion —oh boy, it is.

"To be totally cerebral is a demanding exercise."

TO MEET robotic cerebral demands, Julie's decided on the policy of "not registering."

So how do you not register.

You do it by keeping your eyes, hands and mouth a blank.

If you don't know how to do that, take a course in method acting or enroll at the nearest school for robots.

Julie never went to robot school. And she's pretty sure it was her real, live body that got her the computerized role.

In the series, no one except Cummings and one other scientist know she's a robot. His colleagues are emotionally stirred by her sexy appearance.

JULIE'S NOT knocking it.

"My body works for me," she said. "I mean, well, I couldn't play 'Hazel.'

"It's something you've got that you're grateful for and you forget about.

"Then you get down to work. Otherwise, you're hung up on it."

So it's not her svelte physique with which she's concerned, it's her emotions and how to obscure them.

"You see," she said, "I'm not a robot.

"I'm handicapped. I'm real and I must work with what I have."

And that's plenty.

Andy Griffith to Lose His Deputy

DON KNOTTS . . . Emmy Winner Departs

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Don Knotts is probably the only actor in history who got a movie contract because of his ability to play the role of a fish.

Not many actors can, you know. Takes a versatile fellow.

Most stars are signed up by studios because they would look good kissing Doris Day or shooting an Indian. Knotts is good at portraying a fish, preferably a small one.

Knotts was recently given a picture contract by Universal Studio.

He says the bosses at Universal strongly considered his fish role in "The Incredible Mr. Limpet" movie before offering him the well-paying pact.

Such was their concern, that Don believes they saw "Limpet" twice before deciding to grab him off before Marineland hired him.

NOW THAT UNIVERSAL has hooked Knotts, it means that Don leaves his role as "Barney Fife," the hapless deputy on CBS-TV's "Andy Griffith" show.

It's a shame, not because he was much help to Sheriff Andy, but because Don provided the humor not found in many jails, real or make-believe.

Knotts is leaving Andy and the gang with pangs of sadness in his heart. After all they're in their fifth year on the show. However, the pain will be erased once he settles down to being a movie star at Universal.

"I got too good an offer," explained Don during lunch at Desilu Studio. "I'm going over to Universal and make sume movies.

"I had four years of the Steve Allen show every week. Then I came over here and I've been on every week, or almost every week, for four years. And this is the fifth. That's nine years of television every week."

DON'S UNIVERSAL bosses hope to use him in movies, although there are television commitments in the contract.

"For 15 months my commitment requires me to do one motion picture and six television appearances," he said. "They can use me in their TV shows or loan me out.

"At the end of 15 months I'll keep going on movies if I don't fall flat on my face. If I don't continue to do movies, I'll do a TV series of my own. So a lot hangs on that first picture."

Universal hopes to capitalize on the "Barney Fife" character that Don plays on television.

"I shouldn't depart from my character," agreed Don. "That doesn't mean I'll be a deputy and wear a uniform all the time. But I'll keep the same characterization—feisty, over-emotional, actually a childlike character."

There's a rumor that Rock Hudson might leave Universal Studio next year. Knotts was asked if he was Rock's replacement.

"Nope," he answered, "I'm a little short."

Huntington Beach Surfing Films

Films of the recent surfing championship events at Huntington Beach air 5 p.m. today (Sunday) on channel 2.

Stan Richards, host of the program, said Huntington Beach lifeguards claimed the surf was at its "biggest" since 1950.

William Gallienne, representing the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce, will be interviewed during the program.

Pan and Fan Mail

When channel 4 signed off a few days ago, I noticed a television code that they have adopted.

One point I noticed was that they would not broadcast anything that was an attack on any religion.

Of course, on the surface, this sounds fine if you don't do much thinking.

This is typical "liberal" smokescreen. This is really a violation of the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

This violates free speech and freedom of religion.

You could not possibly quote most passages from the Holy Bible, word for word, without some religion saying that it was an attack on them.

George Sprlestersbach, Azusa

So far, George, you're the only one who is complaining.

The code you refer to is that of the National Assn. of Broadcasters and is subscribed to by most television stations.

The provision to which you allude specifies:

"Telecasting, which reaches men of all creeds simultaneously, should avoid attacks on religion."

The undersigned night-workers respectfully solicit your help in improving the quality of TV programs available between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m.

We nite-hawks would deeply appreciate re-runs of programs shown earlier in the evening.

Make it 35 others, F.J. I'm with you.

Would you please tell me what television series Dick York appeared in last season? He is now a co-star of "Bewitched."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

But He's Not Bawling About Progress from No. 5 Bad Guy to 'Peyton Place' Medic

By JOAN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Ed Nelson was a 26-year-old father of three children when he discovered that crying in front of an audience was great fun. So he decided to become an actor.

In a roundabout way, he arrived in Hollywood where he progressed from No. 5 bad guy in westerns (the one who gets shot in the opening reel) to his present role as Dr. Rossi, one of the regular characters inhabiting 'Peyton Place.' That's the twice-a-week fall series on ABC-TV.

ED NELSON

As Nelson described his acting rise, he went from the No. 5 bad guy "to No. 4 and 3. Then I played the bad guy who gets shot at the end of the show. Somewhere in here they let me get to the point where I could kiss a horse. Then I progressed to bad-guy-who-turns-good roles, then good-guy-who-turns-bad. Finally I got to kiss a girl."

Nelson, a handsome, green-eyed native of New Orleans, has appeared in about 250 television shows and several movies since he arrived in Hollywood in 1956. He is an able actor who can play roles ranging from sniveling coward to noble hero.

In times of personal involvement, he says he is inclined to become so emotional that he becomes tongue-tied. This business of ad-libbing his way through some of life's strains hampered his early wish to be a lawyer.

"Being a lawyer was something set upon me by those around me. But in practice cases I found myself so anxious to convince judge and jury that my client was innocent, I could hardly talk. I would start out a sentence and become so wrapped up that as I reached the conclusion of the sentence I would repeat what I had already said."

This problem still plagues Nelson. "I remember trying to tell off a director once. Six of us were working in a fight scene in a steamy-hot desert location. And he was so tough we were all mad at him. So that night we made a pact that the next guy he hopped on would tell him off. At the hotel that night I practiced a cutting speech, in case I was the guy.

"The next day we were doing a saloon scene with a lot of people involved. I miscued and touched off a kind of chain reaction where people were pouring coffee before the cups appeared, and all the actors wound up in a pile in the middle of the floor.

"THE DIRECTOR jumped another guy. I came forward and said it was my fault. He yelled at me for trying to be a hero, so I decided to use my rehearsed speech. What came out was something like 'I have never before worked with a director like you and I hope I never before work with a director like you.' I'll never forget the way he stepped back and looked at me with his head cocked to one side, like a dog when he is curious."

After Ed gave up law a friend asked him if he wanted to join Le Petite Theatre de Vieux Carre, 600-year-old membership theater in New Orleans. Ed agreed and wound up playing Biff in "Death of a Salesman."

"That, more than anything else, did it for me. There was one scene in which I was supposed to cry. The director actually made me cry, and it became easy because I really believed the scene. It got so I looked forward to that scene from the time I stopped crying until I started again."

WHEN NELSON arrived in Hollywood he followed the struggling young actor routine by driving cabs, teaching swimming and acting as a lifeguard while looking for work. His first job was in the movie, "The Attack of the Crab Monsters."

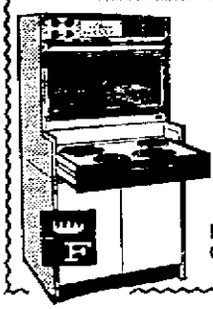

"I was the monster, and the only time you saw me was an accidental shot of my feet hanging out the bottom of the crab shell."

Same Old Ratings Game Dominates New Season

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) Having endured the slings and arrows of government investigation, now officially ended, television ratings continue to dominate the uppermost influence in the new video season.

If you should suggest to anyone in the industry that this influence might now be even slightly altered, he will look at you as though you are completely mad.

No one, of course, ever expected things to really be very different. The whole idea was to make the ratings more accurate and reputable, the argument being that the basic system is definitely needed so that advertisers can know approximately how many persons are watching their programs — which leads to price rates and so on.

* * * *

NEVERTHELESS, to sit in the midst of this new season atmosphere of petrified madness is an experience to shrivel the soul, so petty and frantic and unmanly is it. The ratings the industry considers most influential, the national Nielsens, are not even out yet — and, in fact, won't be truly definitive, in the view of believers, until after the elections because of the number of pre-emptions for political broadcasts, news specials and the like. But there are other ratings, and they have people jumping, with all three networks grasping at figures.

Even if the ratings were right beyond question, the best they could do in appraising the new entertainment series at this stage of this season is indicate some apparent hits and misses. Thus they have indicated, for instance, one expected result of the debuts: The seeming smash-hit status of "Peyton Place," with its stepped-up soap opera emphasis on sex. "Variety," the show-business weekly, says this Tuesday and Thursday night-time serial "already is inked in for a three-a-week prime time exposure in its second year." It is also possible that there will be other night-time soap operas.

* * * *

THUS, ALSO, the new monster situation comedies may do well, if these early ratings are anywhere near correct. "The Munsters" apparently drew an imposing figure, and, according to one survey passed on by a happily partisan source, "The Addams Family" actually edged out Bob Hope's star-laden comedy special—an almost unheard-of occurrence. As I say, however, it's all in whether you swallow the figures.

If you do, then you will be interested in a rating that showed a Sunday night movie, "Some Like It Hot," beating out "Bonanza" and streamrollering over a major NBC-TV newcomer, "The Rogues." The ratings, of course, vary with the quality of the movies. Other early ratings allegations: Jack Paar held forth over "The Reporter" and "12 O'clock High." ABC-TV's "Bewitched" is hot, as expected. And "Ben Casey" trounced "Slattery's People."

Nurse Special

Julie Harris has been signed to portray nurse Florence Nightingale in a 90-minute "Hall of Fame" drama set for NBC-TV airing on April 8. Title of the drama is "The Holy Terror."

Political Debate 'Best Rated'

Viewers in one of three homes with their TV sets on watched the debate last Monday between Sen. Pierre Salinger (D) and George Murphy (R), according to KNXT (channel 2).

The station based its estimate on a phone survey taken during the time period of the debate. The debate's rating of 23 outdistanced the next highest station by 87%.

An estimated 1,500,000 viewers watched the special hour-long telecast.

New!
All-Pushbutton Gas Maytag Dryer with Electronic Control!

Why they call this Maytag the dryer with a brain

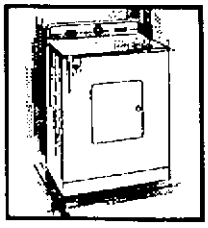

This Maytag Halo of Heat[K] Gas Dryer has Electronic Control. It doesn't work by timers or thermostats. It feels the moisture in your clothes continually. And when the moisture in a load of clothes is low enough, Electronic Control shuts the dryer off. Electronic Control along with Maytag's gentle circle of even heat make sure you get perfectly dried clothes every time. You can even dry your most delicate lingerie in this Maytag.

Maytag Gas Dryers with Electronic Control are operated with just 4 buttons. Just push the one button that matches the load and your clothes are dried perfectly every time.

Maytag—World's first electronically controlled gas dryer.

New low prices make this a great time to put a Maytag Halo of Heat Dryer in your home

No other dryer at any price offers all these 9 Maytag features: • High speed, low heat, no hot spots • Dries even your delicate lingerie • Pushbutton controls including wash 'n wear and air fluff • Efficient Lint filter • Big-family load capacity • Zinc-coated steel cabinet guards against rust • Safety door stops action in seconds when opened • New Safety restart switch

SPECIAL

SCARLET HILL — Premiere. Beth Locerbie stars as widowed owner of a rooming house in a small town in upstate New York. The various strangers who come to stay there make up characters of the daily soap opera.

ANDY WILLIAMS — It's a star-filled hour of fun and music when Liberace plays a Gershwin melody and Phil Harris sings songs of steamboats with the Good Time Singers. Also spotlighted at 10 p.m., ch. 4 in color, is Brazilian composer Antonio Carlos Jobim, originator of the Bossa Nova, playing some of his own compositions including "Desafinado" and "The Girl from Ipanema."

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE — Veteran Ed Wynn, who as a septugenarium began a new career as a dramatic actor, plays a spry old inmate of an unusual home for the elderly, who bicycles 60 miles to the state capital to get Slattery's help in fighting the threatened closing of the home. Richard Kiley, co-stars at 10 p.m., ch. 2, as the unorthodox director of the hospital. (Wynn, incidentally, is featured also on this week's Red Skelton show and now is filming a "Bonanza" segment.)

DEBBIE WATSON, in her title role of "Karen," gets surfing lessons at 7:30 p. m. Monday on channel 4.

WORLD SERIES, 9:45 a.m. in color, ch. 4, returns to Yankee Stadium for the fifth game in the Yankees-Cardinals series. Joe Garagiola and Phil Rizzuto mikeside.

OLYMPICS 1964, 11:15 p.m., ch. 4, has jet-flown tapes of the finals of men's 100-meter freestyle, women's 200-meter breaststroke, women's springboard diving.

Bone of--Arf!—Contention

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Filmland's dogs are growling at an edict handed down by the American Humane Assn. which looks out for the welfare of acting pooches.

Watch the bones, the AHA said in its latest bulletin for dogs and their masters. Splintered bones might hurt a hound, who couldn't care less until he starts to choke.

"Dog biscuits or artificial bones are preferrable to real bones," the organization's bulletin said. "Bones are not an essential diet ingredient and may actually be dangerous."

That's a lot of pap as any dog can tell you.

What's the sense of digging a hole if you don't have a bone to bury? And why bite the postman if not to get at his shinbone?

* * * *

AGREE or disagree, the AHA is still the hound's best friend. The organization is a zealous watchdog for actors with horns, feathers, four feet, flippers, wings and claws. Also trunks.

The organization is to animal actors what Walter Reuther is to auto workers. An AHA inspector regularly visits movie sets and television stages where animal performers are working.

Each hawk-eyed inspector watches for any infractions of rules which govern the employment of those who can't defend themselves — lions and tigers, for instance.

* * * *

HUMAN actors can take care of themselves, although many of them could use a handler.

The whole thing started in 1940 when animal lovers protested against filmland's treatment of horses. The louder the animals screamed, the louder the animal lovers screamed.

Eventually, producers got tired of all the noise.

AHA's Hollywood man is Harold Melniker, who said "One of the important things that provoked all this was the 'Running W'."

The "Running W" trick, says Melniker, was used on a horse who "ran with invisible wires attached to his front legs. When there was no more wire, the horse went over on his head. It was likely to give you a horse with a broken neck or leg. That's positively forbidden now."

SPECIAL

BIG NEWS — Maury Green reveals "deals" made in California politics in a 3-part "special assignment" beginning today at 6 p.m., ch. 2. Included are Nixon's 1952 Senate race, Knight's being pushed out of the 1958 Governor's race and other secrets involving persons with no further political ambitions.

CAMPAIGN & CANDIDATES — Frank McGee makes a thorough analysis of the state of California and the Presidential campaign within it during an hour-long special at 10 p.m., ch. 4. The state splits within both parties are probed, as well as such issues as social security, medicare, Proposition 14, defense contracts and the "frontlash." Former Sen. William Knowland, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh offer their analyses, with others appearing including Pierre Salinger, Alan Cranston, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, actor Ronald Reagan, JBS's John Rousselot, and George Murphy. (CBS next week offers a full hour on New York's Keating - Kennedy contest.)

'Every Woman Has Little Witch in Her,' Says Liz

LIZ MONTGOMERY

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If Elizabeth Montgomery is a witch, then witch-hunting should become the national pasttime.

The beautiful daughter of oldtimer Robert Montgomery plays a witch in the new television series "Bewitched" with enough charm and verve to make Hallowe'en an international holiday.

You may not believe in witches, but Liz does.

"Every woman has a little witch in her," she said during a noon break at Columbia Studios. "Besides, I believe in witches. They're all over the place.

"Actually, we witches don't like Hallowe'en. It's bad for our images. That's the night all the amateurs get into the act, riding around on brooms and all that jazz. We're not hags at all. I've yet to see a genuine witch cackle or stir a cauldron."

* * * *

WHAT Elizabeth and all other witches do best is cast a spell, and that is precisely what the actress hopes to do on her show.

Liz began the ABC-TV series only three weeks after giving birth to her first child, William Allen Asher.

"I was never so tired in my life," she said, "but, I've gradually gained strength. And the fact that Bill has been directing all the shows has been a big help."

Bill is husband Bill Asher who directed Elizabeth in "Johnny Cool" before they were married."

"He's the best director I've ever worked for," Liz said, "and I said the same thing before we were married."

The Ashers drive to work together in the morning and go over their scripts at night.

"We try to keep our family life separate from our working life," Elizabeth said. "But it's not easy. Of course the series is important. But our life together with the

* * * *

ELIZABETH walked back to the set for a scene with her co-stars, Dick York (who plays her husband) and Agnes Moorehead (who plays her mother).

"Agnes is a witch, too," Liz explained. "Because she's several hundred years older than I am, she is a much more powerful witch. I'm supposed to be 360 years old in this show, but I lie about my age. I tell people I'm only 250 years old."

Husband Asher raised his eyebrows at this bit of news and said, "Are you ready, Samantha?" Then he added, "on the set that girl is Samantha to me—the name of her character in the show. So there's never any conflict. She's Liz at home and Samantha at work.

"Believe me, I never get mixed up on which is wife and which is witch."

Richard Boone Plans Hawaii Film Studio

HONOLULU (UPI)—Actor Richard Boone has announced plans to set up a motion picture studio here, with production slated to start in January on a television series.

Boone, who moved his family and his sport-fishing boat here in June after becoming dissatisfied with life in Hollywood, said:

"We're bringing a piece of Hollywood here."

The former star of "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "The Richard Boone Show" said establishment of the studio and the television series is only the first step in the opening of a major film industry in Hawaii.

HE STARTED arrangements for the film studio shortly after coming here, Boone said.

The studio, still unnamed, is expected to be given a name with a local flavor, possibly "The Hawaiian Islands Film Studio."

The studio will be owned and operated by Boone and a local "hui", or group of investors. Boone plans to do all the work here using mostly local talent.

Benny Fiddles for Fund

Appearing as a violin soloist with the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, Jack Benny recently played to a capacity audience in his home town of Waukegan, Ill.

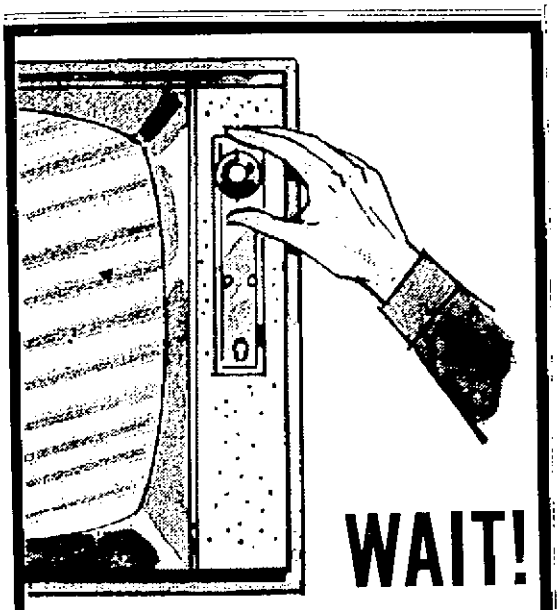

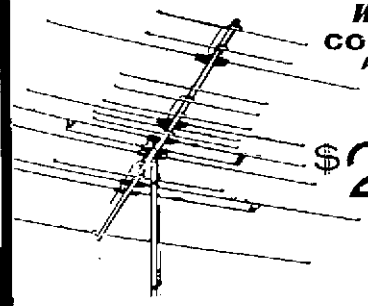

Proceeds of the concert, $20,330, went to establish the new Music Center of Lake County, Ill.

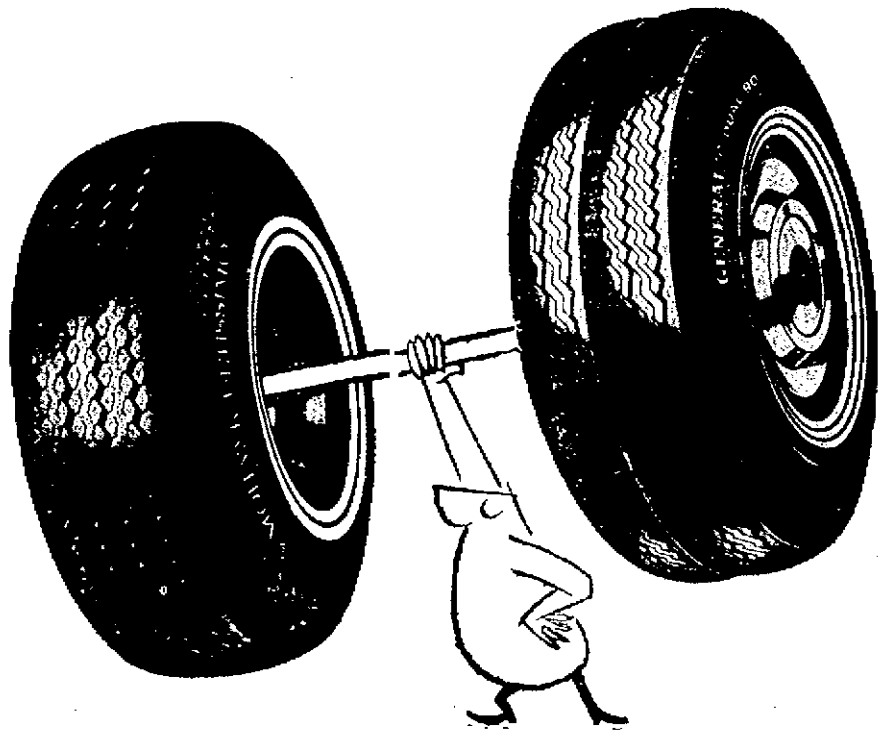

His home-town appearance marked the first time he had played in Waukegan since he was 15 years old.

SPECIAL

DR. KILDARE — Estelle Winwood, Hans Conried, Josephine Hutchinson and Edgar Stehli star as the charming, but eccentric, Blairs during the 8:30 p.m., ch. 4 hour. A greedy scion (Conried) of the hospital-founders tries to have the rest of his family declared incompetent so he can gain control of the estate. Investigation leads Kildare and Gillespie to a post-dated tombstone, an occupied coffin, and a seance during which the family matriarch reveals the contents of her will and a surprising fact about the accuser.

SPECIAL OF WEEK — A double feature documentary opens at 8:30 p.m., ch. 5, as narrator Richard Basehart traces the evolution of Communist suppression in East Germany and Red China — with the inevitable need to escape to freedom. Following, at 9 p.m., Mike Wallace looks at the tragic life of Marilyn Monroe. Latter is a repeat.

Sports Today

WORLD SERIES, if it goes full 7 games, will be screened at 10:45 a.m., ch. 4, in color, with Curt Gowdy and Harry Carey mikeside at Busch Stadium.

DOBIE GOES WEST

Cattle Rattle Flusters Rustler

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dwayne Hickman, a perennial sophomore on television, is going back to movies playing a cowardly cattle rustler.

As a cattle crook in "Cat Ballou," Dwayne keeps a wary eye on the cows. They frighten him more than the cowboys. When a cow moos, Hickman hoists his hands in the air.

DWAYNE HICKMAN

"Cat Ballou" is Hickman's first picture role in more than five years. During the interim he was star of the old "Dobie Gillis" series which has since gone off the air.

Before that series he had a long run as the sprite on Bob Cummings' hit series.

When "Gillis" went into the wings, Hickman made a pilot film for a new series in which he would play a schoolteacher. He didn't get on the air.

* * * *

"I WAS CAUGHT swimming against the tide," said Hickman of the show's failure. "I made a nice safe comedy. And at the time I made it, they were buying way out shows — monsters and hillbillies.

"It seems to me that television is developing into a gimmicky, mediocre situation. When I started with Cummings 10 years ago, a show with good people, a situation and good writing would go. Now you have to be gimmicky."

When "Gillis" went out of production a year ago, Dwayne made a financial settlement which gave him security for some time to come. He could afford to pick and choose his roles.

"I didn't want to do 'I Was a Teen-Age Monster' and that kind of thing," he said.

* * * *

HICKMAN admits that his professional activity since "Gillis" "hasn't been exciting," but things are now picking up. Three studios are after his services.

"I won't have a day off until the end of the year," said Dwayne.

Hickman can't explain the increased demand for his services any more than he could the lack of "excitement" in his career during the past year.

Chopstick Blues

In earlier broadcasting days, Jim Backus, star of CBS-TV's "Gilligan's Island," was sponsored on radio by a Chinese restaurant.

He used to be paid in chow mein, he attested.

"The trouble with that," he said, "is that two hours after I got paid I was broke."

PRIME RIBS

The Tenderloin is the quality restaurant that serves choice prime rib for only $1.95. Come over soon, we're still at 4363 Atlantic Avenue.

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE — In his first of two filmed color comedy-dramas, Hope offers Faith, Purity and Charity, played by Jill St. John, Rhonda Fleming and Marilyn Maxwell, in a Western satire at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4. Hope plays a busted marriage broker stranded and jailed in a rough mining town called Golden Gulch, with Bruce Cabot as the sheriff and Rod Cameron, Sonny Tufts and Aldo Ray as three rowdy brothers who become his clients. When the beauties arrive from the East, however, they've no interest in marriage. Several "surprise" guests are seen in cameo roles, including a 39-year-old fiddle player and a bouncing (redheaded) Ball.

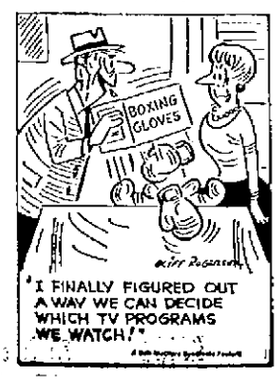

MIDGE WARE guests in a story about an aggressive author on "Valentine's Day" at 9 p. m. Friday, channel 7.

Sports Today

J. C. FOOTBALL, 8 p.m., ch. 13, has Bill Brundidge at the Rose Bowl as Pasadena hosts L.A. Harbor.

OLYMPICS 1964, 11:15 p.m., ch. 4, with finals of men's 400-meter hurdles, men's 800-meter run, women's 100-meter dash, finals of women's 100-meter butterfly stroke.

Method Actor Settles for Situation Comedy

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Anthony Franciosa came to town eight years ago, a hot-eyed disciple of method acting, burning to inflict his intensity on unsuspecting movie-goers.

You know the type. The angry young man, mostly angry with himself for not being the world's greatest actor at age 25.

Eight years ago Tony looked down his handsome nose at television situation comedy with the disdain Sir Laurance Olivier might hold for, say, Pat Boone as "Hamlet."

So what is Tony doing now? Right, a situation comedy.

But if you think Franciosa is embarrassed about it, or apologetic or infused with battered illusions, forget it.

He plays his role in "Valentine's Day" (ABC-TV) with dash and style. The doctrinaire Actors Studio syndrome has abated, and Francinsa has proved that he is just as good a comedian as he is dramatic performer—which is very good indeed.

TONY FRANCIOSA

Still, Tony defends the youthful hostility that smolders within all fledgling actors.

"It's good for young actors to be critical and tear things down to examine them," he said during a lunch break at 20th Century-Fox. "They should indulge themselves and learn.

"Eventually, of course, they must readjust their thinking when they get into commercial show business—Broadway, movies and television—which is very different from Off-Broadway and Little Theater. It's one thing to criticize and another to participate.

"I WAS UNPREPARED for the pressure of having to produce, to come through when the chips were down. Once you're in front of that camera you'd better be a professional.

"When I came out here I pretended I knew what it was all about and overcompensated for what I didn't know."

Translated: Tony was as defensive as a porch-climber in a line-up. He filled in his deficiencies with bravado and aggressive chatter about the shortcomings of established stars. He was going to show 'em, by gad, that he was the actor to end all actors.

No such luck.

It's amazing the transformation that success has wrought in Franciosa. He grins easily. He's relaxed. And apparently he ain't mad at anybody, even newsmen with whom he once fought furiously.

Of his video series, he says, "This half-hour comedy show presents as many problems to an actor as a great dramatic role.

"I've never done anything like it before so it is a real test, a challenge. It doesn't come easy to me. It may be full of frills and fluff but it is demanding."

IF YOU ARE LOSING YOUR HAIR...

CONSIDER THIS REMARKABLE RECORD

TUROFF OFFICES IN 10 CALIFORNIA CITIES HAVE GIVEN OVER 1¼ MILLION SUCCESSFUL TREATMENTS. CLIENT SATISFACTION IS CAUSING US TO GROW—AND GROW, JOIN US!

IT HAPPENS every day now. A young man realizes that he's losing more hair than he should. A middle-aged woman discovers that the softness of her hair is caused by its thinning away. Young women who have "tried everything" decide that what they need is professional attention. And middle-aged men see the first signs of the baldness they dread and wonder what is to be done.

NOWADAYS QUITE A LOT CAN BE DONE

Much more than most people think. Nowadays success comes to many people who, not long ago, would have been told that their cases were hopeless.

JUST AS TEETH are destroyed by our "soft" civilized diet, it is conceivable that our hair suffers from our "soft" civilized way of living. Physical inaction, lack of fresh air, inadequate hair and hygiene habits, and nervous stress of modern living may all reflect unfavorably on man's hair growth. From their years of experience in successfully treating hair and scalp disorders, the specialists in the Turoff System have proven that modern man can avoid baldness by counteracting the effects of "soft" civilized living with a "hard" vigorous system of scalp hygiene. THE UNUSUAL SUCCESS of the Turoff System in administering over 1¼ million treatments supports this theory strongly. The inescapable truth is . . . premature thinning of the hair, or actual baldness, is inevitable for many men and women . . . UNLESS CORRECT SCALP HYGIENE IS BEGUN EARLY.

PREPARATION

Much must be done, before the actual Turoff treatment, to condition the scalp properly. First your scalp is thoroughly examined. Every individual is thoroughly examined in complete privacy and an individual course of treatments is determined. No two cases are ever identical, neither are the treatments.

COMPLETE PRIVACY

COMPLETE PRIVACY—No one but you and the Turoff consultant know of your visit. For those finding difficulty in attending Turoff's, a specially prepared Home Treatment Kit can be prepared for your particular requirements (after office consultation).

S. I. Turoff, Director, Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts, now demonstrates remarkable new methods. No appointment needed, for free examination and 30-minute trial treatment.

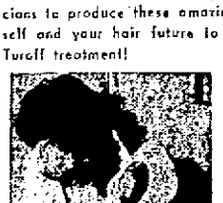

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM S. I. TUROFF

Our new methods are exciting! There is a number of people who wait, till hopeless baldness develops. If you have a hair-loss problem, you should act NOW! I'll make it EASY! Take this pleasant, remarkable 30-minute treatment on a TRIAL basis. PAY NOTHING unless you decide to continue. Don't miss this!

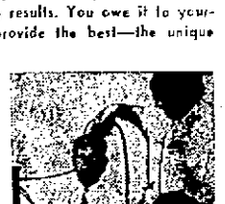

Sincerely,
S. I. TUROFF

NEW WAY TO THICKER, HEALTHIER HAIR

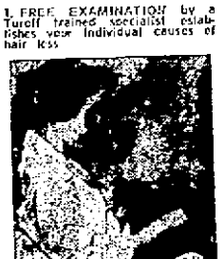

Only Turoff offers exclusive laboratory created formulas and scientific electro-therapy perfected by Turoff technicians to produce these amazing results. You owe it to yourself and your hair future to provide the best—the unique Turoff treatment!

1. FREE EXAMINATION by a Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research, results are FAST!

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas, laboratory produced, soothes, stay on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant rejuvenates, tones and loosens scalp so tissues can grow.

"I'LL START LATER"

We have seen more people get hopelessly bald with this attitude than for any other reason. Baldness does not wait! you must have hair for us to help you.

GROWTH CYCLE

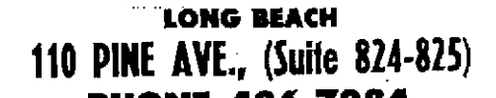

Every 4-5 years, every hair is replaced by a new hair. If the hair is weak and colorless, at this point, it may denote approaching baldness—although the hair root is still alive. Turoff's exclusive treatment can promote the growth of hair at this crucial point

TUROFF HAS A NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro therapy. Turoff clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results that Turoff has grown from one clinic to ten clinics and become California's leading hair specialists. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

FREE EXAMINATION

Step into Turoff Hair Treatment Clinic for an absolutely FREE consultation and examination—without obligation! Let him tell you frankly, whether your hair or scalp problem is under Turoff's scope of treatment—and if not—he will refer you to the proper medical or other treatment you require. Your FREE examination and consultation is conducted in private.

DINAH SHORE presents an hour variety special at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, channel 7.

SPECIAL

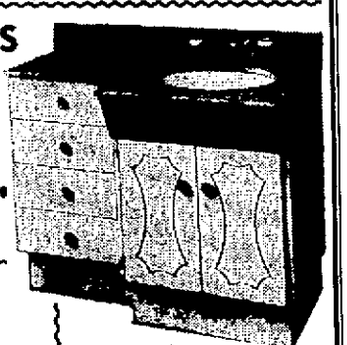

EXPLORING—3rd season premiere. Migration is the topic for the 4 p.m., ch. 4 color hour as animated films, folk singers, puppets and historic footage deal with movement of birds, animals and humans. David Wayne, Theodore Bikel and Alex Hassilev are opening guests, with host Dr. Albert Hibbs and the Ritts puppets.

MISS TEENAGE L. A. — Selection of L.A.'s entry in the national Miss Teen Age contest will be held in the KCOP studios at 9 p.m., ch. 13. Fully sponsored by radio station KFWB, the hour features the rock 'n roll station's 8 deejays—Wink Martindale, Sam Riddle, Joe Yucam, Gene Weed, Bill Ballance, Roger Christian, Larry McCormick and Bill Slater. Winner will go on to Dallas (with contest telecast Nov. 13 by CBS) to compete for a 4-year $10,000 scholarship to the college of her choice.

DINAH SHORE — The vivacious singer returns in the first of four specials to investigate the intriguing, and sometimes frustrating, world of teenagers as seen through the eyes of adults. David Janssen, George Gobel and Rose Marie are special guests at 9:30 p.m., ch. 7, with teenage fads and foibles explored by Gobel's son and the teenage daughters of Dinah and Rose Marie. As 40 youngsters dance the Watusi and the swim, Dinah wings a standard to the big beat.

Air Conditioning, 400 B. C.

By Helen L. Gillum

FOR centuries the hand fan has been an item of necessity and luxury and also has been collectable over the ages.

These accessories, which date back to ancient China and Egypt of 4000 B. C. (long before the days of air conditioning!), are thought to have been introduced into Europe during the Crusades. They were used by royalty and the nobility, and were collected as a hobby by queens, court beauties, great actors and actresses — and just plain people. One lady of the English courts, Lady Charlotte Schreiber, Whose fabulous collection is now in the British Museum, went so far as to describe her fans in an excellent book, published in 1883, called "Fans and Fan Leaves," a volume still consulted by students of fan history.

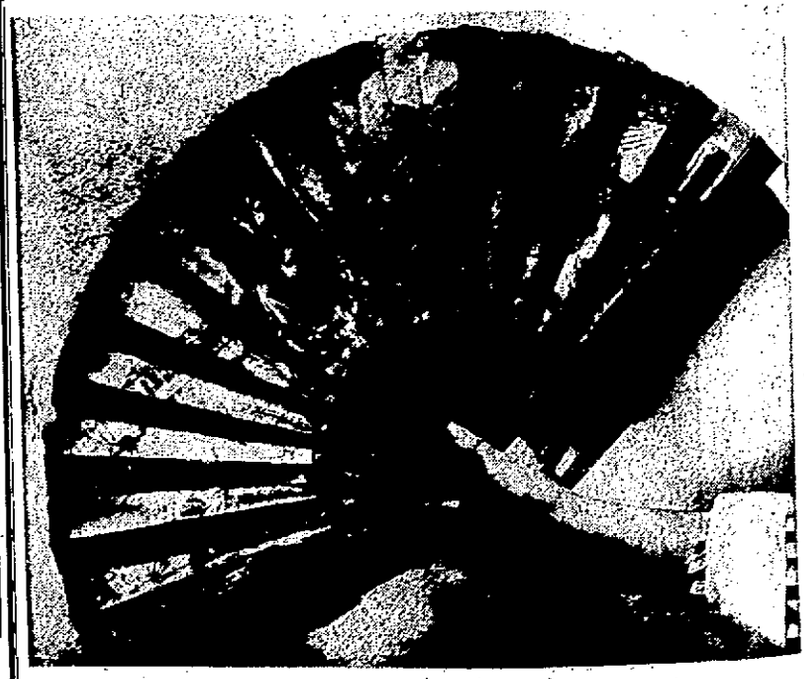

FANS were made in countless types of materials, colors, and decorative procedures. Natural leaf forms, like the palm leaf, and the flat and the fold fans, fashioned from ivory, wood, whalebone, celluloid, silver, silk, lace, parchment, paper, vellum and feathers, were carved, embroidered, painted, enameled, and even set in jewels. Many were designed to commemorate cultural achievements of an era, some depicted legendary or historical events, and others were of a symbolic nature.

A fine assortment of old fans, owned by Miss Pamla Townsend of 6143 N. Hersholt Ave., Lakewood, includes an intriguing fan of symbolic and historical meaning. It is not known how old this 13-inch high paper fold fan is, but the brittle condition of the paper and wooden framework indicates great age. A background of flowers, stately pavillions and other buildings is set in what appears to be a harbor or other body of water. Up close, a statue resembling an angel sits on a throne, holding high what is perhaps the Torch of Freedom. She is surrounded by cherubs carrying symbolic objects, such as a wheel and mallet for industry, an artist's palette for Art, a caduceus for Medicine, and other figures that carry out a representative theme.

ELEGANCIES of bygone opera performances are brought to mind by an 8-inch opera fan, decorated across the leaf with musical instruments. A charming seascape centers on a blue background, and the entire fan twinkles lavishly with tiny gold sequins. This fold fan's sticks—or "brins" — are of inlaid ivory, and it is complete with a long tassel. Another opera fan, of white ostrich feathers, is still in beautiful condition, with white plumes gracefully waving.

A black crepe-de-chine fan, 14 inches high, is gay with cherubs hand-painted in oils in natural tints, and birds, flowers and musical instruments in pastel oils. A white crepe-de-chine fan, with silver, blue and yellow butterflies hand-painted in oils, has wooden brins hand-carved in a flower and butterfly pattern.

A solid black silk, unadorned mourning fan was a gift to Miss Townsend from an elderly friend. If it lends a somber air, this mood is dispelled by a magnificent 16-inch high peacock-feather fan. When opened to its full width, it displays beautifully matched peacock tail feathers, with the showy rainbow-colored "eye" of each feather falling into harmonious sequence as the fan unfolds.

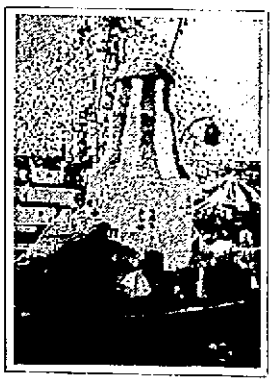

Fans were the air conditioners of ancient times and also have been collectables over the ages. Decorated fan above is of great age and interest.

OUR COVER

San Pedro's "Fishermen's Fiesta" ranks with the Rose Parade, the Mardi Gras and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade as one of the nation's most colorful and best known celebrations. Started by a handful of fishermen grateful for a good season's catch, the Los Angeles Harbor fiesta has grown into a three-day show known around the world and viewed by hundreds of thousands. Capstone of the fiesta, which features street dancing, carnivals and "Old Country" entertainment, is the parade of decorated boats like that on the cover. For a history of this colorful waterfront event and what to expect at this year's show, see Page 7.

Science Closes In on Human Leukemia

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

MEDICAL scientists are closing in fast on human leukemia.

In medical circles there is growing certainty that viruses cause human leukemia—and possibly other forms of cancer.

Research findings are snowballing. Because scientists have become so optimistic over the new wealth of knowledge about leukemia, funds for expanded research have been rushed through Congress.

The National Cancer Institute, a research arm of the U.S. Public Health Service, and drug industry investigators have combined forces to launch a crash program. Aim: to nail down the viruses believed to cause human leukemia.

AT THE NATIONAL Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., authorities estimate they will need $30 million over two years to carry out this crash program.

Some of the money is expected to be allocated when Congress reconvenes next year. A special $10 million appropriation already has been rushed through.

Says Dr. W. Ray Bryan, an official of the NCI: "It has been firmly established that certain leukemia and lymphatic cancers of chickens and mice are caused by viruses. The evidence strongly suggests that counterpart diseases may occur among humans."

A statement from the Senate Appropriations Committee, which heard testimony from eminent scientists, notes that "viral causation of leukemia is very close to full, scientific proof."

SEVERAL researchers have reported seeing particles in the blood of human leukemia victims. These particles resemble leukemia viruses found in mice.

At Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., researchers have successfully grown these human leukemia virus-like particles in the laboratory.

Until recently, attempts to grow these particles in tissue cultures had been unsuccessful.

Thanks to powerful centrifuges and electron microscopes, these particles can be seen today in at least 30% of victims of acute leukemia of childhood.

RESEARCHERS at the National Cancer Institute have produced what appear to be pre-leukemia symptoms in monkeys by injecting virus-like particles taken from leukemia patients.

At Middlesex Hospital Medical School in London, investigators have apparently transmitted a human lymphoma (a tumor) to monkeys by using what appears to be a virus. This tremendous achievement confirms the viral nature of at least one form of human cancer.

Preliminary evidence also indicates that leukemia in cats is caused by a virus.

At the John L. Smith Memorial for Cancer Research laboratories in Maywood, N.J., occasional virus-like particles have been isolated from human blood plasma. Attempts are now being made to pin down their identification.

THE PLASMA containing the virus-like particles was taken from "cluster" patients. A number of leukemia cases have occurred in persons residing in one locality, leading to the belief that a common cause, such as a virus, may be responsible for the disease.

Clusters of leukemia have been reported in communities in Wyoming, Utah, New Jersey, Georgia, Illinois and Maryland. Best known example of leukemia-clustering is that in Niles, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

Electron microscope is aiding scientists in attempts to link viruses with human leukemia.

The Niles episode touched off what is believed one of the most significant facets of leukemia research.

It all started with a letter from St. John Brebeuf School in Niles.

ADDRESSED to the American Cancer Society's Illinois division office, it read: "In the past six months we have had what we feel is an unusual number of deaths of children from leukemia."

There followed the names, ages, addresses and dates of death of eight youngsters, plus information on about five more then ill with the disease.

"We hope and pray that your efforts to cure such diseases will meet with success," the letter said. "May God bless you and your work." (Signed) Sister Mary Viva, principal.

Goal of the virus research is development of a vaccine to protect against human leukemia.

THE GOAL may be within reach. Even now, vaccines exist to protect mice against leukemia.

Dr. Steven O. Schwartz, Chicago, blood specialist with the Hektoen Institute for Medical Research, says a vaccine for human leukemia is an "absolute certainty."

Medical Tribune, a newspaper for doctors, editorializes that although optimism must be tempered with caution, "prospects for great discoveries seem truly to be at hand."

The search for the human leukemia virus and a vaccine to cope with it is easily the hottest program in medical research today.

Tremendous power of electron microscope shows up Rauscher viruses in leukemia mice blood.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on NORRIS, NOURSE.—F. J., Torrance; S. N., L. D., Long Beach.

F. J., S. N., L. D.: NORRIS and NOURSE are from the old French word "Noreis" meaning "northerner." An alternate but very doubtful old French source was Norrice meaning "nurse." French Norris forefathers migrated to England where Hugh Le Norreis lived in 1199. The most prominent Norris shield has a silver cross on a background covered with silver and black rectangles. The will of the Rev. Edward Norris, an American ancestor, was proved in Massachusetts in 1660.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please identify MULVIHILL.—D.P., Bellflower; J.M., Lakewood.

D.P., J.M.: MULVIHILL started as the Irish Gaelic O'Maoil-Michil, denoting "Sons of the Servant of St. Michael." This lineage who were early rulers of County Roscommon, descended from a chief who died in battle in A.D. 866. Their shield has two blue rampant lions supporting a red hand above a silver salmon on a silver backing, for the upper half; and a green lower half emblazoned with a gold Irish harp flanked by two erect battle axes.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on LAW—J.L., Stanton; L.L., E.L., Long Beach.

J.L., L.L., E.L.: LAW originated as the dialectical north English and Scottish term "Lawe" meaning "burial-mound hill." This locational name was used by ancestors to landmark their property which had on it a prehistoric Bronze Age burial mound. Primary progenitors include Benedict de la Lawe in 1246. The Law shield is covered with ermine, emblazoned with two red roosters and three red stars with gold centers engraved on a diagonal gold stripe. The family motto "Compositum jus fasque animi" translates from Latin as "law and equity."

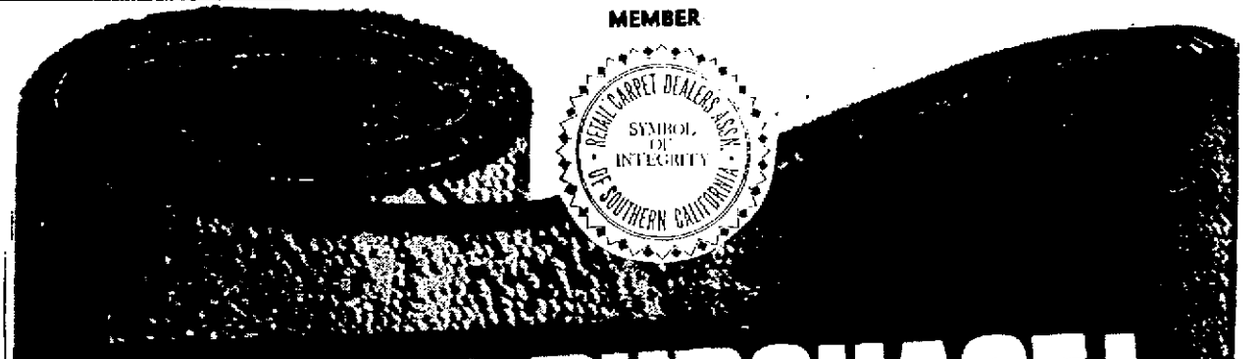

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the background of ROCHA.—G. R., Westminister.

G.R.: ROCHA is a distinctive Spanish property-descriptive surname meaning "land that was cleared of brush." The Rocha coat-of-

Little Red Schoolhouse

By Earline M. Gladstone

MANY of the younger generation consider the "Little Red Schoolhouse" a symbol of our American educational system in Grandma's Day. Youngsters of Ballard, a village three miles north of Solvang, have a different conception of the phrase. To them the Little Red Schoolhouse is a very important part of their present-day life, for they still learn the rudiments of education in a neat, diminutive, crimson building trimmed in white. Every fall the bell rings out the lazy summer vacation and rings in another year of school.

On Dec. 20, 1883, Miss Nellie Gallagher opened the doors of Ballard's new school building and welcomed her pupils for the first time. The structure has been in continuous use as a schoolhouse ever since.

Today two huge black walnut trees frame this storybook school, and shade the picnic tables and the hopscotch pattern in front. There are starched white curtains at the window, and a clock on the wall measures the hours, unmindful of the three generations of Ballard citizens who have passed that way.

Mrs. Grace L. Davison, author of several books, and former teacher at the Little Red Schoolhouse, still lives nearby. She was 8 years old when she attended school that first day in 1883. She and her several brothers and sisters graduated from the Ballard school, as did her own five children many years later.

She recalls that in the beginning, church services as well as school activities were held in the schoolhouse. Weddings, funerals, civic and social affairs also took place there.

As the Ballard school was the first one in the Santa Ynez Valley, pupils came from far and near. Some rode horses and others arrived on foot. Children living at the Santa Ynez Mission walked the three miles to school. All youngsters brought their lunches in tin pails. Water for the school was carried in buckets from the well of a nearby resident. Everyone drank from the same dipper.

A bell tower was added to the building about 1890. Before that time the teachers summoned their pupils by beating on a triangle. The girls sat on one side of the schoolhouse, and the boys on the other. Playgrounds were spacious, but divided, and there was no trespassing. Discipline was the order of the day, and the teacher was not restrained from using the rod if she deemed it necessary. Girls wore sunbonnets, and the boys hats, but they all came to school bare-footed and sun tanned.

On Friday afternoons visitors were welcomed, and the children participated in special programs. School books were paid for by parents. As they were expensive they were handed down from one child in the family to the next, almost like heirlooms. The girls did the janitor work. On special occasions they not only swept and dusted the schoolroom, but garnished it with flowers, greenery, and gay pictures.

Formerly, one teacher taught nine grades in the one room that measures 24 feet by 32 feet. Today fewer grades are taught in the tiny building, and there are two teachers. There were no graduation exercises in the "old days," but a student completing the 9th grade was given an examination sent out by the county school board. If he passed the test he was a graduate.

Mrs. Davison remembers that many prominent people attended school in Ballard's Little Red Schoolhouse, among them Ira Robert Taylor Smith, author of "My Fifty Years in the White House."

Coming Next Week: Waterfront's Most Spectacular Show

The Fiesta of the Fishermen

Dancers in foreign dress and doing native dances give international flavor to the Fishermen's Fiesta.

By Lou Jobst

IT HAS BEEN called a pescatorial Pageant of the Masters and a seagoing Tournnament of Roses.

It has been the center of a religious controversy and called a careless carnival with political overtones.

It has gay, ribald, wild, solemn and even heroic moments.

It is the nation's third most photographed event, overshadowed only by the Rose Parade and the Mardi Gras.

It is the traditional end of the fishing season in America's largest fishing town and the mecca of 300,000 to 400,000 persons every year.

It is the waterfront's most spectacular festival.

It is the Fishermen's Fiesta of Los Angeles Harbor.

THIS YEAR'S autumnal rites—the 14th annual presentation of the fiesta—will be held Friday through Sunday, Oct. 23-25.

Theme of the 1964 Fiesta, expected to be the largest, most extravagantly colorful and best attended in the spotty history of the celebration, is Melodyland, featuring themes built around the great tunes and songs.

The theme, like the Skipperette, Miss Cathi Vilicich, 17, and her two Seamaids, Luara Modrid, 17, and Suzanne Butler, 16, were selected by contest in August.

Skipper or grand marshal of this year's show is Burton W. Chace, long-time Southern California government and civic leader and supervisor from the Fourth District.

Chace is a resident of Long Beach and veteran advocate of the waterfront district and beach cities.

ANOTHER LAWMAKER, Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, was skipper of the 1963 event, which was the second to be held in succession since a four-year suspension from 1958-62. It was devoted to dedication of the $21 million Vincent Thomas Bridge spanning the main harbor entrance channel.

While the fete will pretty well follow the tried-and-true format of past years, what was probably its most moving and meaningful event, the "blessing of the fleet," will be noticeably absent again this season.

"The blessing of the fleet," an eight-century-old tradition of Mediterranean fishermen (from whom most San Pedro fishermen are descended), was dropped as a result of a contention it violated the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

CATHOLIC CLERICS had participated in the ceremony, which antedates the start of the formal Fiesta program in 1946, and this was objected to because both the city and county of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Harbor Department give financial support to the Fiesta.

A threatened law suit was dropped when Fiesta officials agreed last year to drop the blessing of the fleet from the program.

This put no damper on the show as more than 83 units participated in the land parade and 70 brightly and cleverly decorated boats in the seaborne parade.

The Fiesta traces its origin back to 1921 when a few of San Pedro's immigrant fishermen decided (no one is sure why) to parade their boats to Catalina Island.

THE INFORMAL show was held a few times during the bleak depression years and then largely forgotten until the first really big celebration was held in 1945.

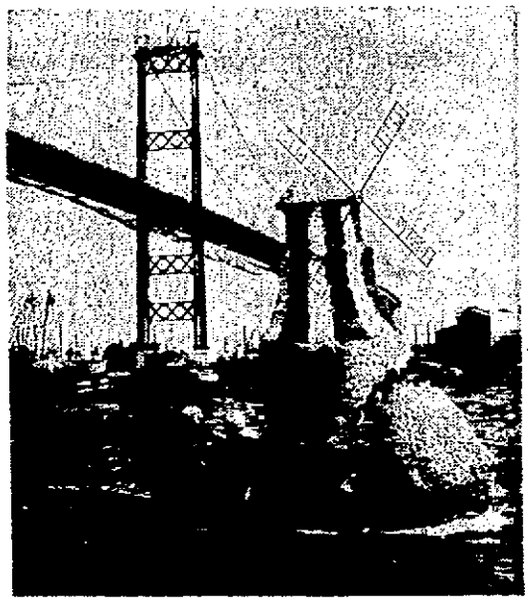

Finally, in 1948, the organized show, which includes the boats decorated with papier mache, street dancing, carnivals, a beauty contest, a fish fry, international culinary and fireworks, got under way.

Through the years Fiesta skippers have included now Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. Pat Brown.

OLD TIMERS recall that only 42,000 persons showed up for the first official Fiesta right after the war.

That year a single plane flew over the parade.

Last year more than 250,000 persons attended and the final event featured a big flight of a full Navy squadron of jets.

Days, sometimes weeks, are devoted to decorating boats in varied themes for the parade.

BIZARRE SURROUNDINGS, IMPROBABLE CIRCUMSTANCES --EVEN MIRTHFUL MISHAPS!

Weddings Can Be Wacky

Wacky note at one wedding came when a hornet in preacher's pants stung the parson four times.

By Frank L. Remington

MIDWAY THROUGH an Alabama marriage ceremony, the officiating justice of the peace asked the bride if she'd obey. The independently minded girl retorted angrily, "Do you think I'm crazy?"

The highly-nervous groom blurted out, "I do." Pandemonium reigned for several minutes before the harried justice ultimately completed the nuptial rites to the bride's satisfaction.

The newlyweds might have done better at Wally Smith's service station in nearby Florida. A notary public authorized to join starry-eyed couples who have valid marriage licenses, Smith weds them free of charge in his Miami gas emporium—if they purchase at least five gallons of gas. One couple insisted on tying the knot atop the elevated grease rack. Smith obliged, though the eager groom almost tumbled off when he leaned over to buss his bride.

Bizarre surroundings, improbable circumstances and mirthful mishaps frequently make for wacky weddings. Several years back in Hutchinson, Kan., for example, Bill Dennis and Pat Gough ultimately said "I do," even though Dennis forgot to pick up the license, the pastor became ill, the bride's brother failed to arrive in time to take part in the proceedings, the air conditioning blew out the church candles, and the bridegroom discovered he didn't have the wedding ring.

SEVERAL YEARS ago Evangeline Karsai repeated marriage vows with Jevan Urosevic in the middle of the Ambassador Bridge linking the United States and Canada. The groom, a displaced Yugoslav living in Windsor, Ontario, couldn't enter the United States until his visa application cleared. The bride could not get married in Canada because her U. S. divorce hadn't cleared international red tape. So they got parsoned while the bride stood in the U. S. and the groom in Canada with only the toes of his shoes impinging this side of the border.

Equally singular, the nuptial rites of Olive Pratt and Polk Eastman took place more than a century ago while the lovers stood on one side of the Kentucky River and the minister on the other. The turbulent river, swollen by spring rains, defied crossing. Consequently, the cleric shouted the usual questions across the stream. The happy pair hollered back their vows and a few minutes later the iron-voiced parson pronounced them man and wife.

One of the wackiest weddings occurred in Bahia Blanca, Argentina. Acrobatic lovers Hilde Littig and Jupp Klein committed merger while dangling from a double trapeze 150 feet in the air. On the other hand, J. F. Gutrick and Katie Wilson literally went off the deep end in commencing their matrimonial venture. They donned diving suits to be married at the bottom of a Los Angeles swimming pool.

DAVE GOLDBERG took his fiancee, Hilda Schneider, on a roller coaster ride along with a clergyman. They completed the jaunt as man and wife. Sentimental Clara Chmiel of Philadelphia chose to start her marital career in the Willow Grove Amusement Park's tunnel of love. That's where her intended, Stanley Gutowsky, had popped the question.

Numerous couples have exchanged nuptial vows while soaring above the earth in a balloon. The first bridal balloon flight occurred in 1865, with Mary Jenkins and John Boynton in co-starring roles. More than 6,000 spectators watched the goings-on, all cheering wildly as the balloon rose to romantic heights from Manhattan's Central Park.

Within the red-and-gold-draped balloon basket the wedding party stood ankle-deep in rich carpeting. The outside of the basket fluttered with American flags. Riding high above the city, the couple signed the marriage contract and soared on and on. Ultimately they landed in the suburbs that night. And Mary and John lived happily together for more than 40 years.

Recently Alberto de Cristofaro and his intended bride really took a nuptial leap to start out their life together. In a plane some 1,300 feet above Italy's Turin Airport, they leaped out and parachuted gracefully to earth where a priest who'd jumped minutes before greeted them. The three principals climbed into a jeep and motored to the church for the rites.

A FEW YEARS ago in Miami, Fla., Frank Dyslin and Betty Anderson tried to get married while speeding along the ocean's surface on water skis, but the boat's motor drowned out the minister's words. To further complicate matters, one bridesmaid's swimsuit split up the back. Then both Frank and Betty lost their balance and fell in the water. But the story has a happy ending. The two swam to shore and completed the ceremony while standing up to their hips in water.

Humorous sidelights and outlandish incidents characterize many weddings. Clad only in a revealing bikini swimsuit at her nuptial ceremony, an uninhibited Los Angeles bride explained: "It seemed very appropriate for a hot day like this." At another wedding, the bride's skirt suddenly slipped to the floor. The groom fainted, the minister turned his head away, but the best man whipped off his jacket and wrapped it around the blushing young lady.

At a recent wedding in Bournemouth, England, the minister got no further than, "Dearly beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of . . ." when the best man sagged to the church floor in a dead faint. Although horrified, the vicar continued the ceremony, and a few seconds later a young choir boy keeled over in a faint.

STILL SHAKEN, the vicar continued. But now Alan Farwell, the groom, turned pale, swayed momentarily, and then collapsed to his knees. The bride helped him to his feet and supported him until the moment came when she was to receive her ring. Someone rummaged through the clothing of the best man—still prostrate—to retrieve it. At this, the bridesmaid fainted. The sight induced four others in the audience to pass out. Racing through the rest of the ceremony, the vicar pronounced the pair man and wife. As to the eight faintings, the cleric said: "The church wasn't overheated. It was just sheer nerves."

Rev. White Iddings of Albermarle, N. C., suffered a harrowing experience. As the strains of the wedding processional floated through the church, he began a strange series of contortions somewhat resembling The Twist. A yellow jacket had crawled up his trousers and stung his leg four times.

Oddly enough, there's occasionally some doubt as to who will end up as the bride's spouse, or, indeed, whether she'll gain a husband at all. A Kentucky man learned he'd have to wait three days after applying for the license before he could get married. "If it's all that trouble just to get married," he declared, "I'm not interested any more."

A BOSTON BRIDE experienced one of the most frustrating and puzzling weddings. During the wedding banquet following the ceremony, she dozed off. When she awoke, the bridegroom and all the guests had departed. She didn't see her husband again until five years later.

Some years back Miss Dorothy Williams walked into Reno's Marriage License Bureau with a problem—or rather two of them in the form of two young men. "Both of them want to marry me," she explained. "But I can't make up my mind."

The clerk simply tossed a coin into the air and told one of the wooers to make the call. Harold Nelson called "heads" and heads it was. He middle-aisled Dorothy with the losing suitor serving as his best man.

In Los Angeles, Rex Jackson repeated nuptial vows with Anita June, but the groom vanished right after the ceremony. Three days elapsed before the bride saw him again and asked what was going on. "I married you to win a bet," Rex explained. "Don't worry, you're not hurt." Hurt or not, the stood-up bride promptly won an annulment.

ANITA FARED a little better than Claudia Scalcon. Some 400 guests packed Rome's St. Joseph Church to watch her nuptials. "Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?" the officiating priest asked Vittorio Janitti-Piromallo. Vittorio shuffled his feet and scratched his head in apparent indecision, and finally said "no." Without pausing longer, he turned heel and walked up the aisle and out the door.

An 18-year-old bride in Venezuela, though, doubtless had the biggest problem of all: she exchanged vows with the wrong man and didn't even know it. Pretty Aminta Paredes de Garcia told municipal authorities she was engaged to Rafael Garcia, whom she chose over Rafael's identical twin, Norberto. While Rafael was out of town, Norberto proposed immediate marriage. She said she found out too late that she had married Norberto, who used Rafael's birth certificate.

WHETHER a minister performs a marriage ceremony across the river from the marital candidates, or eight people faint at the nuptial rites, or even whether the officiating cleric gets stung four times by a yellowjacket, weddings will continue unabated. And some of them are bound to be bizarre. Some time, perhaps soon, an adventuresome couple probably will decide to wed on the moon while clad in space suits. An ideal bride for the occasion is the girl who promised her man-hating mother never to marry any man on the face of the earth. If such a ceremony occurs, it will win all honors for unique weddings.

Legend of the Cocos Treasure

Illustrated by CLYDE WINSLOW

Cocos Island is a land of mystery and stories of cached pirate treasure.

By J. Gordon

INVARIABLY, a tale of treasure arouses a great deal of interest but rarely does such a story attract as many well-heeled, well-organized expeditions as the treasure tale of Cocos Island. Its immense wealth has prompted more than 500 well-fitted expeditions to make it the most sought-after treasure anywhere.

Cocos Island belongs to the Republic of Costa Rica and lies basking in the Pacific Ocean about 300 miles off the coast of that Latin American country. In the 17th and 18th centuries, this four-mile strip was the ideal catch-all for the products of pirate raids and lootings. It was frequented by such buccaneers as Capt. John Cooke, Capt. Edward Davis, Benito Bonito, William Dampier and Capt. Cowley. It is believed that each of these men used Cocos to protect their loot from the vindictive wrath of government gunboats. Of those mentioned, Davis and Bonito are the more notable.

Davis, who at one time had a thousand pirates operating on his behalf and under his direction, raided and looted Spanish ships and towns in and around South America in the 18th century. He accumulated a fortune of several kegs of gold doubloons, 150 tons of silver reales and more than 700 bars of gold and buried it all on Cocos.

BONITO, sometimes referred to as "Bonito of the Bloody Sword," was supposed to have buried more than 300 tons of silver and gold pieces of eight in a cave on Cocos and several dozen kettles filled with gold doubloons on a small strip of land in a river on the island. He and his officers were caught and executed by the British for piracy. His crewmen were sent to a penal colony in Tasmania, where they died. Those two treasures are allegedly still buried on Cocos Island.

The island's biggest attraction and most authenticated treasure is called "The Loot of Lima." It came from the city of Lima, Peru, in 1821 and was placed on the island by an English mariner named Capt. Thompson. The treasure consisted of gold, most of which had been amassed by the Spaniards in their conquest of the Incas who used the gold in construction and architecture. The bulk of the gold belonged to the government; the rest to the church of Lima which, at that time, contained more gold than any other place of worship in the world. Among its contributions to the "loot" were its giant-sized, solid gold candlesticks, a large jeweled altar plate molded of solid gold and a life-sized, gold statue of the Blessed Mother and Child.

The story of this treasure begins in 1821 when a revolutionary army led by Bolivar, an uprising liberator, threatened the safety of Lima and its treasure. The government and many of the wealthy residents sent their valuables to Callao, a seaport about eight miles away. The attack on the city was imminent and the fruits of victory would be the loot of the treasure and the plunder of the gold-encrusted cathedral. The church was stripped of its gold which was sent with the other valuables to Callao. Upon arrival at the seaport, it was discovered there was only one ship available, the brig Mary Dear, commissioned under a British Flag and commanded by a Capt. Thompson. No one of stature could vouch for the integrity of Thompson and there was too little time to investigate the authenticity of his professed honesty. Thompson was not told of the nature of his cargo and, determined to learn it, watched the loading process closely. His vigil paid off when he saw a few of the more than 200 jeweled swords being loaded and caught glimpses of the gold as it was being lowered into the hold.

WHEN THE LOADING was complete; a heavy guard was placed on the ship. Thompson was ordered to make ready to get under way at a moment's notice in the event the revolutionaries were successful. He mingled with the crew spreading word of the gold and urging them to kill the guards. They awaited their opportunity, overpowered the guards and made off with the treasure. Thompson sailed directly to Cocos Island and buried the loot. Soon afterward, a fast Spanish man of war dispatched from Panama overtook and captured the Thompson vessel. The crew was tried and executed. Thompson and his mate escaped. The mate later died of fever and Thompson eventually worked his way to Newfoundland. He died before he could return for the "loot."

Long after that time a supposedly authentic letter from Thompson was uncovered. It says, in part, "Reaching back from the shore where we made our landing, was a piece of level ground about two acres. The ground laid on the foot of a mountain. Down its side ran a stream. We followed the stream very near to its head, on the level ground at the foot of the mountain. Here we selected the spot and buried the treasure. Some was in boxes and some in hides, and there were 10 boatloads in all." This alleged treasure is purported to be worth in excess of $30 million and some estimates place it closer to $60 million. This, together with the other pirate loot means Cocos Island contains more than $100 million worth of gold, silver and jewels.

THIS TREASURE-FILLED island is remote and uninhabited. It rises out of the sea, shrouded in mist and covered with a thick jungle growth. For the most part, it soars straight up, reaching heights of two to 600 feet along its shoreline. Standing erect like a lone skyscraper, the island has hundreds of waterfalls which pour unceasingly from the faces of her cliffs. This is a result of the heavy, all-year rainfall which keeps the stream beds swollen and the face of the island changing by the process of natural erosion. This process could very well explain the disappearance of Bonito's "strip of land in a river" and Thompson's stream "on the level ground at the foot of the mountain." Even if the maps which have sold for as high as $20,000 were authentic, they would be ineffective because of the erosion and the fact that hundreds of explorers have altered and re-altered the landmarks.

The latest explorer was adventurer Fred W. Nyquist of Newport Beach, who headed a 10-man expedition which left Long Beach last June on a 110-foot powerboat. This was the ex-photographer's second crack at the Cocos secret. He had been a member of the 1963 J. A. Forbes Expedition.

Forbes, one-time citrus farmer from Riverside, launched a total of eight expeditions to the fabulous island. Buying such tools as metal detecting devices and heavy earth-moving euipment, the Forbes people transported it to the wealthy island from Newport and Long Beach. Each of the Forbes expeditions were unsuccessful.

ARMED WITH NEW information, the Nyquist Expedition went searching for the Lima treasure. They remained on the island for two weeks, blasting boulders and probing to a depth of 35 feet with a large power drill in a pre-selected spot. On his return to Newport Beach, Nyquist said, "If the treasure is there, and I believe it is, it is no longer recoverable. It was probably buried in tideland and, because of its tremendous weight, the gold would sink in the Cocos sand to a depth where no one will ever find it."

Possibly Nyquist is right, and then he could be wrong. The treasure may be discovered tomorrow or next week or next month in a cache previously overlooked. For the treasure hunter there is always a glimmer of hope.

Cocos can be reached easily by chartered boat from Puntarenas on the west coast of Costa Rica. The fee is nominal and during the hunting season, can be shared with one of the several hunting parties going to the island in search of wild pig and other small game.

This truly remarkable island contains "the stuff dreams are made of" and its legend will continue to live as long as there is an air of nostalgia when men think of places adventurous and far away.

A Ball to Celebrate a Constitution

By Maymie R. Krythe

OCTOBER 12 is a national holiday—Columbus Day—but it is also an important California date, for, on this day in 1849, the members of the state constitutional convention completed the drafting of the California Constitution. That night they celebrated the significant event by a Grand Ball; then next day they met again to sign the important document, which the people ratified a month later.

Gov. Bennett Riley had called for an election Aug. 1 to choose delegates for this vital convention. In September, at Monterey, the 38 delegates from Northern California, and the 10 representatives from the southern section met at Colton Hall.

CONVENTION members were made up of native-born rancheros, such as Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo, Jose Antonio Carrillo, and Pablo de la Guerra; Americans who had lived for some time in California, including Abel Stearns, owner of Rancho Los Alamitos, Thomas O. Larkin of Monterey, and Capt. John Sutter. Several of the representatives from northern towns were comparative newcomers. Dr. Robert Semple, who had taken part in the Bear Flag Revolt, was chosen to preside, and Capt. William G. Marcy served as secretary.

Congressional action on California's admission into the Union was delayed almost a year and it was Sept. 9, 1850, before President Fillmore signed the bill. Another six weeks passed before the news reached the West Coast.

For an excellent description of the last days of the convention we are indebted to Bayard Taylor, a newspaper man, sent out by the New York Tribune to gain first-hand knowledge of affairs on the Pacific Coast. In the summer of 1849, he left New York, traveled across Panama, and reached Monterey in time for the most of the convention.

Since the citizens of Monterey had honored the members with a ball on their arrival, the delegates at the close of their work each gave $25, for a total of raising $1,000, for the gay social event on the evening of Oct. 12, 1849.

THE TABLES and chairs were cleared from the hall, and it was decorated with young pine trees. At each end of the room, which was lighted by three chandeliers, were draped American flags.

At 8 p.m. — the fashionable hour for beginning a ball in Monterey — the guests began to arrive and the hall was soon filled with Californians and Americans. There were 60 or 70 women, about the same number of men, besides the convention representatives. Bayard Taylor had given a vivid description of the ladies who were there:

"The dark-eyed daughters of Monterey, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara mingled in pleasing contrast with the fairer bloom of the trans-Nevadan belles. The variety of feature and complexion was fully equaled by the variety of dress. In the whirl of the waltz, a plain, dark, nun-like robe would be followed by one of pink satin and gauze; next, perhaps, a bodice of scarlet velvet with gold buttons, and then a rich figured brocade, such as one sees on the stately dames of Titian."

THE GENTLEMEN, too, wore their best, but Bayard Taylor reports that "a complete ball dress was a happiness attained only by the fortunate few." White kid gloves could not be purchased in Monterey; and it was reported that one man paid $50 for the use of a pair of patent leather boots for that one evening. The writer, too, had to borrow some clothes for the occasion. He had to "accommodate his pantaloons," which were much too large for him, "by a liberal use of pins."

However, the whole company looked very "genteel"; several officers, including Gen. Riley, were in full military dress; and some aristocratic California dons were in attendance. But the writer declares that to him the most interesting person present was Padre Ramirez in his clerical cassock.

The band consisted of two violins and two guitars, and they "made up in spirit what they lacked in skill." The dances were the waltz, contra-dance, and quadrille.

"The etiquette of the dance was marked by that grave, stately courtesy, which has been handed down from the old Spanish times. The gentlemen invariably gave the ladies their hands to lead them to their places on the floor; in the pauses of the dance both parties stood motionless side by side, and at its conclusion the lady was led bravely back to her seat."

Supper, announced at midnight, was served on the first floor. The refreshments consisted of turkey, roast pork, tongue, and pates, with various kinds of drinks. The ladies began to leave about 2 a.m. and when Bayard Taylor left an hour later, the dance was still going strong.

So, in this gala way, the completion of the California Constitution was celebrated more than a century ago in Old Monterey.

Free Donkey, Anyone?

By Vynola F. Limerick

ANYONE for a free donkey? You must not eat him, but one may be had for the asking; all that is necessary is a permit from the State Department of Fish and Game to lasso and lead home a feral (wild) burro from the closest government range.

This is with the understanding that he is to be domesticated for a beast of burden or a backyard playfellow and not to wind up on the family festal board as the piece de resistance.

To people in general, nothing could seem less appetizing than burro steaks but to some gourmets they are quite a delicacy. In fact, the government had to intervene to keep a nedacious America from practically eating the defenseless beast off the face of western United States.

PRIOR TO 1939, the chief menace to the small donkey with the Mexican name, was ruthless slaughter for pet food. After an indignant public became aroused, the state legislature passed a law forbidding such use.

Then, about 1953, the palatability of burro meat became generally known and the hunting was on again, more uncontrolled than ever. Many irresponsible, trigger-happy persons joined the fray and shot the animals for sport—thanks to man's insatiable desire to kill.

Nick Brotsis, prospector and miner of San Pedro, remembers the days burros were butchered in great numbers and only the hind quarters were taken for home consumption. He says the meat is tender and similar to deer in flavor.

Now, under government protection, there has been a population explosion in the world of the wild burro. They have increased to the point that ranchers and nature lovers are complaining of their depredations. Through close grazing they are seriously depleting or completely destroying the grass and native flowers.

THEY ARE fouling spring-fed pools, trampling and destroying the watering places until the other wild life have no place to drink. White, crescent-shaped scars that decorate the necks and flanks of the males are evidence of the fights they engage in at neighborhood brawls and boy-meets-girl gatherings.

The feral burro population in California alone is approximately 3,700. Mountain lions are the only predators capable of consistently killing the animals and their occurrance on burro range is extremely rare.

They are practically disease free and often live to be 35 years old. An Arizona burro owner erected a monument in honor of his equine friend and helper that shared his sorrows and joys for 60 years.

In early times, travelers found these humble little beasts sturdy, dependable and sure-footed in the trackless wastes and rough mountain terrain. They played an important part in the history and settlement of the American West, especially in the days of gold strikes.

THESE ANIMALS were brought to North America by the Spaniards and by the 1880s had become a standard beast of burden in the West.

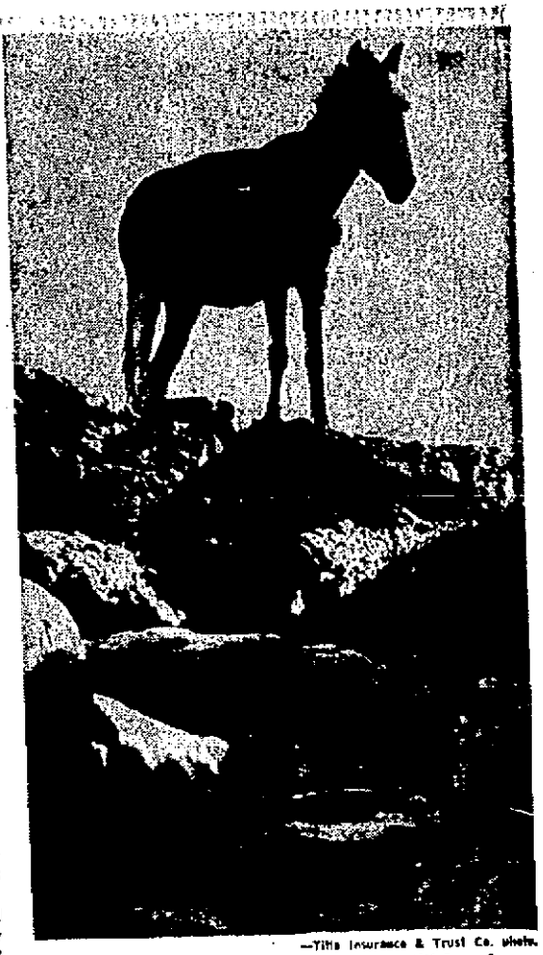

Before herding one of these equine prizes home for either a pet or a burden carrier there are several things to consider.

Old timers called burros "mountain canaries" because of their penchant for giving forth with their own version of the "Donkey Serenade" at the most inopportune hours, usually when the work-weary frontiersmen were sleeping.

HAVING THE convenient faculty of being able to lock their ears and nap imperturbedly standing up any where, any time, burros have no trouble catching up on their sleep.

Although they are doughty little burden bearers, their usefulness in this respect has been greatly curtailed by the modern jeep which requires less space and less fuel.

But anyone still interested in acquiring a burro may have one for the asking and the taking—just don't plan to eat him.

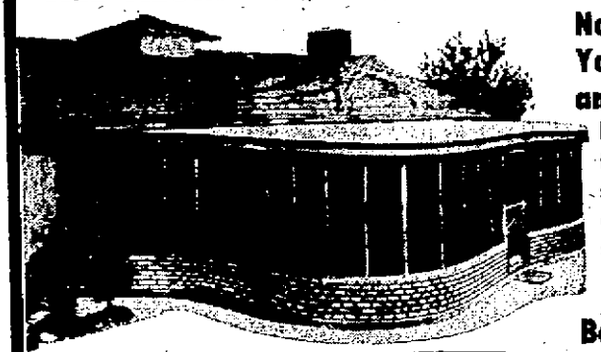

—Title Insurance & Trust Co. photo.

Wild burros, protected by law, may still be obtained — with requirement they not be eaten.

One of Largest Like This in U.S.

Southland residents Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Collo recently had this 28x50-foot aluminum covering built over their swimming pool. It is one of the largest of its type ever designed and constructed in the nation. It not only shields pool users from the elements for all-year use, the Collos say, but it cuts down cost of chemicals, cleaning and heating necessary for maintenance.

Split Level Tailored to Family Needs

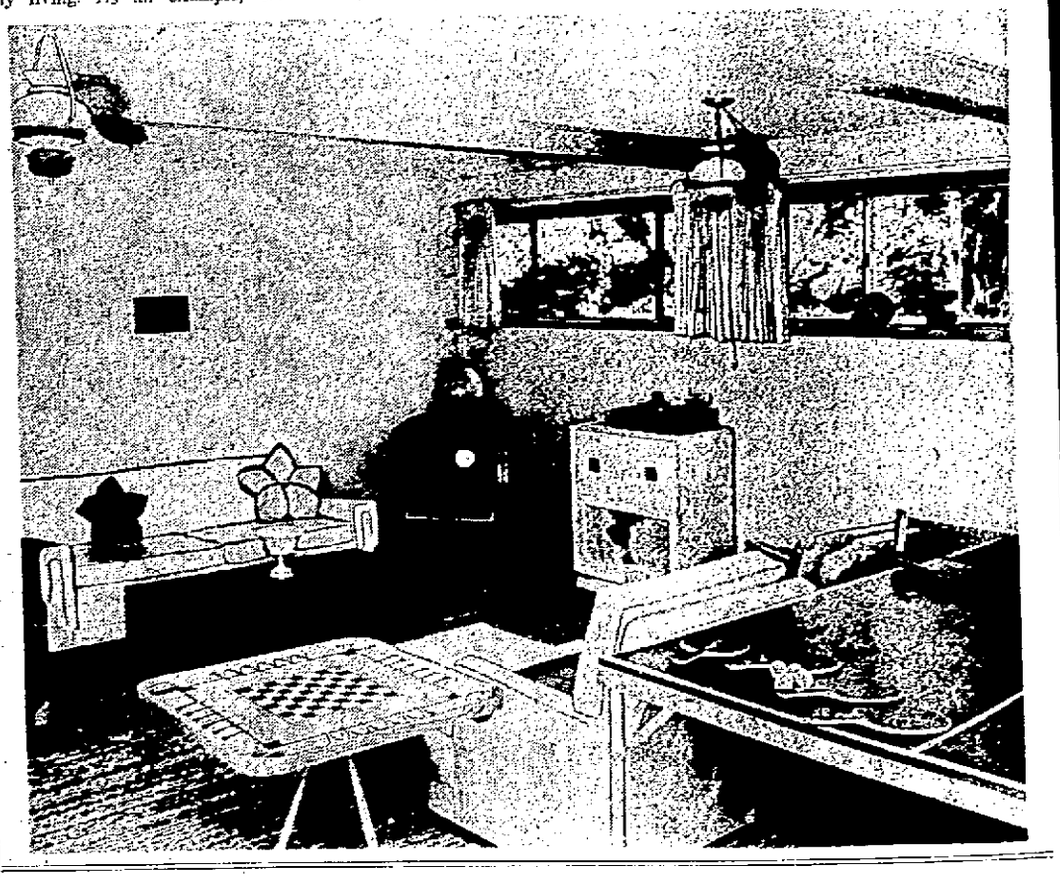

By Stella George

FOR TOGETHERNESS or for aloneness, depending upon the mood, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cahill, 6301 Elliott St., College Park Estates, is tailored to the needs of family living. As an example, a lower area of the split level home serves happily as a playroom for four small daughters but stands ready, when occasion demands, for duty as an adult family room for entertaining or a TV center.

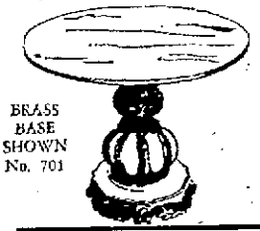

And a compact den away from family activity serves as a retreat for Dr. Cahill when concentration is required. Mrs. Cahill also has her room aside upstairs, with sewing machine, ironing board and other necessities.

On the main floor are a spacious living room and dining room, kitchen with a dinette center, powder room, and stereo storage closets. Upstairs there is the master bedroom suite plus girls' bedrooms and a handy all-purpose room.

A LARGE antique clock decorates the used brick above the fireplace in the corner of the living room. It is a French castel clock

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Reaching a Child

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: Why is it often so hard for an adult to communicate with a child?

ANSWER: For the simple reason that adults often forget they are dealing with children.

A parent, denying a child's request, will say, "You're too young"—and then, when asked a question, will talk to the child as if he were 40 years old.

The ability to communicate with children is rare. Some parents and teachers never learn it. Yet the essential rules are relatively simple.

When talking with a child:

1. Use words the child understands.
2. If the subject requires the use of new words, carefully explain those new words—in terms the child already understands.
3. Use short sentences.
4. Repeat the explanation in different words (but, still, words with which the child is familiar).
5. Provide a down-to-earth example of what you mean.

QUESTION: Does a student's personality, as well as his ability, affect the grades he gets in school?

ANSWER: Yes, this appears to be the case.

A study reported in the Journal of Educational Psychology revealed that some students got consistently high grades from their instructor for day-to-day work in the classroom, but got low grades on the term-end examination. Others got low grades from the instructor but high grades on the final test.

The implications of this study are numerous. But one clear suggestion is that the instructors had been grading students on factors apart from scholastic performance.

Teachers wouldn't be human beings if they didn't have this weakness. And in the end, perhaps it's all for the good—for it gives the student a taste of the way the world will deal with him later on. He will find that he won't make all his marks in life by ability alone.

Saucy Sense With Cookery

When a meat ball is not a meat ball it's a delicious sphere of beef wrapped around a nugget of blue cheese and served with rich mushroom steak sauce. And there's a saucy idea here for other recipes, too.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

PROPER preparation of tasty sauces is often a chore for many homemakers. Not so, however, with convenient canned mushroom steak sauce. Its versatility and delicate, rich-bodied flavor is unmatched for a variety of taste-tempting dishes.

For instance, a meat ball is a meat ball, usually, but not in today's recipe! Each meaty sphere envelopes a nugget of pungent blue cheese. Mushroom steak sauce is the make-easy, add-to ingredient. Menu mates include fluffy mashed potatoes and canned diagonal-cut green and wax beans.

Surprise Meat Balls

1½ pounds lean ground beef
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely-chopped onion
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
About 6 oz. cheese
Melted shortening
One 10½ oz. or two 5¾ oz. cans mushroom steak sauce

Lightly but thoroughly combine meat with bread crumbs, onion, eggs, milk and seasonings. Shape into 1½-inch balls around chunks of blue cheese (be certain all cheese is sealed in). Brown in small amount of melted shortening in large heavy frying pan. Stir in mushroom steak sauce; cover and simmer about 20 minutes: Yield: 18 meat balls or 6 servings.

Ready Roast Sandwiches

Heat mushroom steak sauce in large heavy frying pan. Add slices of cooked roast meat. Simmer several minutes, turning once. Arrange meat on slices of buttered bread and top with hot sauce.

Hunter's Stew

Two 10½ oz. or four 5¾ oz. cans mushroom steak sauce
One 12-oz. can beef loaf, cubed
One 17-oz. can sweet peas with onions, drained
One 16-oz. can small whole potatoes, drained
One 8-oz. can diced carrots, drained

Heat mushroom steak sauce in medium saucepan or container. Add cubed meat and drained canned vegetables. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Recipe of the Week

APPLES and dates combine tastefully in this week's prizewinning recipe submitted by Mrs. Frances P. Edelman, 2803 Petaluma Ave., Long Beach 90815. The recipe:

Apple Date Torte

1 box zwieback, finely crushed
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ cup sugar

Blend zwieback crumbs with sugar and cinnamon. Cover bottom of buttered 9-inch spring mold pan with half of the crumbs. Pour apple mixture in and reserve remaining crumbs for topping.

Filling:
5 large pippin apples
½ cup sugar
1 pt. sour cream
16 large fresh dates, chopped
3 tbsp. butter
6 eggs, well beaten
1 tsp. vanilla

Peel and slice apples thinly. Cook them slowly with butter and sugar 15 minutes in a large skillet. Remove from fire. Beat eggs well, add sour cream and vanilla and add to slightly cooled apples. Cook and stir over low fire until slightly thickened, add dates. Pour into prepared spring-form and top with reserved crumbs. Dot top with extra butter and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Water Lover for Poolside

FOND of water, and offering approximately 600 species, widely distributed, Cyperus finds many uses for damp situations in the garden, and in landscaping. In fact, most of them thrive right in shallow water and make fine pond plants.

Probably the most popular variety of them all is the Papyrus. It is extremely attractive not only in ponds but near swimming pools, standing out as a garden ornamental, softening a corner of the yard, and, when small, occupying a planter. Papyrus grows to eight feet, has many drooping thread-like rays that are close to 18 inches long. It is called the paper plant of the Egyptians.

Stately but dainty Cyperus Papyrus, also called Egyptian paper plant, is a graceful grower.

By Karen Smith

The smaller Umbrella Cyperus of Africa and South America is also attractive. It stands about four feet tall, and the rays are about five inches long. The crown of leaves can be carefully cut off and placed in damp sand or moss to form new plants. Much moisture is needed by the Umbrella plant.

The Chufa Cyperus, native of Europe, Asia, and North America, has tender tubers which, when dry, make good food for chickens and pigs. The plant is propagated by planting the tubers.

Seeds of most Cyperus can be sown in the ground during fall or spring, or divisions ready for planting may be obtained. The plant is a perennial and so requires the same clean-up in fall as any other perennial. Burn old foliage and remove any snails or other pests.

Cyperus not only softens a harsh corner but eagerly accepts water used to wash terraces or splashed over from pools. It can stand in water.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Water Can Cause Allergy

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

SOME persons are even allergic to water.

These susceptible persons break out in hives and suffer intense itching when certain areas of their skin come into contact with water, or when an increase in sweating takes place.

The affected areas are usually those rich in oil glands.

Two Philadelphia physicians say attacks can be prevented by taking an antihistamine drug or by coating the skin with oil.

THE NEW antibiotic gentamicin, used as a nasal ointment, is effective in suppressing "staph" germs in carriers of these infectious organisms.

Dr. Arthur White of Medical College of Georgia, reporting in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, says that tests with gentamicin show that the nostrils are the primary reservoir of staphylococcus infections. From the nostrils the germs spread to the skin and to the air.

FREQUENCY of body rhythms such as heart rate may help doctors predict the onset of mental disturbances, a University of Wisconsin researcher says.

Dr. Norman S. Greenfield and associates have found that the frequency of body rhythms such as heart rate and electrical activity of muscles are especially high in mental patients. They hope to use these findings and new advances in computer techniques to work out a new diagnostic tool.

A new man-made material called Corfam, for use in shoe uppers, has been given an OK by the Council on Footwear of the American Podiatry Association.

The Council says that Corfam "is comfortable and compatible with good foot health when used as a footwear upper material under conditions otherwise also compatible with efficient foot function."

Corfam is neither a plastic nor a coated fabric, the Council's statement notes. It is a complex chemical substance that "breathes" freely, wears well and flexes easily.

THE DRUG thiabendazole, which has been able to cure cases of human trichinosis, also is active against a number of disease-causing fungi, researchers report.

Test-tube experiments have shown the drug effective even against fungi that do not respond to other drugs, according to a report in the Journal of Investigative Dermatology.

CAPSULES: A long-living father in the family tree is more important than a long-living mother when considering prospects for longevity, a Baltimore researcher says. . . . Excessive, prolonged intake of alcohol can inhibit normal development of red blood cells and cause anemia, Harvard investigators have found. . . . The joint pain of undulant fever can sometimes produce symptoms that mimic polio, a Malta physician reports in Lancet. . . . The death rate from cancer has decreased among women during the past 10 years. . . .

The TB bug in the Western world is more potent than that in the Far East, a doctor has reported to the American Thoracic Society. . . . A deficiency of vitamin B6 can produce brain changes and lead to convulsive seizures and permanent mental retardation in infants and children, a scientist contends. . . . Filmed violence is potentially dangerous, maintains psychologist Leonard Berkowitz of the University of Wisconsin. Aggression depicted in the movies or on TV increases the chance that an angry viewer will attack someone, he says in Scientific American.

The Night Teddy Roosevelt Was Shot

By Hoyt McAfee

THOUSANDS of spectators let out a collective gasp as Teddy Roosevelt staggered to the speaker's platform, his shirt soaked in blood from a bullet wound he had suffered a few minutes earlier! His features wracked with pain from the pellet still lodged in his chest, he stood alone and unaided and began the most emotion-stirring speech ever delivered in any presidential campaign!

This was at Milwaukee Stadium on the night of Oct. 14, 1912, when he ran for president on the Progressive (Bull Moose) ticket. From his enraptured audience came low moans and stifled sobs, followed by shouts of admiration.

"If ever a presidential candidate cast a hypnotic spell over his audience, Roosevelt did so that unforgettable night," one historian summed up. With the blood stain on his shirt slowly spreading across his chest, the question uppermost in everyone's mind was: "Will Teddy live to finish his speech?"

AT THE OUTSET he had the audience to a state of near-frenzy by exclaiming: "I will deliver this speech or die!" Then, raising his arm feebly to silence the screams and shouts of his listeners, he added quickly: "It takes more than a bullet to kill me —a Bull Mooser!"

At that moment he winced in pain and his head slumped almost to his left shoulder. Off in the wings Teddy's campaign associates and friends watched tensely, ready to rush out and grab him should he start to pitch forward on his face. But, as it turned out, Roosevelt was far from "done in" or finished.

He spoke for an incredible 50 minutes that night, while his spellbound audience watched every movement of his body and every expression on his face in sheer, almost unendurable fascination. A mighty roar shook the auditorium — a chorus of "No — no — no!" —when he declared in a ringing voice: "Tell the people not to worry about me, for if I go down, another will take my place!"

After which Roosevelt left the stage on his own power and was rushed to Milwaukee's Johnston Emergency Hospital. Doctors bent over him hurriedly and treated him for shock and considerable loss of blood. One of them spoke for the others when he remarked: "What guts—and magnificent spirit—this man has!"

IN THAT moment of crisis Roosevelt's rugged constitution and unquenchable love of life came to his rescue. After being transferred to Mercy Hospital in Chicago, he demonstrated that he was still very much alive and kicking by pinching every pretty nurse within reach on the cheek!

So rapid and astonishing was his recovery, in fact, that 16 days later—on October 30, 1912 — he entered Madison Square Garden, New York City, with the confidence of a lion. On-the-spot reporters later recorded that "never in the history of political campaigning have we seen such a demonstration of admiration and affection for any public personality, anywhere in our world!"

Their accounts went on to describe ear-piercing shrieks of joy, singing, marching in the aisles, the stamping of feet, and wild-ringing cries of "Teddy — Teddy — Teddy!" On the platform he flashed his infectious grin and waved his arms jubilantly. On and on roared the multitude, pouring out its pent-up emotions like a river on the rampage.

IT WAS BY all odds the most dramatic tribute ever paid a presidential candidate in this nation's history! For example, the stirring, 14-minute ovation Bobby Kennedy received at the recent Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City is still fresh in mind. But at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 30, 1912, the wild, uproarious, emotion-soaring tribute to Roosevelt lasted 42 minutes!

At that same location two nights later (Nov. 1), the clamorous shouting for "Teddy — Teddy — Teddy" roared out of control again for 24 tumultuous minutes!

In the national election a few days later, Roosevelt's colorful personality and warmth of popularity enabled him to carry such major states as California, Pennsylvania and Michigan — among others. As the leader of the newly-founded (and poorly-financed) Progressive, or Bull Moose, Party, he polled an astounding 4,119,538 popular votes.

That was a better showing than the long-time, well-heeled Republican Party made with William Howard Taft as its presidential candidate. Its popular vote total came to 3,484,980. This split vote resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic standard-bearer, as a minority president.

BUT TO EXPLAIN that bullet wound inflicted upon Roosevelt in Milwaukee. It was fired by a demented New York saloonkeeper of German extraction — one John Schrank. That anyone should seek the office of president for a 3rd term caused him to fly into an insane rage.

Even worse, Shrank's mind was poisoned by hallucinations that Roosevelt had been responsible for President McKinley's assassination on Sept. 6, 1901! Roosevelt, of course, became president when McKinley died on Sept. 14; and he—then only 42—completed the three and one-half year, unexpired term of his slain chief. Then he was elected president for 4 years in his own right—from 1905 to 1909.

When Teddy bolted the back-pedaling Republican Party in 1912 and spearheaded the Progressive movement, Schrank was driven to uncontrollable frenzy. He then purchased a .38-caliber Colt pistol from a shady pawnbroker and pursued Roosevelt for 24 days!

THIS INVOLVED slightly more than 2,000 miles of travel through the east, south, and then to the midwest—with the crazed, pistol-packing Schrank close on his heels all the way.

Finally, in front of Milwaukee's Gilpatric Hotel on Oct. 14, 1912, Shrank's long-awaited chance came to strike. When Roosevelt stood up in the rear of an open car to acknowledge the cheers of thousands of his admirers, the demented man drew his pistol from a coat pocked and fired once—from a closeup position. His shot struck Teddy's folded manuscript (crammed inside his breast pocket)—and that not only deflected the bullet but saved Roosevelt's life!

Knocked down and captured before he could fire a second time, Shrank received a life sentence in a hospital for the insane. Roosevelt—despite his painful wound—refused to let his associates rush him to an emergency hospital. He propped himself against the back seat and insisted: "Drive me to Milwaukee Stadium for my speech!" And the dramatic response to it was a moment to remember enduringly.

AS A MARK of his rugged strength, Teddy carried that bullet in his chest from Oct. 14, 1912, till his death of natural causes on Jan. 6, 1919!

So spoke Teddy Roosevelt, the man a group of leading historians have labeled "the most dramatic and colorful campaigner our 20th century has produced."

Just the other day several editors of various political convictions offered their comments on our current presidential campaign. Each one lamented how it has so far turned out to be "awfully dull and uninspiring." Three of them went on to sigh nostalgically: "Oh—for a firebrand and man of raw courage like Teddy Roosevelt!"

Colorful campaigner and rugged individual, Teddy Roosevelt is shown in battle dress.

Old West Play Fort

By Bill Meyerriecks

BY THE TIME the pint-sized cowboys in your family are able to say "howdy, pudnuh," you've accepted the challenge that keeping them on the home range is a real and constant one.

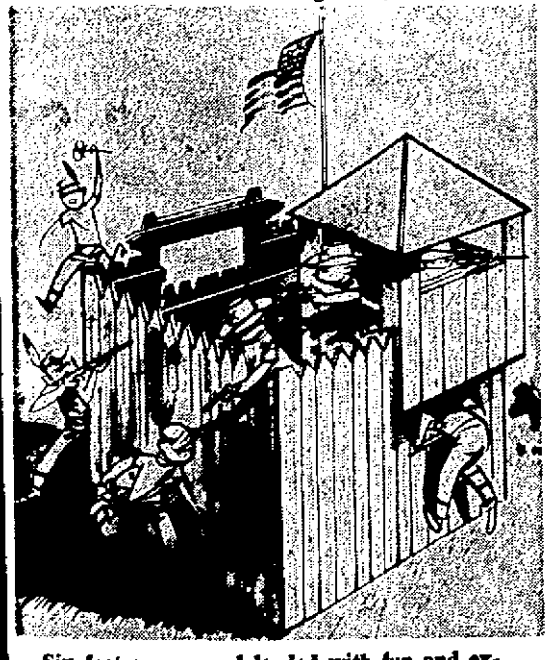

How to conquer this challenge in a positive, interesting way is suggested in Sketchbook this week. The S-180 design plan of the "Old West Play Fort" is one to consider.

THE PLAY FORT squares up in a six-foot area of the yard. It is built primarily of easily-handled 1 x 6 boards that make up the fort's perimeter and exterior plywood for the platforms. It boasts wide, swinging double doors that the youngster can ride through, a "barracks" with bunk as well as a "jailhouse" with bench. By ladder the young pioneer can climb to the five-foot high firing platform to let his imagination view the rolling hills of Apache territory.

The look of a real rustic fort comes from the panel design construction. The fort's plan provides an easy-to-take-apart construction for dad. It is done by inserting special fasteners to hold together all major assemblies. The job is easier to assemble permanently by just using plain wood screws.

Most parents would find the cost of a fort like this prohibitive if bought retail. It's a big play project. It would be a fine idea to send for the plan and build it for a special fellow's birthday, or Christmas present.

TO ORDER Sketchbook Plan S-180, the Old West Play Fort, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., 90812.

Six feet square and loaded with fun and exercise, this play fort will keep the kids busy.

Center for a man's sports equipment is displayed here by Tom Kennedy of NBC-TV.

Sportsman's Showcase

By Steve Ellingson

TOOLS of a man's trade and the equipment of his favorite sport are always his most cherished possessions. To be real honest about it, most men enjoy displaying and talking about these possessions every bit as much as using them. That's the reason for the sport center plan shown today.

Here is a sportsman's showcase that's just as adaptable for an archer's bows and arrows, a fisherman's rods, reels and tackle as it is for guns. You will notice the upper portion of the cabinet is divided into three sections. The two glassed-in cases on each side keep guns dry and dust free, yet on display. These may be locked to safeguard the guns as well as curious youngsters and friends. (Half of all gun accidents happen in the home.)

THE MIDDLE section of the cabinet has a pegboard back, which makes it handy for hanging lures and all sorts of sporting paraphernalia. Just the place to display trophies. The bottom doors, which also may be locked, conceal a roomy space for ammunition, cleaning gear, pistols, a tackle box, decoys and dozens of other items needed by all sportsmen.

The showcase pictured was made with birch plywood, but you may use knotty pine or any one of the dozens of plywoods now on the market. Here is a project that any amateur can undertake with success when he uses the easy-to-follow pattern. Complete details with lots of easy-to-follow illustrations are included. Inexpensive, too.

TO OBTAIN the easy-to-follow pattern No. 358, send $1 by currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pattern Dept., Southland Magazine, Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

What Makes a Champion?

By Eleanor A. Price

DOG SHOWS continue in the limelight these fall days in the Southland, and today is no exception, what with Glendale Kennel Club presenting a show and trial at Casey Stengel Stadium on Verdugo Road in Glendale. Next Sunday, San Fernando Kennel Club has its show at San Fernando Recreation Park, just off San Diego Freeway, and Hub Poodle Club will present a fine match the same day at South Park, Compton.

With these doggy events in mind, a question often arises: "What makes a champion?"

The answer can be two phased: Sometimes it is a matter of luck, but more frequently it boils down to this: You should invest all you can afford in a fine purebred female dog and, whether or not she is a champion, breed her to a top stud dog that carries the characteristics you want to obtain. It might be wise if you consulted a few breeders as to which stud dog would be best for your particular case—that is, if you can find enough breeders who have the breed in mind, not their own pocketbooks.

There are various methods in the breeding-for-a-champion program. Line breeding is the mating of dogs having common distant relatives, such as grand or great-grandparents.

OUTBREEDING is the mating of dogs of two unrelated lines.

Inbreeding is the mating of a pair bearing 50% or more relationship to each other, such as parent to offspring, or brother to sister. Inbreeding may intensify good points, but it also intensifies faults which are more apt to predominate than good points.

Whatever the program, hope for quality pups rather than quantity. And keep the puppies that appear sound to you. If one or more looks like show material, enter a dog show. Entry blanks must be secured well in advance. Jack and Claire Bradshaw, 727 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles 15, are superintendents for most of the Southern California shows.

IF YOU ENTER an older dog which has not been shown except in the puppy class, place it in the novice class. Do not enter the average unshown dog in the open class, especially if he is to be shown by an amateur who may become nervous and relay this jittery feeling to the pet. Dogs in the open class are usually well-trained and often handled professionally. Competition is thus quite strenuous.

The bred-by-exhibitor class also sees some heavy competition, but it is a good class and more should show interest in it.

If you can afford a professional handler, put the dog in his hands as soon as you can, or at least two weeks before the show. A qualified handler can instill good ring manners and otherwise prepare the dog properly. It is, of course, more fun if your dog wins with you on the other end of the leash.

Your dog may not come home loaded with ribbons and trophies, but you will enjoy dog shows, their procedures, and best of all you will learn more about breeding for quality.

Old Iron, New Use

You can make effective use of such ancient kitchenware as iron or aluminum frying, broiling or baking pans by turning them into homemade humidifiers for your house plants.

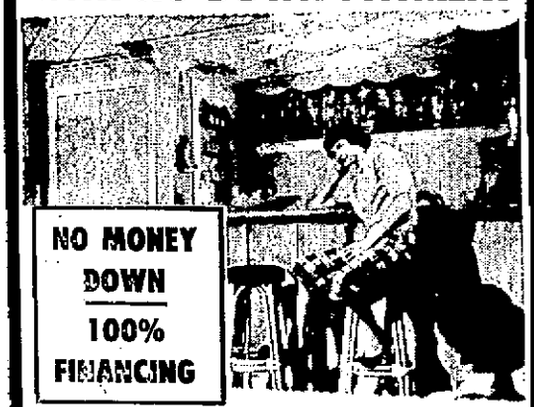

Enamel them in shades to match your woodwork, then fill them with an inch or so of sand, pebbles and vermiculite. Set clay-potted house plants in them and water to the top of the pebble or sand layer. Evaporation of this moisture will increase humidity of the air around your plants.

Origins of Life Through Eyes of Science

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

ECON PRIZE winner and international best-seller "CREATION STILL GOES ON" by F. L. Boschke (McGraw-Hill, $8) is science's most up-to-date assessment of the earth and its place in the heavens.

Written in the symbolic framework of the Biblical Genesis, this is a spell-binding account of the origins of the world and life as conceived through the eyes of modern science.

Part One—"In the beginning"—deals with the creation of earth, explains current theories about the age of the world and provides the latest data on carbon dating methods, meteorites. Part Two — "Let there be light" — discusses the present day scientific conceptions of the universe and the place of the earth in these heavens. Part Three — "Let the waters under the heavens"—tells of the changes in the earth's surface since its infancy and Part Four—"Let the earth bring forth living creatures" — investigates the likely origins of life on this small planet.

Dealing with most of the modern scientific disciplines, physics, astronomy, chemistry, geology and biology, Boschke offers what amounts to an interim report on the present state of our scientific knowledge.

"GREAT AMERICAN CAVALRYMEN" by the Editors of Army Times (Dodd, Mead, $3.50) is the story of America's "horse soldiers" from the Revolutionary War to WW II.

Continuation of a series which has included "Famous American Military Leaders of WW II" and "Famous Fighters of WW I," this volume is a collection of stories of great cavalrymen, ranging from Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox" who struck terror in the hearts of the "redcoats," through the Civil War's numerous celebrated horsemen (Stuart, Sheridan, Custer, Jackson, et al) to the mule drivers and riders of the Italian mountain campaigns in WW II made famous by Ernie Pyle.

LETTERS that Ben Hecht received from his pals—H. L. Mencken, Sherwood Anderson, Charles MacArthur, Gene Fowler, etc.—form the backbone of Hecht's "LETTERS FROM BOHEMIA" (Doubleday, $4.50.) The letters, hyper-personal and often irreverent, reveal the serious and not-so-serious conflicts of artists, writers and odd-balls.

ANNE GERTRUDE SNELLER

When an author publishes her first book at 81, it is news. Miss Sneller, retired New York schoolteacher, recaptures a bygone era in "A VANISHED WORLD" (Syracuse University Press, $6).

"THE FINE ART OF POLITICAL WIT" by Leon A. Harris (Dutton, $4.95) is devoted to the wit and invective of American and British politicians from the 18th Century to the present, with examples from the careers of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, Winston Churchill, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Adlai Stevenson, John F. Kennedy, etc. It's fun to read again Roosevelt's speech about his Scotch dog Fala.

MIKE JACKSON, who lives in San Pedro and writes a daily column for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, is out with a book of commentaries on our time, "SUGAR AND SPITE" (Doubleday, $4.50), adorned with a picture of himself and a couple of Dalmatians.

Jackson likes photography, dogs and cats, likes that are reflected in his book. He doesn't think much of opera, stuffed shirts or the thinking processes of women.

Does your second-grader have trouble learning to read? Mike suggests he learn to read the way he did—by attending silent movies and figuring out the titles. Are you out of a job and broke? Mike says his best year was one that he was in that condition in Laguna Beach. He netted lobsters, picked up avocados in vacant lots, maneuvered invitations to buffets, and his friends brought him French bread and wine.

He tells about a mountain climbing expedition to the top row of seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum, he describes experiments with left-handed British cats. He thinks porpoises are as smart as people, and cats and foxes are smarter than both of them. His funniest story is an account of buying a new suit; his most moving is about his hand-shaking Old Dog, whom he found tied to a lamp post in a San Francisco early morning fog, and bought for 34 cents.

"QUEEN OF THE PLAZA: A Biography of Adah Isaacs Menden" by Paul Lewis (Funk & Wagnalls, $4.95) tells about the exotic, talented woman who became the international symbol of glamour before she died in 1868, at the age of 33.

Billing herself as the "Queen of the Plaza," a dancer from Havana (she never had danced professionally), Adah became the toast of the world's leading cities. As an actress, she achieved unprecedented success in "Mazeppa." In pink tights, strapped to a horse that clattered over a circular runway that extended into the audience, she thrilled the men and shocked the women. Besides introducing tights to the stage, Adah was the first woman to bob her hair and the first to smoke cigarettes in public.

There was another side to this provocative girl from New Orleans. She was an intellectual whose poetry attracted the attention of such literati as Charles Dickens, George Sand (who helped her prepare "Infelicia," her volume of poetry), Walt Whitman and Bret Harte, as well as Swinburne and Alexandre Dumas the Elder, who according to the author were her lovers.

RECENT RELEASE of Dr. Sam Sheppard from prison focuses attention on his brother's book, "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" (McKay, $4.95) by Dr. Stephen Sheppard, with Paul Holmes, Chicago Tribune newsman who has followed the Sheppard case closely. The Sheppard family is convinced of the innocence of Sheppard, convicted of slaying his wife Marilyn in their home near Cleveland. The book, which Erle Stanley Gardner calls "a document of deep social significance" details the family's 10-year efforts to remedy what it considers a miscarriage of justice. The family believes that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial because of the sensational publicity and mass hysteria surrounding the case.

IRWIN SHAW spent long days as a boy in Brooklyn watching the yachts come and go, dreaming of the day when he would sail his own white ship off into the wide sea.

"IN THE COMPANY OF DOLPHINS" (Geis, $3.95) is the story of that daydream come true. It recalls the magic of a summer when Shaw and his wife and son chartered a boat, complete with salty sea dog captain and one nubile deckhand (a vacationing ballerina) and sailed the blue Mediterranean. Yes, they were accompanied by dolphins.

LIN YUTANG has written a suspenseful and romantic tale of escape from Red China in "THE FLIGHT OF THE INNOCENTS" (Putnam, $5.95.)

This is the story of James Thayer, an Englishman who returns to Red China to take back his Chinese bride, Esu, and his aunt, the missionary sister Angelica. It also is the story of the seven others who accompany him, including Esu's father, two children, and a former prostitute.

"BREAKFAST With the Nikolides" by Rumer Godden, considered one of her best novels, perhaps the best from the Indian period, has been out of print for 15 years. A new Rumer Godden audience has grown up since its first appearance. Viking is reissuing it ($4.50). "Breakfast" is the moving story of a lone Englishman who runs the government farm in the little town of Amorra in the great plains of East Bengal, and the strange things that happen when his lovely, hated wife and two small daughters arrive from his violent and shadowy past.

"THIS GERMANY, The Story Since the Third Reich" by Rudolf Walter Leonhardt (New York Graphic Society, $7.95) is an "inside" book, written by a German journalist and enormously popular in Germany. It has been called "the kind of book John Gunther would have written if he had been born German and lived there all his life."

The author stands up for books, the theater, the arts, music, schools, universities, science and related subjects and persons and he has great faith in his country's future.

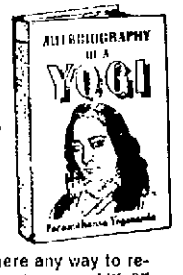

WILDLIFE AT HIS DOORSTEP. Irving Petite writes of the animals that like to gather in his front yard in a new book, "THE ELDERBERRY TREE" (Doubleday, $3.95). The author's cabin on a ranch in the Cascade Mountain foothills of western Washington also was the setting of Petite's book about an orphaned bear, "Mister B." Jacket art (above) and illustrations are by the author's mother, Jean W. Petite.

LIONEL TERRAY, Frenchman who has more successful climbs to his credit than any other mountain climber and is considered by many to be the greatest climber alive, has written his autobiography "OF THE IMPOSSIBLE, From the Alps to Annapurna and Beyond" (Doubleday, $6.95.) The book already is a best seller in France and England. In 1947, he climbed the north face of the Eiger in the Alps, and then climbed it again; in 1950 Terray, Maurice Herzog and Louis Lachenal climbed the Himalayan peak Annapurna. Since then he has climbed Nanda Devi, Nilgiri and Jannu in Patagonia and Peru. His Alpine ascents include Fitzroy, Talliraju, Soray and the east and west peaks of Chacraraju, "Borders," a lively, unsophisticated book, describes the techniques, hardships, frustrations and joys of modern mountain climbing.

How can I conquer fear and worry?

Do you ever ask yourself: "Is there any way to retain my peace of mind amidst the stresses of life?" Paramahansa Yogananda answered that question in Autobiography of a Yogi. Many thousands have received inspiration and relief from mental burdens through a thoughtful reading of this book.

In Autobiography of a Yogi, Yogananda explains that most difficulties in life arise from spiritual neglect and an unbalanced mode of living. When you read Yogananda's fascinating experiences with many of the greatest saints and sages of modern India, you will be convinced that through scientific yoga-techniques of meditation as taught by Yogananda you too can attain attunement with God, the Divine Comforter and Healer of all inharmonies.

Autobiography of a Yogi is available at bookstores in the United States ($4.00) and Canada.

SELF-REALIZATION FELLOWSHIP, Publishers, Los Angeles

From Long Beach to Inca Land

By Irma McCall

ELEVEN-year-old Stanley Osborne, 1840 Stearnlee Ave., is probably the only boy in Long Beach who can give his classmates an authentic travel talk on "My Life in Peru." Sixth graders at Bixby School will learn about his unusual experiences as they study Latin America.

Stanley is the fortunate cousin of Wilhelm Mayer who lives in Huancayo, Peru, population 20,000 and two miles high in the Andes. Stanley's mother Ursula originated the idea of the two families exchanging their children for a term of schooling. His father, Clyde Osborne, professor of Chemistry at California State College at Long Beach, and Ursula agreed last year that Stanley was ready for that enriching educational experience.

Wilhelm's invitation arrived in the Christmas mail and was eagerly accepted. Wilhelm's and Ursula's families are related. Anticipating Hitler's treatment of Jews, they left Germany in the 1930s. Like the Lost Tribes of Israel, they fanned out to far corners of the earth — Egypt, India, South Africa, Venezuela, United States, England and Peru.

WHEN URSULA was 11 she was sent to her aunt, a teacher in a boarding school in Kent, England. In 1941, she came to California, earned a Bachelor of Science degree at UCLA, and met her husband on the campus.

Before embarking on the big adventure Stanley dug in on his "Gracias," "Buenas dias," and "Como esta Usted?"

At last came the glorious moment when Stanley, on his own, bade "adios" to Los Angeles from a soaring jet. At the Bogota stop on the 13-hour flight, the boy gamely climbed off to inspect the airport.

Wilhelm's wife, waiting at the Lima airport, embraced him and guided him on a two-day tour of the historic city.

"I liked the museum the best," Stanley says, "especially the room with about a thousand old Inca pots."

TEN HOURS' pull upgrade by train gave the boy a good view of the mountainous countryside. He sad llamas and at stations, he saw Indians in magenta, emerald, and orange costumes milling about, offering bananas and oranges for sale.

Cousin Wilhelm, owner of a hardware store in Huancayo, welcomed Stanley, taking him to the six-room adobe home amid eucalyptus trees. A garden with ripe strawberries, beets, and maiz (corn) was bright with California poppies.

Members of the family gathered to greet their young relative — Reinhard, owner of a dairy; Franzisca, expert weaver; Wilhelm's daughter Hannah, 15, who hopes to visit the Osbornes and attend college here; and 13-year old daughter Renate. Stanley noticed the small stature of the Indian servant Maria.

SOME OF the food Maria prepared, such as marinated raw fish, tasted quite different from Mom's roast beef. He learned to like a porridge of bananas, ground apple, lemon juice, chopped walnuts, milk, and sugar stirred into raw oatmeal.

Another Inca dish is "Pacha Manca" (Quichua for earth pot). Wilhelm served it for large parties. Maria, assisted by the guests, heated stones while preparing leg of lamb, sweet potatoes, lima beans (named for the capital), and almost anything else. They put the hot stones and all the ingredients into a hole, covered them with earth, and in about 40 minutes the food was cooked—and delicious, Stanley decided. He may try preparing this feast in his back yard.

The town's school kids were enjoying their three-month vacation, which begins in late December, but Stanley discovered a pal in Christopher, hailing from England. They enjoyed hikes into the countryside.

A TUTOR, Rosa, came everyday for an hour to converse with Stanley in Spanish and he soon was even rattling off verbs — and in different tenses!

He enjoyed visiting the large Sunday market, where he bought gifts including miniature llamas. Movies from the United States were dubbed in Spanish. His birthday was celebrated with a huge bonfire of corn stalks followed by fireworks.

The Mayers took Stanley in their Ford truck on a fascinating trek 6,000 feet down the mountains into lush jungle vegetation. Brilliant green parrots screeched through vine-tangled trees. The boy picked coffee beans from high bushes and saw bananas growing up-side-down.

STANLEY took up a colorful hobby — weaving of scarfs, table cloths, wall hangings. Franzisca, while in Sweden, learned the art, taught it at a Newfoundland orphanage, and brought it to Huancayo, where Wilhelm has built her a modern concrete workshop in a corner of the yard. There she creates beautiful pieces featuring ancient Inca designs, which tourists buy eagerly.

When school bells rang in April, Stanley enrolled in the 5th grade at the American Methodist School along with 44 boys and girls. After a few days he found he understood most of the lessons, all in Spanish.

"The boys favorite game at recess is soccer," he said. "It seemed funny not to touch the ball with your hands."

When the semester closed in August, Stanley reluctantly climbed aboard a northbound plane. Midnight found him exploring the elaborate airport in Mexico City.

Carroll Baker runs acting gamut from a teener to a prostitute in "Sylvia."

MOVIES

Her Grade: Passing

"SYLVIA" is one of the most challenging stories ever to be filmed. In it, Carroll Baker is required to run the acting gamut from a life-buffeted prostitute to a flashback of the same girl at the age of 14, when she had the ingenuous curiosity of Alice in Wonderland.

After reading the demanding script, Carroll was confident she could bridge the difficult acting range between the age of innocence and a worldly trollop, but she was not at all self-assured that she would convincingly look the part of a sweet, naive teen-ager.

So Carroll decided to make a test; not on film, but in real life. Donning the wardrobe and makeup of the girl, Sylvia, at the age of 14, she sauntered by a Hollywood junior high school shortly after the lunch hour.

A TEACHER came up, noted that she seemed to be just dawdling about the school grounds. Addressing her like a pupil, he wagged a chiding finger, remarking that if she didn't get a move on, she'd be late for class.

Although Carroll didn't carry the masquerade any farther, she was relieved at receiving a passing grade for —makeup and acting ability.

A Paramount release, "Sylvia" co-stars Carroll with George Maharis, and is currently being directed by Gordon Douglas.

Salute to Autumn

By Lorena Fleissig

AUTUMN has many delights. Anyone with a love of color in nature will welcome the season of fall foliage with its myriad and subtle changes of tone and form.

To bring the beauty of autumn into the home one must be a collector of frost-touched leaves. One goes searching around the garden, the alleys and vacant lots scanning the whatevers for wild oats, dock, forked branches, bronze fern fronds and, perhaps, a stone that is ruggedly attractive. This is how an autumn arrangement for buffet or table top starts with fun, almost like a scavenger hunt, but with choices directed by your own eye for special contributing effect.

SHADES OF red, gold and brown you never noticed before in weeds and plants will blend in a natural arrangement. Succulents too may join the dried composition for they sometimes remain in good condition for months without water. You might gather more material than you can use for an arrangement. However, these extras may be tied and hung upside down in a dry place to be used later to revamp the setting.

Perhaps the brittle stems will be too stiff for harmonious placing. By selecting the partly green stalks you may shape them before they are completely dried. Put them in a container with the least amount of water. As the water is used up the stalks will dry in the form which your fingers have persuaded them to take.

Finally arrange them in relation to your own feeling of balance. Or you might study the color harmonies of floral arrangements in commercial displays. Oftentimes such receptacles are too crowded in contrast to the simple effect you may wish to achieve, so test your own originality. You no doubt have more ideas than you suspect and will find working with nature is creatively simple.

IF YOU HAVE no access to natural growth, you still have a limitless choice of form and color that has been captured in plastic.

The base to hold these branches must be heavy or firmly stable. It could be a moderately large cross-hatched rock, a stump or a twisted section of weathered wood with a slab of bark still intact. Loose dust and webs must be brushed away and it would be well to give the old wood several coats of clear varnish to seal loose or spongy portions.

To fasten the stems use plenty of floral clay which is inexpensive and found in the variety counters. Push the clay into an angle or crotch of the wood or rock base. Press the stems into the clay beginning with the taller pieces placed slightly off center. Trim the materials so they occupy an area 12x15 inches for a small arrangement. With the help of a heavy needle holder you can plan a long flat grouping or a loose branching effect. The whole may be centered or placed off center in a round or oblong tray or bowl. It may be set on a slab of stone, wood or a piece of construction paper. Or, as in the accompanying photo, on a circle of brown cardboard, the heavy, varnished wood holds yellow leaves of ivy, orange-red bittersweet, green and brown oak leaves with acorns all held to the wood with the clay.

IF YOU HAPPEN to be a collector of ceramics or objects appropriate to the fall season, use them for original effect.

The ceramics pictured are a molasses brown bear (vase) and lighter brown twins (salt and pepper). Reminiscent of Smoky Bear who is featured as protecting our fall woods and grasslands, these seemed to add charm to the whole setting. Speaking of mountains and vacations, this is the time to look for specimens to add with imagination to your fall tribute.

By John Camden

DURING the past year or so, I have become increasingly aware of the fact that my family communicates with one another by means of ESP. I am sure this is the case since seldom, if ever does anyone complete a sentence. This rapport exists not only between my wife and our son, she and our daughter, my daughter and son, and lately, to my amazement, between my wife and me.

For example, the other morning while I was shaving I overheard the following:

My daughter, calling from the back bedroom: "Mom, can I borrow . . ."

My wife, speaking from the kitchen: "Absolutely no. You remember what happened to the last . . ."

Daughter: "But I told you I caught them on the . . ."

Wife: "If you insist upon wearing them to school, you'll just have to . . ."

Daughter: "But I can't buy my own. Daddy doesn't give me enough allowance."

I POKED my head out into the hall.

"Allowance for what?" I asked.

"Stockings, of course," said my daughter. "Really, daddy!"

A few minutes later I heard my son calling to my wife.

"Mom, where are my blue . . ."

"In the bottom drawer on the right hand side," she answered immediately.

THAT EVENING at dinner the conversation was worth recording.

"He just gives us too much homework. It's not fair," announced my daughter to the rest of the family.

"I had him last year and he never gave us much," said my son.

"Classes are different now," said my daughter. "He says . . ."

"He also says that because you're in . . ." said my son.

"That's not the reason at all," said my daughter. "We are . . ."

"You are not," said my son.

"Just because you . . ." said my daughter.

"That's not true . . ." said my son.

"STOP!" I said. "This is a family dinner and your mother and I would like to know what . . ."

"I think he does give too much homework for children their age," said my wife. "But I suppose he only does what . . ."

"Who's he" I asked. "And where's the . . ."

"Catsup?" said my wife. "Wait, and I'll get it."

"I wish you'd ask daddy to give me more allowance," said my daughter. "Every girl I know . . ."

"Not according to the mothers I talk to," said my wife. "Why I was talking to . . ."

"She doesn't count," said my daughter. "And her parents are much too . . ."

"Her father's a child psychologist," said my wife. "He ought to . . ."

"That's why," said my daughter.

"They don't even let their son have a car," said my son.

"WOULD YOU people please let me in on this conversation?" I said. "Who is he and she, and they? You don't even . . ."

"Five dollars a week isn't too much for a girl my age," said my daughter. "Please, daddy?"

"This is not the time to talk to daddy about . . ." said my wife.

"But it is, mother," said my daughter. "I have to . . ."

"You use too much hair spray," said my son. "All she does is use hair spray. The bathroom smells like a —like a . . ."

"A WHAT?" I said. "Will someone in this house please finish a sentence once in a while?"

"You just did," said my daughter.

"Don't be rude to your father," said my wife. "As I was saying . . . what was I saying . . ."

"I'm saying that I'm going into my den to have coffee in peace," I said, rising from the table. "Don't anybody follow me," I added. "I've had enough of your . . ."

"But we didn't daddy," said my daughter.

THE NEXT MORNING while I was shaving my wife called from the kitchen.

"Do you want hot cereal or . . ." she said.

"I'll have the . . ." I answered.

"Fried or scrambled?" she asked.

Scrambled, I said to myself. Aloud I said, "I feel like . . ."

The eggs were scrambled in butter with chives, just the way I like them. There's a lot to be said about this ESP.

Peters' Rabbit, Jack

By Dorothy Severns

ALMOST everyone knows that a jack rabbit is a hare (not a rabbit) and that a hare cannot be tamed. But Sylvia and Wayne Peters, 9629 E. Ramona Ave., Bellflower, have a big jack rabbit hopping about in their back yard.

When they call his name, Jack comes to eat out of their hands. Hopping or playfully leaping, he follows them around the yard.

More than two feet long, he has long, slender legs, a black tail, and ears at least six inches long. His upper lip is divided—a true harelip.

Jack and two Muscovy ducks eat grain and he is eager to get into the adjoining yard with his other friends, Paulina and King, the Peters' two Keeshond Dutch barge dogs.

LAST MAY, Wayne Peters found a tiny jack rabbit in the Edison Steam Plant transformer yard. It had crawled through the fine mesh fencing into the grassless yard where it would have starved, for the "lost" mother never could have squeezed through.

Although Peters had always heard it is impossible to raise a hare in captivity, he took the frightened, hungry little mammal home in his lunch pail.

Jack thrived on a four-hour schedule of diluted canned milk fed from a spoon. When hungry, he kicked the sides of his box hard enough to awaken Peters for his night feedings.

Jack, a growing boy, thrives in captivity.

Stocks Add Fragrance to the Garden

By Joe Littlefield

STOCKS are members of the mustard family, and cabbage also belongs in this large family group. (When one envisages a cabbage and the number of various vegetable dishes it provides, one wonders how such spicily fragrant stock flowers can be related with cabbages!)

Stocks are from the Mediterranean region and the Isle of Wight. Gardeners who have discovered stocks' desirable qualities grow them in masses in sunny flower beds for winter color, fragrance, and cut flowers.

Some gardeners are too ambitious when purchasing stocks. They prefer the largest, huskiest plants in the flat or pony pak. They fail to realize that the smaller the plants, the less root disturbance in transplanting, and better growth will follow. Don't cut out the individual plants with about square inch of soil with roots. Instead, cut out a group of the plants together, then gently break the individual plants with soil from the clump, and plant them.

WATER THEM carefully if they're planted in a heavy, compacted soil, because stocks won't tolerate continual dampness. Too much water causes stem rot. They'll need more frequent waterings in porous well drained soil.

Do not cultivate the soil; instead, spread a quarter-inch layer of manure, or some mulch material, but keep it away from plant trunks.

Feed stocks lightly at least twice, with a balanced plant food. First feeding three weeks after planting, second feeding about three weeks later. Watch the plants closely for pests, particularly for aphids on the topmost foliage. One of the main reasons why some stocks grow stunted with short, weak stems and poor flowers, is because aphids cripple the growth.

GARDEN HINTS:

Alyssum seed sown on bare slopes and embankments helps hold soil from washing away, during the rainy season.

Spray shrubs that are scale infested before the weather becomes too cold. Citrus, gardenias, camellias, oleanders and other hardy type shrubs may be scale infested too. Oil emulsion spray has been proved more effective in scale control than malathion.

A camellia probably has not sported new variety flowers because it has several branches growing up through the shrub with flowers that are different from the rest of the plant. No doubt, it is sucker growth overlooked when it was young. That growth develops below the graft, similar to sucker growth that grows out below the bud union on a rose bush. If such is the case on your camellia, cut off the sucker growth close to the main trunk of the plant.

A CERTAIN percentage of gardenia leaves are now turning orange or yellow color. This is a normal condition that happens twice a year, in the spring and again in the fall season, and is due to two seasonal changes.

Sickly, half yellow and half green stunted leaves all over the plant usually indicates a chlorotic, possibly an alkali condition. One of several horticultural "irons" helps green up the plants, but may not do too much good coming on into cold weather. Another trick more effective is to use a liquid soil conditioner high in acid action containing nitrogen fertilizer.

Moving Time

Begin moving your outdoor plants indoors gradually before night temperatures drop below 40 degrees and before the heat's turned on. Plants that have been plunged outdoors in clay pots should be scrubbed to remove encrusted dirt and mold and their foliage should be syringed and given a spray of insecticide.

Plants that have grown roots through their drainage holes should be re-potted in new clay pots.

Spicy fragrance of stocks makes them desirable for planting near the house or patio.

GARDEN CLUBS

Culture and history of roses will be the topic of John Van Barneveld, Whittier rosarian, at a meeting of Long Beach Garden Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 208 Linden Ave. Mrs. E. L. Ibbotson, club vice president, will report on objectives for members at the California Garden Clubs, Inc., convention in May 1965.

Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Linden Hall, 208 Linden Ave. Jesse G. Chapman will speak. A plant table will be provided.

Orange County District of California Garden Clubs, Inc., will sponsor a flower show school, including flower arrangement, horticulture and flower show practice, Oct. 13-15 at Keystone Savings Building, 555 N. Euclid Ave., Anaheim. The National Council of State Garden Clubs has approved the school and the instruction will be Course I for all prospective flowers show judges as well as for those interested in other phases of the school. Mrs. Joe E. Wolff of Bellevue, Wash., a nationally accredited instructor in flower arrangement and show practice, will teach flower arrangement from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.; Mrs. Richard Carlson of Fullerton will instruct in horticulture from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. and Paul T. Silvius of Malibu will teach show practice from 10 a.m. to noon. Both Mrs. Carlson and Silvius are experienced instructors. Reservations for the school may be made with Mrs. Arthur L. Payne, 1951 E. Lemon Heights Dr., Santa Ana.

Dorothy Digs

This is the time of year when the shortened days and cooler nights make one feel that the plants and soil do not need to be watered. But unless we have unexpected rains, your watering program should be continued until real winter rains begin.

Give your garden, both lawn and shrubs, a fall fertilizing, preferably with a fertilizer containing chelated iron, manganese and zinc. At the same time, check carefully for insects that are still active. If you see them or see holes in your leaves, spray with a combination insecticide for both sucking and chewing insects. This will get them all. There is nothing that spoils the looks of your garden more than to have holes in the leaves of your favorite plants.

This is also the time when you may find ants appearing after you thought you had them under control. Chlordane or Dieldrin will take care of them. Spray directly on the nests and along runs where they are traveling.

SOLUTION TO TODAY'S PUZZLE
(See Page 36.)

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . . Shop for pyracantha and cotoneaster now and enjoy their colorful red berries through winter.

Plant freesias, sparaxias, ixias and Dutch iris. These four like to go into the ground earlier than other spring-blooming bulbs.

Set out violas and pansies for bloom in late fall and winter.

Winter sweet peas should go into the ground without delay. You want them full grown before winter arrives.

Dwarf citrus can be put in now in tubs or in the ground. Ask your C.A.N. nurseryman which varieties have ornamental value in winter.

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANULL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANULL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANULL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANULL. It relieves itch-irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANULL with other medications.

Effective Deodorant: Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANULL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANULL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANULL in your pharmacy.

MAX SCHREIBER
Chicken in Wine

SINCE I HAPPEN to be one, I can point out modestly that writers are intelligent, analytical, critical people who quite often are very hard to please. So you can see how happy I was the other day when I received a letter from Long Beach magazine writer Frances P. Edelman offering high praise for one of my favorite restaurants.

Mrs. Edelman, her husband and another couple happened to visit the spacious, attractive Rossmoor Inn, 12311 Los Alamitos Blvd., owned by two personable brothers, Max and Howard Schreiber. "The moment you enter the Inn," she wrote, "you get a feeling of elegance. A nice change from your every day dining area. After we were seated, a charming young waiter came up to us and said, 'My name is Sam. I will be serving you this evening.' This immediately put the Inn in a class by itself."

Mrs. Edelman reported that the Chicken Jerusalem ($3.50) in wine sauce with vegetables was excellent, "as were the tourndos of beef tenderloin ($4.75) enjoyed by two other members of our group. The prime rib au jus ($4.25), eaten by a beefeather from away back, was the best he had ever had."

Having dined at the Rossmoor many times, I can wholeheartedly echo Mrs. Edelman's acclaim. Head chef Al Flavio, formerly at Scandia in Los Angeles, has been at the Inn since it opened and is an artist in the preparation of continental and American delicacies. Other items on my "must" list are his coq au vin ($4.25), which is chicken cooked in wine, and boneless trout Meuniere $3.50) with mushroom sauce. One of the luncheon delights is diced chicken in Madeira sauce, rolled in a French pancake, $1.85.

The Inn serves Sunday dinners from 1 to 10 p.m. The exuberant, talented Greenwood Brothers entertain nightly, except Sundays.

SUNDAY TREAT—Ken's Restaurant, 3918 Long Beach Blvd., one of the city's most beautiful dining spots, features roast duckling on Sunday which never fails to produce smiles of pleasure on those who partake of it. The duckling is tender, succulent and served with a tangy orange Bigarade sauce which complements its flavor perfectly. It's $2.55 for the quarter of a duck portion, served with a "bouquet" of appetizers in a silver shell, wonderful salad, individual loaf of fresh bread, baked potato, ice cream or sherbet and beverage.

HERE'S A WASHER WITH THE MOST-WANTED FEATURES, PLANNED & PROVED BY WOMEN...

FRIGIDAIRE

You, the women that do the washing, have planned the features of this fabulous Frigidaire Automatic Washer. A giant 12 lb. tub that holds two big baskets full . . . takes you less time to do the washing! Provides a big 'Action Zone' to give you the most thorough big-wash you could hope for. Thrifty 2-Speed, 3-Cycle operation for complete and simple control of your washing! Frigidaire's exclusive 3-Ring Agitator gently tugs your wash under the water into the 'Action Zone.' One of the three rings pumps lint and scum out of the 'Action Zone', over the clothes and out of the washer. The second ring gently unfolds and tumbles each piece into the 'Action Zone', coaxes out stubborn soil and guards against tangling. The third ring gently squeezes suds through your wash 330 times a minute, helps clothes get clean inside and out! Your clothes will stay clean in the 'Action Zone' with fresh running water rinses that carry lint and scum up and out of the washer. Gets clothes fabulously clean. Spins your clothes extra light, too. Saves dryer time . . . saves you from heavy lifting. You'd think these wanted features were enough; but just look at these additional features for carefree washdays: Custom Deluxe styling, rust-resistant porcelain enameled top, lid and tub, distributes detergent, bleach and dye (liquid or granular) automatically, safely underwater, lid safety switch stops action when lid is lifted, automatic unbalanced load safety stop and recessed toe space! They're yours . . . come to McMahan's today for the washer with the most-wanted features . . . we've got it for you!

CHINLESS WONDER: THE STORY OF ALICE PEARCE

by LLOYD SHEARER

THE 1965 MODELS: IS ONE OF THEM YOUR DREAM CAR?

October 11, 1964

How come 44,000,000 people are insured by Metropolitan Life –more than by any other company in the world?

Mostly it's because our customers like the way we treat them–and their money. Big as Metropolitan is, we've never lost the personal touch.

With 31,000 representatives across the continent, Metropolitan always has someone nearby –a staff of 64,000 in all–to give personal attention to every claim or question.

These advisers are specially trained to give Metropolitan's famous Family Security Check-Up. This is a clear-eyed analysis of your family's financial security that often turns up assets you never even knew you had.

Your Metropolitan adviser can also show you a number of ways to stretch your coverage far beyond what you thought your budget would allow.

For example, take a simple Metropolitan income rider. This can make a $10,000 policy pay off as much as $50,000 to your wife and kids. Something to look into.

Also, be sure to ask how you can start collecting from Metropolitan while you're still around. One way is an ingenious plan that lets you turn an ordinary policy into a retirement fund any time you feel like it.

These are a few of the facts and figures that explain why Metropolitan advisers are asked to give thousands of Family Security Check-Ups every day. And why one out of every five people in the U.S. and Canada is insured by Metropolitan. And also why one out of every two Metropolitan life policies bought, is bought by one of our present policyholders.

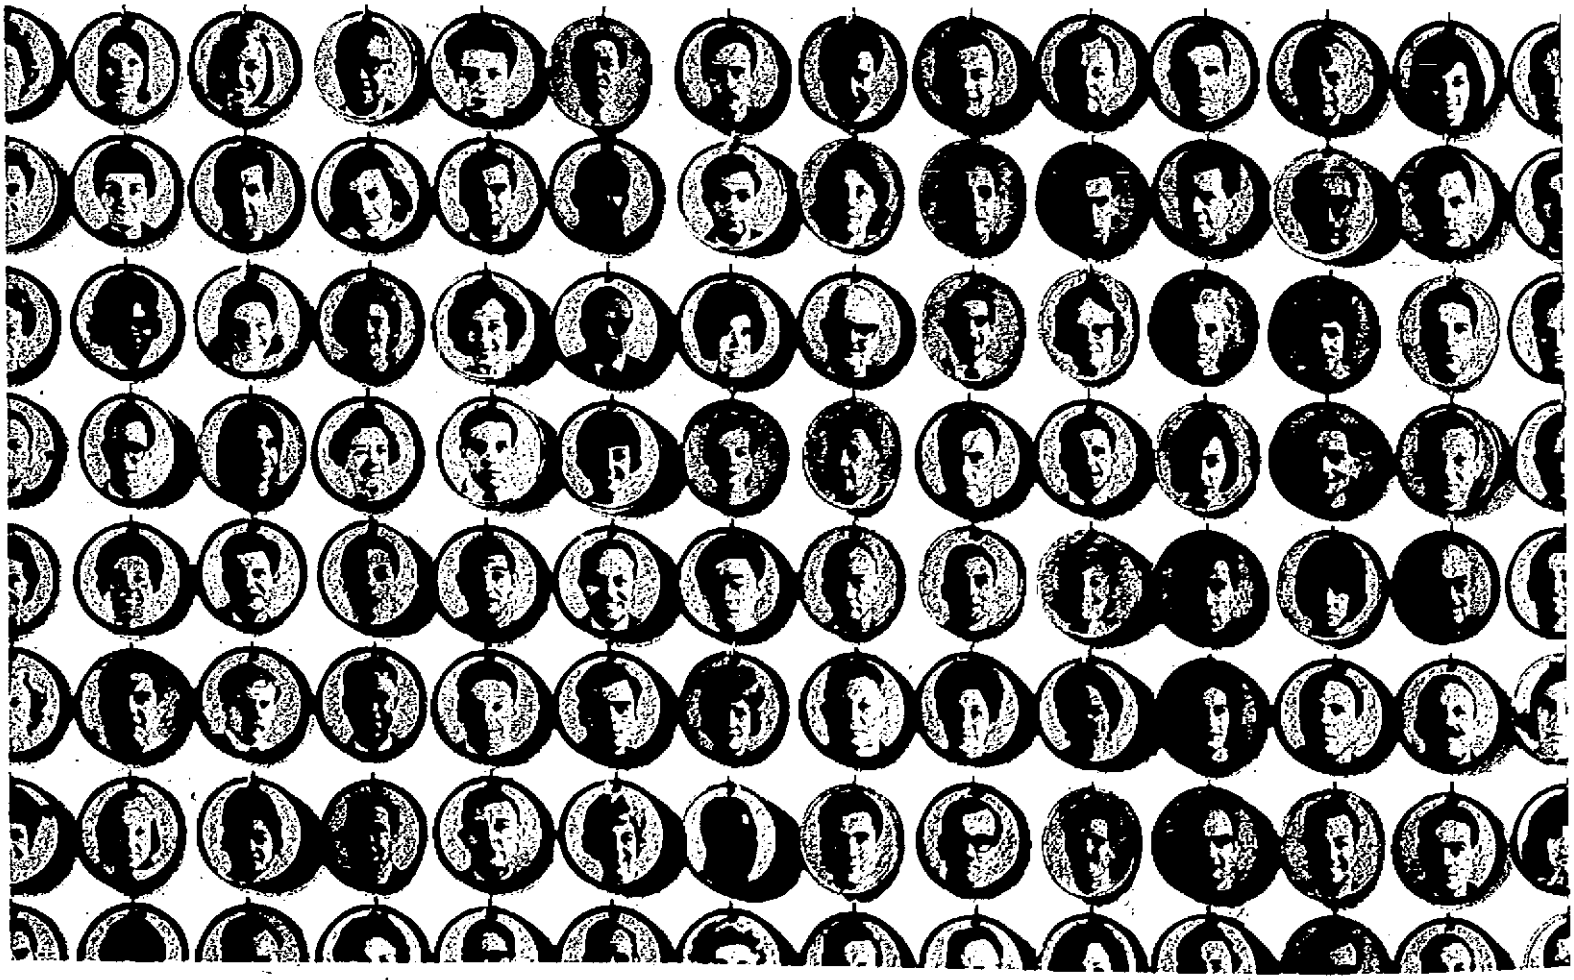

Now–here are some other reasons why more people choose Metropolitan:

- We pay policyholders and beneficiaries an average of a million dollars an hour every business day. Last year, that added up to over $2 billion. And two-thirds went to living policyholders.
- Metropolitan offers an unusually wide range of life and health plans and annuities. This permits your Metropolitan adviser to tailor a program specifically to your needs. We can insure you for any amount from $500 to a cool $5 million–or even more.
- Nearly half the 100 largest U.S. industrial corporations (plus 42,000 other companies large and small) insure their employees with Metropolitan.
- Metropolitan has more life insurance in force than any other company–a staggering $107 billion.
- A pioneer in health education, Metropolitan has given away 1.8 billion pieces of health and safety literature.
- Metropolitan invests an average of $8 million every business day in U.S. and Canadian communities–spurring new ventures such as jet aviation and modern housing–stimulating jobs for millions–and getting the greatest return for our policyholders.

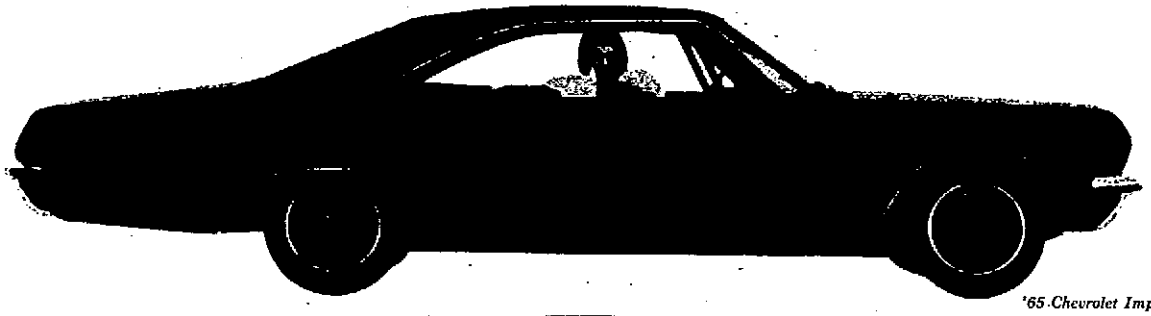

Remember, after the three basic necessities, food, clothing and shelter, the Fourth Necessity is enough life insurance. And the company you get it from can clearly make a difference. A very big difference in the security you provide for your family.

Why not call your local Metropolitan adviser? There's no obligation... except to those you love.

More choose Metropolitan Life millions more than any other company

Let Chevrolet put you in beautiful shape for '65

'65 Chevrolet Impala SS Coupe

The Chevrolet has it all over lesser cars like never before. It's new from the frame up. Cradles more lavish interiors in an equally lavish new ride, then wraps it all up in inspired new styling. With V8's up to 400 hp at your order. And things you can order from air conditioning to AM/FM Stereo radio—in body styles from wagons to that new SS coupe with Sweep-line roof!

'65 Chevelle Malibu SS Coupe

Suddenly Chevelle's a young swinger! You can equip it with a 300-hp V8 now—enough to make a swinger of any car, but especially Chevelle. It always looked and rode like it had a big edge on the rest; now it looks even more so. And rides like the road was broadloomed.

'65 Chevy II Nova SS Coupe

With a name like Chevy II Nova Super Sport Coupe, you expect something fancy. Just as well; Chevy II repeats for '65 as America's best dressed practical car. Best fed too now that you can order a 300-hp V8 to go with all the money-saving features that made it famous!

CHEVROLET

'65 Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

Corvair's all-new Corsa sports a flair for the dramatic. Its standard 140-hp Six is topped only by a Turbo-Charged 180-hp Six you can specify. Shoulder room is roomier. Handling is handier. With looks in every series—Corsa, Monza and 500—that make you wonder if other cars just aren't trying. . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit, Michigan.

Q. Steve Allen, when he was in Hawaii recently, criticized television. Can you give us the quote?—Mrs. Robert Johnson, Denver, Colo.

A. "Most of what you see on television is trash. I think it is a disgrace that TV is used so rarely as a sounding board for serious subjects and regret that it has fallen short of its goal to inform and educate the people."

Q. I've been told that in Australia a citizen must vote or be fined. Is this true?—R. Dumont, Chicago, Ill.

A. True—voting in Australia is compulsory.

Q. How old and how tall is pianist Van Cliburn?—Dorothy Popkin, Jersey City, N.J.

A. 30 years; 6-feet-4.

Q. Is it possible for you to list the so-called Yankee society women who worked in Jackson, Miss., this past summer on civil rights? Also, did their husbands know what they were doing?—T. L., De Soto, Miss.

A. Approximately 50 women from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Baltimore, New York, New Jersey, Boston and Washington worked in Mississippi, some of them without their husbands' knowledge. A few of the more prominent: Mrs. Robert Meyner, wife of the former governor of New Jersey; Mrs. August Heckscher, wife of the director of the Twentieth Century Fund; Mrs. Polly Cowan, wife of the former president of CBS.

Q. Who said: "The theater is no place for a man who bleeds easily"?—Ann Stuart, Grand Rapids, Mich.

A. Playwright Sean O'Casey.

Q. Sidney Lumet, the director—is he a nut or something? Did he really divorce Gloria Vanderbilt so that he could marry Lena Horne's daughter, Gail? Do these two have a baby?—R. C., New York, N.Y.

A. Gloria Vanderbilt divorced Lumet in August, 1963. Sidney and Gail Lumet expect their first-born in November.

Q. There is a county in Iowa which has voted for every Presidential winner since 1896. Has that county been polled? If so, what does it show?—Geo. Brooks, Albany, N.Y.

A. The county in question is Palo Alto, a rural county in Iowa. At this writing it supports President Johnson 3 to 1.

Q. I've been told that when Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton lived in the Regency Hotel on Park Avenue in New York they spent $600 a day. Is this on the level?—Evelyn Irwin, Newark, N.J.

A. Approximately.

Q. The Dr. Converse who married Gary Cooper's widow—isn't he the same Dr. Converse who performed plastic surgery on Gary Cooper several years ago?—Milton Golden, Chicago, Ill.

A. The same.

Q. How old is Negro basketball star Wilt Chamberlain, and is he a millionaire?—J. P., Philadelphia, Pa.

A. Chamberlain is 28 and has property and other investments reportedly worth a million.

Q. I understand that Marlon Brando uses a girl stand-in when he films. Who is she? — Ronald Mayo, Millbrae, Calif.

A. Marie Rhodes, wife of make-up man Phil Rhodes.

Q. If Howard Hughes regains control of TWA, will he replace Charles Tillinghast, Jr., the present TWA president, with Robert Six, president of Continental Air Lines?—Frank Peters, Waukegan, Ill.

A. Good possibility

what women will like about the NEW CARS

by E. D. FALES, JR.

.....AND SOME THINGS THEIR HUSBANDS WILL LIKE, TOO

New cargo deck is demonstrated in Ford's 1965 Mustang. With fold-down seat, long objects load through trunk.

New taillights on Rambler Ambassador stand foot higher than most, can be easily seen by drivers far behind.

New zip and stability are tested out by Parade reporter E. D. Fales, Jr., in Dodge Dart at testing grounds. Thanks to new "widetracks" and

DETROIT, MICH.

These days, there are more women drivers than ever—and they spend more time in the car than ever before. Yet each year, when the auto manufacturers' new models are unveiled, you hear about what men will like about them—not what women will like.

What will women like about the 1965 cars? I have just spent two weeks in Michigan and Wisconsin testing them from what is—for me—a new point of view. I have sizzled over test tracks, checked them for loading space and riding comfort, inspected for accessories a woman might like, tried them for ease of handling and upkeep. And then, not trusting myself, a mere man in spite of 30 years' experience driving and writing about autos, I checked with my own wife and a host of other wives in my suburban neighborhood. And what I found gave me a whole new slant on cars and driving—and made me think that women will like the 1965 models better than any in the past.

To begin with, let me tell you about something that happened on the Pontiac test track in Detroit. Talking to some engineers, I climbed into the rear seat of a '65 sedan and began to jot down notes. I was able to do it so easily that I was astonished to look up and find scenery silently whizzing by. "How fast are we going?" I asked the test engineer. "103 mph," he replied quietly. Yet I heard no noise, felt no strain, no vibration.

Of course, no wife is going to drive 103 mph. But she, perhaps more than her husband, is going to appreciate the quiet, smooth riding that's characteristic of the new models. She's also going to like the new styling. This is the year of the "status car" for everyone. Ford's sensational middle-priced Mustang is a gem of good taste. The restyled (for the first time since its introduction) Chevrolet Corvair glistens with class. Chrysler's New Yorker is a beauty. And the Teague-designed Rambler Ambassador has the proud air of a Lincoln Continental.

more inside space

Perhaps even more than the new lines of the 1965 models, however, women will like the way many use their interior space. For example, every Ford four-door sedan—and certain models of Corvair—this year will convert into a station wagon. Fold the rear seat forward and you have a roomy, 7-foot-long floor space.

The Plymouth Barracuda and the Ford Mustang offer a twist on the same idea. Besides the fold-down rear seat, there's a plastic door between seat and trunk space. When you open it, you have a cargo space that extends from front seat to rear and is ideal for carrying long objects like skis, rugs and camp gear.

Another feature of the 1965 models that will particularly appeal to women drivers—and passengers—is what engineers call "windows-up" driving. My wife, and probably most other women, always complains that in hot weather, with windows down, her hairdo gets mussed up by air swirling into the car. But if she closes the windows, it's stifling.

Engineers this year have whipped this complaint with new ventilation systems. Ford has a straight-through airflow in which fresh air comes in the front, goes out through vents beside the rear window. Dodge Polara has a system called "rammed fresh air," which directs air intake toward the feet, makes the whole car feel air-conditioned. Incidentally, women will be pleased to learn that air conditioning is less expensive and more reliable than in the past. It costs as little as $300 extra in some lines, and no longer causes drafts as many early versions did.

Also for the weather-conscious wife is a new feature on Cadillac—the rainy-day door lock. As soon as you put the key in the driver's lock, all other doors unlock automatically.

smooth 'n' easy

When I came back from Detroit, I found few women who wanted to talk about the cornering ability of cars, their performance or their gear ratio. But I found many who wanted to know how smoothly the new models rode or how easily they handled.

The fact is, almost all models are more stable in riding and road-hugging than ever before. The reason is that most of them have gone "widetrack" and "long-track." That is, they have spread the wheels two to three inches farther apart and lengthened the wheelbase one to three inches. With more span between the front and rear axles, the car rides more easily and you feel less tiresome road jounce.

Ford, meanwhile, besides going widetrack, has gotten a smooth new 1965 ride in still a different way, called surfboard suspension. The new models "float" above a frame that surges and flexes with the road. It twists and pivots, yet the car's body remains level. I rode a new model over Ford's "pitch-and-jounce" test road. The trip was unbelievably smooth, like riding a level surfboard through rough waves.

Most women also want to know about a car's safety features. How fast can they stop? How good are the lights? How good is the visibility?

Brakes, you'll be gratified to know, are bigger, safer and surer this year. Chevrolet's Corvette has become the first American car to give you disc brakes, which provide smoother and more reliable stopping, on all four wheels. (You can get them on front wheels only on Thunderbird, Lincoln Continental, Rambler Ambassador, Mustang and Barracuda.) Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Ford have increased their conventional brake size by 10 per cent. This helps them keep up with today's power.

As for lights, one outstanding innovation is Oldsmobile's "cornering lights." They're small, side-aimed headlights mounted on the front fender. You flick them on as you make a turn into a darkened driveway or narrow street and they light your route into the hidden part of the turn.

Rambler Ambassador has a safety taillight feature. Trouble with most brake lights is they're too close to the ground. The driver behind you can see them, but not the driver behind him. Ambassador has introduced "cathedral" taillights a full yard above the ground.

Thunderbird has another form of safety taillight. It's a "traveling" turn signal—three red lights in a row that light up in sequence when you turn, make an arrow of light that plainly says, "I'm going that way." Oldsmobile puts a safety red light in another place—the driver's door. Open it to get out and the light goes on, flashes a warning to cars behind.

And speaking of lights, a styling trick that fascinated me—and that women should like—is Buick's vanishing headlights. At first glance you can't see them. But turn on a switch and two doors open in the grille and out they pop, lighted and ready.

If you're like a lot of other women, you want, above all, a feeling of security in your car. My wife and her friends, for example, tell me that one worry women have is running out of gas, especially at night.

This year there's less danger of that. Several makers have installed bigger gas tanks. And Ford and Chrysler go a step farther. For a few dollars extra you can install an alarm that warns you when gas gets low. This is a red light that flashes on near your dash.

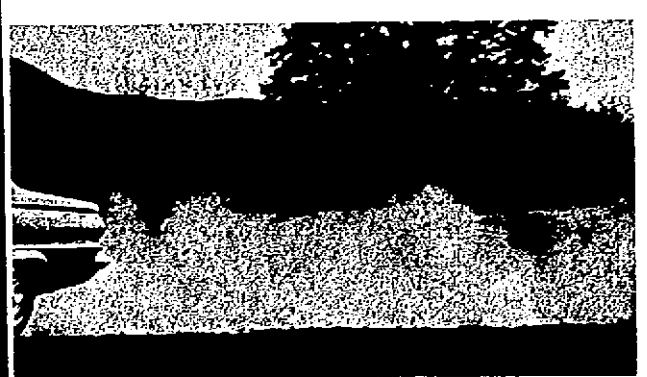

Ford, in fact, offers a very handy row of "take-off signals." These are a line of five red warning lights. One flashes when your fuel is low. Another lights up if you've left a door ajar. A third reminds you to apply vacuum locks to all the doors — in order to keep the kids in safely

The fourth light reminds you to "fasten seat belts" for take-off—as in a plane. And the fifth, for road emergencies, tells you that all your car's small outside lights are flashing to protect you.

I think women will also like Pontiac's new wiper blades, which go all the way to the left edge of the glass; also that Pontiac's windshield is flat today, eliminating the problem of fuzziness and distortion. And Mercury has a new windshield wiper that speeds up automatically when your windshield gets heavily loaded with mud, slush or snow. Then there are items that women will like because of sheer comfort and luxury. Oldsmobile offers as an extra a rear-seat vanity, with mirror, tissue-holders, lights. There are new steering wheels that are soft to the touch, and new, more durable carpeting. And many cars are now offering tilt steering wheels as an option. They're a godsend to women because with a tilt-wheel you just flip a switch and the wheel moves to any position and angle you find comfortable. You can even change it while driving in perfect safety.

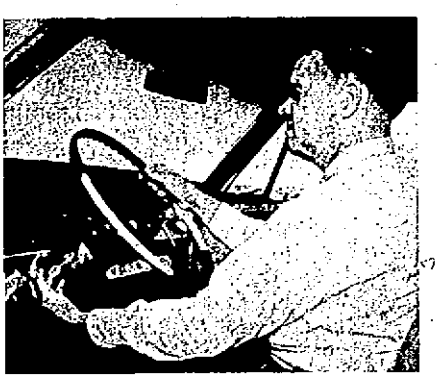

But perhaps the feature many women will like best is encompassed in Ford's new side-seat station wagon. These facing seats are basically intended for children. But what a woman will probably do is plop down on one, prop her feet up on the other—and let her husband do the driving!

longer wheel bases, 1965 models of all manufacturers hold road better than ever, as level performance in swirling turn above demonstrates.

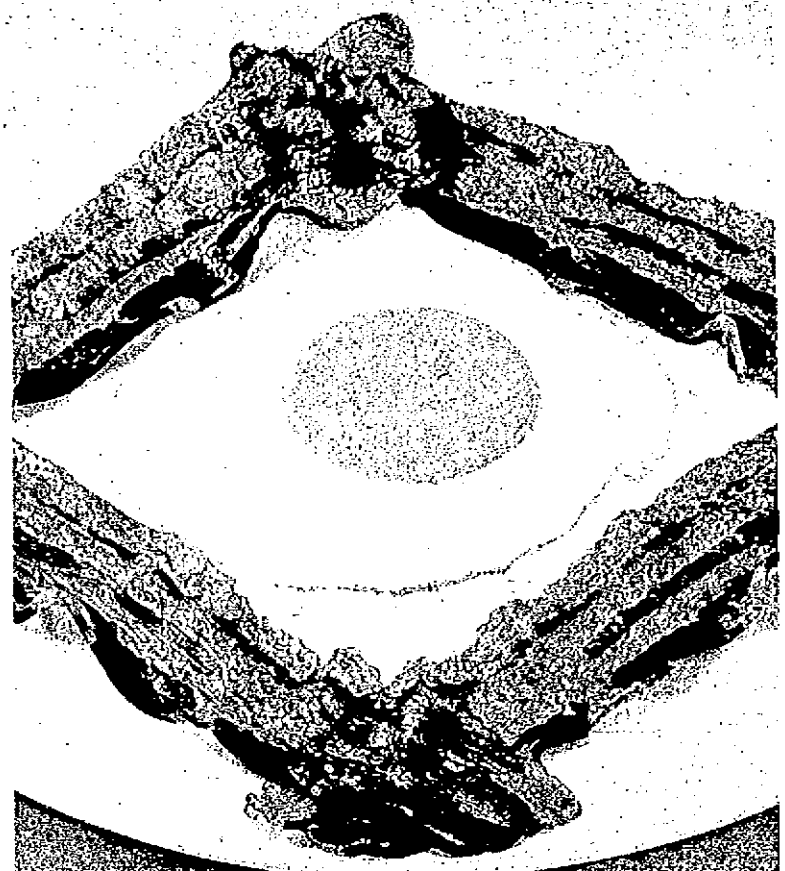

New safety is illustrated by Oldsmobile's cornering lights that you flick on as you turn into dark areas.

New comfort of '65 cars is optional tilt-wheel. By flipping switch, driver adjusts it to his comfort.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

BY LENNY COLYER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lenny Colyer, 44, of Park Ridge, Ill., is a veteran stand-up comedian from the Midwest. Twenty-five years ago he started out in Cleveland as a guitarist with a semi-name band, then graduated to vocalist with semi-name bands. One night he substituted for an ill comic in the Chez Paree in Chicago. He was "caught" by an agent who soon had him billed as a comedian in small night spots throughout the U.S. and Canada. Since then, Colyer has worked the Palace in New York, the Eden Roc in Miami Beach, the Mapes in Reno. He lives in Chicago with his wife and daughter, regularly tells such jokes as these:

Parking meters are nothing more than a legalized form of gambling. The city bets you a $2 ticket against your nickel that you don't show up in an hour!

The traffic situation is really getting desperate in the large cities. If auto sales keep going up, by the year 1970 there will be 200 million automobiles in use—so all you pedestrians who want to cross the street, you'd better do it now!

You've got to admire women and the way they dress these days. But I'm afraid some of them are due to be investigated by the Senate for "deceptive packaging."

I won't say my wife and I married young, but when I kissed her after the ceremony, our braces locked!

She became interested in gardening when we moved to the suburbs, and one day she said to me: "I want roses like our neighbors have!"—So I waited until it got dark. . . .

My wife kept telling me the man next door had a green thumb. "Having a green thumb doesn't mean he's a good gardener," I told her. "It could also mean he's a lousy painter!"

One thing about the little woman I'll never understand is how she can spot a blonde hair on my coat when I'm a block away and still drive up the driveway in our car and miss the garage door by 12 feet!

Wasn't it Horace Greeley who once said: "Go West, young man, go West"? In the meantime, he stayed in the East and made a fortune!

What with the coming national and local elections, the political scene is really in an uproar. And while we may get confused about the pros and cons of our current foreign policy and some of the statements of our diplomats, you can't knock diplomacy. After all, what else can put peace on a wartime basis!

My father was an inventor, and one of his best ideas was crossing an Idaho potato with a sponge. It didn't taste so good, but it held a heck-of-a-lotta gravy!

A well-known Hollywood movie idol had his bedroom redecorated, with everything in his favorite color, yellow. The carpeting, walls, ceiling, curtains, bedspreads, sheets and pillowcases—everything was done in yellow. One day he came down with a case of yellow jaundice. His wife asked their family doctor to come over quickly and see what he could do.

The doctor arrived 15 minutes later, went into the actor's bedroom and came out an hour later looking very puzzled.

"Oh, doctor, I've been so worried," said the wife. "Do you think you can cure him?"

"Cure him?" exclaimed the doctor. "I can't find him!"

Anecdote of the Week

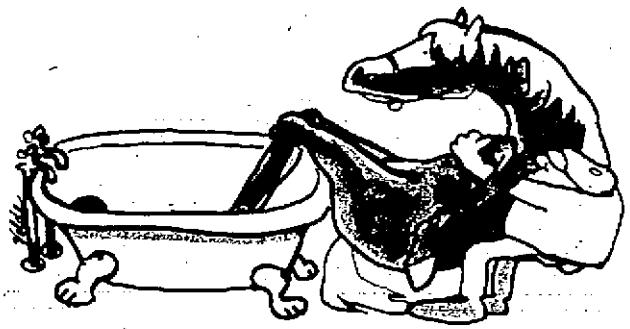

■ Jo Denton, wife of the well-known Hollywood motion-picture publicity director, James Denton, phoned a horse stable in Los Angeles. She asked that a horse be delivered to her apartment on the third floor of her building. When the delivery wagon arrived with the horse, the delivery man asked for $200.

"I'll get you a check," Mrs. Denton answered. "But first, bring the horse inside."

"Okay," said the man. He went down, got the horse squeezed into the freight elevator, took him up to the apartment.

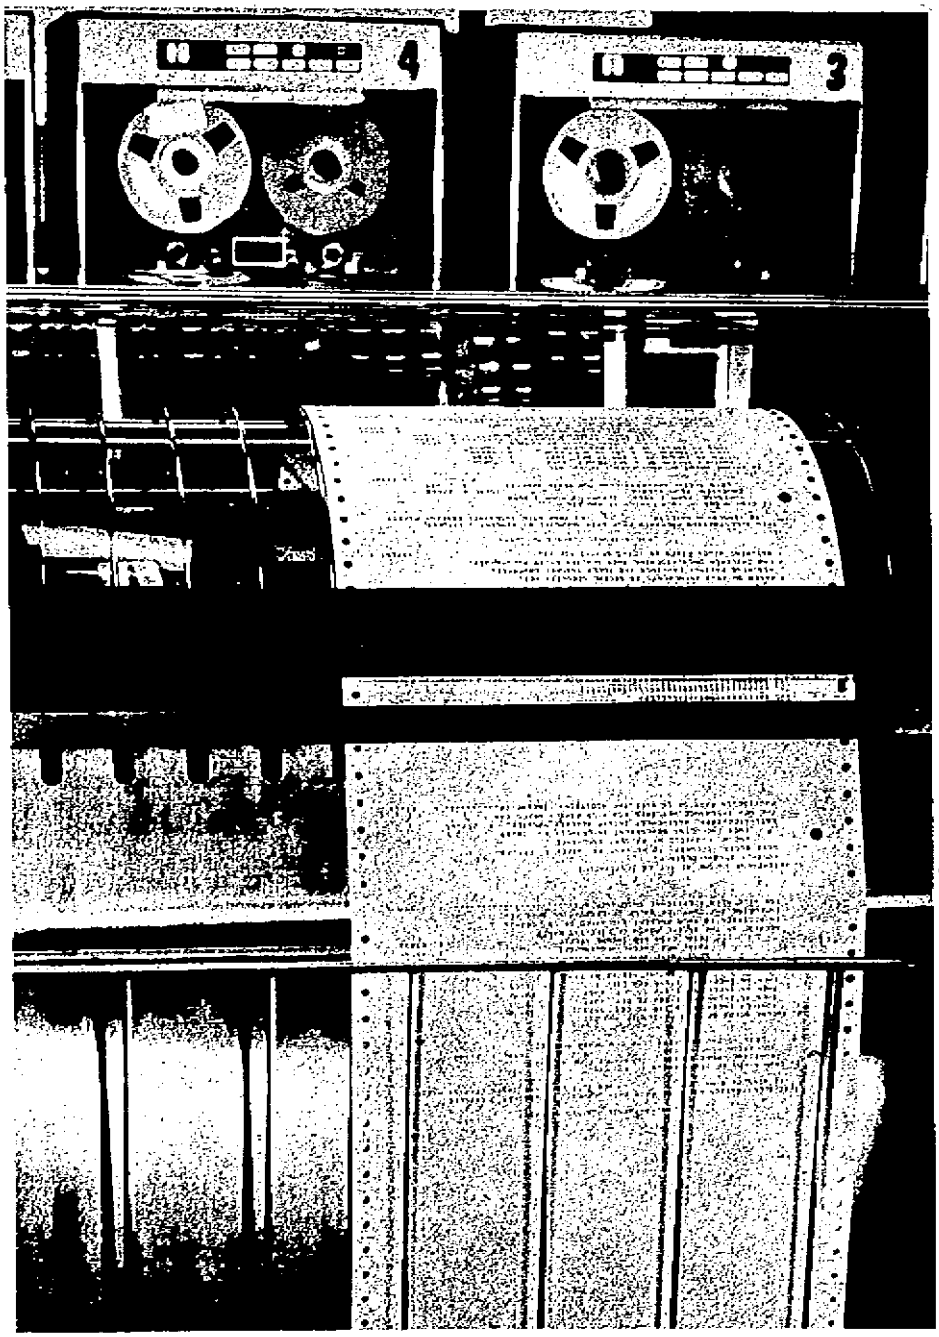

"You want the horse right here in the living room?" he asked.

"No," said Mrs. Denton. "Bring him into the bathroom and put him in the bathtub. If he doesn't fit, put most of him in the bathtub."

The delivery man was amazed. "In the bathtub?" he asked. "I'll do it, lady, but then I want my money, and I wanna get out of here." He led the horse into the bathroom, managed to get its two hind legs into the tub. Then he walked into the living room to get his check. After pocketing it, he turned to Mrs. Denton. "I've heard of a lot of nutty things in my time," he said, "but this one tops everything. Why on earth do you wanna horse in your bathtub?"

"It's simple," explained Jo Denton. "For 32 years my husband has been coming home from work. And every night for 32 years he's been asking me, 'What's new?' Tonight I'll really have something to tell him." ■

poor reading

Helping a child to read

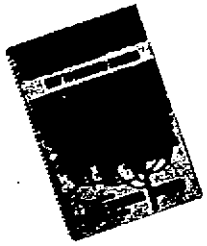

■ The chart above is your key to helping your child to read better. Through letter and picture, it illustrates the long and short vowel sounds of English—which account for 80 per cent of words in the language. Learning to identify them is the essential skill in building a good reading vocabulary. Your child should be able to do so by the middle of his first year in school. Strangely enough, however, 70 per cent of U.S. adults have not learned to do so—and therein lies the U.S. reading problem.

Why are these skills never developed? Many authorities claim it is because the American method of teaching reading relies on memory. Students are taught to recognize a word either from its shape or from certain clues—like the headlights in the word LOOK. When his memory falters, however, the reader has no way of understanding the word. As a result, the average American never approaches his listening vocabulary of 25,000 words.

You can help your child tap his listening vocabulary. Teach him these sounds using the pictures and letters:

Long	Short
a as in apron	apple
e as in eagle	eskimo
i as in iron	Indian
o as in ocean	ox
u as in uniform	umbrella

What's more, here's how Bayer Aspirin meets the test of competition.

Reporting on a government-financed study of five leading pain relievers, an article in The Journal of The American Medical Association shows:

For speed and strength of relief, Bayer Aspirin is unsurpassed by any product tested, including the so called "extra-strength" one that claims to be 50% stronger.

Of special concern, the product that claims to be 50% stronger than aspirin does upset the stomach with significantly greater frequency than Bayer Aspirin.

In fact, Bayer Aspirin is as gentle to the stomach as any product tested, including the higher-priced buffered product.

ALICE PEARCE THE CHINLESS WONDER

by LLOYD SHEARER

HER FADEAWAY CHIN BRINGS HER TOP ROLES EVERYWHERE IN SHOW BUSINESS

HOLLYWOOD.

Most people who are born with or acquire a handicap let it get them down.

They waste years of their lives getting pickled in the vinegar of their own depression. They develop an introverted and sour personality. Disgruntled, irascible, disappointed, they become envious and irritable, constantly bemoan the unkind fate which made them too tall, too short, not pretty or handsome or rich enough.

There are some persons, however, who not only conquer their handicaps but turn them into assets.

Take the case of Alice Pearce, 46, formerly of New York City and now of Los Angeles.

A receding chin has led Alice to Broadway, TV and film success as the bird-brain of all time. Thanks to her fadeaway chin, Alice earns from $20,000 to $30,000 a year playing lame-brain and idiot parts.

She has just finished working in five major films, the latest opposite Jimmy Stewart in Dear Brigitte, and has more TV character offers than she can handle.

"Women with fadeaway chins who look weak and silly," Alice says, "are apparently hard to come by."

Alice Pearce was not born with the runaway chin-line which is today her stock in trade. She was born in New York City of a firm-chinned, wealthy and intelligent family. Her father was a foreign banking specialist, and when Alice was a child she was taken to Brussels, Belgium, where her dad represented the Chase National Bank.

"One afternoon when I was 9," the actress recalls, "I was playing in a park in Brussels. I was showing off on a swing. I think I was trying to impress some boys. I went way up, lost my grip and slipped out of the swing."

Alice landed on her chin with such impact that its growth was permanently retarded. All the dentists and bone specialists of Europe could do nothing for the girl. From that point on she was destined to go through life with an underdeveloped chin.

"Every girl wants to be beautiful," Alice Pearce declares, "especially in our society where we put such a tremendous emphasis on physical beauty. In our culture, according to the advertisements, to be beautiful is to be automatically happy. Supposedly doors open for you everywhere, men swoon, beauty is the key to success.

"None of this is true, but like every other young girl, I was brainwashed by this concept, which, of course, made me unhappy. As a teenager I was sent off to boarding school, the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. At first I was self-conscious about my chin. Youngsters can be cruel, and I was afraid my classmates would make fun of me. They didn't. They were very kind.

"As a result I didn't develop any trauma. I was unhappy for a while, but I refused to let my chin or lack of one bring on an inferiority complex.

TAKING STOCK

"When I got to Sarah Lawrence College, I looked in the mirror one day. I took inventory of myself. The most unusual thing about me was my chin. I decided to take advantage of it and become a comedienne, so I studied dramatics.

"While I was in college, I dated boys. Some of them actually phoned for a second or third date, and that was very reassuring to my ego. It proved that the boys were interested in me as a person, in me as a character, not because I had a pretty face."

After graduation, Alice Pearce prepared herself for a theatrical career by a season of summer stock in Maine. Leonard Sillman, the producer, watched her work, and because comediennes are the rarest of breeds, signed her for her Broadway debut in New Faces of 1943.

"Luckily for me," says Alice, "my weak chin caught on promptly, and I was signed for one bird-brain role after another."

Alice was brought to Hollywood for a feature role opposite Fred Astaire in On the Town. After that she worked in Look, Ma, I'm Dancing, Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, Small Wonder, a flock of other Broadway and Hollywood hits. Returning to New York, she put together a one-gal night club comedy act. It played the Blue Angel in New York for 67 consecutive weeks.

Alice's private life was equally fruitful. In 1948 she married John Rox, the composer (It's a Big, Wide Wonderful World), and the marriage was a happy one, dissolved only when Rox died of a sudden heart attack in 1957.

Last month Alice Pearce got married again, this time to Paul Davis, a former Broadway director who

The chinless wonder, Alice Pearce, plays an unemployment clerk in Dear Brigitte opposite Jimmy Stewart.

The versatile Miss Pearce plays it straight with Robert Cummings in the movie How to Be Very Very Popular.

now runs one of the leading art galleries in Los Angeles.

"I've never had any trouble with either men or women," she says. "And frankly I think it's because of my chin. Everyone likes me to begin with because they feel sorry for me. When eventually they get to know me, they enjoy me for whatever good qualities I may have. I think this is particularly true of men. They say I'm fun to be with, that I'm not vain or self-centered. More important, I'm not competing against them.

"As for women, no woman has ever been jealous of me—not with my chin. Matter of fact, a physical handicap like mine makes me very, very popular with the girls. They take one look at me and say to themselves, 'She's no competition.'

"People with handicaps have an advantage in a competitive society. Unless they're truculent or arrogant or just plain ornery, the first impression they make is a very sympathetic one. They arouse kindness and understanding and generosity. People want to lend them a helping hand.

"Look at me. As a chinless wonder, I've done very well. If I'd sustained no accident as a kid, if I had developed an ordinary chin, today I'd probably be just another starving, middle-aged character actress.

FEAR OF GROWING OLD

"Even if I had developed into a beauty—and I might have, because my mother was a beautiful woman—I'd be haunted by the fear of growing old. That's the trouble with all beautiful actresses. Time eventually robs them of their beauty. They see it going, and they become desperate. They go in for plastic surgery, face-lifting, wrinkle-removing. How to stay young becomes their prime obsession.

"If a woman has never known great exterior beauty, she doesn't have to worry about its disappearance.

"Young girls won't believe this, but many an intelligent man would rather marry a girl of charm, wit, character and achievement than a beauty contest winner who has none of these. Beauty is transient. Character is not. People who surmount handicaps generally develop character.

"If you were born with one, you should be grateful, not sorry. Take it from a chinless wonder who knows."

Alice Pearce in her night-club act. "Everyone loves a comedienne," she says. "No comedienne ever remains unmarried."

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Your worn-out feeling may be due to pale, iron-poor blood.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because GERITOL contains 7 vitamins and, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! In only one day, GERITOL-iron is working in your bloodstream, carrying strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests: Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement.

Even at the regular price, Jockey Thorobred socks are a bargain. Why? Because Thorobreds are unshrinkable! Machine wash 'em . . . machine dry 'em. They can't shrink out of size. (A new pair free if they ever should.)

Besides being pleasingly practical, they're devilishly dapper, too. They have to be to go around on such famous feet as Bobby Darin's, Glenn Ford's, and Bing Crosby's.

When you're sock-shopping, look for the red toe stripe, mark of a Thorobred. Buy half a dozen or so, why don't you. No discounts or price cuts. Just the best dog-gone socks you can wear. $1.50 to $1.95 in crew, anklet, and over-the-calf styles.

Jockey MENSWEAR

Since its inception, Jockey Menswear has maintained a policy of selling exclusively through quality retail outlets . . . stores dedicated to serving customers courteously, sincerely, and honestly.

The greatest care is, of course constantly applied to the manufacture of garments which bear the Jockey label. But this is only half the story. The other half is the personal service which the retailer renders in matching these garments to individual customers' needs and wishes.

The stores listed below, that are featuring Jockey Thorobred wool hose, have steadfastly demonstrated a sincere devotion to customer satisfaction. Because of this, they earned our wholehearted admiration and respect. And we trust that their efforts will be rewarded by your continued patronage.

PIES IN THE SKY

by BETH MERRIMAN
Parade Food Editor

FLYING HIGH TO WELCOME THE [illegible] FRESH CRANBERRY SEASON ARE TWO HANDSOME PIES, COMBINING BRIGHT RED BERRIES WITH TWO AUTUMN FRUITS—APPLES AND PEARS—WITH DELICIOUS RESULTS. TRY BOTH.

DOUBLE-CRUST CRANBERRY-APPLE-CHEESE PIE

1 package pie crust mix • 1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup flour • ½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
3 cups peeled, cubed apples • 3 cups fresh cranberries

Prepare pie crust according to package directions.

Roll out half the pastry; line 9-inch pie pan. Combine remaining ingredients; toss lightly; pour into pastry-lined pan. Roll out remaining pastry; place over filling. Moisten edges of pastry; seal and flute edge. Cut a few slits in the top crust to allow steam to escape. Bake at 425° for 35 to 40 minutes or until crust is browned. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

LATTICE-TOP CRANBERRY-PEAR PIE

1 package pie crust mix • 1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch • ¼ teaspoon salt • ½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg • 3 cups sliced, peeled, fresh pears
3 cups fresh cranberries • 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

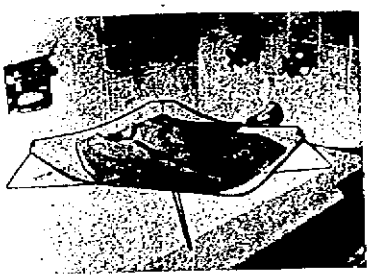

Prepare pie crust according to package directions.

Roll out half the pastry; line 9-inch pie pan. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, spices, pears and cranberries; toss lightly. Pour into pastry-lined pan. Dot with butter. Roll out remaining pastry; cut into ½-inch strips. Arrange strips lattice-fashion over filling; flute rim. Bake at 425° for 35 to 40 minutes or until crust is browned. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

HERE ARE NEW IDEAS FOR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Sweater dry: Your sweaters will dry faster on this ventilated nylon net screen (above). It's raised so air can circulate, dry both sides at once. Helps keep sweaters in shape, too—and you can pin garment edges to resize shrinkables. Metal stand with 24-inch-square screen fits on countertop, in bathtub, folds for storage. $1.98. Sunset House, Dept. PP, Sunset Bldg., Beverly Hills, Calif.

Two-way cooling: You can use a new aluminum thermoelectric food cooler at home and in the car. It holds 30 twelve-oz. cans or equivalent, has interchangeable cords — one for car lighter, one for home outlet. Because thermoelectric concept eliminates all moving parts except small fan, it can operate several hours without running down car battery when motor is off. Details: Cronstroms, Dept. PP, 4225 Hiawatha Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Hot tray with bin: This electric food warmer-server (above) has a rotating bin to hold rolls, pies—and leave more room on top for platters, casseroles. Bin detaches for cleaning. Use it, too, in oven to defrost, bake frozen items, then reattach for warm keeping. 22½" x 11" x 4½": $32.50. Salton, Dept. PP, 519 East 72, New York, N.Y. 10021.

Ladder leveler: Simple way to make any standard ladder safe when you use it on uneven surfaces is with an aluminum leg extension. The device clamps to either leg, adjusts up to 12 inches in length, has safety pin to prevent accidental slips. $9.95. Trumpolt, Dept. PP, Box 145, Hudson, Mass. 01749.

Others Can Mediate With Christ – For US

Catholics always have believed this, although at times they are criticized for it.

"Christ," some sincere people say, "is our sole Redeemer and our sole Mediator. We don't need anyone else to mediate or intercede for us."

This misunderstanding, we are sure, will be quickly cleared away in the mind of any fair-minded Christian when the Catholic teaching and belief are explained.

Since the time of the Apostles, the Catholic Church has insisted that there is only one Mediator between God and man—our Lord Jesus Christ. The entire Catholic religion, in fact, is founded upon that truth.

But this does not mean that there are no intermediaries between Christ and ourselves. Indeed, the whole Bible takes such mediation for granted.

When Christ commissioned the Apostles to "... teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit ..." He was interposing their ministry between Himself and others. In the granting of Sacramental authority to His Church, He was obviously instituting a succession of human "deputies" to serve as intermediaries between Himself and the faithful.

In the administration of Baptism, for example, Christ dispenses one of the gifts of Redemption through a purely human agent. This is true also in the other Sacraments, and in no wise does the administrator detract from the honor due Christ or interfere with man's direct approach to God.

The Apostles repeatedly asked their disciples to "pray for us," and St. Paul admonished the faithful to "pray for one another ... that you many be healed ..." Indeed, if Christ did not intend to have intermediaries between Himself and men, would St. Paul have told us that "God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings ..." (1 Cor. 12:28)?

Yes, others can mediate with Christ in our behalf. And their example and prayers can often work a vast miracle in our spiritual lives ... for indeed the "prayer of a righteous man availeth much." How much is indicated by the words of St. Paul to Timothy, reminding him that by holding true to the doctrine, "thou wilt save both thyself and those who hear thee" (1 Tim. 4:16).

If you would like to know more about the power of these mediators of Christ to help you, write today for our pamphlet on that subject. It will be sent free, and nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. PR-28.

DON'T LET THEM STEAL YOUR CAR

HOW GOOD ARE YOUR PARKING HABITS?

by CHARLES W. STICKLE

Thorough job: Owner returned to parking lot to find car minus engine, transmission, wheel.

By the time you read to the end of this column (roughly 90 seconds), an automobile will be stolen somewhere in the nation. And if you want to interrupt your reading to step outside to see if your own car is locked, there's a good chance at least three more cars will have been stolen before you get back.

Automobile thefts are one of the most staggering figures in the national crime index, reports the FBI. And they continue to skyrocket, to the consternation of law enforcement officials across the country.

What can you do to reduce the number of thefts?

The first step in the right direction is to take a long look at your "parking habits." Just as bad driving habits cause highway accidents, bad parking habits boost automobile thefts. Most frequent invitation to the potential car thief are keys left in the ignition switch, a careless practice which triggers more than 40 per cent of all car thefts, according to the National Automobile Theft Bureau, an arm of the motor vehicle insurance industry.

Recently a headline in a Pittsburgh newspaper proclaimed: "I STOLE 16 CARS AND 9 TRUCKS IN 1 HOUR."

Actually, the thefts never occurred. What did happen was that within an hour a team of reporters found 16 automobiles and 9 trucks, all of them operable, with the keys in the ignition—all waiting to be stolen.

"A dozen unlocked automobiles can be found on any downtown city block," states Ray King, secretary of the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

King says the theft of nearly 400,000 cars last year in the U.S. set an all-time record. He makes the alarming prediction that if the present rate continues unchecked, this figure may nearly double by 1970.

Little that the cautious motorist can do will stop the professional thief, who, according to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, can break into the most securely locked vehicle and drive it away in seconds. But, Hoover notes, this type of thief accounted for less than 15 per cent of all motor vehicles stolen last year.

Who then is responsible for the theft of the other 85 per cent?

JUST A LARK

Actually, 4 of every 5 automobiles stolen in any 12-month period are taken by "joy-riders," or others seeking temporary transportation, and then abandoned. Many are recovered stripped of expensive equipment and accessories. Others, driven recklessly by the joy-riders, suffer serious mechanical damage, and many are wrecked.

Although the joy-ride impulse is at the root of many auto thefts, the patterns of the thieves vary, depending on the season of the year.

The Boston police department has been in the forefront of law enforcement agencies which seek answers to the problem. Its survey showed that in the summer months many automobiles stolen by joy-riders in the Greater Boston area were found abandoned on near-by Cape Cod. After enjoying their sojourn there for one day or more, the thieves selected another car in a parking lot on the Cape for their return trip to Boston.

During the fall and winter "off-season," when there are fewer cars parked in the Cape area, Boston car thieves made the round trip in the same vehicle, the survey disclosed.

EASY PICKINGS

Cleveland police found that shopping center parking lots and other free parking areas were easy pickings for the joy-riding thief. In several instances, bands of youths who drove into the lots in a single vehicle sped out in several cars.

One of the oddest examples of theft occurred in Omaha, Neb., where 2 boys, age 9 and 10, stole from a parking lot an unlocked car left with the keys in the switch. One boy, kneeling on the seat behind the steering wheel, drove the car while his companion crouched on the floor boards working the gas pedal and brake at the shouted directions of the driver. They drove six blocks through heavy traffic before they were stopped by a policeman.

Car thieves, of both the professional and joy-riding stamp, find happy hunting grounds at race tracks, ball parks, picnic areas, public beaches, theaters, motels and hotels.

Law enforcement officials generally agree that bad parking habits, like bad driving habits, are rooted in ignorance as well as carelessness.

One that didn't get away—firemen recover car from a river bottom several months after it had been stolen.

The driver who parks his car in a dimly lit area known for its high crime rate will probably take great pains to make sure ignition, doors and windows are tightly secured. But back home he will revert to his bad habits, leaving the keys in the ignition and door and windows wide open.

It will shock him to learn that 39 per cent of all car thefts occur in residential areas. Even driveways, garages and the parking areas adjacent to private homes and apartment dwellings are not completely safe. The FBI says these areas are favorite spots for some thieves and notes that the incidence of theft in residential areas increases at night, when almost two-thirds of all auto larcenies occur.

A by-product of these thefts is the mounting pilferage of parts and accessories. One insurance rating bureau estimates that high-performance engines, four-speed transmissions, bucket seats, ornamental wheel covers, radios and tires make up a $1 million haul.

The NATB has six tips which can help prevent theft and, if the motorist is unlucky enough to be a theft victim, assist in the recovery of his car:

SIX TIPS

1 Lock your car wherever you park. Remember, more than half of the $376 million worth of automobiles stolen last year were left unlocked by their owners.

2 Keep clothing and other personal belongings out of sight. An expensive movie camera in a saddle-leather carrying case left on a car seat has been the lure for many a thief who, after breaking in and stealing the camera, decides to take the car as well.

3 Don't leave your driver's license and auto registration attached to the sun visor, steering wheel or in the glove compartment. These documents can be used by the thief to make good his escape.

4 If possible, park in well-policed and carefully patrolled areas, even though you do lock your car securely. This may prevent the theft of wheels, tires, wheel-covers or any other removable equipment.

5 In case your car is stolen, there are two reasons why you should report it to the police without delay. First, police can sometimes spot the vehicle before the thief gets away—particularly in sparsely populated areas. Second, in many areas the owner of the car is liable for damage caused by a thief until his report of theft is registered with the police.

6 You can be of great help to the police if you really know your car—not just the license, engine and serial numbers. Remember there are many cars of the same make, model and color. It's a great help to police if you can furnish an exact description of the car, including any peculiar marks which can identify it as yours beyond a doubt.

Is our double-ply toilet tissue becoming a status symbol?

It's "in" in Beverly Hills. Certain beautifully-groomed women wrap up their bouffant hairdos for the night in pale pastel double-ply Crown Chiffon toilet tissue. They're all customers of a famous hairdresser who insists on nothing less.

It entertains rich kids. Gives them something new to do. Crown Chiffon is so soft and velvety. And strong enough for mummifying little sisters.

It's reached Manhattan. Several San Diego couples who go there regularly to welcome astronauts take supplies of Crown Chiffon with them. "At times like this," says one, "ordinary single-ply won't do. And ticker tape is out."

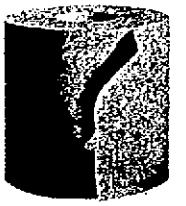

It's inspiring bathrooms in San Marino. You pick your favorite color Crown Chiffon – lilac, aqua, pink, yellow or white are twice as rich in double-ply – and take it from there. The starting point for "Roman Ruin," above, was lilac Crown Chiffon.

It's created other two-ply status symbols. Among them, this fur-lined fur coat, having your own plane plus your own pilot, owning an inside, and an outside, dog. (But among double status symbols, Crown Chiffon still has the distinction of being, at least, the least expensive.)

If we've come up with a new status symbol, that's fine. All we started out to make was the softest, richest, most luxurious double-ply toilet tissue there is: Crown Chiffon

Girl golfers hit the jackpot

by TOM SILER

Blasting out of a sand trap at a tournament meet, champion Mickey Wright shows gallery the skill that puts her on top.

Mickey Wright is the best woman golfer in the land, and she has the credentials to prove it—money bags, titles galore, a slow backswing and ulcers.

Why the ulcers?

Only 29, Mickey collected a record-breaking $31,269.50 in tournament cash last year, won 13 tournaments and averaged less than 73 strokes per round for the entire year. This year the champ may do even better. Currently, she has 8 victories in 18 tournaments and $19,670 in the bank, with 10 tournaments to go. Mickey, a 5-foot-8, 140-pound blonde with merry blue eyes, is the smoothest shot-maker to come down the distaff road in many a day. She's conquered everything except those ulcers.

Mickey dominates the nomadic females as no man ever dominated men's tournament golf. In fact, Miss Wright's dazzling power and artistry might be considered a drawback to the ladies' tour by some, but the noisy dissent is led by Leonard Wirtz, ex-basketball official who is business manager for the entourage called the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

"No, no, Mickey's our showpiece," says Wirtz. "She's a great golfer and a real champion. But no one resents her success. The others just wish they were that good."

Wirtz has the unusual task of guiding Miss Wright, who also doubles as president of the LPGA, and 40 or so other women golfers through the hinterlands seeking a fast buck on the golf course. They seldom play the biggest cities—no draw. But they do well in these days of booming golf in St. Petersburg, Fla., Waterloo, Ia., San Antonio, Tex., Biloxi, Miss., and Seattle, Wash. They usually put on a 54-hole show over a 3-day period and cut up a pot ranging from $7,500 to $15,000.

Part of the reason for the growing interest in ladies' golf tournaments is, no doubt, their pretty legs, pretty smiles and pretty swings. But, in addition, the girls play well and can put on as exciting a show as most men's tournaments produce.

Veteran of ladies' circuit, Patty Berg, welcomes newcomer Carol Mann.

Wirtz says the women golfers will divvy up close to $400,000 this year, and he's hoping eventually to get the girls in the big money of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus via television. They've been on live TV only once—last October at Las Vegas, a 90-minute spectacular that had its amusing overtones. Local beauty parlors and specialty shops did a land office business the day before. Girl pros who teed off early played slow so they'd be seen on TV, and those who started late played fast for the same reason.

Despite what you've heard about women getting along with women, Wirtz says the golfers are as sweet as pie to each other—except, of course, when they blow a short putt worth $200.

The warm camaraderie among the petticoat platoon is in strange contrast to the frictions on the men's tour, where a single jackpot might match Mickey Wright's winnings for the year. The girls throw a first-time tournament winner into the nearest swimming pool, clothes and all.

This is not such a tragedy as it might seem, since a girl golfer doesn't travel light. A typical wardrobe, stashed away neatly in a late model car, includes 26 pairs of shorts, 2 swimsuits, 3 dozen shirts, a dozen blouses (dress and sport), 10 pairs of golf shoes, 6 pairs of dress shoes, 18 cocktail dresses, 10 everyday dresses and knit ensembles, 2 furs, a rain suit and trench coat, 1 pair of woollies, 6 pairs of slacks and 4 pairs of knee socks. Add fishing poles, minnow buckets and sewing baskets, and you've got a load.

The tournament circuit promises glamour and travel and excitement to many young girls, but it actually rates way down the scale in romance. Most of the girls are single. Wirtz says, "We had one girl who fell in love every week, but constant travel kills most of the incipient romances. Occasionally, we'll see some young fellow follow the tour two, maybe three, weeks, but most of them soon disappear."

Cup full of money is take-home pay for few winners like Mickey Wright.

In any case, time is at a premium for most of the lady golfers. Besides the playing and travel time, many of the golfers must allow time to tend to administrative functions. Betsy Rawls and Mary Lena Faulk, for instance, inspect the course each week and help set up the ground rules, if needed. Judy Torluemke, Judy Kimball and Clifford Ann Creed—a 90-pounder called "Bones"—arrange the pairings. Miss Rawls handles statistics and shoots off the tournament results to the auditor, who in turn mails back checks to the lucky girls. Beth Stone handles local publicity, Sybil Griffin the mail for the travelers, Miss Wright, as president, and Wirtz meet the graver issues.

The LPGA is careful to protect itself from ordinary golfers who get the idea they're good enough to play on tour. The novice is required to pay an entry fee of $50 per tournament until she gets a player card. She earns it by finishing in the top 80 per cent in 3 out of 4 consecutive tournaments, which isn't easy.

Champion Mickey Wright wishes she had more competition. "Our tournament money will be increased when we get a better field of players," she explains. "We've got about 25 good players now. Our goal is 50. We can have 50 good players in 5 years. Now, most of the girls spend $5,000 or so to stay on the tour. That means a few make money, many do not. Last year 10 girls made $10,000 or more."

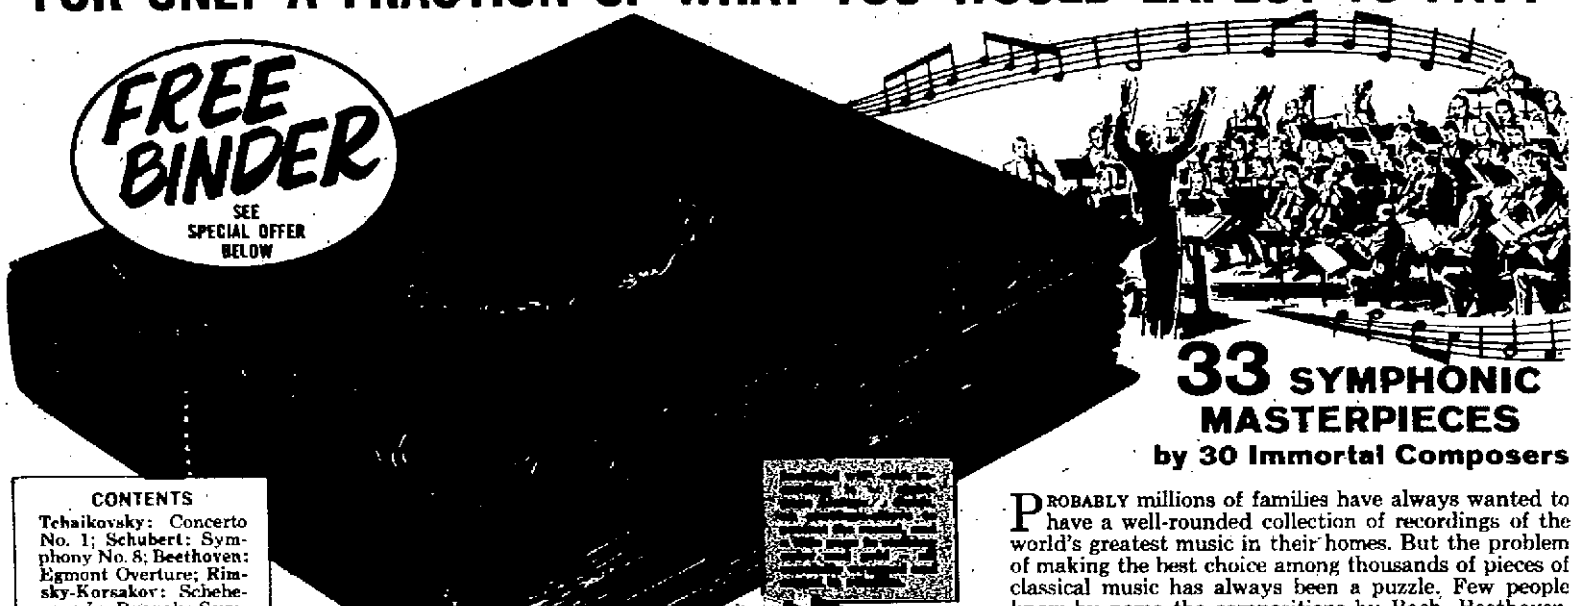

Miss Wright doubtless would like to make even more money, and she'd like to see her competitors fare better. But she frankly does not covet the golfing bonanza of Palmer and Nicklaus. "I think it can get out of hand," she says. "The proper recompense for tournament golf is what we're making."

Made of genuine leather, embossed and stamped, this handsome binder stores your entire set of 16 records, the colorful title pages, and the Listener's Guides. When assembled, the collection will be a handsome ornament to add beauty to your home.

HOW TO RECEIVE YOUR TREASURY

Fill in and mail the coupon at right. In return we mail you the first two records of the Treasury, together with the binder. Play the recordings in your home for ten days. If you are not satisfied for any reason, simply return the package to us and that will be all.

If you find that the records are everything we describe them to be you may pay the invoice enclosed with the package ($1.69 plus 31¢ mailing costs for each record). Pay nothing for the binder – it's free to anyone who collects the entire set of sixteen records.

After we receive your payment for the first package, we continue sending you two records at a time, about once a month, until the complete Treasury is in your hands.

Thus, at the end of only a few months, at amazingly low cost, you will own one of mankind's most thrilling cultural treasures, to bring you and your family endless pleasure throughout the years.

MAIL COUPON TODAY

PROBABLY millions of families have always wanted to have a well-rounded collection of recordings of the world's greatest music in their homes. But the problem of making the best choice among thousands of pieces of classical music has always been a puzzle. Few people know by name the compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, and dozens of other composers, or which selections are the most melodious, the most heart-warming and consoling, the most thrilling, the most inspiring, the most joyful, the most conducive to maximum enjoyment.

This problem of exactly which classical compositions to select has been solved for you by the experts who assembled THE STANDARD TREASURY OF THE WORLD'S GREAT MUSIC. Now, in this brilliant collection of 16 Hi-Fi, Long-Play, 33-rpm, 12-inch vinyl records, you have thirty-three complete symphonic masterpieces by thirty of the greatest composers, chosen by some of the world's foremost musical authorities.

With this Treasury in your home, you will have at your command the most beautiful music ever written, recorded by world-famous orchestras and conductors. Furthermore, with each of the sixteen records you get a handsomely illustrated commentary about the music and the composer.

Best of all, through this special offer you can own the complete Treasury, with its thirty-three complete symphonic compositions, at little more than you would expect to pay for a mere half dozen or less of records of similar quality.

Parade, Box 1550,
Brooklyn, N. Y. 11202 M-1

I accept your offer. Please ship me, for free examination, the first two records of the Standard Treasury of the World's Great Music, together with the handsome, simulated leather binder in which to keep them.

If these recordings do not satisfy me in every way, I will return everything to you within ten days without further obligation.

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

BECAUSE OF LARGE MAIL VOLUME, PARADE CANNOT ANSWER QUERIES.

MEN FIRST. In America 7 out of every 10 husbands die before their wives.

CULTURE BAIT. Librarians throughout the country are pondering the gimmick now used at the public library in Islip, Long Island. There, to lure children away from TV and increase their reading time, the library gives away free ice cream to every child with every 15th book he charges out.

MONEY AND CRIME. J. Edgar Hoover believes one way to combat crime is to increase the pay of crime-fighters. Crime in this country has increased 15% over last year. According to Hoover, the average monthly earnings of police employees in local governments are at least $25 lower than the averages for firemen, teachers and public utility men. "These figures," he maintains, "lend credence to the contention that our society demands more for less from the law enforcement officer than from any other public servant."

WHAT STOCKS? Do you play the stock market? Institutions, banks, trusts and pension funds now handle close to 25% of the activity on the New York Stock Exchange. These outfits generally deal in stocks of promise and high standards. If you don't want to get hurt, it might be a good policy, say financial advisers, to follow these institutions in buying and selling. Their portfolio changes, in many cases a matter of record, can be obtained from your local broker.

TV & PSYCHOSOMATIC MEDICINE. Do TV commercials and TV medical shows suggest to you that you're ill? The General Practitioners Association in Great Britain, alarmed at the growing number of patients with trivial complaints, is launching a probe to determine whether TV is causing too many people to worry unnecessarily about their health.

CANCER AND HEREDITY. Evidence exists that cancer or a predisposition to it may be inherited. A recent report by Dr. Henry Lynch, given at an American Institute for Biological Sciences meeting in Colorado, told of a family of 130 members in which 35% either now have or have had cancer. In one family of 12 brothers and sisters, 7 were cancer victims and 3 of these had more than one primary malignancy. Current figures reveal that 10 out of every 100 Americans now die of cancer.

TEENAGERS ON THE INCREASE. Teenage ranks are expanding rapidly. This year 3,100,000 youngsters will celebrate their 17th birthday. Ten years from now 4 million will reach 17. America is developing a massive teenage population and a growing, vital teenage market. Take, for example, the purchasing power of young girls. Approximately 11 million constitute 6% of the nation's population. Yet they spend $321 million a year to buy 56% of all the records and record albums in the country. Boy and girl teenagers now spend $10 billion annually. By 1970 this figure will jump to $21 billion. According to Phillip R. Cateora, assistant professor of marketing at the University of Colorado, there are three major characteristics of our teenage culture: (1) romantic concept of life; (2) compulsive independence of the family; (3) compulsive conformity to the teen-group mores.

IDEAL SECRETARY. A group of New York psychological consultants have worked out the following set of standards for secretaries and other female job-holders: (1) age 35 to 50 -- so that she remembers the depression; (2) married; (3) to a husband with a medium-paying job so that her job is a financial necessity and she doesn't goof off.

POLARIS IN PACIFIC. The U.S. Navy is moving Polaris submarines to the Pacific just as soon as a forward support base for the atomic sub squadron is finished at Guam. Should be any day now. First Polaris sub scheduled to be stationed in the western Pacific is the Daniel Boone.

EDUCATION'S FUTURE. By the year 2000, educational institutions will play the largest single role in the American economy. So declares Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University of California. Also by the year 2000, according to Dr. Dwayne Orton of IBM, many colleges with enrollments of 100,000 to 200,000 will become cities in their own right; colleges and universities will become 3-year institutions offering master's degrees; education will be compulsory to age 20; and community colleges will take care of the first 2 years of college.

FRENCH PILL-TAKERS. The French are great eaters and great wine-drinkers, but they now lead the world in the consumption of medicine for digestive and liver trouble.

NOW YOU AND YOUR FAMILY ARE INVITED TO

Enjoy 10 Days Exploring Two Billion Years of Evolution

as guests of the LIFE Nature Library

THE MALE FRIGATE BIRD displays his bright red gular pouch to attract female attention. Attractive sexual characteristics tend to increase success in mating, and are therefore more likely to be passed on.

CONTROLLED EVOLUTION, such as man imposes on his domesticated flowers, fruits, and vegetables, is breathtakingly visible in this view of a Ferry-Morse experimental seed farm.

THE GIANT TORTOISES OF THE GALAPAGOS often have shells as roomy as bathtubs. Because mammals could not survive the long driftwood voyage from South America, the reptiles who made it developed remarkably.

Why does man seem so similar to the ape? Why do ancient rocks contain imprints of creatures now extinct? What causes giants, dwarfs, albinos? Why do some plants bear a startling resemblance to insects, and vice versa? A little over a century ago, no one really knew.

Then an English biologist, Charles Darwin, published one of the most important books in history. The first 1,250 copies of his The Origin of Species sold out in a day, and a storm of controversy broke which has never entirely died.

Today most of us are accustomed to such terms as "survival of the fittest" and "recessive genes." Yet we understand surprisingly little about Darwin's theory and the amazing evidence of its correctness since uncovered by other scientists.

Now, here at last—in the style that LIFE has made famous, so that it makes perfect sense even to school children—is the remarkable story of evolution in this beautiful introductory volume of the LIFE Nature Library.

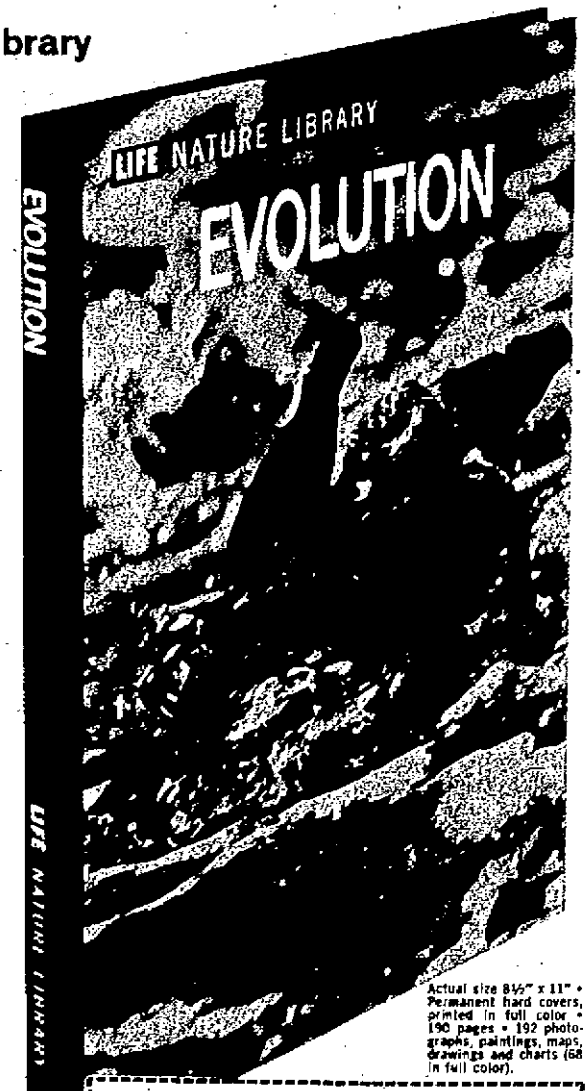

You retrace the historic voyage that young Darwin made on H.M.S. Beagle, and see the very same phenomena that set his mind ablaze. You see the primitive Indians of Tierra del Fuego, at the bottom of the world, so tough they sleep naked on icy ground. You tour the Galápagos Islands, nature's own laboratory of evolution, where complete isolation from the rest of the world has resulted in startling species never seen anywhere else. The world's only seagoing lizards. 500-pound tortoises 100 years old. Thirteen varieties of Galápagos finch, a phenomenon which helped convince Darwin of the evolutionary process.

You see the clues to bygone life—shells, bones, tracks, eggs, imprints or entire mummies—preserved by nature in tar, coal, ice, and stone. You see a frozen baby mammoth perfectly preserved in Arctic ice for 22,000 years. You share the thrill of the couple in Tanganyika as they uncover the bones of the world's earliest known man—over a million years old!

Genetic scientists take you into their laboratories to explain the mysteries of the microscopic genes and chromosomes that determine the inheritance of characteristics. You see a human egg magnified 2,000 times. How a living cell divides.

Obviously so vast and exciting a book cannot be adequately described here. So we invite you to borrow a copy from us for 10 days. Then if you wish you may return it and owe nothing. Or you may own it for much less than such an expensively printed and handsomely bound book would ordinarily cost. Thanks to LIFE'S vast facilities and large print orders, you pay only $3.95 (plus shipping and handling). Then you will be entitled to receive another volume of the LIFE Nature Library for free examination every 2 months.

But you make no commitments, promise to buy nothing. And you may cancel this arrangement any time you wish. However, the entire series makes an impressive encyclopedia of nature that your family will increasingly treasure—a superb reference shelf and study aid used in thousands of classrooms from elementary school through college. To examine the first volume, simply mail coupon.

Actual size 8½" x 11" • Permanent hard covers, printed in full color • 190 pages • 192 photographs, paintings, maps, drawings and charts (68 in full color).
